SIR,—I observe that there is a bill before the Local Legislature to permit the shooting of deer in the water "so long as hunting with dogs is allowed." For several years the proper mode of killing deer has been much discussed, and the operation of the law forbidding the shooting of deer in the water has been thoroughly threshed out by all who hunt, and by many who have a taste for sport. With your permission I will present my views, knowing that I represent in them a very large proportion, if not a large majority, of hunters.

As to the deer—Why preserve them? Certainly not because in their native woods they are objects of interest, for they are rarely seen, and then only by the backwoodsman, who complains that they eat his crop, or by the trapper or forest-ranger. Ninety-nine per cent. of the people never saw a live deer in the forest. Why, then?

There are only two reasons. One that a food supply may be preserved, and the other that the hunter may have sport. Now as to the food supply, the settler is chiefly to be considered. I know that many loads of venison are brought by the settler or pot-hunter to the lumber shanties, but that is something that neither law nor public sentiment upholds. I admit that venison is to the backwoodsman an object, but these backwoodsman raise large quantities of beef and mutton, and at the season of the year when venison may be lawfully got, beef and mutton will keep without trouble.

But admit that the settler should have special license to kill deer, if you bear in mind that all summer long the deer have been round the settler's shanty, and that he and his children know every haunt and runway, and on the first day of the season, if he waits that long, he can go out and pot his two deer. Remembering this, it will be realised that the law preventing him from shooting in the water affects him but little. If careful enquiry is made I think it will be found that the backwoodsman gets his venison at times and in manner to suit himself and pays little regard to the law.

But the deer question from the food supply aspect is not of very great importance, for but a small proportion of the people ever taste venison; it is not a tenth of a tenth of 1 per cent. of the meat consumed. Even to the settler the sport in the hunt is more than the meat.

Who then should be considered in the legislation respecting the game law? I answer: the hunter, whether he be a settler or from the front. Both classes look forward to the time when they may go into the forest to enjoy the outing, the relaxation, the fresh air, the new life, with companionship and the health-giving invigoration of the exercise in our glorious fall weather. "A life in the woods for me." This, the greatest pleasure which many enjoy, is what our law should preserve for those who thus appreciate it.

Now, who are the people who have been shaping the law? Are they hunters, sportsmen, who above all men will respect a good game law which they approve of, or are they so-called humanitarians who, with sanctimonious face have spoken of killing "a poor deer in the water, when, helpless, it turned its pitiful eye on the man with the gun?" The motive of these laster was no doubt good, but they wholly misunderstood the subject. I remember one in the House speaking of this manner of shooting deer as "butchery"—the sound of the word passed for argument.

Suppose the men who kill our cattle were compelled by act of parliament to get the beast on the run with dogs, and then the butcher in the wood, with rocks, and the stumps and brush, to give variety to the pace, were to empty the magazine rifle or buckshot at the flying steer, piercing him in all parts of the body, shooting off his limbs or jaws, and then dragging or carrying the blood-saturated body perhaps for miles over rocks or fallen timber to the slaughter house to be cut up, what would you say? And if the lacerated beast escaped to die in some swamp, by what name would this be designated? If our humane friend found his butcher offering black, bloody and spoiled meat, would it be sufficient to say that the beast had been killed in manner prescribed by law? No, the way the butcher kills the steer, the way called "butchery," is the kindest way; it puts the animal quickly out of pain, it prevents it escaping to die a lingering death, it saves the meat, it enable the "butcher" to get the meat to camp in the best form and with least labour.

To shoot a deer on the run may be more sport to the crack shot, but it is anything but kind to the deer. So long as the deer runs the hunter will shoot, and the poor thing may carry away into the swamp and escape, with five times as many bullets or slugs as would have settled its fate in the water. If you say that the dogs and canoes must both go, then you rule out all but the backwoodsman who, living in the forest, can shoot when the deer presents itself, or after the snow falls, by still hunting, but the amateur hunter, who goes for his annual outing, cannot leave known ground and tramp into a wilderness from morning till night in hope that he may get a shot at an animal which sees, or smells, or hears him long before it is seen. No amateur dare wander thus far from camp at a season when there are not even his own footmarks in the snow to guide him home. And if perhaps he did shot a deer a few miles away, even if he knew where he was, it would be more than it was worth in a rough, roadless country to get it to camp.

If the Game Wardens knew what the hunters know, and were candid, they would admit at once that the present law is little observed, and the men who desire to keep it are handicapped by hunters who shoot in the water the deer raised by dogs not their own.

Most of the deer killed are killed in the water. Hundreds of deer are brought in with their tell-tale heads removed, others are smuggled in at night or dressed, and every hunter will tell you that the law is not respected and therefore not observed. The hunters know it is wrong, and so have little compunction in breaking it.

There is no requirement on the hunter to make a return of the number he kills, or as to sex, or age of the deer bagged, nor how they were killed, nor how many escaped to die in the woods, and there is no way by which the number killed can be known. Then our seasons, weather and conditions vary one from another, and so the kill will vary, and a comparison of one season with another is useless.

If it is decided to permit less deer to be killed, let every man's kill be limited to one—make shooting of fawn prohibitory—and change the season. The time now limited for hunting is the season when the deer are pairing, and the hunted does are separated from their mates, and so hunted that the result is observed of an unusual proportion of dry does. The men who know the most about this business are the hunters; they are more interested than any others in preserving the deer.

Let a series of interrogations be sent out to every man who last season got a permit to shoot; it may be that the settler and sportsman from the front may not be identical in their interests and and answers, but in this way, and only in this way, will such information be obtained as will lead to the promulgation of laws that will best preserve this splendid game and sport.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

Peterborough, Dec. 21.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined!

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then comes the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

A Friendly Bar Examination.

A Georgia correspondent sends us this account of a young man's oral examination for the bar by a local committee before an old judge, who was also an old acquaintance of the candidate. Being asked, "What is arson?" he scratched his head and finally said, "I believe that's pizon, ain't it?"

On this the old judge, to help him out, says: "Tut, tut, Jim. Suppose I were to set fire to your house and burn it down, what would that be?"

With quick and emphatic reply Jim says, "I think it would be a dad dratted mean trick."

But although this answer was not technically accurate Jim was in the hands of his friends and was honorably admitted.—Case and Comment.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 3 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at cheap Prices.

Next thing is your Celery, of course everybody says that your Celery is the best, nicest, crisp and tender. You have lots of it to sell? Yes. There comes my car, so good day! Push along! Bye, bye.

Choice stock of Groceries and Provisions, Fruit, Fish and Vegetables, always fresh, good and cheap. Free delivery. Glad to see all my friends, and thank them for their kind patronage. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain your truly

JUDGE, LAWYER AND WITNESS

Was What Mr. St. John Wished to Be Yesterday.

HIS CHARGES ALL MELTING AWAY

His Attempt to Bluff the House, on an Alleged Question of Privilege, Seen Through by Members—The Premier's Calm Strength Ends the Matter With a Laugh.

Toronto, Dec. 31.—When the Legislature met yesterday afternoon the members' seats were nearly all filled. There was a general air of expectancy. Mr. St. John was not satisfied with the way the Public Accounts Committee was being run. He had made certain charges with reference to the Humber piggery and when the committee met yesterday he wished to assume control, act as judge, lawyer and witness and run the affairs of the committee generally. He read off a list of witnesses he wished examined and would be satisfied with nothing but an immediate carrying out of his wishes. He forgot that Mr. Garrow had made the first move to investigate the killing of the hogs at the piggery. At the first meeting of the committee Mr. Garrow had moved a resolution requiring certain witnesses to be called and placed upon oath. This resolution was passed without opposition. After several witnesses had been called Mr. St. John found his charges against the Government melting away before the strong sun of fact. He therefore decided to put a stop to proceedings and call his own witnesses. When he found he would have to go on with the business of the committee in the regular way he sulked, and, springing to his feet and followed by the other members of the Opposition, he left the committee, threatening to bring the matter up in the House. This he could have done with perfect propriety on a motion to adjourn if he was anxious for an immediate hearing, or he could have moved in the matter in the regular way when the House was moved into supply. Mr. St. John did not adopt either of these courses, but chose rather to be out of order by attempting to refer to the matter on a question of privilege. It is the opinion of many of the members that Mr. St. John knew this would not be allowed and simply adopted this course to make a bluff and give the country the impression the Government was attempting to burk inquiry. The fact he was out of order prevented the Government replying to his statement and this was evidently Mr. St. John's motive in bringing the matter to the attention of the House in an irregular manner. The Premier allowed him to state fully his charge and simply contented himself by drawing to his attention the proper form to lay the matter before the House, and there the matter ended and the members all laughed.

Important Legislation.

The House then settled down to business. The Premier introduced a Government bill to amend the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act. The bill facilitates the working of the board of registration, extends the Act to county towns, and makes some changes in the form of oaths. The bill was sent to the committee.

Absent Limited Companies.

Hon. Mr. Davis introduced a Government bill to amend the Ontario Companies Act, which provides that two years time shall be given all limited companies in which to have their signs, billheads and other printed matter changed from the abbreviated form to the regular manner set out in the Act. The bill permits the abbreviated form in marking goods. It also provides no action for infringement of the Act shall be brought except by the consent of the Crown. The Government is given power to remit all costs in actions already commenced.

To Help Settlers.

Mr. Carnegie introduced a bill to enable settlers to kill deer for their own use between Oct. 24 and Nov. 22. The bill was read a first time, but will receive some rough handling in all probability from both sides of the House when it arrives at the committee stage.

Electric Light in Towns.

Mr. Auld introduced a bill to extend the powers of towns of 5,000 and less to the same as enjoyed by towns and cities of 5,000 and more in the matter of erecting civic electric light works. The bill was read a first time and will receive attention after the holidays.

San Jose Scale.

Hon. Mr. Dryden's bill to permit the Government to pay 25 per cent. of the value of condemned fruit trees passed its second reading after considerable discussion. The Government seems determined to stamp out the pest. It was suggested this matter should be left to the municipalities, but the Government contended the matter was too important to leave it to anyone but the regular officers over whom the Government had control and who could be called to account.

Druggists Are Happy.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt introduced a bill to enable druggists and others to sell patent medicines containing alcohol without a medical certificate. Under an Act passed last session druggists were forbidden to sell any medicine that contained liquor of any kind. This bill enables druggists to sell all kinds of patent medicines and other drugs containing spirituous liquor provided they are sold in their original packages. The bill was read a first time.

The House then adjourned until Tuesday next.

KLONDIKE RELIEF.

Mr. Sifton Leaves Washington After the Expedition Has Been Provided For—The Plans.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The arrangement effected between Mr. Sifton in behalf of Canada and the War Department contemplates that the relief expedition shall be executed jointly by the United States army and a force of the Mounted Police of Canada, which constitutes the military arm of the Dominion. The United States force will proceed with the relief stores to Skaguay, where they will be joined by the Canadian Mounted Police, about 40 in number, and the two forces will then proceed together to the points where the relief is to be distributed. The determination as to Skaguay is, however, still open. The Canadian officials concede much latitude to the American authorities in the actual distribution, recognizing that the expedition is fitted out on this side, although a considerable part of the work will be done on the Canadian side of the border. No duties will be imposed on the stores carried by the relief expedition.

Mr. Sifton also held a conference with Secretary Gage, and discussed the unsatisfactory condition of customs regulations along the border and at coast points where goods are received by one country for transportation to the other country. It was the mutual feeling that an improvement of the system could be made, and negotiations are in progress which are hoped to effect changes advantageous to both sides.

Sifton Favors White Pass.

Mr. Sifton says that the only practicable route to Dawson City is what is known as the White Pass, or commonly called the Lake route, commencing at Skaguay or Lynn Canal.

He stated that Canada has 85 men in the territory and expects to have 50 more at Skaguay on or before Jan. 5. They have 20 tons of supplies now stored at Skaguay for transportation over the pass, to which will be added 10 more tons within the next 10 days for transportation over the pass.

The Canadian authorities have a post at Lake Bennett, another at Tagish, at which latter place 20 men are stationed; another post at White Horse Rapids, and two posts intervening between the latter point and Fort Selkirk.

It is the intention of the Canadian Government to have a detachment of 250 men in the territory within the next 30 days. This detachment will be ready to leave Skaguay on the 15th proximo, but the Minister has kindly consented to hold the expedition that they may accompany the expedition of the War Department, which will leave Skaguay on or before Feb. 1. The Canadian Government has kindly consented to grant escorts to the American expedition, provided the co-operation cannot be consummated.

The Government duties upon all supplies sent in under military control will be waived by the Canadian Government. The Minister was over the pass in October last. He stated that the Government would be very glad to grant the United States expedition the use of their posts on the route, and grant all other facilities to the movement of the expedition over their territory.

Mr. Sifton left for Ottawa at 4 p.m.

Ontario Teachers Barred

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 31.—War has been declared against Ontario teachers and all others residing outside of Manitoba and the Territories, and hereafter no teacher will be engaged in Manitoba schools who has not secured a western certificate at a regular teachers' examination. This is paying Ontario back in her own coin. Manitoba teachers' certificates are not recognized in the offete east, though the examination is even higher in standard than in Ontario. The law goes into effect at once. An agency in Toronto has been flooding the west with Ontario teachers, as report goes.

THE LIBERAL POLICY.

Hon. G. W. Ross Lays It Down in Nine Articles.

APPLICATION OF THE REVENUES.

They Should be Used for the Maintenance of the Service of the State, Lightening the Taxpayers' Burdens, and for Developing Latent Resources—Enforcement of Law.

Mount Brydges, Dec. 31.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross in his speech here gave the following concise and lucid summary of the policy of the Liberal party:

(1) To apply the public revenues solely for the maintenance of the service of the State; for lightening the burdens of the taxpayer, and for the development of the latent resources of the province.

(2) To apply the product of the forests and mines of the province from year to year in such a way as will best minister to the immediate wants of the whole people, without imperilling the interests of the lumberman or the miner, or without impairing the future productiveness of these sources of wealth.

(3) To promote agriculture by disseminating information with respect to husbandry in all its branches, so as to increase the fertility of the soil, the profits of the farm, dairy and orchard, and the comfort and happiness of the rural population in all parts of the country.

(4) To maintain in their integrity and efficiency all schools aided by the Government; to provide for the thorough training of teachers of every rank and grade; to increase the facilities for self-improvement by means of public libraries and to insist that every child domiciled in the province shall receive such a liberal and comprehensive education as shall prepare him for discharging intelligently the duties of citizenship as becomes a broad-minded, progressive Canadian.

(5) To provide generously for all citizens who suffer from mental aberration or the loss of any sense or faculty, and to minister to the wants of all persons compelled by misfortune, sickness or poverty to seek the shelter of any hospital, house of refuge or other charitable institution.

(6) To enforce without fear, favor or affection the laws respecting the liquor traffic, and to impose from time to time, as may be practicable, such restrictions on the sale of intoxicating liquors as will promote public morality and protect society from drunkenness and all kindred vices.

(7) To recognize Canadian citizenship as embracing all nationalities and creeds, and so to administer every law placed upon the statute book by the authority of Parliament that the rights of every subject of Her Majesty may be guarded against innovation or restriction from any source or by any influence whatsoever.

(8) To maintain the rights of the Province of Ontario as guaranteed by the British North America Act, and to exercise all the powers conferred by the constitution to preserve inviolate to the people of Ontario, the workingman as well as the capitalist, the legitimate profits of their enterprise and industry.

(9) To foster and strengthen our relations with the empire to which we belong, and to adopt on all questions such a resolute, honorable and progressive policy as will guarantee to the Province of Ontario at all times that influence in shaping the future of the Dominion of Canada to which it is entitled by virtue of its area, wealth and population. (Cheers.)

That, said Mr. Ross in concluding his address, has been our policy for 26 years. It is our policy still. In vindication of that policy we ask you to examine our record—a record which does not falsify a single principle of Liberalism, nor reveal a single broken pledge, nor disclose a single corrupt act nor the betrayal of a single trust. With that record we feel perfectly safe in the hands of an electorate too intelligent to be misled by false cries, too shrewd to be deceived by platitudes and mere platform declarations.

IMPORTANT FREIGHT CHANGES.

The Grand Trunk and the C. P. R. Will Reduce Rates on Jan. 1, 1898.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—According to a circular just issued, the two big railways will, commencing January 1st, make a number of important changes in their freight rates. On wheat, oats, barley, rye and corn products a reduction will be made to 20 cents per 100 pounds, on the basis of the haulage from Chicago to New York. It applies to freight for the Atlantic seaboard, from western points in the United States. On October 15th last the rate was raised to 22½ cents from 20 cents, so that it is now placed on its former standing. The second section refers to corn only, for domestic use or for export, from western points in the United States to the seaboard, on which a reduction of 2½ cents per 100 pounds is also made, the former figure being 20 cents. It is thus reduced to 17½ cents per 100 pounds. Another change affecting more directly Canadian traffic will also go into effect on the first of the new year. From main line points in Canada, on both railways, the tariff will be reduced 2½ cents per 100 pounds on export traffic for the seaboard, or from 17½ cents to 15 cents.

A Police Magistrate's Libel Suit.

Hamilton, Dec. 31.—Police Magistrate Jaffs has instructed his solicitor, George Lynch Staunton, to take proceedings against "Fidelis" (Mrs. Annie Billings) and the Herald for defamatory libel for the former's criticism of the magistrate in the paper. A cruelty to animals case was the moving cause.

Birth of Greater New York.

Washington, Dec. 31.—A salute of 100 guns from Governor's Island will be fired on the morning of January 1, to celebrate the birth of Greater New York.

The Turk Sat Upon.

Constantinople, Dec. 31.—The representatives of the powers have refused to permit the Turkish Government to replace 4,500 time-expired troops on the Island of Crete.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. THE OLD YEAR AND THE NEW.

The close of the year is naturally suggestive of retrospect, and in the case of Canada this retrospect is one to be proud of. We have enjoyed the blessings of domestic peace and experienced a harmony of sentiment among the different classes of our population that we had not enjoyed for years before a Liberal premier, by the exercise of wise statesmanship, removed the apple of discord from the national arena. And to the same premier is very greatly due the course of events that has led to the enrolment of Canada in the sisterhood of nations, not in name only, but in essence. The visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the old world and the added glory that has come to Canada through the splendid representation of the country he constituted, is not a source of mere party, but of national, pride. His visit, heralded by the action of parliament early in the year in extending preferential treatment to Great Britain, served to draw Canada and the mother country more closely together, served to draw attention through her distinguished son to her loyalty to the empire, to her high national spirit, to her thorough and honest national character, to her unlimited opulence of of natural resources, of field, forest, fishery and mine. At the same time that our allegiance to the glorious empire has been strengthened, our national integrity, our national entity, so to speak, has been emphasized. We are bound more closely to the great mother across the sea, yet we have a larger measure of national independence, especially in commercial matters than ever before. It may be felt by some that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to England had principally a spectacular significance. But it had a much deeper and more far-reaching influence; it brought the British in touch with Canada; it revived, if it did not originate, a genuine interest in the colonial elements of the Empire; it aroused the British people to the value and importance of the colonies, especially Canada, in the process of imperial expansion. Our magnificent natural resources, our capabilities for the development of mutually beneficial, commercial intercourse, almost without limit, the opportunities we present for the profitable investment of British capital—all these added to the tie of kinship, and the pride of Canada in her place in the Empire, forecast a future in our relations with the Mother Country, whose magnificent promise, almost certainty would, a generation ago, have been regarded as the veriest dream of an impossible optimist. In obedience to that promise, Canada has taken new hope, new hope has prompted more decided and energetic action, enterprise has been stimulated, and coincident with, if not in consequence of, the spirit indicated by such conditions, a new era of commercial prosperity has dawned, a new confidence has moved the national life, and the universal impulse in regard to all our national conditions is to thank God and take courage. Thus, while the past year has rolled its round full of magnificent performance, the coming year approaches with encouraging promise, and each a promise will nerve the national arm to new achievement. With such a spirit of confidence animating our people, with such auspicious conditions, national and moral, as a solid basis for such confidence, can THE EXAMINER, with a similar trust in a happy realization, wish our fellow-Canadians, and all the readers of THE EXAMINER,

A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

UNFOUNDED CLAIMS.

In their bid for power Mr. Whitney and his friends are by no means modest in making claims for the credit they think they deserve. The more absurd these claims are, the more they are insisted upon. The Opposition claim that they deserve the credit for originating the most of the beneficial legislation that has been placed upon the statute book of Ontario—something too self-evidently absurd to merit attention. While they can find no fault with the timber policy of the Government, looking to the manufacturing of logs in Ontario, they have the impudence to claim that they forced the Government to take such action. There is nothing in this claim. The policy of the Government on the timber question, though but recently crystalized in the form of a legislative bill, has long since been asserted and adopted, so long before the present agitation indeed, that it seems to have escaped the conveniently short memories of Mr. Whitney and his friends. The matter of complaint about logs is of recent origin, the export of logs across the line being but trifling till within the last few years. The Government years ago had in mind the interests of our lumbering industries. The first sale of timber lands after Hon. Mr. Hardy, the present Premier, became Commissioner of Crown Lands, contained the principle of the bill brought down this session by Mr. Gibson. One of the conditions of this sale was that all timber cut on the lands sold at that sale should be manufactured in Ontario. This was in 1890. Three years after, the Opposition, which claims to have forced the Government to action, through Mr. Miscampbell moved a resolution to the effect that timber on Crown lands should be sold subject to the condition of its being cut in Ontario, no more than what was provided for by the Government three years before. This was in 1893. A sale was made of timber lands in 1893, in which the manufacturing clause was not inserted, for the simple reason that the limits sold were on the Ottawa, and export of logs from these limits is practically impossible for geographical reasons.

Then Mr. Whitney's claim of forcing the Government to take action is further disproved by the delay he showed in "forcing the Government." We did not hear a word from him on the subject till after a meeting of lumbermen held in Toronto early last fall, in which a resolution in reference to cutting logs in Ontario was adopted. And even then Mr. Whitney took his time in entering upon his crusade. In the first meeting of his Provincial tour held in June in London, Mr. Whitney laid down his platform, but there was not a word about timber in the connection in question. It was only after three or four of his meetings subsequent to the meeting of the lumbermen in Toronto, that he found courage to take up the question, and then he put his foot into it—he urged the Government to take action by order-in-council, a course that would have been a breach of faith with licensees of our limits who, on the faith of the terms of their leases, had made contracts, employed labour and made other arrangements, which, had they been nullified, would have resulted in great loss and would have exposed the Government to endless and costly law suits for breach of contract. Such a course would, besides, have stained the honour of the Crown. The United States government may monopolize the glory of kicking against the award of arbitrators and refuse or delay payment; they may have sole use of the glory of accepting money awarded in excess of just claims, and never paid out, but Ontario, as a British dependency, must stick to the letter of the code of British honour and keep the terms of a bargain, even if it involves loss.

In taking their action in regard to our timber interests, the Government have acted like honourable statesmen and not like school boys that rued a bargain. Having established the principle of cutting in the province, they could afford to wait till the proper time to give that principle statutory effect. They would not be driven by the clamour of designing politicians anxious to make political capital to take a course that would be dishonourable and dishonouring to the province. The course of the government was not affected by the Opposition. They acted upon the principle they themselves had laid down, and the Opposition had no influence upon their course. The government acted when the time was ripe. They acted in a perfectly open and above-board manner. They have taken the House into their confidence, submitted their legislation in Parliament and have given opportunity for the fullest discussion in order to arrive at the best course in the interests of the Province.

It is as absurb for the Opposition to claim any credit for the action taken by the Government in respect of our timber, as it is for them to make a score of other equally wild claims.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

BRITISH AT COREA.

Eight Ships and Four Torpedo Boats at Chemulpo.

JAPAN IS MAKING PREPARATIONS

The British Naval Reserves to be Mobilised—It Would Require 10,000 Men—The Hai-Nan Incident Denied—Likewise That the C.P.R. Steamers Will be Called On.

London, Dec. 31.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai dated yesterday (Thursday) says:

"A British fleet of eight ships and four torpedo boats has arrived at Chemulpo (the port of Seoul). It is reported that there are two Japanese cruisers in the Yang-Tse-Kiang River. Japan is working night and day, preparing for war. It is believed that the British and Japanese fleets are in close touch."

Japan Making Preparations.

London, Dec. 31.—A letter from Kobe says: "Military manoeuvres of great magnitude were executed in Japan last month for the first time since the war with China."

SIGNIFICANT.

Announcement That the British Naval Reserves Will be Mobilised.

London, Dec. 31.—A news agency announces that the British naval reserves will be mobilised.

According to recent estimates, the reserve forces of the British navy number about 28,000 men. Of this number it is calculated that at least 10,000 men would be required in case of war to complete the manning of the warships of Great Britain, which are understood to require a complement of 110,000 men, whereas only 100,000 are said to be actually in service. The naval reserve problem has long been discussed by British authorities, and the general opinion appears to be that the number of men available is far short of the number which would be required in case of war.

In addition to the men of the naval reserve, Great Britain has a large reserve fleet and a number of reserve merchant cruisers, including such vessels as the Campania, Lucania, Etruria, Umbria, Majestic, Teutonic, on the Atlantic; and Empress of India, Empress of China, Empress of Japan and others on the Pacific.

This is Another Denial.

Paris, Dec. 31.—The officials of the French Ministry of Marine regard the report of the occupation of the Island of Hai-Nan, off the south coast of China, by the French fleet in those waters, as an invention.

During the day a semi-official contradiction was issued to the report that the French flag had been hoisted over the Island of Hai-Nan.

An Emphatic Denial.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—The Vice-President of the C.P.R. gave an emphatic denial to the report that the three Empresses had been requisitioned by the British Government. "They are still doing business at the old stand," observed Mr. Shaughnessy.

"STARTLING" INFORMATION

Which an Ottawa Correspondent Furnishes to a Minneapolis Paper.

Chicago, Dec. 31. — The following "startling" information is contained in a special despatch to a morning paper from Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Advices from Ottawa indicate that the British Government is preparing to actively resist Russian occupation of Port Arthur and Russian influence in Corea; also that the co-operation of the Japanese fleet with that of Great Britain is a well settled fact.

"Information has been received from an inside source that the Ottawa Government thirty days ago notified the Canadian Pacific officials to be in readiness for the immediate transportation from Montreal to Vancouver and Esquimault of 3,5[illegible] men, the contingent consisting of eng[illegible]ers, gunners and deck officers. Accord[illegible] to information at hand the road has prepared for handling 10,000 men, five trains being held in readiness for this service. The officers included in the first contingents are intended to reinforce the Japanese fleet, which is said to be very short on engineering talent and deficient in gunnery.

"The despatch adds that a secret agreement has been concluded between Great Britain and Japan by the terms of which the Russian pretensions in Corea are to be overcome and Russian aggrandisement in Asia permanently checked.

"Captain Ronald Rolfe, R.N., on inspection service, just returned from the West and on his way to England via New York, says that in his opinion the force above referred to is intended to increase the efficiency of the forts at Esquimalt and relieve the crews of the North Pacific Squadron."

CHINESE IMPERIAL DECREE.

Emperor Attempting to Excite His Subjects Into Stubborn Resistance.

New York, Dec. 31.—A Washington special to the Herald says: "The Emperor of China is attempting to excite his subjects into stubborn resistance to the partition of his Empire by the European powers. This is the explanation placed by Administration officials upon a decree issued by the Emperor a month ago, a copy of which was received at the State Department to-day from Minister Denby. The fact that an eclipse of the sun will take place on the first day of the Chinese new year fills the Emperor with foreboding, and in his decree he declares that the phenomenon betokens an impending calamity."

Appreciating how distracted the Emperor is over the landing of the Germans at Kiao-Chou, the stationing of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, and the danger of the distribution of his Empire among the great powers growing out of these occupations, Administration officials say it is not surprising that he should have attempted to make his people understand the grave possibilities of the future by appealing to their superstition.

Reichsrath Ordered to Be Closed.

Vienna, Dec. 31.—An autograph letter of Emperor Francis Joseph, addressed to Baron von Gautsch von Frankenthurn, the Austrian Premier, is gazetted, ordering the session of the Reichsrath to be closed.

PORT ERIN CLAIMANT DEAD.

And This Has Revived an Interesting Story of Attempted Fraud.

London, Dec. 31.—Henry Johnson, the Port Erin claimant, died at Huddersfield yesterday.

Henry Johnson and his brother Thomas were small boot and shoe dealers at Huddersfield. In July, 1896, they went to Port Erin, Isle of Man, hired a small boat and rowed seaward. Later Henry was picked up by fishermen on Bradda Head. He told the fishermen that his boat had been capsized and that he feared his brother had been drowned.

The fishermen searched for the missing man, but were unsuccessful. The life of Thomas Johnson was insured for $70,000 in several companies, the largest policy, for $50,000, having been issued by the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. Henry Johnson and the other heirs made a claim for the insurance money, but one of the English companies interested refused to pay, asserting that Thomas Johnson was not dead.

The matter was referred to an arbiter, who decided in favor of the insurance company. The evidence adduced at the hearing tended to show that Johnson's disappearance and the report of his drowning were pre-arranged.

WEYLER'S MEMORIAL.

He States Cuba's Case and His Own to the Queen Regent.

Madrid, Dec. 31.—General Weyler, the former Captain-General of Cuba, in his memorial to the Queen Regent on the subject of President McKinley's message to Congress, says he is honored by the attack made upon him, and his conduct as Governor-General, he insists, was that of a soldier animated by honor and patriotism.

Continuing, the General remarks that such attacks, therefore, will do him no harm, as they are aimed at him, he asserts, simply because he has done his duty. Nevertheless, the General further remarks, "Since the message contained insulting observations of the Spanish troops in Cuba," he believes it to be his duty to address a protest to the Crown. General Weyler affirms that the so-called pacificos, whom he concentrated in the fortified districts, were the prime abettors of the rebellion. The protest of the General is couched in courteous language.

THE DREYFUS CASE.

Matthew and Leon, Brothers of the Spy, Liable to Get Into Trouble.

Paris, Dec. 31.—Le Soir recently asserted that Matthew and Leon Dreyfus, brother of ex-Captain Dreyfus, who is now serving a life sentence on the Isle du Diable, off the coast of French Guiana, for having betrayed French military secrets to a foreign government, offered a bribe of $40,000 to the late Col. Sandhen, who, in 1894, was intrusted with an investigation into the charges made against Captain Dreyfus, if he would make a report favorable to their brother.

Commandant Ravary, who is conducting the Esterhazy inquiry, caused the Soir's assertion to be investigated, with the result that Examining Magistrate Bertulus has now instructed that judicial proceedings be taken against Matthew and Leon Dreyfus for attempted bribery.

THE TRUCE ENDED.

Employers' Federation Stands by Its Guns, and the Deadlock Continues.

York, England, Dec. 31.—A largely attended meeting of the members of the Employers' Federation yesterday unanimously passed a resolution endorsing the action of its representatives at the recent conference with the delegates of the striking engineers, reiterating the opinion that it is impossible to shorten the hours of labor, maintaining that the proposed arrangements for the management of the works in no way interfere with the proper functions of trades unionism, and acknowledging the receipt of the engineers' vote.

The employers' committee will write to the engineers' committee that the "truce, therefore, is ended."

BOTH COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

The Inquest Into James Frankum Concluded at Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ont., Dec. 31.—The adjourned inquest on the body of James Frankum was continued last night in the Court House. The father and wife of deceased and other witnesses were examined. Evidence was brought out showing that Margaret Stevens, sister of deceased, had ordered her son to get the gun, which he did, and after some altercation shot James Frankum in the leg, between the knee and the ankle, from the effects of which he died. Drs. Howland and Hart, who held the post-mortem examination, gave evidence that all the organs of the body had been in a healthy state, and that death resulted from acute gangrene, which they had tried to stop by the amputation of the leg.

The jury brought in a verdict that deceased came to his death from a gun shot wound having been caused from a shot from a gun whilst in the hands of Walter Frankum, with intent to do grievous bodily harm, being influenced by his mother Margaret Stevens. The coroner committed for trial Walter Frankum and Margaret Stevens.

Convicts in Revolt.

Montreal, Que., Dec. 31.—One of the guards of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, while serving a meal last night to one of the refractory prisoners, opened the cell and was struck by a brick. He received a deep cut and is now in the prison hospital. The howling still continues and between 40 and 50 convicts, the worst in the revolt, are now locked up in the punishment cells in the north wing. A perfect reign of terror exists among the villagers and especially the women folks. The superintendent of the tailoring department has been dismissed and a convict appointed in his place.

Information Wanted.

The Chief of Police has received a letter from Patrick Kennedy, 70 Lombard street, Toronto, asking help to locate a lad, James Kennedy, who left Sunnyside Orphanage Home at the end of the year 1896 to go to work for a farmer in the vicinity of Peterborough. Mr. Kennedy has heard nothing from the lad since and would be glad to receive information of his whereabouts. Any person able to furnish such information will kindly communicate with the Chief of Police, Peterborough, or the EXAMINER office.

A PROTRACTED "DRY SPELL."

The Cork Inserted "Drink Tight" for Fifty-nine Hours.

The chief of police desires the EXAMINER to remind the public that the bars of the hotels of the town will be closed at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening, and remain closed till 6 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Of course Saturday night and Sunday always means closed bars, and Monday being election day, by statutory enactment, the bar will not be "at home" to its usual patrons. Therefore the town will have a taste of total prohibition for fifty-nine hours. It is probable that there will be a big run on flasks and growlers the coming few hours. The thorough-going "sport" who cannot comfortably or consistently (with his record) put in a holiday without a "jag on," will doubtless promptly institute negotiations for an advance "jag" for the festive season.

At his subsequent trial in Cobourg the prisoner was honourably acquitted by the Magistrate on the ground that there was no evidence against him.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 30, 1897.

Mr. Geo. Schneider:

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the George street Methodist church choir, feel that we can not let this festive season of the year pass without taking advantage of the opportunity presented to let you know that the services which you have rendered us as organist and choir leader are thoroughly appreciated on our part. It is our wish, therefore, that you accept of this small token of esteem.

Wishing you the compliments of the season and a very happy New Year, we remain,

Yours faithfully,
THE GEORGE STREET CHOIR.

After Mr. Schneider had made a suitable acknowledgment Mrs. Seward, soloist, was presented with a picture, and the appended address was read at the same time:

Dec. 30th, 1897.

Mrs. Seward,—

DEAR MADAM,—Allow me on behalf of the George Street Methodist church choir to present you with this picture as a token of the many pleasant hours we have spent together in the service of praise; trusting that every time you look upon it we will be recalled to your loving remembrance.

Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year,

We remain,
Yours faithfully,
THE GEORGE STREET CHOIR.

Mrs. Seward suitably acknowledged the gift, after which refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening brought to a close.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will serve refreshments, commencing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and continuing until 10.

Every man in town over 16 years of age is invited to call during the day. The Reception Committee are sparing no pains in decorating the building and they will be in attendance all day to-morrow to welcome guests.

The programme by the Juniors in the morning in the gymnasium will give an opportunity to the parents to see what is being done there, and the senior programme in the afternoon should induce young men who are not members to join.

The programme in Association Hall will be in charge of the Debating Club. The subject for debate will be: "Resolved that the prevalent bicycle craze is detrimental to the business interests of the country." Affirmative—Rev. J. G. Potter and W. J. Stubbs; negative, Messrs. F. H. Dobbin and A. C. McCallum.

It will be a case of Greeks against Greeks, as the speakers are all experienced debaters. Everybody should come and enjoy the evening.

His clear and lucid explanations of the surplus of the late John Sandfield Macdonald, how much it was and how it was expended, the present financial position of the Province, the expenditures in connection with the management of the Provincial affairs, the timber question and the Engelduc mining deal, were very ably given to the satisfaction of the electors present."

MAYOR YELLAND'S POSITION.

He Will not Again Make a Fight for the Mayoralty.

In conversation with Mayor Yelland today he was asked as to his prospects in the present contest. He said that he was confident of the result, but he was rather tired of the hard work involved in the canvassing necessary to run a mayoralty contest successfully and he added that, whatever the issue, he would not again accept a nomination for mayor that involved a fight for it. Mayor Yelland concluded the conversation by saying:—"If the people want me for mayor another term after next year they must give it to me, for I won't fight for it."

LOCAL LEGAL.

The following from the Globe of yesterday refers to the case tried here recently before Chief Justice Rose, in which judgment was reserved:—

"High Court of Justice—Before Rose, J.—Brown vs. Village of Lakefield.—Judgment in action tried without a jury at Peterborough. Action for damages for injuries to plaintiff's property in the village. The complaint was that, by reason of having no culvert along the south side of Reid street, across Regent street, the water falling on the south side of Reid street, between Queen and Regent streets, was diverted from its natural course down Regent street east to a direction southerly along Regent street, so as by percolation or by means of the culvert across Regent street, opposite the plaintiff's property, to reach that property and to do the injury complained of. Action dismissed, but without costs and without prejudice to the right of the plaintiff, if the condition of affairs of which he complains can be more directly traced to the action of the defendants, to bring a fresh action. The learned Judge does not suggest the desirability of further litigation, for it seems that the matter is very trivial, and by a little expense on the plaintiff's part he can save his property from any annoyance that may come from the water diverted from its ordinary course. On the other hand, the defendants might well consider the desirability of placing the culvert along the south side of Reid street, across Regent street. W. R. Riddell and Stone (Peterborough) for plaintiff. D. W. Dumble (Peterborough) for defendants.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 92, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

THE CANADIAN HOME JOURNAL.

The January number of the Canadian Home Journal has two features of special interests to Canadians, besides the usual departments which are so important—the fashions and fancy work, the delicious home-made candy receipts, the music and stories, and the two delightful pages under their pretty heading, "Young Canada." One is an article written by Rev. Henry Scadding, D.D., giving extracts from an old diary kept by Mrs. Simcoe, wife of the first Governor of Upper Canada; and the second is another full page on the organization of the Canada Club, which is a matter of home interest not only to every woman in Canada, but, indirectly, to every Canadian, inasmuch as it will advance the interests of their country to an extent at present hardly realised even by the members of the Club. Reports of their meetings will be given every month in the Canadian Home Journal, and will be looked for with interest. The Canadian Home Journal, McKinnon Building, Toronto, Can.

MAYORALTY CONTEST!

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough:—

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

At the request of a large and influential number of citizens, representing all classes of the community, I have consented to become a candidate for the Mayoralty for the coming year.

Although I had decided to retire from Municipal life this year, yet I could not in the face of the solicitation of so many electors refuse to accept of the nomination so urgently pressed upon me. I felt it both an honour and a duty to accede to their wishes, and now solicit your vote and influence.

The Town of Peterborough requires that her legislators must be active, watchful and careful: active in placing her splendid natural facilities as a commercial and manufacturing centre before the world; watchful that the ratepayers' money shall be wisely, economically and judiciously expended; and careful in carrying out a policy of progress and economy, so that our Town may benefit in the race for supremacy without burdening the ratepayers with heavy taxation. Unless a policy of this kind is pursued, our Town will retrograde, and her mechanics, artisans and labourers be forced to look outside for their livelihood and eventually move from our midst.

If elected, I shall use my best endeavours to advance the interests of all classes of ratepayers. Being in close touch with the business men and manufacturers, I feel that I can look after their interests carefully and intelligently, while at the same time I shall use every effort to promote such legislation as will seek to benefit the working classes, and use every means at my disposal to keep down the rate of taxation.

During my term in Council I supported the advocacy of a fair day's pay for a fair day's work—and nine hours a day for corporation employees. If elected I shall continue to do this, and in addition will favour the insertion of a clause of similar character in all contracts let by the Town for public works.

Should time permit, I will endeavour to see you personally and place my views more fully before you, but should I be unable to do so, I hereby respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season, I am

Your obedient servant,

A. L. DAVIS.

TO THE RATEPAYERS — OF — WARD NO. 2

Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the request of many ratepayers of Ward No. 2, I have decided to accept the nomination as Candidate for election as one of your Councillors for 1898.

I ask the hearty support of all ratepayers and if elected will do all in my power to further the interests of the town and to ensure, as far as possible, practical and economical administration of affairs during the year. TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD NO. 2

Ladies and Gentlemen—Having been nominated a candidate for ward No. 2, I respectfully solicit your support. If elected I am prepared to give my best attention to the affairs pertaining to that office, to promote the best interests of the town, to support a policy of progress and industry in a legitimate and fair manner, governed by strict economy and even-handed justice.

Yours respectfully,
M. H. QUINLAN.

December 28th, 1897.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD NO. 4

Having been again requested to stand for Councillor for this ward, I have accepted the nomination and respectfully solicit your votes and influence. My record as one of your representatives in the council and my position in regard to the leading questions before the ratepayers, are well known to you all. I am therefore quite willing to leave myself in your hands and to be judged accordingly. If elected I will continue to exercise the same care in future over the interests of the town as in the past, keeping in mind, principally, to encourage an economical and consistent policy in the management of our corporation affairs.

Your obedient servant,
JOHN M. WHITE.

December 28th, 1897.

Card to the Electors

While thanking my proposer and seconder for my nomination as a councillor for No. 1 ward, I beg to state that I am not a candidate for the position the coming year.

Very respectfully,
J. J. TURNER.

Peterborough, Dec. 31st, 1897.

TO THE MUNICIPAL ELECTORS — OF — WARD NO. 2

Peterborough, Dec. 28th, 1897.

At the request of numerous ratepayers of this, the most important business ward of the town, I have accepted nomination as Councillor for 1898. I therefore take this opportunity of soliciting your votes and influence—of the ladies as well as of the gentlemen. If you do me the honour of electing me for this important position, I pledge myself to use my best judgment to forward the interests of Peterborough as your representative.

Being a large manufacturer and property holder in town, it will certainly be to my interest to support whatever will assist in advancing the interests of the municipality, so as to make it one of the most important business centres in the province. As far as lies in my power, I will also favour rigid economy in civic expenditure consistent with the efficient management of our town affairs.

Yours truly,
D. BELLEGHEM.

TO THE MUNICIPAL ELECTORS — OF — WARD NO. 2

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Having been urged by a number of the influential ratepayers of Ward No. 2 to become a candidate for Councillor in this important Ward, I have decided to accept nomination.

I therefore beg leave to respectfully solicit the votes and influence of the electors of the Ward, and promise that the interests of this Ward and the town shall receive my best attention, in case I should be elected by your valued support.

As I may be unable to make a personal canvas of all the electors before polling day, I trust those whom I may not be able to see will lend me their valuable support and influence.

Respectfully yours,
W. L. ALLEN.

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.

Mr. R. Wheatley, of the Department of Militia, Ottawa, says in reference to Doan's Kidney Pills that they are the best remedy he ever tried.

Mr. Wheatley makes the following statement:

"I suffered a great deal for a long time with severe pains in my back over the kidneys, restless, headaches, sleepless and general debility also made life a burden.

"Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try them, seeing that no other remedy had succeeded in my case. Well, from the first a wonderful change took place, and I continued to improve rapidly until, at the end of six weeks, I was cured.

"I now get well, sleep well, have no pain, dizziness or headache, and am in fact all O. K., thanks to Doan's Pill, which it is needless to say I recommend highly."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Hon. Clifford Sifton Meets President McKinley.

KLONDIKE RELIEF EXPEDITION.

Conference of the Minister of the Interior With Attorney-General McKenna and Secretary Gage—The British Government Will Permit a U.S. Army Detachment to Cross Canada.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn yesterday presented Mr. Clifford Sifton, the Canadian Minister of the Interior, to the President. Mr. McKinley greeted Mr. Sifton with cordiality, but did not discuss with him in any manner the object of his visit. Later Mr. Sifton took lunch at the British Embassy.

After the luncheon at the Embassy Mr. Sifton, accompanied by Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, called upon Attorney-General McKenna and Secretary of the Treasury Gage. The visits were simply out of courtesy, but in the course of Mr. Sifton's visit to both these Cabinet officers the question of getting supplies into the Klondike was discussed.

Mr. Sifton, in a general way, expressed the opinion that the Canadian Governments would be glad to render any aid in its power to this Government in getting a relief expedition into the Klondike, but expressed the opinion to both Mr. McKenna and Mr. Gage that there was not likely to be great suffering among the miners in the vicinity of Dawson City for lack of food. This opinion he expressed upon the information in possession of the Canadian Government. He did think, however, that there might be severe suffering on account of the excessive cold, as a large proportion of those who rushed into the mining region last summer were unacclimated. Moreover, Mr. Sifton is not sanguine that a relief expedition such as this Government contemplates would get through. The Canadian Government, with all the facilities in its possession, has not yet been able to get in 25 tons of provisions despatched some time ago. He pictured in a gloomy way the immense difficulties in driving reindeer through the narrow defiles and passes over snow and ice.

Mr. Sifton, in his talk with Secretary Gage, also referred briefly to the question of duties on miners' supplies, but nothing significant was said on either side, as far as could be learned.

President Approves Pelagic Sealing Bill.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Ex-Secretary Foster had a brief conference with the President yesterday, after which the President approved the bill "prohibiting the killing of fur seals in the waters of the North Pacific Ocean," passed the day Congress adjourned for the holidays. The Act prohibits the killing of seals by American citizens, except as they may be taken on the Pribyloff Islands by the North American Commercial Company. It also prohibits the importing of seal skins into the United States, whether "raw, dressed, dried or manufactured." The penalty of violation of the law is a fine of not less than $200 or more than $2,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both, for each offence, including the forfeiture to the United States of the vessels, tackle and cargo.

A U. S. Army Corps in Canada.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, sent an official communication yesterday to the Secretary of State, announcing that the British Government will permit the detachment of the United States army accompanying the Government relief expedition to cross British territory in making the trip. The detachment will be accompanied by a representative of the Canadian Government as an escort while passing over British soil.

FREEMAN WAS DROWNED.

Account of the Accident to Major Walsh's Yukon Expedition.

Vancouver, Dec. 30.—L. Vachon, of Sumas, has just returned from the Hootalinqua River, and gives details of the loss of boats and drowning of one man in the party headed by Major Walsh, Canadian Administrator of the Yukon. This event occurred on the Yukon River about the middle of November. There was considerable shoal ice at the time and a jam occurred at the spot where the river narrowed. When they sighted the jam the occupants of the first boat endeavored to make the shore, but the current carried the boat under the ice and it came out on the other side of the jam. Though the contents were lost, two of the occupants saved themselves by slipping snowshoes on their hands and clambering on the ice. The third occupant, named Freeman, was drowned. The occupants of the second boat escaped, but its contents were also lost. Vachon sold his outfit to Major Walsh and returned.

London reported two wonderful cures by means of Dodd's Kidney Pills, within two weeks. Glencoe has a case quite as startling.

W. J. Nugent suffered for years with Kidney Disease and Piles. Doctors couldn't help him. Every remedy he tried failed till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A few boxes cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a unfailing cure for all diseases caused by impaired kidneys and impure blood.

TROY SAW THE DEVIL.

His Satanic Majesty Was Flaming Red and Had Two or Three Heads.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—The Governor of the jail has been notified that Dr. Daniel Clark, of Toronto Asylum, and Dr. Leonard, jail surgeon, are to examine John F. Troy, under sentence of death, as to his mental state. Troy talks incessantly about his last condition, and in his bare feet paces to and fro until wearied. He has rubbed the hair off a spot on the top of his head with the continual working of his fingers.

He says he saw the devil one night and that he is not at all like what he had pictured him. He thought he was black and had horns, but this one he saw was flaming red and had two or three horrible-looking heads. He was so worked up after the apparition that he had to be removed to another cell in order to allay his fears of seeing him again. He does not fear hanging; that, he says, is an easy death, but he is full of devils and they are going to torture him. He has failed considerably since his sentence. Of late he has eaten very little. He says he is perfectly sane.

If every man could live an out-door life, passing his time with gun and fishing-rod and canoe, there would be less illness in the world. Unfortunately, the demands of modern civilization will permit very few men to live this ideal, healthful life.

Many men have to pass the day shut up in offices and stores, and the nights in close apartments in crowded cities. They get little out-door exercise. One of the results of this unhealthy, sedentary living is the awful prevalence of that dread disease—consumption. One-sixth of all the deaths each year are due to this relentless enemy. Formerly physicians pronounced this disease incurable. It is now generally known that there is a marvelous medicine that for the past thirty years has been curing consumption almost without a failure. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis and other diseases of the air-passages. It is the great re-builder. It tears down, carries off and excretes old, inert tissues and replaces them with the firm tissues of health. It restores the lost appetite and makes the digestion perfect.

"Four years ago I had an attack of grip that left my throat and lungs in a bad condition," writes Mrs. Mary Hartman, of 360 Harker St., Mansfield, Ohio. "The doctor said I had disease of the throat and bronchial tubes. I continued to grow worse. I had pain in the upper part of my chest and a severe cough, which grew worse at night and in the morning, with heavy expectoration. I would cough up mattery scabs, after which I would experience a burning and smarting sensation in my throat. I took the doctor's prescriptions without number, but they did me no good. I took sixteen bottles of cod liver oil and was as bad as ever. I then took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and three of the 'Pellets.' I began to improve in every way and now enjoy good health and have taken no medicine for over six months."

HOW TO COOK POSSUM.

Told by One of the Most Skillful Opossum Chefs in the World.

A negro's juicy appreciation of possum meat was well illustrated upon a recent occasion when a lady with whom the narrator is acquainted paid a visit to New Orleans. She told him the story. She was walking down Chartres street early one morning, intending to visit the celebrated French market of the Crescent City, and on her way she met a very old colored man coming from the opposite direction, evidently from the market, as he was carrying in one hand a possum and in the other a small split wooden basket of sweet potatoes. The old man's face was beaming with good nature and wreathed in smiles of anticipatory pleasure. He looked so joyously into the face of the lady that she, too, could not help but smile at him, whereupon he held the possum up aloft and said, "Good eatin, missy, good eatin." She stopped for a moment, looked at the childlike, happy face of the old negro and said, "So you like possum, do you?"

"Like possum, missy! I loves possum. Dare ain't no eatin like possum. De possum am good, but de gravy with sweet potatoes is better. Did you never eat possum, missy? Den you didn't know what good eatin was. But maebbe you all wouldn't know how to cook Mr. Possum, fur dar's ebbyt'ing in de know how."

"Well, then, tell me how you cook it," she said.

The old man set the possum and potatoes down on the pavement, or, as they call it in New Orleans, the "banquet," and with a look of earnest concentration began with: "Now, don't you never forget jest what I'ze gwine to tell you about how to cook de possum. Well de fust t'ing you does is to get your possum. Dat may be easy fur you ans, but 'tain't fur me—dat is, always. Well, den, when you's dun got your possum you skins him fust. Den you puts him into de pot with cold water an put de pot over a hot fire, an den you parbiles him—not too much—fur you doan't want to lose any of his nice sweet fat. Den you takes him out of de pot an you dries him in a clean towel. Den you puts him into a big fryin pan. Den you scrapes de skin off your sweet potatoes an you puts dem into de same pan with Mr. Possum. Den you has your stove red, an den you puts de pan an possum an potatoes into de oven an den go away fur a little while, but not too long.

"Den when you comes back you puts in a little hot water, an den you begins an bastes de possum an de sweet potatoes, an you keeps on a-bastin an a-bastin till de possum is a good brown—jest like my color—an de sweet potatoes is soft an juicy an de gravy is almost black an plenty of it. Den you takes it out of de oven, an den you sets de table, an den—well, den you bars de doors, fur de smell of cooked possum goes a long ways, an when you have only one possum you doan't want much company besides yourself."

Now, there is your recipe for cooking possum and given by probably one of the best chefs for that dish in the world. —Philadelphia Times.

ONE MILLIONAIRE'S START.

He Earned Ten Dollars by Throwing the Strong Man of a Show.

"Had I caught my train that night," laughed the man who had nothing to do for a quarter of a century but sit and watch pine trees grow to swell his bank account, "I would probably be a farmer now trying to raise a mortgage and a few other things. I had gone to a little town in lower Wisconsin to see a colt that a man there wanted to sell me. I was a good judge of stock and shrewd on a trade, but a greener country lad never broke into a town. I would have walked back to the farm after I found myself too late for the train, but I saw a handbill announcing a show that night and couldn't resist the temptation to see it, though it did cost a quarter.

"In my hilarious appreciation I was more of an entertainment than they had on the stage, especially as I was utterly oblivious to the fact that I did not look like any one else in the audience. Toward the end a huge fellow came out, tossed cannon balls in the air, held men out at arm's length and lifted heavy weights. After this showing of his prowess he offered $10 to any one whom he could not throw inside of two minutes. I was the crack wrestler in all our section, though none present knew it, and I felt as though the challenge was aimed directly at me. I turned hot and cold during a few seconds of intense silence. Then I sprang up, and, as I came out of my old blouse, shouted, 'I'll go you, b'gosh!' There was a roar of laughter, and then some of those about me urged me not to go up there and have my neck broken. But one old man told me to go in. It was a tough job, but I finally threw the giant almost through the floor with a hip lock. There was a little hesitancy about giving me the $10, but the crowd shouted till I got it. Then the old man took me home with him, and in a week I had charge of all the teams in his lumber camps. In time I became a partner, and he cleared the way to make me rich. That was really a match for a million."—Detroit Free Press.

Fate of Noted Horses.

General Boulanger's famous black horse now draws a Paris fiacre. Marshal Canrobert's and General Gallifet's chargers were turned over to the Pasteur institute to produce antidiphtheritic serum, as was also St. Claude, the winner of the Auteuil steeple chase in 1890.

Longevity Influenced by Water.

Solid and dry as the human body appears, water constitutes more than one-fourth of its bulk, and all the functions of life are really carried on in a water bath, and, although the sense of thirst may be trusted to call for a draft of water when required, the fluid can be imbibed most advantageously for many reasons besides merely satisfying thirst. In the latter stage of digestion, when comminution of the mass is incomplete, it is much facilitated by a moderate draft of water, which disintegrates and dissolves the contents of the stomach, fitting it for emulgence and preparing it for assimilation. Hence the habit of drinking water in moderate quantities between meals contributes to health and indicates the fact that those who visit health resorts for the purpose of imbibing the waters of mineral springs might profit by staying at home and drinking more water and less whisky.

Water is the universal solvent of nature and the chief agent in all transformations of matter. When taken into an empty stomach, it soon begins to pass out through the tissues into the circulation to liquefy effete solids, whose excretion from the system is thus facilitated. Very few people think of the necessity of washing the inside as well as the outside of the body, and he who would be perfectly healthy should be as careful about the cleanliness of his stomach as that of his skin.—New York Ledger.

The Note Hurt Her Feelings.

A young gentleman whose gallantry was largely in excess of his pecuniary means sought to remedy the defect and save the money required for the purchase of expensive flowers by arranging with a gardener to let him have a bouquet from time to time in return for his cast off clothes.

It thus happened one day that he received a bunch of the most beautiful roses, which he at once sent off to his lady love. In sure anticipation of a friendly welcome he called at the house of the lady the same evening and was not a little surprised at the frosty reception he met with.

"You sent me a note today," the young lady remarked, after a pause, in the most frigid tone.

"I—a note?" he inquired in blank astonishment.

"Certainly, along with the nosegay."

"And there was a note inside?"

"Do you still mean to deny it?"

With these words she handed the dumfounded swain a scrap of paper on which the following words were written: "Don't forget the old trousers you promised me the other day."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WO IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

FAIRWEATHER & Co

WOULD YOU GO TO THE KLONDIKE

HERE ARE POINTERS FROM ONE WHO HAS RETURNED.

Country is Rich With Gold but if too Many People Rush in Many Will be Sorry They Went—Rye Witness' Story.

A representative of the Ottawa Journal had a chat the other evening with Mr. Robert Anderson, the London, Eng., gentleman who recently returned from the Klondike.

According to Mr. Anderson's statements the two things required to make the Yukon district the basis of the greatest mining operations in the world are transportation facilities and the presence of practical miners. He considers that with adequate railway connections, and with men experienced in prospecting at work there, the possibilities of that country will be practically unlimited.

He has had a quarter of a century's experience in the mining regions of South Africa, Australia, Mexico and California, and evidently knows what he is talking about.

The land which Mr. Anderson has applied for a lease of extends for two miles along the mouth of the Hunker Creek. It is too poor to pay by placer mining, but he is willing to take the risk of its paying when worked by hydraulic methods, and, if a lease is secured, will form a company for this purpose.

In reply to a question Mr. Anderson said:—"I left Victoria, B.C., on the 29th of July last and eighteen days later arrived at Dawson City. I remained at Dyea one day and one day at Juneau, and was travelling just sixteen days—one of the quickest trips on record. I went over the pass at Dyea. I had a very pleasant journey; in fact it is a regular pleasure trip at that time of the year. Returning, I came up the Yukon river to a point a little above Pelley, a distance of about 250 to the coast. The journey was made in in 26 days.

FIVE THOUSAND AT DAWSON.

"I remained in the Klondike just fifty days. There were about 5,000 or 6,000 at Dawson and vicinity then. The best of order prevailed. In fact it is the most orderly frontier camp I ever visited.

"There are a large number of saloons and dance hall at Dawson City, and they are doing a flourishing business. These afford the only means of diversion for the miners, and about all their spare time is spent there. A rum shop pays better than a mine. It is reported that the Government intends imposing a heavy tax on them, and I think it would be a first-class move.

"During the time I was in the district, I inspected about all of the principal claims. The richness of some of them is simply marvellous. The Eldorado and Bonanza Creek claims are the richest. There are about 150 claims that will average $300,000 each in value. Those on the Eldorado are the best and will average more than this. The Bonanza claims not quite so much.

NOT EXAGGERATED.

"I do not think that the newspaper reports have exaggerated matters much. Numbers of men have struck good claims and made an immense amount of money in a short time. I met several who were poverty stricken when they reached the Klondike, but who are now very wealthy. Of course a far greater number have made practically nothing.

RAILWAYS NEEDED.

"With good transportation facilities and the presence in the country of men who have a practical experience in prospecting and mining, everything is possible. It is the greatest mining country on the face of the earth. Owing to the great cost of getting provisions into the country, living and other expenses are so high that it only pays to mine the rich claims now. With freight rates brought down to a reasonable figure, as they will be when the railways are constructed, living will be much cheaper and the poorer claims can then be worked at a profit.

"No attention has as yet been paid to quartz mining. It has all been placer work so far. There is not the least doubt but that paying quartz will be found and when the country is opened up a little more this will become as great an industry as placer mining.

"There are 200 men now exploring the Stewart river and I am confident that they will discover good diggings there. Gold in paying quantities has already been found on the bars in the river.

NOT TOO COLD.

"As far as the cold is concerned I don't think that the miners will find it difficult to contend with. Certainly they will find it easier to get along with than they would in countries where fevers prevail and good water is scarce.

A PIECE OF ADVICE.

"If an inexperienced man were to ask your advice as to going to the Klondyke, what would you tell him?" asked the Journal.

"Well, that is a difficult question to answer. Some of the best claims in the country have been secured by men who never saw a mine before. I am acquainted with a number of such who have made a big pile of money. However, if as many people go to the Klondyke next spring as is anticipated, there will be a great many of them who will wish that they had remained at home."

Mr. Anderson complains that the Citizen in stating that he claims that the royalties are unfair, has not reported him correctly. While it will undoubtedly be found advantageous to amend the regulations from time to time, as the needs of the country require, it is only fair to say that the Government has done the best that could be expected with the information at their disposal.

A Mother's Story—Her Little Girl Cured of Croup.

Having used your medicine, my faith is very high in its powers of curing Colds and Croup. My little girl has been subject to the Croup for a long time, and I found nothing to cure it until I gave Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine, which I cannot speak too highly of.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Father Sullivan, of Douro, spent Christmas here with friends.

Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, of Uxbridge, is the guest of Rev. Mr. A. S. Grame.

Miss Maggie Young has been confined to her room with La Grippe; her many friends are glad to see her able to be around again.

Miss Ella Young is spending a few days with her sister in Selwyn this week.

Mr. L. G. Febert, of Chemong, was in our village to-day.

Our teacher, Mr. Harry Andrews, is spending his holidays at his home in Norwood.

The special music in St. Mary's church here for Christmas was especially fine. A trio composed of sacred music was given during the Mass by Miss Anna Young, Misses Lottie and Maggie Kearney (two violins and organ), which is deserving of much credit. Also two stirring marches before and after the service were given by the trio and was much appreciated. The vocal solos were effectively taken by the members of the choir, Miss Ida Kearney, Miss Emma Scollard and Mrs. P. P. Young deserve special mention as soprano, and Miss Maggie Kearney, contralto.

The high respect and esteem in which the Rev. Father Brown is held was amply shown by the splendid donation he received from his congregation on Christmas day.

In the English church services were also held both morning and afternoon, the Rev. Mr. A. S. Grame officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bagshaw, of Uxbridge. A large number was in attendance at each service.

The Christmas tree and entertainment for the Church of England Sunday school took place in Hurd's hall Tuesday last was a success. Tea was served from 4 to 7 p.m.

It is surprising to see the quantity of wood that is being hauled daily from this vicinity to Peterborough. What a great benefit it would be if that much talked of railroad came here from Lakefield. Then this wood could be shipped direct to Peterborough. The wood is not the only article we have for transportation. There is timber and lumber and also quarries here, where the stone could be taken away without much trouble. Farther up the lake we have our mica mines. It would be convenient to the people of the Point, the Stony lake cottagers, campers and tourists visiting here in summer to come by rail.

The annual school meeting of S.S. No. 8 was held in the school on Wednesday, Dec. 29th, a large number of ratepayers being in attendance. Mr. W. J. Young, the retiring member of the board, was again elected by acclamation. This speaks well for Mr. Young's efficiency as trustee, being his third term without opposition.

This being election times, everybody seems to be on the alert electioneering.

Miss Loretta and Mrs. F. J. Young, of Selwyn, had a narrow escape while driving from the Point the other evening. The horse became frightened and ran away, throwing them out and damaging the cutter. The occupants received several slight bruises.

Mrs. Richard Reid, who has been ill for some time, is improving.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtaxed, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then comes the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

An Early Fog Horn Story.

"That portrait of William Allen," said the old citizen as he looked around the sanctum, "reminds me of a story about him that I have never seen in print. It was during the rattling campaign of 1840, and Allen had been invited to speak in Cleveland. The meeting place was a grove near the corner of Erie and Euclid, and of course everybody turned out to hear the famous Ohioan. Then the Whigs, who hated William, made it up among themselves that as soon as he arose to speak they would desert the meeting in a body. Sure enough, just as Allen arose and opened his mouth away went the Whigs. But the warhorse was enough for them. He had a voice that covered a township, and he poured hot shot into the Whig party as long as there was a retreating Whig in sight. He gave it to them straight from the shoulder, and if any of them lived over in Ohio City they must have wept on hearing him long after they got home. Lord, how the audience roared when the last Whig was out of sight! The spectacle of the deserters hustling along to get out of range of those thunderous invectives was a sight to make the gods roar with delight. I've seen many funny things in politics, but nothing quite so funny as that."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Farewell to '97

Welcome to '98

With pleasant remembrances of the bounties bestowed on this store during the year now nearly gone, we can enjoy a cheerful retrospect of our business dealings for the past twelve months. We have much to be thankful for—much to encourage us—and our farewell to 1897 is full of gratitude and confidence.

We welcome 1898. For the fourteenth time we extend the right hand to our to our hosts of friends and patrons in wishing them all a Happy New Year. Fourteen years have come and gone, each year finding us striving to make this the leading store in Ontario for Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Furnishings, and we have been fortunate in having attained a larger measure of succese than usually falls to the lot of the majority of business men.

Business can afford to rest for a day—especially if the day be one on which new hopes, and golden intentions, and bright promises may be enjoyed. We cherish the hope of being able to begin over again with a still broader conception of storekeeping and still larger ideas of success.

Standing on the threshold of 1898 we write progress over store and methods alike, with sincere devotion to the interests of customers, and a larger determination to secure good-will. The promises made last New Year's have long sinced reached their fruition, and the next thing done will be bigger and better every way.

When the doors swing open at 8 o'clock Monday morning we shall be ready with special goods and special prices. To-day we look out in the sunlight of larger promises for you and for us.

"MANY HAPPY RETURNS OF THE SEASON."

Awful Revelation.

An old lady who is very much of a bore paid a visit to a family of her acquaintance. She prolonged her stay and finally said to one of the children:

"I'm going away directly, Tommy, and I want you to go part of the way with me."

"Can't do it. We are going to have dinner as soon as you leave," replied Tommy.—London Fun.

PETE SIMONS & CO.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.40 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 2 for 25c? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Sheap Prices.

Next thing is your Celery, of course everybody says that your Celery is the best, nicely crisp and tender. You have lots of it to sell? Yes. There comes my car, so good day! Push along! Bye, bye.

Choice stock of Groceries and Provisions, Fruit, Fish and Vegetables, always fresh, good and cheap. Free delivery. Glad to see all my friends, and thank them for their kind patronage. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain yours truly

THE NILE BATTALIONS

Four Regiments of British Troops to Go to Cairo

TO REPLACE THOSE TO ADVANCE

Warwickshire and Lincolnshire Regiments to Move from Wady Halfa to the Frontier—Dervishes Coming North—Mysterious Movements of the French in Africa —Press Comment.

London, Jan. 3.—In response to the request of Sir Herbert Kitchener, it has been arranged to send four battalions to Cairo to replace those destined to take part in the British advance toward Khartoum, one each from Malta and Gibraltar and two others to be stopped while en route for home from India. The morning editorials comment upon the gravity of the situation that compels an advance before the railway has been completed.

The Times suggests that it would be safer to send a larger force.

Ordered to the Front.

Cairo, Jan. 3.—The Warwickshire and Lincolnshire regiments of the British Army have been ordered to start from Wady-Halfa for the frontier.

The ordering of the troops to the front was occasioned by reliable news from Omdurman, the Khalifa's great camp near Khartoum, to the effect that the Dervishes are preparing for northward movement. Though the movement has not yet actually begun the greatest excitement prevails.

More Troops to the Front.

Cairo, Jan. 3.—A battalion of the Cameron Highlanders has been ordered to be in readiness to ascend the Nile fortnight hence.

London, Jan. 3.—A despatch from Malta says that a battalion of the Seaforth Highlanders has been ordered to Egypt.

London, Jan. 3.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Mail says, as part of the planned British advance up the Nile, [illegible] believe French expeditions have arrived quite close to Khartoum. Accordingly the same authority the British force will be commanded by Major-General Sir Francis Grenfell.

The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "I learn from private sources that the Italian foreign office has received information that Emperor Menelik has summoned the Abyssinians to arms in support of French enterprises in Equatorial Africa, and especially the plans of the Russian Count Leontieff, Governor of the Equatorial Provinces of Abyssinia.

"Menelik himself is setting out at the head of an army; and it is believed the movement masks an expedition against the Anglophile Ras Mangascia, whose province, Tigre, the Negus wishes to annex. I also hear that Menelik, calculating upon the uneasiness of the Italian Government, proposes an advance toward the coast."

The Daily Mail, commenting editorially on the foregoing despatches from Rome and Cairo, suggests that the Marchand expedition has gone beyond Fashoda and reached Khartoum.

"It is impossible," says the Daily Mail "for the expedition to have fought its way there and it can only arrive in alliance with the Khalifa, thus creating a serious situation."

A despatch from Cairo, via Paris, on Friday announced that a French expedition had occupied Fashoda, on the Nile, about 400 miles south of Khartoum, and that it was reported among the natives that the French were descending the river.

A NOTABLE WEDDING.

Prof. Alexander Melville Bell Married in New York to Mrs. H. G. Shibley of Harrowsmith.

New York, Jan. 3.—Prof. Alexander Bell, the distinguished Scotch scientist, and father of Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, and Mrs. H. G. Shibley, of Harrowsmith, Ont., were married here on Saturday. The ceremony was performed by an old Scotch pupil of the groom, the Rev. Dr. R. A. Paterson, of Binghampton, N.Y., in parlor 107 of the Park Avenue Hotel. Mr. Bell, hale, hearty and vigorous, accompanied by his brother, B. C. Bell, and his son, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, and the latter's daughter, Miss E. M. Bell, of Washington, were the first to enter the apartment. Dr. Paterson introduced them to a few visitors, and then announced that Col. John Hitz, for 20 years the United States Consul to Switzerland, would be the best man. Miss Hattie Mace and Mr. Henry W. Guess, of Harrowsmith, Ont., entered, accompanied by the bride, who is their aunt. In a brief speech the clergyman congratulated his old-time professor on his choice of a new partner, and told of his being educated by the bridegroom. The ceremony itself was very brief, and afterwards a breakfast was served in the dining-room annex, which was suitably decorated for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell will spend their honeymoon in New York, and will probably go to Washington within ten days.

THE GERONA ASHORE.

The Thomson Line Steamer Wrecked Off Seal Island—One Sailor Supposed to Have Been Drowned.

Halifax, Jan. 3.—The fine steel steamer Gerona of the Thomson Line, with 294 cattle, 90 horses and a general cargo of grain, flour, cheese and pulp, went ashore off Seal Island. She sailed from Portland, bound for London. After striking she came off with 15 feet of water in her hold. The captain and crew abandoned her and took to the boats. Second Officer Watson and 24 of the crew have arrived at Forbes' Point, Woods' Harbor. The captain and 36 of the crew steered for Seal Island and were not heard of until late to-night, when a report from Yarmouth told of their arrival there and of the other party having been taken to Pubnico.

The Gerona's cargo is estimated to have been worth about $310,000, including the live stock, and the steamer is valued at about $150,000. The cargo was mostly insured through Montreal agencies.

The Government steamer Newfield was sent in search of the Gerona and the missing boats. Capt. Baxter, it is stated, believes that Blonde Rock was the scene of the disaster.

One sailor named Carl, who was supposed to leave the ship in the lifeboat which reached Woods' Harbor, is missing, and is thought to have been drowned in attempting to get away from the steamer. Most of the men in this boat, which was in charge of Second Officer Watson, were cattlemen. The crew will be sent to Boston early this week. They had a terrible experience, as it was eight hours after leaving the wreck before they pulled up on the beach, terribly exhausted from exposure.

More Money for Young Pullmans.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—The twin sons of the late George M. Pullman will come into possession of $18,000 each, as the result of their interests in life insurance policies carried by their father. These policies are now being adjusted and the amount the sons will receive will be in addition to the $3,000 a year stipend left them by their father's will.

MR. SIFTON'S MISSION.

Satisfactory Arrangements Regarding the Dawson Relief Expedition—The Customs Matter Also Adjusted.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, has returned from Washington. His mission, he states, was entirely satisfactory. He went to business connected with the proposed United States relief expedition to Dawson. They propose starting a train of one hundred or one hundred and fifty horses, attended by the necessary men, to take about thirty tons of provisions to the people who are supposed to be in want of food and who happen to be nearly all United States citizens. Mr. Sifton agreed to furnish an escort through Canadian territory of fifty of the Mounted Police. The idea is to start about the 1st of February and to use the White Pass into the interior. The United States Government have also contracted with a man named Boyle to convey several hundred tons of provisions by means of an ice locomotive down the Yukon River. In the matter of customs complaint had been made of a charge of $6 a day imposed by the United States customs for the attendance of customs officers from Skaguay and Dyea on goods passing to Canadian territory, just over the summits of the Chilkoot and White Passes, an impost considered more vexatious than necessary. The authorities at Washington agreed to abolish this. The Secretary of the Treasury expressed himself as anxious to do anything in his power to facilitate travel to Canadian territory. Mr. Sifton informed your correspondent that he was pleased at the cordiality of his reception by the members of the United States Government and others officials at Washington.

CHINA MAY RESIST.

Germany Served With a Demand to Evacuate.

A RUSSIAN UNDER BRITISH FIRE.

Vice-Admiral Seymour, the Commander-in-Chief, Starts for Hong Kong—Commercial Relations Between Russia and Corea—Report That Canadian Militia Were Ordered for Service Denied.

London, Jan. 3.—Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, K.C.B., who has been appointed British Commander-in-Chief on the China station, succeeding Admiral Buller, has started for Hong Kong accompanied by his staff.

According to a special despatch from Shanghai, a sudden stiffening has taken place in the attitude of Tsung Li Yamen toward Germany, resulting in a demand for the evacuation of Kiao-Chou, and leading to the belief that Great Britain is bring pressure to bear upon Pekin. A despatch from St. Petersburg says that on Thursday Emperor Nicholas granted an audience to the Chinese Minister Plenipotentiary Yang Yu, who handed the Czar a personal letter from the Emperor of China. It is reported there that the conversation turned on the proposed Chinese loan. The St. Petersburg Herald announces that some Russian vessels have left Port Arthur and gone into the harbor at Tallenwan with China's consent, the harbor at Port Arthur being too small for the free movement of the Russian vessels.

The Canadian Militia for Service.

New York, Jan. 3.—The London correspondent of the Sun cables: "The Sun is enabled to say that in the event of trouble in the far East the Canadian militia will have an opportunity of covering themselves with glory. The War Department and the Admiralty have between them drawn up a scheme whereby a battalion of this militia will be hurried to Hong Kong from Vancouver the moment war seems imminent. They would reach China long before any force from England could get there, and it is thought their co-operation would boom the Imperial unity idea. Presumably the views of the Dominion Government had been ascertained beforehand, and some steps had been taken to find out whether the gallant militiamen would be willing to follow glory to the cannon's mouth."

Report Denied at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—General Gascoigne says he has heard nothing of the intention of the War Department to send a Canadian force to China.

Fired on a Russian Warship.

London, Jan. 3.—A sensation has been caused by a rumor from Plymouth that the English admiral has fired on a Russian man-of-war in Chinese waters. Nothing is known as to the matter at the Foreign Office or the Admiralty.

The morning papers publish also the statement that England is pressing China to declare Port Arthur a free port. It is supposed that the presence of British warships there is intended to insure freedom of access for trading vessels.

Russia in Corea.

St. Petersburg, Jan 3.—It is announced that M. Kuril Alexieff has been invested with full powers "to promote the development of the commercial relations between Russia and Corea in competition with British and Japanese influences and to aid in furthering the prompt construction of the projected Orthodox Church at Seoul."

China Yielded in This Case.

Merlin, Jan. 3.—It is announced that China has yielded to the demand of Baron Heyking, German Ambassador at Peking, for the dismissal of the commandant of the Chinese garrison at Tao-Chow, Province of Shan Tung, because of the use of threatening language to the German missionaries there. The Chinese Government has telegraphed a dismissal of the commandant.

INSULT TO THE QUEEN

Results in Lord Roberts Refusing to Dine With Dublin's Mayor.

Dublin, Jan. 3.—The Lord Mayor's show yesterday passed off quietly. Lord Roberts, of Kandahar, the commander of the forces in Ireland, had accepted an invitation to take luncheon with the Lord Mayor, but withdrew his acceptance owing to the latter acceding to the demands of the Nationalists that the Lord Mayor dispense with the usual military escort and bands of music. The Conservative members of the corporation made public a letter to the Lord Mayor declaring that his action was intended by his advisers as an insult to the Queen.

The School Question in Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—At the New Year's reception at the Cardinal's palace, Quebec, the administrator of the diocese, Mgr. Begin, in replying to an address from the clergy, announced that the attitude taken by the bishops on the Manitoba school question was highly praised and approved without restriction by the encyclical which has just been received by the Canadian bishops. "The encyclical," added His Grace, "condemns the settlement as insufficient and inefficacious and asks Catholics to unite in order to obtain the respect of their rights."

Ordination at Hamilton Cathedral.

Hamilton, Jan. 3.—The impressive ceremony of ordination was held Sunday morning at Christ Church Cathedral. Three candidates presented themselves for deacon's orders. They were W. H. Thomas, H. R. Quinn, both graduates of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, Eng., and H. C. Burt, of Trinity College, Toronto. Bishop Dowdall officiated and was assisted by Revs. Canon Houston, of Niagara Falls, and Canon Clark, of Ancaster.

WALLACEBURG, ONT.—The following letter will prove of interest to working men and others who may be in a condition similar to that of the writer:

"For three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I have been working at the barber trade for about 20 years and for the last four years I have been very closely confined and have had my meals very irregularly. I was taken with a

and the doctors said it was caused by my stomach troubles. I lost flesh and became so weak I was hardly able to stand up to the chair to work. One day I happened to be looking over some testimonial letters and I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had taken two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt finely and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I have taken nearly five bottles and now I feel like a man again. I am than I have ever been in my life. My wife and children have also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a blood medicine and realized much benefit from it. As for myself I cannot say too much for it. I firmly believe that if it had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla I would not have been able to work at my trade any longer." JOHN W. COUGHLIN. Get only HOOD'S.

RELATION OF LUMBER TO LOGS CONSIDERED.

A REVIEW OF THE TIMBER QUESTION.

Its Treatment by the United States—The Effect of the Retaliatory Clause—The Action of the Ontario Government.

The most prominent feature in the lumber trade for 1897 has been the interest displayed in legislation at Washington and the proposed legislation at Toronto. Towards the close of 1896 and soon after President McKinley's election, agitation commenced in the United States for a duty on lumber; a meetingwas called at Cincinnati, and was largely attended from all parts of the country. It formulated a resolution to be presented at Washington asking for a duty of $2 per thousand feet on all lumber entering the United States.

A strong organization was formed for the purpose of disseminating the views of the meeting, and a committee was appointed to go to Washington as soon as Congress should meet to promote legislation. They also carried on a propaganda all over the south and west, succeeding finally in obtaining a clause in the Dingley bill imposing a duty of $2 per thousand feet on all sawn lumber; this was not obtained without strenuous opposition. The Populists were not in favour of the duty. Many Democrats were opposed to it, and in the Republican party itself there were those who worked for a $4 duty, or a return to the McKinley tariff of 1890, which had been suspended by the Wilson act of 1894 making lumber free; while another influential wing of the Republican party contended for free lumber as the raw material of many industries. So strong were the opponents of the $2 duty that when clause 195 of the Dingley bill was called up for reconsideration in the Senate they of placing lumber on the free list, and did succeed in getting the Senate to substitute $2 per thousand in place of $2. When, however, the Dingley bill was submitted to the conference of the two Houses, where the warring elements had to agree to some compromise to get the bill passed at all, it finally was placed at $2, and became the law of the United States on the 24th of July, 1897.

Clause 195 not only imposed a duty of $2 per thousand feet on "sawed lumber not specially provided for in this act," but also provided "that if any country or dependency shall impose an export duty upon sawlogs, round unmanufactured timber, stave bolts, shingle bolts or heading bolts exported to the United States, or a discriminating charge upon boom sticks or chains used by American citizens in towing logs, the amount of such export duty, tax or other charge, as the case may be, shall be added as an additional duty to the duties imposed upon the articles mentioned in this paragraph, when imported from such country or dependency."

No agreement having been arrived at between the United States and Canada, the effect of this retaliatory clause was likely to be hurtful to sawmill interests in western Ontario, not only to Canadian owners, but also to those Americans who had established a sawmill plant on the Georgian Bay. As white pine became scarce [illegible] the owners of sawmills on the east side commenced to look [illegible]nada for a supply of logs to keep their [illegible]nning, and so towing in large [illegible] across Lake Huron became a new [illegible] of the lumber business; the quantity, which in 1890 was only 10,[illegible],000 feet, had increased by 1895 to 277,267,000 feet. The Dingley law, which

into the United States and placed a $2 duty on lumber, was plainly intended to transfer the business of sawing pine logs from the Georgian Bay to Michigan. This to all lumbermen in Western Canada was a serious situation, and called for their best judgment in suggesting a remedy. A meeting of Ontario lumbermen was called in August last to consider the situation. The meeting was large and representative. Various remedies were discussed and finally a resolution was passed, with only a few dissentients, which, after setting forth the circumstances, resolved, "that in the opinion of this meeting the exportation of sawlogs should be restricted; and, with that object in view, the Government of the Province of Ontario be requested to so amend the timber regulations that all pine timber cut under license in the Province of Ontario shall be manufactured in Canada." A committee was appointed by the meeting to present the resolution to the Ontario Government, who heard them and also a deputation from Michigan who wished to retain the privilege of towing logs across Lake Huron to their mills. The subject created a good deal of discussion, other deputations waited upon the Government, full publicity was given, and the whole question received public attention. The Commissioner of Crown Lands replied cautiously to the lumbermen, intimating "that during the currency of the existing licenses such action as was proposed by the resolution of the meeting of August 19 could not well be taken." This was considered reasonable enough, and at a meeting held October 7 the lumbermen declared it to be in the public interest "that when new licenses are issued a regulation be embodied in every license that all timber cut on Crown lands be sawn, made into square timber or otherwise manufactured in Canada."

The House of Assembly for Ontario was called together on the 30th November, and, after discussion on the question had taken place on a resolution moved by Mr. Whitney, a large number of lumbermen again waited on the Government to make clear their position. It was not so much that they wanted to stop the entire exportation of logs for all time, but, rather, to be enabled to carry on their business on equal terms with Michigan limit-holders. When this is done they are willing that any embargo placed on the exportation of logs should be taken off. The demands of the representatives of this important industry were couched in moderate language; they were in the spirit of fair play; they fully recognized the right of property in all purchasers of timber lands; they never questioned the right of the American people to place what import duty they pleased on lumber, but they do object to the retaliatory clause of the Dingley law, and until that is removed claim that no exportation of logs should be permitted.

The Government looked upon the matter as one of serious import. They are the custodians of the honour of the Crown; in them lay the responsibility of taking action. So, after debate in the Assembly, after hearing discussion from the representatives of every shade of opinion, the Commissioner of Crown Lands on the 20th inst. introduced a bill giving the force of law to the RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE LUMBERMEN.

What the American people may think or what they may do about it is not to us of any immediate concern. The Ontario Government have acted not in a spirit of hostility to any interest in the United States; there is no bravado in their position; they will no doubt continue to cultivate the most friendly relations with our neighbours, and at the same time look after the interests of their people.

The whole question of forestry and of the disposal of forest product has recently come into prominence. It has no doubt engaged the attention of some European countries for a long time, but only within recent years has it appeared of any consequence to the people of North America. The cutting down of vast areas of timbered land, it is seen must come to an end. The quantity of that valuable and once plentiful tree, the white pine, will soon be exhausted in the United States and an increasing draft be made on our own forests. The question of reforestination is engaging the attention of the Government at the present time. Ontario has large areas of territory better adapted to growing pine trees than anything else, and it is altogether likely that permanent benefit will accrue from the present discussion on the proper utilization of our forest wealth, in any case we need be in no hurry about getting rid of our pine forests. They are a valuable asset of the Province, and worth all the care we can bestow upon them. We fairly well understand the position in this country, and do not intend to be moved by any outcry of fancied wrongs. We can afford to look on with perfect equanimity at any course which may be pursued by our neighbours, whether of further retaliation, which we will regret, or of a more friendly or neighbourly attitude, which we will welcome.

KENTUCKY LOTTERY CLOSED

After Making $10,000 a Day for Over 25 Years in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 3.—The 41 offices of the Frankfort Lottery scattered over Louisville were closed yesterday for the first time in 25 years and no drawings were made at the principal office at Third and Green streets. The lottery is closed for good.

The mandate of the Supreme Court has not been received, but the owners of the lottery felt that nothing would be gained by keeping open, as Criminal Judge Barker, who will assume the bench to-day, announced that his first act would be to proceed against the lottery without waiting for official notice. Thus has ended a fight that has been waged for 25 years against the policy shops of Louisville. The company had two drawings daily, and its profits averaged $10,000 a day.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble — both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung,' says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont.; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Secres of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Are Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

To Mr. and Mrs F. W. Gladman Prior to Their Leaving Town.

At the close of the morning service in St. Andrew's church on New Year's morning the congregation remained seated and the following address was read by Dr. Bell to Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gladman, who left this morning to take up their residence in Exeter:

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gladman.

DEAR FRIENDS,—It is with deep regret that we have learned of your intended departure from Peterborough. Conscious of the severe loss we shall sustain in your removal from our church fellowship we sincerely hope and pray that the path of providence which you now follow may lead to continued prosperity in temporal and spiritual life. The devotion and interest that you have manifested in the various departments of our church's work have done much to place before our young people the noble example of the powerful influence of a genuine and humble Christian manhood and womanhood, and we are assured that the church in Exeter will be decidedly advantaged by your advent, while the memory of your Christian character will be a stimulus to our workers. We therefore pray that the God of all grace may so overshadow your lives that as among us, so in the future you may both daily grew in favour with God and man. We trust, therefore, that you will accept the accompanying gift, being a slight token of the deep respect in which you are both held.

J. G. POTTER, B.A.,
Moderator of Session.
R. W. BELL, M.D.,
Chairman of the Board of Managers.
Peterborough, Ont., Jan. 1st, 1898.

The address was accompanied by a very handsome family Bible and a pair of beautiful fur gauntlets to each.

On behalf of his wife and himself Mr. Gladman briefly responded to the address, expressing his regret at severing his connection with a congregation with which he had been so long identified.

Mr. Gladman was the recipient of another address yesterday afternoon from his Sunday school class as follows:

Mr. F. W. Gladman:

DEAR TEACHER,—The members of the boys' class in St. Andrew's Sunday school, of which you have so long been the efficient, faithful and well beloved teacher, learn with deep regret of your departure from Peterborough, which means that the pleasant relations of the past as as teacher and pupils must necessarily cease. We feel that we could not allow you to depart without testifying to the high esteem in which we have learned to hold you, to bear witness to the faithful and patient interest you have taken in teaching us the truths of Holy Scripture and to thank you for all you have done, both by precept and example, to make us better and to teach us lessons of enduring value. In token of our esteem for you and of our good will, we ask your acceptance of this Book of Praise, coupled with our earnest wish for a happy New Year, as well as a long life of happiness and usefulness.

THE SECRETARY SURPRISED.

With a Nicely Worded Address and a Silver Paper Knife.

A pleasant surprise greeted Mr. Williamson at the Y.M.C.A. on New Year's eve, when the members of the Boys' Department presented him with a nicely-worded address, accompanied with a silver paper knife with a pearl blade, and a manicure. Mr. A. Froude, the Boy President, read the following address:

Mr Williamson, Secretary Y M C A:

Dear Sir—The member of the Boys' Branch of the Y M C A feel that they cannot let this year pass away without in some way shewing their appreciation of the interest you have taken among us, and we take this opportunity of expressing our most sincere gratitude to you.

You cordially receive our congratulations for the success you have met with in our work, and we ask that you would accept this slight token of our esteem. Wishing you a happy and prosperous new year, and many of them.

A. FROUDE,
President.

The Secretary made an appropriate reply.

MRS. SPEERS REMEMBERED.

DEAR TEACHER,—At this season of the year, when good cheer and well wishes are abroad, we the boys of your Bible class take occasion to express our kind feelings and loyalty to you, our teacher. THE HOCKEY SEASON

BY A MATCH WITH THE BELLEVILLE TEAM.

And Run up the Big Score of 20 to 5 Against the Visitors—The First League Match is on the 14th.

The first hockey match of the season drew a fairly large crowd to the rink on Friday evening, but the fact that all the stores were open prevented as many attending as would otherwise have been present.

The visiting team from Belleville gave the local seniors a good practice, as although their combination was not as neat as that seen in the majority of games played here, yet the individual work was good, and the visitors possess a line of forwards composed of faster skaters than the Peterborough's, and if Belleville's team was in the big league they would assuredly be heard from before the season was over. With them it must certainly be merely a matter of time and practice before a combination is evolved, which will again place them at the head of the Quinte League, with which they play and at present hold the championship. Their defence has not got the work of successful interference down as fine as might be desired, and the goalkeeper's eye was a little "out," but then it was the Senior Peterborough's they were playing against and although the score of 20-5 looks big, yet the visitors should with the work of their forwards, and it is doubtful if another team in Ontario can come here and score four goals against the Peterboroughs.

The work of the local team was closely watched by the crowd, as those who are interested in hockey matters were anxious to be in a position to form an opinion as to the chances of the Peterboroughs in regards to landing a championship this year.

Some changes in the team will certainly have to be made, but all who witnessed the game went away satisfied that the prospects were never brighter for winning the pennant. With the material of which the forward line is composed no fault can be found, although, of course, practice is needed. Davidson, Bellegham, Phelan and King gave evidence of being able to play a game which the best defence in the country will not be able to neutralize. Naturally their work was a bit off colour at times, as the four have only practiced once before this season, but the brilliant rushes and beautiful combination work, which was in evidence the greater part of the evening, were so strongly reminiscent of the time when the Peterboroughs swept everything before them, that the spectators grew most enthusiastic. Towards the latter end of the game the precision of the combination was like clock work and a Peterborough forward never went down the ice without knowing that he had a brother on either hand to pass the puck to if he got into difficulties. The shooting of all four was accurate and swift and so close did the boys follow up a shot that even if the Belleville goal man blocked successfully, he was hardly ever able to clear his goal before the forwards and a second shot was usually effective.

The Peterborough defence worked hard, but neither Montgomery nor Hollingshead were in shape, the former not having been on the ice before this season. A few weeks' practice, however, should make him as deserving as ever of his sobriquet of "the prince of Ontario point men." Wesson's eye seems to be as quick as ever, and he blocked some wicked looking shots well, frequently footing the Belleville forwards, when they were right on top of him, without a man to interfere with them making their shot on goal.

The teams lined up on the ice in the appended order:

Belleville.		Peterborough.
M Jamieson	goal	E Wesson
G Hulme	point	W J Montgomery
L Hamilton	cover point	A A Hollingshead
H Hamilton	forwards	R Davidson
H Kelso		L King
E Lang		W Phelan
B Bogart		B Bellegham
F Brintnell	umpire	W Stocker
Referee		Miles Hamilton.

THE GAME WAS STARTED

at 9.20, immediately after the arrival of the Belleville train, and both teams were cheered as they came on the ice. Phelan took the puck from the face-off and slipped it back through Lang's legs to King, who carried it up the ice with a rush, and passed to Bellegham, who scored "first blood" for the Peterboroughs. Time 1 minute.

Belleville made a quick attack on Peterborough's goal at the beginning of the second game, and Wesson was called on to stop a hard one, but he was there. Montgomery relieved and took the puck up the ice with a rush, but it was soon back in Peterborough ice again. Then Bellegham relieved and passed to King, who nearly scored. Phelan's skate coming off necessitated an intermission of ten minutes, but in just a minute after coming on the ice again, he carried the puck the length of the rink and passed to Bellegham, who notched another for Peterborough. Score, 2—0.

Kelso and Hamilton did some neat work at the beginning of the next game, and in relieving Monty got in another good rush. The visitors' forwards, however, carried the puck down the ice before he could get back to assist in defending the goal, and Kelso scored. Score, 2—1.

The Peterboroughs had not got their combination in good working order yet, but Lionel King made a nice run up the ice, and made the score 3—1 in two minutes after the face-off.

Some lightning-like passes resulted in Roger Davidson game in less than half a minute. One rush did it. Score, 4—1.

TALLYING ANOTHER

Another rush and King shot and missed. The puck came out in front of the goal and Bellegham lammed it through. Score, 5—1.

Four minutes later Bellegham made a long run up the ice and tallied another. Score, 6—1.

Then Belleville tallied out of a scrimmage.

Phelan and Bellegham then got in some very nice combination work, and after several accurate passes "Scuddy" notched another. Time, 4 minutes. Score, 8—1.

Kelso opened the next game with a pretty but ineffective rush, and in returning Montgomery passed the puck to Davidson, who took it up the ice and scored. Time, 1 minute. Score, 8—2.

Half a minute later Bellegham scored another. Score, 9—2.

After half time the visitors started in with a rush and Lang scored in half a minute. Score, 9—3.

The Peterboroughs then got in some splendid combination work, but it was seven minutes before Phelan tallied. Score, 10—3.

Wesson made a good stop and returned to Bellegham, who, with Phelan, did some fast passing resulting in the latter again shooting effectively. Time, 1 minute. Score, 11—3.

The next game opened with another rush on the Peterborough goal, but Wesson again blocked and in another minute Bellegham made the score 12—3.

Another minute later saw Bellegham score another off a pass from Phelan. Score

The visitors then got in some fine work and Hamilton scored a goal in one minute. Score 13—4.

Kelso made a brilliant dash up the ice and before the defense could stop him he tallied another. Score, 15—5.

Three minutes later Bellegham made the score 16—5.

There was only four minutes left to play but in that time Roger Davidson scored two more goals for Peterborough and Bellegham did the same, leaving the score at the close 20—5.

No pleasanter crowd of boys struck the town than the Bellevilles and local players look forward with pleasure to the return match.

Mr. Miles Hamilton made a most satisfactory referee, having a perfect knowledge of the game and a keen eye for offsides.

Glencoe Hulme somewhat resembles Scuddy Phelan in point of avoirdupois. He makes a good point man.

In Kelso and Lang, Belleville possesses a pair of exceedingly fast skaters. If they work together more they should do grand work.

Ashe will in all probability play cover point for the senior team in the league games. Thus strengthened the defense should be a stone wall.

The members of the team are requested to meet after practice to night to select the members of the team committee and captain.

HOLIDAY HYMENEALS IN OTONABEE.

The Thorne—Graystock Nuptials on Dec. 29th.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 29th, 1897, the residence of Mr. Martin Graystock, of Graystock, Otonabee, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when his daughter, Minnie, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Thorne, son of Mr. Thomas Thorne, South Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed in the presence of a large number of guests, comprising principally relatives and family friends. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Rose Graystock, and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Thomas Thorne. There was a large array of elegant wedding gifts. The bride has been for some time time organist of St. Mark's church, Graystock, and her absence will be a distinct loss to the congregation, and Mr. Thorne was a prominent church worker. After the usual wedding banquet, Mr. and Mrs. Thorne left by the evening train for Lindsay, en route for Ops, where a comfortable home, built and furnished by Mr. Thorne, awaited the arrival of its new occupants, who are followed to their new home by the hearty congratulations and good wishes of a very wide circle of friends.

OBITUARY.

The Demise of Arthur L. Rundle on Saturday Morning Last.

The death is announced of Mr. Arthur L. Rundle, who had been a respected resident of Peterborough for some years until the last ten months, when he left town to assume a position as accountant with the Royal Electric Light Company of Montreal. Mr. Rundle had held a position as bookkeeper in connection with the Canadian General Electric Company here for about two years and was a skilful accountant, and a very intelligent expert in his department. He came to Peterborough from Oshawa, where he had been identified with the legal profession, but a troublesome throat affection compelled him to abandon the profession. He was married to Miss Lillie Clarke, daughter of Mrs. (Rev.) Clarke, and since his removal to Montreal, his family have resided at No. 215 Park street. Some four months ago he became so seriously ill with his throat that he was taken to the Gravenhurst Sanitarium, but finding no relief there he requested to be brought home, where he died on Saturday morning. Mr. Rundle was 29 years old, and leaves a widow and two young sons to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. The deceased was a prominent member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and the funeral will be in charge of his brethren of Court Langton, of which he was a member.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

Opening Service in St. Andrew's Church To-night—Subject "Confession and Thanksgiving."

Monday, Jan. 3—St. Andrew's (Presbyterian,) speaker, Rev. D. O. Crossley. Humiliation and Confession: For want of conformity to the mind of Christ; for disloyalty to the truth; for misuse and neglect of precious privileges; for lack of courage in witnessing for Christ.—Romans vi., 1 14; Matthew xxv., 14 30.

Thanksgiving and praise: For revealed truth; for the dispensation of the Holy Spirit; for the promises of God; for great revivals, amid persecutions, in China and other parts of the mission field—Psalm cxiv., 1-13; I. Corinthians, ii, 7-16.

Pray: That Christ's reign may extend in the hearts of all his people and throughout the world.—Isaiah lx, 1-7; Revelation xxi., 22-27.

The Baby Boy Covered with Eczema and Cured By Dr. Chase.

Mr. Jas. Brown of Molesworth, Ont., tells how her boy (eight months old) was cured of torturing Eczema. Mothers whose children are afflicted can write her regarding the great cure, Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her child was afflicted from birth and three Boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him.

New Round Baskets in all sizes arrived at MRS. APPLEBY'S, 420 Water Street.

Almost Unbearable.

"I suffered from kidney trouble so much that the pain in my back was almost unbearable and I felt tired and worn out all the time, my tongue was coated and until I took Doan's Kidney Pills I had been unable to do my housework for over a month. These pills have made a complete cure, all my kidney and bladder troubles have disappeared and I feel like a new woman." Mrs. Presley, Kingston, Ont.

The mayoralty contest is being briskly waged to-day. Both candidates and their friends are working hard, and apparently a very large vote is being polled, so that the result will probably be a full and decisive expression of the popular will. The councillor contests in the various wards are exciting lively interest.

NEW YEARS AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Tasteful Decorations for the Reception —Gymnasium Classes—Basket Ball.

The handsome home of the Young Men's Christian Association was thronged all New Year's day with young men, who were in attendance at the reception, which in every respect was a decided success.

Tasteful decorations of flags and bunting added much to the attractiveness, and in the reception room an old time log fire burned brightly and its presence was much appreciated.

Messrs. R. Irwin and W. Beaton had joint charge of the work of receiving, and they were assisted by the other members of the Reception Committee.

The liberal supply of games with which the association is equipped came in for good use—checkers, of course, occupying the prominent place.

Up stairs the Ladies' Auxiliary supplied coffee and cake to all comers. Mrs. (Sheriff) Hall, the president, was in attendance all day and associated with her were the members of the Auxiliary.

The boys' programme in the gymnasium, under the efficient instructor, Mr. H. H. Buxton, drew a large number of the parents, who were delighted with the exercises. Surprise was expressed that such progress could be made during the short time the boys had been under instruction.

The exhibition given by the senior classes in the afternoon also deserves the same remark. The work on the apparatus and the dumb bell drill illustrated that gymnasium work meant physical development.

The afternoon programme was concluded by a basket ball match between the Blacks and Whites, resulting in a victory for the latter on a score of 8 to 3. The game was undoubtedly the best of the season. During the first half the Whites played the better. The Blacks made a spurt on the final, but woke up too late, the Whites failing to score in the second half. The teams lined up as follows:

Whites		Blacks.
H Morgan	right forward	M McDonough
K Dolan	centre	R Wilson
H Conway	right back	M Brockenridge
J Sheridan	left back	H Halpin

In the evening there was a good attendance in Association Hall to witness the debate on the subject, "Resolved that the prevalent bicycle craze is detrimental to the country's business interests." Mr. A. E. Dixon, President of the Debating Club, presided in an able manner. The sides were ably sustained—affirmative, Rev. J. G. Potter and W. J. Stubbs; negative, F. H. Dobbin and A. C. McCallum. The audience was asked to decide the question and the vote stood rather even. The affirmative, however, won.

The Debating Club are to be congratulated on this their first public debate.

A feature of the reception was the introduction by the secretary of the "500" plan to boom the membership. By this those already members promise to get at least one new member each by the first of March.

In order to assist the interest each is given a triangular tag to fasten in his hat. The plan ought to be a success.

THEIR ANNUAL RECEPTION.

New Years at the Young Women's Christian Association Building.

The Y.W.C.A. parlours, gay with their Christmas decorations, presented an attractive appearance on New Year's day, when the members met for their annual reception there. Numbers of young women, many of them far from their homes, responded to the invitation that they had received, and evidently entered with zest into the amusements that had been provided. Games, recitations and music occupied the swiftly passing hours, and it was with no feigned regret when the hour for closing came that they bade good night to the kindly lady who graces the heart of this institution.

The solos of Mrs. Brodigan, Mrs. Seward, Miss Pascoe and Mr. Squires deserved the thanks and applause that they received; Miss Pascoe's selections were excellent, while Miss Roger's finished rendition of Chopin's waltzes, etc., gave much pleasure to those assembled.

The Misses Hobbs and Patterson also contributed well received solos. Mr. Geo. Schneider was the accompanist.

THE FORTHCOMING DOG SHOW.

Intending Exhibitors Urged to Make Entries Early—A Meeting of the Directors.

The attention of those wishing to enter their dogs for the forthcoming show, to be held here on Jan. 18, 19 and 20, is drawn to the fact that entries positively close on Monday, Jan. 10th. No entries on any account will be accepted after that date.

Dogs can be shown whether pedigreed or not provided they are listed, the price of listing being 25c. Full information will be cheerfully furnished by applying to Dr. Poole, V. S., Secretary, Water street.

A meeting of the directors and members is called for Thursday evening at 7.30 p.m., in the town Council Chamber. Every member is expected to be present.

The Thistles Will Hold the Colts Cup This Year.

Six rinks each from the Thistles and Granites were pitted against each other at the curling rink on New Years day to determine which club would hold the trophy donated by the Colts. The result was a surprise to many as it was thought the contest would be a close one, but on the contrary the Thistles won by such big odds on four of the rinks as to completely swamp the gains which the Granites made on the other two. The scores made were as appended:

To be beautiful we must have pure blood and a clear skin. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and makes the skin bright and clear. It cures all skin and blood diseases. MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

The pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., occupied the pulpit both morning and evening. His morning subject was, "Jesus: the Light of the World," and his evening subject was "The Old and the New." Both sermons were interesting and practical and were listened to by large congregations.

On account of the funeral of Mr. J. H. Smith's child, the Sunday school met half an hour later than usual. The attendance was good. Any who do not attend the Sunday school will be welcome. It begins at 2.30.

The E. L. of C. E. meets this (Monday) evening as usual. Mr. Jas. A. Reid takes the topic.

On Tuesday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Mark street Auxiliary of the W. M. S. will be held in the church at 3 o'clock. All ladies are invited to be present.

On Tuesday evening Revs. O. C. Elliott and S. J. Shorey will conduct the service here in connection with the Week of Prayer.

Washing Day.

The drudgery of housekeeping for the workingman's wife comes on washing day, when there is no washing machine or wringer in the house. It's killing on women who are raising a family, especially at this season of the year when blankets and other heavy articles of the home must be cleaned for winter. Washing and wringing makes more aching arms and tired bodies than anything else a woman can do. Husbands might be a little more thoughtful. In hundreds of cases they could buy a new washer and wringer every year for what it costs to pay for doctor's bills and servants for their tired-out wives, whose health has been run down over the washboard and washtub. Take a hint, you men, and make time to see the two kinds of labour-saving washing machines made by G. Walter Green at his pump factory on Dickson's race. If you can't make time, ring up telephone No. 92, or address box 362, and have him send one over to your house.

Women nowadays do not have to use a stream of water for a looking-glass. They have modern mirrors that will tell them very promptly whether their beauty is fading. A woman's beauty fades very rapidly if she is troubled with some derangement of the distinctly feminine organism. Ignorance or carelessness in this respect frequently causes great suffering and irregularity in after life. Little irregularities and weaknesses in girlhood should be looked upon promptly and properly treated at once.

Mothers cannot be too conscientious in this respect, and cannot throw aside the prudery that is so prevalent upon this point too soon. Every young woman should know something about her own physical make-up, and the importance to her future of her local as well as general health. A woman who suffers from weaknesses peculiar to her sex will rapidly lose her beauty, her general health, her amiability and her usefulness and capability as a wife and housekeeper. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription promotes regularity of all feminine functions, gives sturdy health to the distinctly feminine organism and prepares it to meet the trials of wifehood and motherhood. The "Favorite Prescription" is not a cure-all. It is intended for but one class of disorders and is good for no other. Taken during the period of gestation, it makes parturition easy, and banishes the discomforts of the expectant months. All good medicine dealers sell it.

"I wish to express my thanks for the good I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. E. Scovill, of Bolton, Stephenson Co., Ills. "I have used it at different times for the last eight years. It is the best medicine for expectant mothers. I never tried it for that until my last baby. I had been very bad, almost helpless. I could not get out of bed alone, or even turn over. Last December I commenced taking the 'Favorite Prescription,' and could soon get in and out of bed as well as at any time. On March 29th I gave birth to an eleven pound boy without pain, and have since been as well and healthy as I ever was."

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. It is probable that there never were so many common and lean stock offered on this market on one day during the last week in December as was the case to-day, and the prices of such cattle were exceedingly low, but good cattle were held at firm rates. Prime beeves sold at about 4½c per lb., pretty good stock at from 3½c to nearly 4c per lb., common dry cows at from 2½c to 3c per lb., and the leaner beasts at from 1½c to 2c per lb. A large number of the cattle will not be sold to-day. Calves sold to-day at from $2 to $10 each, anything moderately good in the veal line bringing high prices. Shippers are paying from 3½c to 3½c per lb. for good large sheep. Lambs were considerably lower in price to-day than they have been for a number of weeks past, selling at from 3½c to 4½c per lb. A mixed lot of 130 sheep and lambs in about equal numbers, which were brought from the French parishes, were sold here to-day at 3½c per lb. Fat hogs sell at about 5c per lb. for fresh hogs; a bunch just off the cars were sold at $5.10 per 100 lbs.

SON OF THE GREAT HAVELOCK.

It is Feared He is Dead or a Prisoner in the Hands of the Zakka-Kheis.

Calcutta, Dec. 31.—Col. Sawyer, commanding the British forces at Fort Ali-Masjid, telegraphs:

"On learning that Sir Henry Havelock-Allan had left his escort yesterday and had not been seen since, a search was organized. He rode a restless horse and might have been thrown near the camp. The search, however, resulted in finding the horse stripped and shot, with Sir Henry missing. It is feared that he is dead or is a prisoner in the hands of the Zakka-Kheis. The search is being continued."

Sir Henry Havelock-Allan is the commander of the Royal Irish Regiment, and left England recently to investigate charges of cowardice and insubordination during the campaign that have been brought against the regiment. He was born in Bengal in 1830. His father was the celebrated General Sir Henry Havelock, the hero of Cawnpore and Lucknow, during the Indian mutiny. He is the first baronet, though the baronetcy was conferred on his father, who died before receiving it. He served in the Persian expedition, 1856-57, and was with his father in the campaign against the rebels in Oude. In 1880, he assumed by royal license the additional surname of Allan. From 1874 to 1881 he sat as a member of Parliament for Sunderland, but resigned the seat to assume the command of a brigade at Aldershot. In 1885 he was elected member for Durham (Southeastern Division). He married Lady Alice Moreton, daughter of the Earl Ducie.

ENGLISHMEN ON TOP.

They Have Gobbled the Alaska Commercial Company and Have Money.

San Francisco, Dec. 31.—The Chronicle says: The despatches received some weeks ago announcing the sale of the Alaska Commercial Company's properties to a London syndicate are confirmed by a prospectus of The British-American Corporation, published in London. The selling price is not given in the prospectus, but it can be surmised, approximately. The British-American Corporation is capitalized for £1,500,000, of which it offered for subscription at par 1,000,000 shares of £1 each. The new company was financed by the London & Globe Finance Corporation, of which the Marquis of Dufferin, formerly Governor-General of Canada, is chairman, and Lord Loch, late Governor of Cape Colony, and C. H. Mackintosh, Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories, are directors.

The English company will carry on the mercantile and transportation business of the Alaska Commercial Company, and will also engage in banking and mining.

SUICIDE OF M'CAIG.

He Had Been Keeping Company With a Young Lady, and Left Her a Farewell Note.

Lion's Head, Ont., Dec. 31.—A young man named Angus McCaig, in the employ of John Rouse, eighteen miles north of this place, in the township of Lindsay, shot himself yesterday. It appears the young man had been keeping company with a sister of Mrs. Rouse, who was also living there. He wrote a letter and handed it to her, commanding her not to open it until he went out to the woods, where he was working, which was only a short distance from the house. Shortly after he left Mrs. Rouse and her sister, Miss Bestford, opened and read the letter, which bade her good-bye for the last time, saying that he was going to shoot himself. The moment they were through reading it they heard the report of a rifle in the direction he was working. They at once knew what had taken place. They alarmed the neighbors, the first of whom to arrive on the scene was a man named Joseph Whitehouse, who found him lying dead, shot through the heart. He was of a morose disposition, and had on several occasions threatened to take his life. Dr. Gimby, coroner, from Wiarton, is on his way to hold an inquest.

Death in a Fire.

Southwold, Ont., Dec. 31.—Fire broke out in the farm-house of Mr. John Bole about 5 o'clock yesterday. The house was totally destroyed and his daughter Etta lost her life. Mr Bole awakened to find the house on fire. He immediately called his daughter, who slept upstairs. He started for her room, but found her lying dead and slightly burned on the floor beside her bed. She apparently had been suffocated while trying to extinguish the flames.

THE SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

It Was George A. Whiting Who Shot Himself Through the Heart.

Toronto, Dec. 31.—The man who shot himself through the heart on Huntley street on Wednesday night, and whose body now lies in the Morgue, was George A. Whiting, of Thornhill, who came from Ipswich, England, about 11 years ago, and has since been farming with various employers in the vicinity of the Yonge street village. Until a few days ago he worked for Anthony Bowes, of Concord P.O., about three miles from Thornhill. He was engaged to be married in a couple of weeks to Miss Annie Chatterley, an estimable young lady of Thornhill, to whom he wrote a letter a few hours before he committed the dreadful deed, announcing his intention to do so. The cause of the young man's rash act is still somewhat of a mystery, unless his mind was for the time unbalanced owing to drink.

A SAD PICKPOCKET.

"HOOT" DONEGAN'S STORY OF HIS MOST RECENT AFFLICTION.

Shun After a Hansom and Wasted Hours a Day In Pursuit of a Bogus Fiver—Lost Chances at a Free Lunch Counter—No Prosperity For Him Now.

The pickpocket stood on the corner looking very disconsolate. His coat collar was turned up, his hands were thrust down into his pockets, and his hat was tilted forward until the rim was almost level with his eyes. Silverstein, a puller in at the clothing store two doors from the corner, having held up in vain two sailors and a one armed soldier, left his post to inquire the cause of the pickpocket's woe.

"What's the matter, Hoot?" he said.

Donegan, the pickpocket, known on the row as Hoot, glanced up at Silverstein, grunted out an oath, and then letting his head fall on his breast again relapsed into silence.

"What is it, Hoot?"

Silverstein was growing curious. He had done light fingered work for some time himself and knew something of the changing conditions of a man's life when he made himself an offensive enemy of society.

"See that, Jew?" said the pickpocket, hauling a scarfpin from his vest pocket.

It was a short gold pin, topped with a huge pearl of that rare virgin pink. It seemed to be a valuable bit, and Silverstein's eyes glistened as he looked at it.

"Take it to Cooney," he said in a whisper. "He's safe."

The pickpocket laughed in mellow fashion. "Too safe," he said. Then he straightened up, threw his hat back on his head and said:

"Silverstein, in these days a man like me ain't got no license to live. That's the skill of my hand, that can almost anything from a screw-stud to scarfpin from a man without his knowing it, against the brain of a man that can make them things?"

"Are you nutty, Hoot?" inquired the puller in, edging away.

"No, Jew, no; but listen to me. You know the hotels are my grand this region down here my marke Well, I was out spotting today, and finally along comes a feller that I s up fer my meat. He was a dressy, with all color ribbons on his hand them spready soles on his shoes. had a big pink necktie on, and in it there pin was stuck. From the size is chain, I said to myself that the pin on the end of it must be a bird, but when I see that pink pearl I decide to let the watch go and make for the "Well, he was a nervous, and I couldn't get a chance at him a long time. I followed him up Broadway and [illegible] for him outside a restaurant while he took lunch. Then he met a lady, and they took more lunch together. When he came out, the two took a hansom, and I hear him say to the driver, 'Around the park.' Well, I follow the hansom to the park, and, seeing which entrance it goes in, lay around the circle for it to come out again. Two hours I waited there, Jew, and then I see the hansom and runs off two pounds a-following it down town. My man, he leaves the lady at a house, then drives to the corner of Broadway and starts walking down slowly. Now, says I to myself, 'I've got him.' But I didn't get him. He meets a friend, and they go and play billiards for two more hours. Well, I was busting, I was so mad, but I made up my mind to stick. I see a dozen juicy chances go by, but I couldn't leave that pink pearl. My eyes watered at thinking of it and my fingers itched for it. By and by my man comes out, and he and his friend go in a saloon, one of them places where you stand up at a sideboard. I followed and just as my man lifts a glass up to drink I push against his friend. The friend pushes against him, and he turns around. I was waiting, of course, and next minute the pearl was mine. It was a long chance, Jew, but you know a feller'll take them once in awhile. When the guy turns around, I was chewing a sandwich from the counter and bawling to the waiter for a check.

"Well, the guy misses the pin. Damn me if I know what put him on. You know I don't mess a job like that, Jew. My heart was a-going hard, Jew, but I almost falls over when I see him put his hand up to the tie, feel around and then, instead of hollering murder, police, watch and a dozen other things, just grin and say to his friend, 'Some sucker's got a gold brick.'

"There was me with the pin in me palm all ready to drop it in the salad on the counter. When he don't make a holler, though, I makes her back in my pocket and in two minutes am on the way down to Cooney.

"I saw easy times and no chances fer a couple of weeks on the strength of that pearl, Jew, and when I tossed it over to Cooney I said, 'Give me $250, a quarter value.' Cooney whistles at the pin and picks it up. Then he begin to look queer. Finally he dips the pearl in a glass of water and, picking up a knife, s'help me, goes a peeling off that pink color. 'Cooney,' I yell, 'what are you doing?' 'Fish glue,' says Cooney. And he throws the pin back.

"Well, it was one of them fish glue pearls. You've seen 'em—just a bit of glass painted over with fish glue, just ringers for the real thing, but worth about 50 cents. I walks out of Cooney's in a trance. I comes over here, and I ain't moved fer an hour. Think of it, Jew, think of it, all day and a long chance fer that thing! Take it and give it to yer gal the next time you go up to Jones' woods. S'help me, if I ever find that guy I touched fer that I'll pick a fight with him and lick him. Goodby: I'm going home and get some rest. Chasing hansoms is hard work." And the pickpocket strolled down a side street the picture of melancholy.—New York Sun.

AN AFRICAN LEGEND.

The Story of How the Monkey Came to Be Created.

Negro legends and interpretations of Scripture are often extremely ingenuous and even poetical, and it frequently happens that when the makers of traditions and folklore happen to have African blood in their veins they rely entirely upon their inspirations and imaginations. It is in this wise that their account of the creation of the monkey was constructed. This story runs as follows:

After God had made man, the devil regarded this new creation with a great deal of interest and admiration and was filled with an ambition to do something of that kind himself. He therefore studied the form and features of the human being which had been recently placed upon the earth, and set to work with great earnestness to make a living creature which should, as nearly as possible, resemble a man, but he did not try to make his work quite as large as his model, wisely thinking he would better begin with something on a smaller scale. The result of his labors was the monkey.

This animal was a good deal like a man, but he failed in some important particulars to resemble the original. One of those was his inability to speak, and the devil tried to remedy this fault, but found it impossible. He also discovered that his little man did not possess the intelligence of the larger being he had tried to imitate, and disgusted with the impossibility of making his monkey speak or of impressing upon his mind that he should act as a reasonable being, he gave up the attempt in despair, and in order to compensate the creature he had made for the great failures in his construction, he gave him a tail. This would not enable him to speak, nor would it bestow upon him the intelligence he should have, but it would be a very great help to him in getting through life, and this the little burlesque of man as doubtless found to be true.—Youth's Companion.

He Benefited Humanity.

There is an oriental story of two brothers, Ahmed and Omar. Both wished to perform a deed whose memory should not fail, but which might sound their name and praises. Omar, with wedge and rope, lifted an obelisk on its base, carving its form in beautiful devices and sculpturing many a strange inscription on its sides. He set it in the hot desert to cope with its gales. Ahmed, with deeper wisdom and truer though sadder heart, digged a well to cheer the sandy waste and planted about it tall date palms to make cool shade for the thirsty pilgrim and to shake down fruits for his hunger.—Jewish Messenger.

A LITERARY CHOICE.

I've read and I've read and I've read,
O'er hundreds of books I have pored,
But give me the book that reads as if it
Was writ with the point of a sword.

Ink's all very well in its way,
But I don't want ink any more.
The book that I want is one that's been writ
With grewsomely gurgling gore.

And, while I am fond of my sleep,
My nods and my naps I'll forsake
For the tale that is warranted night after night
To keep me a-staring awake.

A tale that is made up entire
Of thunder and blizzards and sea
And muskets and cannon and sabers and shot
Is the tale that will satisfy me.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WO IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

PAT AND THE ADMIRAL.

A Smoke Which Did Not Get the Laborer Into Trouble.

A strict rule promulgated by every successive commandant at the navy yard prohibits smoking on Mare island under the most stringent penalties. Admiral Miller, sauntering one afternoon through a distant part of the island, came upon an Irish laborer digging a trench and smoking a short black pipe. He was puffing away serenely, unconscious of regulations and with evident enjoyment. The admiral, who was in undress uniform, stopped.

"Don't you know, sir, that smoking is absolutely prohibited in the navy yard?" he said.

The Irishman looked up and, with a kindly smile, answered:

"Indade that's thrue, but here am I be mesilf, wid not a sowl to say a wurrud to, and I thought I'd take a puff or two to relave the silence."

"The regulations are explicit, sir," rebuked the admiral, "and the silence does not excuse you. What's your name, sir?"

"And who may ye be anyway?" asked the Irishman.

"I'm Admiral Miller, sir."

"Ah, 'tis the new admiral ye are. 'Tis the fat job ye have, admiral. Be careful to kape it. Me name's Pat McGinnis."

"Report at my office this afternoon without fail, McGinnis," said Miller, who could hardly keep from laughing. At 5 o'clock poor Patrick, who had made up his mind there would be the devil to pay, tramped over to headquarters, and the orderly ushered him into the dreaded presence of the admiral, who said:

"Sit down, Pat."

Pat sat down. Miller touched a bell. The orderly appeared.

"Bring a bottle of champagne and two glasses," he said.

Not a word was spoken until the wine arrived. The admiral filled the two glasses and pushed one over toward the Irishman.

"Pat," he said, "give me the pipe. You'll not need it again."

The mystified laborer obeyed.

"Now," said the admiral, "drink hearty, Pat, but you'll keep your job as long as I keep mine."

Nor is this the first situation saved by Irish wit.—San Francisco Wave.

Rivera Chained.

Barcelona, Jan. 3.—Gen. Ruis Rivera, the well-known insurgent leader, who was captured, badly wounded, in the Province of Pinar del Rio, by the Spanish troops under Gen. Velasco, on March 29, who was condemned to death and subsequently apparently pardoned, has arrived here and was conducted on foot and in chains to Montjuich fortress, between lines of soldiers and mounted gendarmes. Gen. Rivera was calm, but he protested against being chained. No one was allowed to speak to him. There was a big crowd of people in the vicinity, but there was no manifestation.

His Neck Was Broken.

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 3.—William Leggatt, foreman of Hunt & Colter's livery, was Saturday afternoon driving their large double carriage with passengers from the G.T.R. Market street station. After leaving the passengers at their destination and on his return toward the stables, the horses became unmanageable and ran away. Turning the corner of Alfred and Nelson streets, the carriage was upset. Leggatt was thrown to the ground and his neck broken.

Killed at a Watch-Night.

DIDN'T WANT THE HOPS.

The Grower Evidently Knew a Good Thing When He Saw It.

This hop story is "too good to keep," and it is true to the letter. A few years ago a Burlington hop grower came into the office of our neighbor, A. Lane, with a sample of his hops, just harvested and baled. He asked if he was buying hops. Yes, he was. The sample was then shown and the question asked what would he give for them.

"They are so poor," said Mr. Lane, "that I can make you no offer for them."

"I know they are a little off color," said the grower. "But certainly you can pay something for them. Make me an offer."

"No, I really cannot. There is no market for such hops."

"Can't you give me 10 cents for them?"

"I cannot."

"Well, that's rather tough. But you can tell me what I better do with the hops."

"My advice to you is this: Do not show that sample to any one else. It will give your hops a bad name. But go home, keep quiet about them, and the first buyer that comes along and makes you an offer, don't talk about the hops, but take him up at once."

It was about this time that Mr. Lane had employed a new and rather inexperienced man, who, however, was a hop grower, to go out and buy him 100 bales of "really choice hops" at not over 16 cents.

A few days later the Burlington grower drove up to the Iron Clad on a load of hops and shouted out, "I say, Mr. Lane, where will you have these hops taken?"

"What hops—not those you offered to sell me?"

"Surtin sure, squire, the same hops."

"But I did not buy them?"

"True, but your agent did, and I supposed there must have been a pretty big rise in a few days."

"Take them down to our storehouse and come in for your money."

This was done, and then Mr. Lane said to his Burlington customer: "Here is your check. I have done you a favor, and now I will give you the opportunity to do me one."

"What is it? I'd like to accommodate you if I can."

"It is this: You draw the money on this check, deposit it to your credit, give me your check for half the money and then draw your hops away and sell them to some one else—perhaps for 10 cents."

"Thank you, squire. But I believe I don't want to buy those hops."—Coopers-town Journal.

The Railroad Worm.

The railroad worm has done a vast deal of damage to the apple crop. It is often mentioned, but rarely described, and many people are not aware what this mischievous creature is or of what his work consists. Some day they may pick up an apple, beautiful, smooth and bright on the outside. It is cut open, and numerous dark lines appear in it. These are what may be called underground channels of this pest. It would seem that "tunnel worm" would be a better name for it, as its progress is a series of chambers burrowed through the best part of the apple, sometimes going around and around the core and often approaching the outside, but only occasionally touching the skin. It is almost impossible to find any amount of good in some of the specimens examined, the whole space between core and skin being traversed by the worm.—New York Ledger.

Not Hampered.

"Would you be mean enough to give a bad piece of money to a blind man?"

"Of course. He can pass it off with a better conscience than I can."—Chicago Record.

The wall of Severus, separating England from Scotland, was 36 miles long and protected by 21 forts. It was 20 feet high and 24 feet thick, and to the north was protected by a moat 40 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

The Czar and the French People.

Paris, Jan. 3.—The Czar, in his own name and in the name of the Czarina, has sent President Faure an effusive telegram expressing his sincere good wishes for the President and their friendship for France. President Faure replied that the words of their Imperial Majesties "touched the hearts of all Frenchmen."

The official New Year's receptions were held at the Elysee Palace with the customary ceremonies. President Faure, at the New Year's reception of the Ambassadors, replying to their congratulations, said: "Faithful to the principle which has constantly guided the Government of the republic, France will not be wanting in the task she has set herself in the work of civilization and peace. The results obtained in 1897 were not such as to discourage our efforts and hopes."

No Division of Austro-Hungary.

Buda Pest, Jan. 3.—Baron Banffy, the Hungarian Premier, received the Liberals of the Diet on New Year's day, according to custom. He said their recent experiences had taught Hungary that she must not dissolve the present alliance with Austria, though, of course, there might be bounds to Hungary's desire for its maintenance. Recent events in the Diet, he claimed, were entirely unjustified, shook parliamentarism to its foundations and violated its principles. Continuing, the Premier remarked that no words were strong enough in expression or sufficiently energetic to condemn those proceedings. But he believed that, with the help of the King, the Liberal party would be able to find a way out of the difficulties.

Presents for the Pope.

Rome, Jan. 3.—The Pope officiated at the sixtieth anniversary of his first mass on Saturday, celebrating his own "diamond" mass in the presence of 3,000 delegates of Catholic societies. His Holiness had a most radiant face, and it was evident that he was enjoying excellent health. He received hundreds of rich presents. Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary sent him 50,000 florins in gold, a gold casket, and the Queen Regent of Spain sent a massive gold and jewelled goblet. His gift from the United States was a diamond cross. President Faure, of France, sent six Sevres vases, and the present from the Sultan of Turkey was a superb diamond ring.

Italy's Happy Condition.

Rome, Jan. 3.—The royal family of Italy held the usual reception at New Year's. King Humbert, replying to the address of the Senate, said the year opened for Italy under happy and peaceful auspices. Replying to the Deputies, his Majesty appealed to them not to delay the work of Parliament.

Emperor William at Church.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—As usual on New Year's day, there was a religious service in the chapel of the castle. It was attended by the Emperor, the Empress and the ex-Empress Frederick.

CAPT. NEELON DEAD.

The Well-Known Contractor Died in Toronto on Old Year's Day—Personal and Political Career.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—While visiting at the house of a friend in the western part of the city Capt. Sylvester Neelon, best known in Toronto as a member of the firm of Elliott & Neelon, contractors for the masonry work at the new municipal buildings, died suddenly of apoplexy on the last day of 1897. The body was taken to St. Catharines for burial.

The captain, who was 74 years of age, had lived in St. Catharines for half a century, and was prominently engaged in extensive milling and timber business. He built the large Empire flour mills there, which are now occupied by the Packard Electric Co. He was president, up to the time of his death, of the Niagara Central Railway Company, and it was through his work that the road was built.

Sometimes It Pays To Lose!

We are intensely in earnest to Reduce our Matchless Stock of Cold Weather Clothing before the New Year "checking" time comes. We do not by any means intend carrying over any more Winter Goods than we can possibly help, and there is but one remedy and that is to make the Price an inducement to sell the stock.

QUICK LOSSES TO MAKE QUICK SALES

Pity that sacrifices must be made just at a time when cold weather makes all our stocks boom, but we are ready to make the sacrifice, leaving Profits to be made when money is more plentiful.

You may need Clothing now—we need money now. We will give you a lot of our Clothing for a very little of your money—if you come quick enough.

A loss accepted now on our Clothing and Boots and Shoes will enable us to thin out our big stocks in a short time. Whether you need Clothing or the Shoes for immediate use or not, it will pay you handsomely to buy now.

REMEMBER our Terms are SPOT CASH, but we return you your money if not amply satisfied.

DIED ON THE TRAIL.

Mr. J. P. Doran of Ottawa Has Perished in British Columbia.

Winnipeg, Jan. 3.—A Palliser, B.C., telegram says: J. P. Doran, a resident of Ottawa, and chief clerk in W. C. Wells' lumbering establishment, left Palliser on the 20th for one of Mr. Wells' lumbering camps, about eight miles from Leanchoil station. He was found frozen to death on the trail on Saturday morning about half a mile from camp. Deceased was very highly respected here. He came to his death presumably by being insufficiently clad, and had been advised not to walk to the camp on the night in question, as it was bitterly cold. He had a dog with him, which stayed with the body for two nights and days, protecting the body from the wild animals of the mountain. A coroner's inquest will be held.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast it was picked away. Are his trials to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then comes the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them for 85c? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

Next thing is your Celery, of course everybody says that your Celery is the best, nicest, crisp and tender. You have lots of it to sell? Yes. There comes my car, so good day! Push along! Bye, bye.

Choice stock of Groceries and Provisions, Fruit, Fish and Vegetables, always fresh, good and cheap. Free delivery. Glad to see all my friends, and thank them for their kind patronage. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain your truly

London, Ont., Jan. 4.—The greatest catastrophe that has taken place in this vicinity since the Victoria disaster of 1881 occurred last evening in the midst of the jubilation that followed the municipal election. The returns were late in coming in, and it was forty minutes past 8 when the Mayor and Aldermen-elect and their supporters thronged into the City Hall, which was filled to its utmost limit. A dozen speakers had addressed the enthusiastic crowd, and Mr. R. M. C. Toothe was about to go on the platform when there were loud cries for Alderman Parnell.

Crash Went the Platform.

In the confusion that followed Mr. Toothe pressed forward and without a moment's warning the platform on which the Mayor and his retinue were seated swayed forward slightly. There was a crash of falling timbers, a horrible shrieking, and for a moment all was still. A space 20 feet square had given away, and the 200 people crowded upon it had been dropped through 20 feet of space into the next floor, where the Mayor's office is situated. The weight of the falling crowd bore through the floor of the Mayor's office, and many were precipitated to the cellar. It was from the cellar that most of the dead were taken. In one corner of the City Hall was standing a large safe. This went smashing down, carrying with it death. A huge steam coil, weighing half a ton, crashed down into the ruins. With the first premonition of disaster there was a wild rush for the doors. The weak were trampled down by the strong in the mad struggle for safety. Many were crushed to the floor and trampled upon by the crowd.

Within 20 seconds from the fall of the floor the hall was emptied. The policemen on duty had guarded the entrances were present, and only half a dozen of venturesome souls peered down the abyss from the floor above. Down in that death pit men were shouting and struggling to free themselves from the wreck. From underneath the heavy beams came groans of despair. For the moment everyone fought for their own preservation. Those who could scrambled up the broken walls to the floor from which they had fallen. A hurry call was sent to the fire, police and ambulance stations, and within five minutes some semblance of order was brought to the work of rescue. Ladders were lowered into the pit, and large plate-glass windows broken in, and the work of removing the injured actively begun.

In the midst of the panic Ald. Carrothers, who was upon the platform when it gave way, rose and shouted for quiet. With his strong arms he seized several of the struggling men, whose efforts to free themselves were bringing only danger to others, and, although bleeding from several wounds, did his best to stay the panic in the path of destruction.

All this time the huge safe was crushing out the life of the unfortunates who were pinned under it. Ropes were lowered, and a score of men raised it sufficiently to enable the rescuers to drag out the mained. The committee room of the opposing candidates, deserted, of course, on the evening of defeat, was utilized as a temporary morgue. A drug store opposite was converted into an infirmary, and every building within the block was taken up with the accommodation of the injured.

The cause of the accident was the giving way of a beam running north and south directly under the small platform upon which the speakers of the evening were gathered. When this beam fell the platform, with a space of some 400 square feet, was left without support. The beam which gave way seemed to have literally rotted from its place. Within 10 minutes after the accident the news had spread throughout the city, and crowds besieged the City Hall, women tearfully seeking for husbands and brothers, and, as the list of dead grew in size, the whole town was plunged in gloom. A procession which had been hastily arranged in honor of the victory was turned into an army of workers to aid in the rescue.

In remodelling the hall, a supporting wall underneath the part where the accident occurred was removed, which was the immediate cause of the disaster.

Dr. Wilson, the Mayor-elect, narrowly escaped. He was thrown off the platform onto the floor, and escaped with some bruises and cuts.

Nothing whatever of a definite character can be earned to-night as to the condition of the wounded. The estimate runs from 150 to 200. The injuries include fractured limbs and bones and bruises of all kinds. The hospitals are too busily engaged attending to the wounded to answer questions, and no idea can be had of the number who were taken to their homes.

The Injured.

The injured are:

W. Blake, Horton street, badly bruised; Jacob Harris, Horton street, slightly injured; John Whittaker, 551 King street, slightly injured; Henry Whittaker, of the New York Mail and Express, slightly injured. Mr. Whittaker was visiting the city and went to the hall with his brother John. He fell with the rest but was only scratched. Henry Brann, English street, eye badly cut; James Herriott, G.T.R. car shops office, injuries slight; A. E. S. Casey, St. James street, legs bruised; Walter Ellis, Alexander street, London, hurt in back and loins; James Dean, city weigh scales clerk, badly cut under chin and on side.

VISIT TO MONTREAL.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies in the City.

OBJECT OF VISIT NOT POLITICS.

The Pope's Encyclical to be Read in All the Pulpits Next Sunday—To be Translated Into French and English—Archbishop Bruchesi on the Church's Position.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies, who came down from Ottawa, returned yesterday morning. Speaking of their visit, the Patrie says: "The object of the visit of Sir Wilfrid and Sir Louis was not politics. Whatever it may have been, we are certain of two things: Sir Joseph A. Chapleau will not go to Washington, and Mr. Tarte will not go to Paris. As to the appointment of the coming Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, we have no doubt it will be made without much delay. We have no doubt but that the announcement of Sir J. A. Chapleau's successor will be received with as much enthusiasm as have been all the political acts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government."

The Pope's Encyclical.

The official copy of the Pope's encyclical on the Manitoba school question has arrived, and will probably be promulgated from every Roman Catholic pulpit in the Dominion on Sunday next. It will be translated into English and French at once, and copies will then be sent by the bishops of the Canadian dioceses to their respective parish priests. If it is found impossible for any of these copies to reach their destination by Sunday next, then the encyclical will not be promulgated until the Sunday following. Referring to the contents of the bull, Archbishop Bruchesi said that the church's position relative to the education of the young was carefully defined therein. The encyclical practically confirmed the stand taken by the bishops some time ago, and went so far as to demand Catholic schools, Catholic text-books, Catholic teachers and Catholic oversight for the children of Roman Catholics in Manitoba. His Grace deeply deplored the fact that the question had become a political one. He thought that if Canadians would leave politics aside, and look at the question from the standpoint of justice and right, the controversy would quickly be settled. The encyclical will be here to-morrow in connection with the anniversary service for the late Archbishop Fabre, and it is possible that they will issue a collective letter as to the best way of reaching the end advocated.

ENEMIES AT KHYBER PASS

Have Fired on the Oxfordshire Regiment and Have Killed and Wounded British Officers and Men.

Calcutta, Jan. 4.—The Zakka-Khels have blocked the road from Ali Musjid to Lundi Kotal, preventing the establishment of communication with General Sir William Lockhart. The enemy is very active and has fired on the Oxfordshire regiment, which is engaged in convoy duty at Khyber Pass, wounding Col. Plowden and Lieut. Owen. Some of the men, being hampered by the task of removing the wounded, had difficulty in gaining shelter. Three men were killed and twelve, including Captain Parr, were wounded in subsequent fighting. Finally they were joined by another company and retired into the walled inclosure where they are awaiting reinforcements.

Reindeer and Laps for the Yukon.

London, Jan. 4.—The steamship companies here are now much interested in the presence in England of the Rev. Sheldon Jackson, D.D., and Lieutenant D. B. Devore, Military Secretary of the United States Secretary for War, who have arrived in England as special agents of the United States Government to hire a ship with which to convey reindeer and Laplanders to New York to be used for forwarding supplies to the miners in the Yukon Valley. Several ships have been offered to them on reasonable terms, the companies desiring the incidental advertisement. No selection, however, has yet been made. Dr. Jackson will start for Lapland to-morrow.

American Cotton for Japan.

London, Jan. 4.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting upon the increase of American cotton shipments to Japan, says: "The special interest for us lies in the injury to Indian cotton growers. If the American staple continues cheap and the American takings increase, it is more than possible that ere long America will also ship to China."

German S.S. Co. Out for Business.

Hamburg, Jan. 4.—In view of the prospect for business in the far East, the Hamburg-American Line will establish a regular monthly service between this port and Penang, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Yokohama and Hiogo, commencing on Jan. 25.

Matters on the Nile.

Cairo, Jan. 4.—The British gunboats made a reconnaissance past Shendy and Metemmeh, the dervish posts between Berber and Khartoum, on Saturday last. The dervishes kept up a smart fire from both banks of the Nile. The gunboat proceeded twenty miles south and captured a number of boats laden with grain.

All Due to the Dervishes.

London, Jan. 4.—It is semi-officially announced in this city that the movements of British troops in Egypt are entirely due to the news of the threatened northerly advance of the dervishes, and that they do not imply an immediate advance in the direction of Khartoum.

Weyler is Defiant.

London, Jan. 4.—A special despatch from Madrid says: "General Weyler has defied the Government to take proceedings against him. As he is a Senator, a special vote is necessary to deprive him of immunity from prosecution, and the Cabinet is embarrassed, as the army appears to side with Weyler in his attacks on the United States."

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURSIER.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

It is now a long time since a municipal election contest was more actively run than that which took place yesterday. This applies especially to the mayoralty contest which resulted in the election of Mr. A. L. Davis by the decided majority of 557. The contest for the position of chief magistrate of the town excited considerable interest for some time before the date of the election. For weeks it was evident that there was a popular desire for a contest for the mayoralty. It was evident that the attitude of Mayor Yelland in respect to the relations of a citizen to the occupancy of the mayor's chair was not in accord with popular feeling on the subject and the undercurrent was perceptible to any who chose to pay attention to the drift of public opinion. It was evident that public opinion did not sympathize with the idea of any citizen having anything like a proprietary claim upon the mayoralty. There seemed on the other hand to be a general desire for a candidate upon whom the people from all points of view could generally unite. Mr. Davis entered the field, and his candidature seemed to find favour with the people; he appeared to be regarded as a man who inspired confidence, and one with whom the interests of the town would be safe. The result is the voice of the people. They have had both candidates before them, and they have made their selection with no doubtful emphasis. Mr. Davis has reason to feel proud that he has achieved so signal a success against a gentleman who has twice demonstrated that he was a strong candidate. His very success, however, adds to the gravity of his responsibility. The greater the confidence reposed in a public servant, the more is expected from him. Mr. Davis now has his opportunity, and there is every reason to believe that the council will heartily co-operate with him to give effect to the good civic government that is expected at his hands—that he will wield his power wisely and in the best interests of the town, with the advancement of those interests as his sole motive of action.

Mr. Yelland's reverse has its compensation. He has had the honour of enjoying for two terms the highest civic office in the gift of the people, and the present verdict is not to be regarded so much as a condemnation of his record in the past, which has not been unattended with much that merits approval, but as the expression of the idea that the confidence of the people is a gift to be freely bestowed and not claimed as a right.

As to the council there is not very much change. In No. 2 Ward only is there actually new blood, the two other new members, having served in previous councils, Messrs. William White and W. Langford in Nos. 1 and 4 Wards respectively, being new to the council this year. Messrs. Hamilton and Allan developed a large popularity. Though they polled a very large vote they have yet their spurs to win as representatives.

Several members of the new council are receiving congratulations on their success in heading the poll. In No. 1 Ward Mr. Wm. White had that honour in a vote the largest ever polled in the ward at a municipal contest. In No. 2 Ward Mr. T. E. Hamilton got in first under the wire by twelve lengths. In No. 3 Mr. J. B. McWilliams had the pleasure of having his past year's record endorsed by being placed at the head of the list, over forty votes ahead of the closest competitor. In No. 4 the honour is divided between Messrs. Wm. Langford and J. M. White. In the case of these gentlemen the old Scripture principles is applicable "to whom much is given of the same much is required." They are called to live up to the responsibility which the public estimate of their fitness for the position has imposed.

Mr. LePlante's defeat in No. 1 Ward was unexpected by the large number who looked upon him as a citizen having a large stake in the town, one who had made a good, careful representative, exercising good judgment and by virtue of his past record deserving of re-election. On the whole the new council should be a progressive one, to whom the people will look to manage their affairs not only economically, but in a spirit worthy of the town, of what its natural advantages and commercial importance demand. The function of a council is not merely to administer. A lot of bright school boys could levy and collect taxes and expend them in building walks at so much a rod, but it takes a wise council to initiate matters tending to the benefit of the town at large. Our commercial prosperity is to be promoted by every legitimate means. Manufacturing interests are to be promoted and new industries to be established, and in these matters the utmost care and prudence are to be exercised. While it is desirable that our industries should be increased, this must be done only in the interests of the people. Favours to any new industry that do not involve a first consideration of the interests of the people are mistaken favours. The interests of the people should be the first consideration of the council in all cases. And we have a council this year that should easily be able to accomplish this. It only needs that the good of the town, as a whole, should come first, every other interest being a subordinate consideration.

COUNTY COUNCIL BYE-ELECTION

Mr. E. Hawthorne is to be congratulated upon having been successful in the bye-election to fill the vacancy in the county council caused by the death of Mr. John Moloney, one of the representatives of No. 5, Lakefield Division. Mr. Hawthorne is to be further congratulated upon winning success in the face of the strong opposition he had to contend with in the persons of Mr. William Leeson and Mr. Richard Crowe, the other candidates. Mr. Hawthorne should make a good representative. He has both ability and experience and doubtless the will to serve the Division and the County faithfully and effectively and to the satisfaction of his constituents.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. ST. JOHN as a piggery issue propagandist was ridiculous, but as a piggery issue martyr is too ridiculous for anything.

IN the whole twenty-five years of the Liberal Government, the Opposition have now only three charges of alleged scandal to press—an average of three-twenty-fifths of a scandal per year, and all of these charges are as effectively exploded as the charge of the wolf against the lamb in the fable.

MR. P. D. MCCALLUM, the "independent" representative of East Lambton, who, however, always votes with the Opposition, has been re-nominated as "independent" candidate for that riding. Mr. McCallum is an out-and-out, undisguised P.P.A. man and has many, of the same extreme opinions as himself, on the Opposition side. Peter was once a Liberal, but not finding sympathy with his extreme opinions on that side of politics he became "independent," and has found congenial company among the Opposition.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth So Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

BENEFORT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

This town has again taken on its role of quietness after the holiday season.

Mr. S. Perrin and his daughter, Miss E. Perrin, of Lindsay, spent the Xmas holidays at Mr. John Riddell's.

Mr. Elias Thompson, of Peterborough, passed through Benefort with a very fine stick of pine timber, measuring something over sixty feet in length. It took two team of horses to draw it.

The old council and reeve are again elected.

All our scholars and teachers have gone back to their schools after spending their holidays at home.

What may have been a fatal runaway happened Christmas eve, as Mr. John Smith, of Hall's Landing, was coming home from Peterborough a runaway team of horses ran into Mr. Smith's sleigh doing considerable damage to a load of furniture he was bringing home, also breaking Mr. Smith's arm. The horses were not found till the next day at noon.

A PETERBOROUGH LADY

There are too many women who suffer from dreadful backaches, pain in the side and headaches, who are weak, nervous and run down, whose life, energy and animation seem gone. Here's a lady—perhaps you know her who was cured by

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. Harriet Adlam, 400 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "A few years ago I had an attack of La Grippe, which left me with impaired action of the heart. Naturally this produced a condition of extreme nervousness. I felt tired all the time. My blood seemed to get thin and watery, I could not eat well and was very restless at night.

"I am glad to say I have fully recovered from all of these distressing symptoms, and I think it only my duty to name the medicine which was productive of so much benefit to me. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured me, gave me back my old-time strength, restored my appetite, and enabled me to get restful, refreshing sleep. My blood now circulates vigorously throughout my system; and I cannot do otherwise than heartily recommend the remedy which worked so well in my case."

RIGHTS IN CHINA.

Britain Demands an Equal Share With Others.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TO ANY

Li Hung Chang's Opinion of German Occupation—The Chinese Statesman Considers It a Violation of Treaties and International Law—Unjust Oppression at a Critical Time.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 4.—The Manchester Guardian says: "The Government has categorically stated that Great Britain will refuse to recognize any special rights granted at any Chinese port to any particular power. Any port opened to one power must be opened to all, or open to none. If Russia has been granted the right to winter ships at Port Arthur, Great Britain will enforce her rights to the same privilege, and her ships will winter there, whether China concedes or does not concede the right."

Continuing, the Manchester Guardian remarks: "If Germany obtains a naval station at Kiao Chou, Great Britain insists upon having a lease of ground for a naval station at the same port, and she will support every other power making the same claim. The contention of the Government is that the most favored nations clause in the British and all other treaties with China forbids any special concessions of the nature contemplated by Germany at Kiao Chou, and prevents nations from acquiring special benefits in which the others have not a share. The Government has also declared that the same principle applies to such transactions as railways and mine monopolies.

Stands on the Treaties.

"Taking the stand on the treaties, Great Britain refuses to acknowledge such concessions, and will insist on similar railway and mine rights, and will use such force to secure or defend them as may be necessary. This declaration does not apply to cessions of territory, to which the existing treaties do not refer, but relative to this contingency, the despatch of Great Britain to China says that when it occurs, graver questions will arise. The Government will then consider the manner in which British interests can best be safeguarded and the form which the compensation to Great Britain for the special advantages to other nations must take. It is reported that a similar declaration has been delivered to the Chinese and other Governments by Japan."

Represents British Policy.

London, Jan. 4.—Up to a late hour this evening the statement of the Manchester Guardian this morning has neither been confirmed nor denied; but the general belief is that, whether an actual note has been despatched to China or not, the Guardian's statement fairly represents British policy.

Something is Going On.

CHINA WANTS PEACE.

Li Hung Chang in an Interview Pleads With the Civilized World to Allow China to Learn Her Lesson.

Pekin, Jan. 4.—According to instructions received from the Herald, I requested an interview with Li Hung Chang, informing him that the New York Herald offered the publicity of its columns for any statement that China desired to make to the western world in respect to the actual crisis in the east.

The great statesman replied that China was anxious that the western people should understand thoroughly matters as they were. His Excellency's views are given herewith in the following interview, which he has approved:

"The forcible occupation of Kia Chou by Germany is a direct violation of existing treaties and of international law.

"The pretext made for this act of war was the murder of two missionaries by robbers in the interior of the Province of Shan Tung. The Chinese Government offered immediate and full redress for this outrage—punishment of the criminals, dismissal of the local officials, and large compensation for all losses.

"Anxious to avoid hostile acts, the Chinese troops were withdrawn from Kiao Chou when the Germans landed, and, in spite of strong public feeling prevailing throughout the country for the defence of Chinese territory against aggression, my Government has not sent reinforcements to Kiao Chou.

What the Pretext Was.

"Outlaws exist in China, as in all countries. Neither treaties, law, nor religion can entirely suppress crime anywhere in the world, though they condemn and punish the criminals. There are places in every country where lawlessness abounds, and to such a place in Shan Tung the German missionaries determined to go, knowing that "the inhabitants themselves were often the victims of these bandits.

"Unfortunately, China has not yet recovered from the effects of the late war, and our country requires a period of peace to carry on the work of reform lately begun.

"Of late years, from instruction and observation, the Chinese have come to regard the countries of the western world as models, and even greater in justice than in arms.

China's Law and Order.

"Is it just to oppress us while we are struggling to emerge from the restraints of our ancient civilization; while improvement and progress steadily continue? Should China be distressed by having her shores invaded and her territory occupied because of an occurrence which western countries would deal with by law and not by war—an unexpected incident, deplored by my Government, and followed by full redress?

"Our desire is to preserve our territory intact and to steadily improve it as a field open to all countries equally for the development of commerce."

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

How often you see a man deeply engrossed in his work, full of satisfaction at what he has accomplished in business, ready to go ahead and carry out boundless schemes of achievement, and using up all his strength and nervous force, never pausing to think what unseen danger may threaten him from behind. Mighty few hard-working men ever stop to realise that the headaches and dizzy sensations and feelings of weakness and sluggishness and incapacity that overcome them at times are the forerunners of serious disease.

More men would succeed in carrying out their life purposes if they would put their constitutions in strong, forceful, high condition, without waiting until disease has plunged its axe into their vital organs. If a man who is using up his working vitality faster than his nutritive powers supply it, will use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as an adjunct to his daily meals, it will give the digestive organs power to take hold of the food and extract from it the elements which strengthen the vital organism and build up healthy blood.

It revitalises every organ and tissue of the body; purges bilious poisons out of the circulation; invigorates the nerve centers and the muscular system and makes a man altogether a man—full of ambition, energy and pluck.

Mr. Jos. Henderson Dirblun, of 544 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La., writes to Dr. Pierce: "I was ailing for some years, suffering from dyspepsia, a tired feeling and loss of energy and appetite. I tried one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and found great relief. I took two more bottles, three in all, and one or two bottles of the 'Pellets,' when I found myself in good health again. I recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to do all that it is claimed to do."

In many cases where constipation is one of the aggravating causes of disease, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used in conjunction with the "Discovery." They are the simplest and most perfectly natural laxative ever invented.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

In Ashburnham the new council will be composed of Reeve Adams, who was returned by acclamation, and by the first four of the candidates mentioned.

The returns from the polls were received at the committee rooms of the two candidates and at THE EXAMINER office, at which latter place they were promptly bulletined, which occasioned the assemblage of a crowd which blocked the street.

At about half past seven the enthusiasm of Mr. Davis' friends waxed so warm that they placed him and his nominator, Mr. J. J. Hartley, on a table, supported by his "supporters" preceded a procession which, headed by the band, marched up George street and back to the Opera House, where an immense audience had congregated.

Mr. J. J. Hartley was the first speaker. He opened by saying that Mr. Davis' supporters had reason to be proud of the man to whom they had given victory. Personally he had nothing against Mr. Yelland, but he had thought a change was needed, and Davis was the man wanted, as the result of the poll had shown. He was satisfied that at the end of the year the electors would have no reason to regret their action in electing Mr. Davis. He would work for the interests of the town, and the year 1898 would be a successful one for Peterborough. The speaker was proud to have of nominating Mr. Davis, and he prophesied that as long as he lived the new mayor would never forget the ride he had up George street on the evening of January 3rd, 1898. He, himself, had been before the public for 18 years—for ten of which he was in the council, and for eight a member of the Board of Education, and he was proud of the old town. He would be willing to take the mayoralty himself, but was also willing to step back to allow a man like Mr. Davis to take the chair.

Mr. Kendry announced that Mr. Davis had been elected by the greatest majority ever rolled up a mayoralty contest in Peterborough and this would be something to hand down to posterity (laughter). However, he did not want to crow over the defeated candidate, but thought the result showed the good sense of the people to elect such a man to the chair and he was sure that in one year from the same night he would be returned by acclamation. On our side, continued Mr. Kendry, we have carried on a gentlemanly contest, but the others have not done the same. We have now a mayor who will promote the business interests of the town. We don't want a man who is afraid to go into his pocket. We want a liberal man, a business man and a man who, like Mr. Davis, will look well after our poor.

Councillor Adam Dawson felt very much indebted to the audience for calling upon him and stated that it gave him great pleasure to congratulate Mr. Davis on his successful campaign. It gave him great pleasure also to think that he was the first man to acquaint Mr. Davis with the fact that a petition was being circulated to bring him out as mayor. Mr. Davis had been greatly astonished at the time. After sitting with him at the council board during the past year he had come to the conclusion that he was a fit and proper man for the mayoralty and was sure that he would be prompted in all his actions by what was in the best INTERESTS OF THE TOWN.

Mr. Davis would be an honour to the chair and a credit to Peterborough. He had no word to say against the gentleman who was defeated, but thought he had served his day. No man should ask for more than two years. As for himself, his only reason for being in the council was to endeavour to keep down the taxation. Mr. Davis, too, with his large real estate interests must necessarily be interested in keeping down taxation also. He himself had always run for the council as the workingman's candidate, and as such he desired to express his thanks for his election to the council.

Mr. W. Robinson took great pleasure in congratulating Mr. Davis on his victory. He had nothing to say against Mr. Yelland, but he had occupied the chair as long as he should. Two years was enough. His object in supporting Mr. Davis was that the town needed a progressive mayor. As a workingman he felt that he must vote to elect a man to advance the interests of the town. During his two terms Mr. Yelland had done nothing in this respect, but he understood that it was through him that the workingmen's wages had been reduced from $1.25 to $1 a day.

Mr. Davis was welcomed with cheers and continued applause. He stated that he could hardly find words to express his feelings and convey his thanks to his supporters. Three weeks ago he had made up his mind to retire from municipal life, and now found himself elected to the chief magistracy of the most prosperous town in Ontario. He thanked the electors for the big majority which they had rolled up for him, and felt gratified in realising that it meant that he merited their confidence. He had entered into the contest with Mr. Yelland with towards him, and therefore hoped they would be as good friends as ever. It had been represented to him that it was desirable to have a change, and that he was the right man. He had sought the advice of his friends and that their counsel had been correct was proven by his election. He had said no unkind word against Mr. Yelland in the campaign. During his canvass some amusing incidents had occurred. He had found a bunch of waste in his pocket on coming out of one manufactory, but as it hadn't been used he urged that it was not an ill omen. On another occasion he had found a leather medal. He hardly knew how to take this, but the receiving of any kind of a medal so early in the campaign was an augury of success. He intended to keep these little things as remembrances of the campaign.

A voice—Hand them down to posterity.

He was very sorry on nomination day to hear Mr. Yelland say that the campaign was to be a fight of labour against capital. It was an unfortunate statement to make.

MR. MAYOR DAVIS.

Capital and labour should not be arrayed against one another. They should go hand in hand. He felt that the people had realised this, and when he looked back at his handsome majority, he knew that it had been rolled up for him by the representatives of all classes and creeds—by the labourer, the mechanic, the merchant and the professional man. If the town was to prosper, all had to go forward shoulder to shoulder. It was only by moving as a unit that prosperity could be attained. When he had heard Mr. Yelland make that statement about capital and labour, he had felt that he was no friend of the town and must be in desperate need of something to support him. Mr. Yelland had also raised a political cry. Politics were not wanted in municipal affairs. A town could be quickly ruined if it was governed from a political standpoint. Until he was elected he never dreamed of the appreciation in which he was held. He realised the great responsibility which was been reposed in him, and he would do all in his power to advance the interests of all classes of citizens. The town was at present drawing as much revenue as possible from the surrounding country. To advance, it must grow within itself, by encouraging manufactories to locate here. Peterborough, with its great water power, capable of generating so much cheap electricity, must have a grand future before it. If the town didn't prosper it was the fault of the citizens. Advantage must be taken of every opportunity to force ahead. In concluding Mr. Davis expressed his thanks to the lady voters, who were not present, but who had aided him greatly.

At the conclusion of the meeting a large number of those present betook themselves to Mr. Davis' residence, where an informal reception was held for several hours.

THE CHARGE DISMISSED.

Failure of Another Charge Against the Oriental Hotel.

Owing to the feeling that was aroused over the recent action of Chief of Police Reazal against the Oriental Hotel, in which, it will be remembered there was strong language used in the Police Court, followed by an investigation, a considerable interest was manifested in another charge brought this morning against the same hotel for selling liquor after hours on Christmas eve. It was charged in the case first mentioned that the Chief of Police was influenced by motives apart from a legitimate enforcement of the law, and the case this morning was regarded with considerable interest in view of what the result might be. After a large number of witnesses was examined the case was dismissed, there being no evidence whatever adduced to prove the charge.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway was the first railway chartered in Ontario. It was incorporated in 1834. The first railway in Canada was the St. Andrew's in Quebec. It was opened in July, 1836, by Earl Gosford.

Owing to the number of accidents on the G.T.R. and C.P.R. during the past few months, due to the breaking in two of freight trains, the officials of both roads have felt it necessary to issue special warnings to trainmen on the subject. Those on the C.P.R. have been instructed that in cases of a break loose the engineer must keep his whistle going until the two portions have been connected together again. To employees of the G.T.R. it has been indicated that trains often break loose after leaving a station and that the fact is not ascertained before the arrival of the forward part at the next station. This is stated to be a clear case of neglect, and trainmen are warned to observe more care in future.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

Mr. W. J. Stubbs Remembered on Leaving Moorefield.

The Drayton Advocate makes the following reference to an address which was recently presented to Mr. Walter J. Stubbs, who has been living in Moorefield, and returned to Peterborough a few days ago:

A goodly number of the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, Moorefield, met on Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Maudsley, to spend a few hours with Mr. Stubbs, who was leaving for Peterborough, and to show their appreciation of his labours by presenting him with a valuable Bible. After devotional exercises, Rev. Dr. Strongman introduced Mr. J. L. Florence, the retiring president, who read the following address, and Miss Maud S. Perkin presented the Bible. Mr. Stubbs thanked them very much, and the pastor, Mr. Florence and Mr. A. Johnston, spoke of the loss sustained by Mr. Stubbs' removal. Following is the address:

Mr. W. J. Stubbs, Teacher, Moorefield:

DEAR FRIEND AND BRO.—We, the members and friends of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, Moorefield, feel that your coming and stay among us for the past two years have been of great help and profit to our Sunday School, the League, the church and to ourselves individually. We have always found you extremely willing and helpful in everything that relates to the ordinary and special work of the church. While we would emphasize your valuable labours in these departments, we assure you of our genuine appreciation of your labours as specially seen in Epworth League work—your proficient help in the programme committee work: in the duties of organist; in the entertainment committees in the C. M. departments; and in the Missionary Vice-Presidency which you have held for the past year. During that time the Fulton Plan for Missions has been instituted with 26 names and promises of 2 cents per week, thus helping and enabling our League to fall into line with the District in support of two native missionaries in Japan.

Besides, we have marked your Christian spirit and enthusiastic labours for the cause of Christ which has run through all your work; and, we also appreciated to a very great extent the lavishness of labour which you have bestowed upon our work, far remote from any idea of mine, so much so, that with the onerous duties of your profession, no sacrifice of time or labour have been withheld by you. Our League will cherish with fondness in the years to come your Christian spirit and consistent life.

We are deeply sorry to part with you, only feeling that as you were given to us two years ago, so now, you will be given by us to others whom we believe will be helped by you as we have.

And now we ask you to accept this little, which is a memento of the affection and love we do now and shall always bear toward you.

Signed:

W. A. STRONGMAN, Pastor.
J. L. FLORENCE, Pres.
L. GRAHAM, Sec'y.

The Local W. C. T. U. Passes Resolutions Objecting to Lady Somerset as President of the World's W.C.T.U.

At a meeting of the local W. C. T. U. on Dec. 13th, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved.—That this Union feels that the views and principles of its members, and of the W.C.T.U. generally, were not represented in the election of Lady Henry Somerset as World's Vice-President at the late World's Convention at Toronto; that its members are unanimously of opinion that no woman upholding licensed sin can rightly represent a society that is fighting against it, and that we protest against that election, and ask that a copy of this resolution be sent through the Dominion officers to the World's W.C.T.U. Executive;

Resolved.—That in our opinion, and because Lady Henry Somerset was unanimously elected, the only right course at present open to the Canadian Union is to withdraw its affiliation from the World's W.C.T.U. till such time as the latter has executive officers who represent and carry out the objects and principles of the Society, and that we hereby ask that our Provincial officers take steps with a view to this action.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood, yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

THE SILVER LAKE TRAGEDY.

John Luff Discharged at the Trial Recently Held in Coboconk.

At Coboconk on Wednesday afternoon the boy John Luff was discharged from custody, there being nothing but the merest hearsay evidence against him. It will be remembered a young man named Thomas Lee was shot through the head with his own rifle on the 9th of November, near the residence of Mr. Samuel Luff, in the presence of two of his (Luff's) sons. An inquest was held, and the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of "accidental death," but Mr. Edward Lee, father of the deceased, persistently declared that his son had been shot by John Luff, and the boy was arrested and tried, with the above mentioned result. Col. Deacon was the presiding magistrate; Crown Attorney Devlin appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Wm. Steers for the defence.

MISS ARMSTRONG
360 GEORGE STREET

HOLDING THE BRIDGE

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS.

A knoll in a meadow, a bit of forest, a stone wall, a creek meandering through the fields and across a highway to empty its waters into a river two or three miles away—all these are points which may bring victory or defeat when 100,000 men grapple in a struggle. The guns rush for the hills and knolls when they go into action; the cavalry must have a clear sweep of the fields if they are to break lines of infantry; the marching battle lines are broken and thrown into confusion by a ditch across which a farmer's boy could spring with ease.

A mile and a half above our right wing is a simple wooden bridge spanning the creek to connect the highway. Above and below the bridge are steep banks, overgrown with bushes. A farmer or hunter would plunge downward through the bushes, bound over the babbling waters without effort and be at the top of the other bank in a moment. Not so with the battle line. It halts, wavers and marches by the right or left flank to find another crossing above or below. The guns change position at a dead run; the cavalry trot or gallop; the infantry move slowly and grudgingly and waste precious time. A battle is won or lost because a single brigade loses a quarter of an hour in reaching the position assigned to it. A division is turned aside by a wall, a regiment by a rail fence. These are the orders to the captain of Company F:

"You will march your company to the bridge and take up such position as you think best to prevent the army from crossing. If attacked by a hundred men, hold it; if attacked by a thousand, do not fall back. If the enemy forces the bridge, he will take our right wing and flank, you understand."

"I understand," replies the captain. "I am to hold the bridge to the last."

"To the last."

Company F marched away by the right face and was soon lost to sight in the woods. In an hour it was throwing up an earthwork at the north end of the bridge. It was a simple ridge of earth, extending east and west across the highway and into the fields for a distance of 100 feet, with its center thicker and stronger than its wings. When that was finished, the men pulled down small trees and uprooted bushes, clogged the highway to the south of the bridge and heaped obstructions on the bridge itself. For two hours they worked like farmers, each man straightening up now and then to flirt the sweat from his temples, and they then took up their muskets and were ready.

Did you ever try to imagine the sounds created by a great body of troops—a division or a corps—moving forward to battle? You hear a faraway neighing of horses, a rumbling of wheels, the blowing of bugles and the rattle of drums. All the various sounds go to make up one general, awesome sound, as if you could see through the forests and over the hills and knew that a great tidal wave was sweeping toward you from the shores of the sea. The sounds come nearer and nearer, and you seem to feel the tramp of the thousands of feet. You hear a mighty muttering, as of men scolding at each other. Your ear catches fragments which speak of menace and peril and make you look behind to see if the road is clear for flight. It is the march of the specter of death, and its fleshless bones rattle as it tramps forward over the highways to another feast of blood.

"There they come! Steady now!"

The enemy should have sent a force forward to seize the bridge three hours ago, but of the hundred details of a battle some are overlooked or some one blunders. In front of the division marching at will over the dusty road is an advance guard to clear the way; in front of the advance a few cavalrymen. The latter are first to make the turn of the highway and note the obstructions and the earthwork at the north end. They smile in derision. In front of them are 100 men; behind them five brigades. There will be a rush down the narrow road with its walls of clay, over the bridge, over the earthwork, a score of dead and wounded friends and foes, and the specter of death will hardly have been halted on its march.

"See and hear 'em, Tom?" queries an old veteran of his right hand man as he peers over the top of the earthwork.

"Aye, Ben!" is the answer.

"How many?"

"A division at least."

"And what are we goin to do?"

"Die here, of course! Didn't the captain say we were to hold the bridge to the last."

"But, d—n it, it ain't a fair show," protested Tom. "Who's fightin 50 to 1 and expectin to come out on top?"

"Nobody. We are comin out in the trenches with two feet of earth to cover us up. Feel shaky, old man?"

"Num, but it ain't a fair show."

"Better save yer breath. We ain't lookin for fair shows jest now. Lordy, but what a chance to swipe it to 'em! They are formin up around the bend, and we'll hev it redhot in about a minit!"

Around the bend of the road 200 infantry formed up in lines eight abreast. The width of the road allowed for no more. With bayonets fixed and muskets at the trail they waited for a minute and then made a dash. From the center of the earthwork leaped a sheet of flame a third of the way across the bridge—from the right and left other sheets of flame. Every musket had a rest on top of the earthwork—every sight covered a human target. The head of the advancing column did not reach the planks of the bridge. It melted away in the midst of the obstructions, to create other obstructions, and 40 men lay dead and wounded as the smoke lazily drifted away down the stream.

"Purty fair fur what time we was at it," said Ben as he rose up for a look after reloading.

"We ought to got at least 90 more at sich clus shootin," growled Tom in reply.

"They'll come ag'in, of course?"

"Don't be a d——d fool, Ben. D'ye think the loss of 40 or 50 men would stop one of our divisions from gittin somewhars? If you feel tired and sleepy, you'd better ask fur leave to go to the rear."

"Say, I don't want too much of yer chin, old man!"

"Oh, you don't! Waal, you jest 'tend t fightin and dyin and don't worry about my chin. Better shet yer eyes this time and see if you can't damage some of 'em."

That dash was a feeler to develop the strength defending the bridge and to see if it was mined for blowing up. Around the bend of the road they laughed at the idea of 100 men holding a division at bay. Farther back the soldiers fretted and fumed and officers cursed and swore at the delay. Down on the left the battle was already opening, and Death was sharpening his scythe on the stone walls which men of peace had built up 50 years before.

"Get ready! Fire at will!"

This time a column of 500 men, formed eight abreast as before, dashed at the bridge with ringing cheers, and though the first four or five ranks went down others lived to reach the earthwork and to make a fierce fight for its possession. For ten minutes there were sighting shots and curses and groans, and then the bridge was clear again—clear of all but the dead and wounded. The veteran Ben was one of the half dozen who started to cheer as the enemy sullenly fell back, but Tom interrupted him with:

"What yer makin a cussed fool of yerself fur?"

"We've licked 'em ag'in!"

"Licked hell! If this war don't end in less'n three months, ye won't know 'nuff to pound sand! The idea of yer yawpin and whoopin over a victory when we've lost at least 90 men and when we are sartin to be wiped out body and buties! Look along the lines!"

Ben looked up and down the lines and shivered as he noted the dead and wounded who had fallen out. And now the enemy deployed a force to the right, another to the left, and the men crept forward to the very brink of the ravine and opened such a hot fire that no defender of the earthwork could lift his head. Under cover of this fire a force formed up in the road for a dash across the bridge. The captain sent an order along the earthwork, and each crouching man made ready to rise up and fire when the critical moment came.

"Say, this is gettin to be redhot!" exclaimed Ben as the bullets sent the dirt flying over his head.

"Waal, we don't need any ice jest now!" grimly replied Tom.

"We are goin to git licked on this deal, old man."

"Not licked, but wiped out. The orders are to hold the bridge to the last, and our captain's the man to do it. Purty leetle fight—mighty purty. Lots of heads will git busted when we arise up to fire. Never had a bullet through yer cokernut, did ye?"

Ben did not answer. Just then came the order to fire at will, and as the muskets looked over the earthwork the enemy cheered and dashed for the bridge a third time. Over the rocks and bushes obstructing the road, over the wounded, crying out, over the dead and over the blood spots, and again they reached the earthwork and fought hand to hand.

"Guess they'll stay licked this time," growled Ben as the enemy fell back after ten minutes' fighting.

"Oh, ye do!" sneered Tom as he jabbed his bayonet into the earthwork to clear it of the blood. "Waal, of all the blamed idiots in Grant's army ye take the cake! We've got about ten men left to hold a division, and ye are countin on a vict'ry."

"Then why don't we retreat?"

"Ag'in orders, ye old shell back. Here's whar we die and over thar is whar they'll bury us."

Now the enemy, maddened by the delay and resistance, crossed men above and below the bridge, and they were soon taking the breastwork in rear. The captain was down, his lieutenants were down—a corporal had command of the remnant of the hundred men.

"What d'ye call this?" asked Ben as the bullets began to come in from flank and rear.

"Next door to hell," replied Tom. "Face about and see if ye can't hit a barn door."

"I've dropped a man every time I've fired, and—and"—

"Got yer dose, eh? Waal, I told ye it would be a wipe out. Sorry fur ye, old man, but war would be a picnic if nobody was killed. Guess I'm the only one left, and I'll go back and report."

And half an hour later, wounded in the arm and shoulder and hip, a powder stained, dust covered old veteran appeared before his colonel and saluted and said:

"Company F, sir. Detailed to hold the bridge above."

"Well?"

"Enemy forced the crossing half an hour ago. Captain dead, lieutenants dead—all dead but me!"

The Worship of Athletics.

Both boys and men when they have opened any paper very soon turn to see what is said about athletics. People go in thousands to see matches of cricket, boating, football, running and bicycle races. Matters connected with these matches keep the telegraph busy and furnish the large headings for posters. They induce men of the highest position and gravest character to write to the newspapers and to discuss such matters from a purely athletical point of view, leaving out of sight all moral questions which may happen to be involved. Portraits of athletes are everywhere, and their histories and condition are generally known. I was present when a certain distinguished man was introduced to a great English bishop. "He is the father of P. T. ——," said his introducer, naming a youth well known for his powers of cutting.—National Review.

The Bishop's Knee Breeches.

It is told of a certain bishop that, while dining at the house of one of his friends, he was pleased to observe that he was the object of marked attention from the son of his host, whose eyes were firmly riveted upon him. After dinner the bishop approached the boy and asked:

"Well, my young friend, you seem to be interested in me. Do you find that I am all right?"

"Yes, sir," replied the boy, with a glance at the bishop's knee breeches. "You're all right, only" (hesitatingly) "won't your mamma let you wear trousers yet?"—London Figaro.

ENLARGED LYMPH GLANDS.

What the Lumps Mean and How They Should Be Treated.

"What are these lumps in my baby's neck?" is a question often asked the doctor.

Lumps, or kernels as they are often called, because they feel like grains or seeds under the examining fingers, are lymph bodies, or glands.

The system of lymph glands and tubes covers the entire body. If it were exposed to view, it would have the appearance of meshwork. Lymph ducts lead from the skin, from the mucous membrane, and from bone to lymph bodies which are further connected with one another by the same means.

At any point where there is an inflammation, a sore, a breaking of the skin or mucous surface, there will be found open mouths of lymph ducts into which waste matter is liable to enter. This waste matter sets up an irritation and an enlargement of the lymph bodies to which it finds its way. It will now be easily understood how such an enlargement or inflammation of the lymph bodies always points to a state of inflammation at some point, perhaps at a considerable distance from the lumps themselves. Thus a felon on the finger causes enlarged glands to appear in the armpit.

Lumps in the neck may sometimes be plainly traced to eczema of the scalp. Sometimes the mouth is the seat of the trouble. Large and inflamed tonsils may be present, or the teeth may be decaying.

When the ear is the seat of an abscess, either before or during the course of a purulent discharge enlarged glands are common.

Enlarged lymph bodies just behind the angle of the jaw are sometimes significant of catarrh of the nose and the adjacent portion of the throat.

The existence of enlarged lymph bodies for a few days, or sometimes for a longer interval, cannot be said to be in itself dangerous. The case is different when lumps exist for several weeks or longer. They become changed in character after this time and begin to break down and form purulent matter. This stage, too, is more difficult to cure, as surrounding tissue may become affected. The skin over the glands is involved and becomes part of the large, soft, red or purplish swelling, now called an abscess, which either breaks or is lanced by the surgeon.

These enlargements may become invaded by the tubercle bacilli, from which consumption of the lungs or a general consumption may develop.

During the course of an infectious disease, when the glands in the neck sometimes become enlarged, the care of the throat must not be neglected. The use of an antiseptic solution on the affected parts will often produce an immediate good result.—Youth's Companion.

About Lightning Rods.

Rods, although they may not entirely protect a building, may preserve it from being seriously damaged. The Jefferson physical laboratory of Harvard university is protected in the following manner: Each of the chimneys is provided with rods which are connected with conductors running along the eaves. From the corners of the roof conductors are led to the ground and are connected underground with a conductor which entirely surrounds the building and which is connected to a permanent water supply at least ten feet below the surface of the ground. Iron pipes are driven to reach this water supply. This is as near an approach to a cage as circumstances would permit.

A trolley car has a lightning rod in its trolley, which is connected through its motor with the rails and the ground. It is not beyond possibility, however, that a discharge descending the trolley arm should refuse to go through the motor and should seek a quicker oscillating path through the car. This is not likely to happen often, for the network of the trolley wire and the telegraph lines of a town or city, together with the electric light wires, separate and divert into many channels the electrical disturbance. The great increase of wires in our cities serves to protect from great damage by lightning, for many paths are offered to the discharges.

EXTREME NERVOUSNESS.

The Usual Outcome of Too Little Blood—Sufferers Often Brought to the Verge of Insanity.

From the Smith's Falls News.

Many cases have been reported of how invalids who had suffered for years, and whose cases had been given up by the attending physician, have been restored to health and vigor through the now world-famed medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but we doubt if there is one more startling or convincing than that of Miss Elizabeth Minshull, who resides with her brother Mr. Thos. Minshull, of this town, an employee in Frost & Wood's Agricultural Works. The News heard of this remarkable case, and meeting Mr. Minshull, asked him if the story was correct. He replied:—"All I know is that my sister had been given up as incurable by two physicians. She is now well enough to do any kind of housework, and can go and come as she pleases, and this change has, it is my honest conviction, been brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Mr. Minshull then related the following story to the News:—"My sister is twenty years of age. She came to Canada from England about ten years ago, and resided with a Baptist minister, Rev. Mr. Cody, at Sorel, Que. In April of 1896, she took ill and gradually grew worse. She was under a local physician's care for over five months. The doctor said that she was suffering from a complication of nervous diseases, and that he could do little for her. The minister with whom she lived then wrote me of my sister's state of health, and I had her come to Smith's Falls, in the hope that a change and rest would do her good. When she arrived here she was in a very weak state and a local physician was called in to see her. He attended her for some time, but with poor results, and finally acknowledged that the case was one which he could do very little for. My sister had by this time become a pitiable object; the slightest noise would disturb her, and the slightest exertion would almost make her insane. It required some one to be with her at all times, and often after a fit of extreme nervousness she would become unconscious and remain in that state for hours. When I went home I had to take my boots off at the door step so as not to disturb her. When the doctor told me he could do nothing for her, I consulted with my wife, who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as she knew of several cases where they had worked wonderful cures, and I concluded it would do no harm to try them anyway, and mentioned the fact to the doctor. The doctor did not oppose their use, but said he thought they might do her good, as they were certainly a good medicine. In September of last year she began to use the Pills, and before two boxes had been used [illegible] She has continued their use since, and is to-day a living testimony of the curative power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

BLOOD THIN AND POOR.

Mrs. John O'Connor, Broad Cove, N. S., makes the following statement:—"I had been suffering from what doctors call general debility. My blood was thin and poor. I had constant, and at times violent, pains in my hips and knees, and frequently passed sleepless nights. I had tried several remedies said to be sure cures, but without success. Then a lady friend, who was very enthusiastic concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, urged me to try that medicine. I used several boxes before I found much benefit, then the change came and I speedily recovered. The pains left me. I could sleep and eat well, and am quite strong and hearty. It is now more than six months since I used the pills, and have not been sick a day since I stopped taking them. I am now quite as enthusiastic over this medicine as my friend was, and will always recommend it."

INSOMNIA CURED.

Mr. Wm. Thomas, a teacher of vocal music, well known throughout Eastern Ontario, says: "I was greatly troubled with insomnia, and for two years I believe I existed with less sleep than any other individual ever did. The strain on my nervous system was something terrible, and each day found me less able to perform my duties. My digestion was impaired, my complexion was sallow, appetite very fickle, and my whole condition one of the most unenviable. I had tried many remedies without avail, and finally as a result of reading so much about them I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks it was plainly manifest that they were helping me. It took some months to restore my old time health, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did it, and I am now feeling like a new man. When I retire to my bed I am sure of a good night's rest. I have a good appetite, a good digestion, and a general feeling of renewed health, for all of which I am deeply grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Mr. Jacob Snyder, jr., of Bloomingdale, Ont., Says:—About three years ago, Adeline Webber, aged eleven years, an orphan adopted by us, showed symptoms of St. Vitus' dance. At first we did not realize what the trouble was, but as she was growing worse we consulted a doctor, who told us what was the matter, but did not seem to help her. In fact she was growing worse and her limbs twitched and jerked terribly. We then consulted another doctor under whose care she remained for about a year, and although he was very attentive, she was steadily growing worse. Her limbs became so unsteady that she could not walk, and she had wasted away to a skeleton, and we had no hope of her recovery. One day while in conversation with Mr. Martin Simpsom, of Berlin, he told me that a daughter of his who had suffered in the same way had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and advised that they be tried. After she had used two boxes there was considerable improvement, and after the use of four boxes more, all the symptoms of the disease had left her, and from that time she steadily regained her former strength. Her case seemed to us a desperate one, and we believe that had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, she would not have recovered."

PALE, TIRED AND LISTLESS.

Miss Eva Hodgson, daughter of Mr. Wm. Hodgson, a well known farmer living near Proton Station, Ont., is another of the many young girls who owe health and strength to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:—"My illness came on very gradually, shortness of breath after the smallest exertion being the first symptom I noticed. Then I became very pale, was attacked with a pain in the side and a hacking cough. At first only home remedies were used, but as they did me no good a doctor was consulted and I was taking his medicine for nearly a year. I did not derive any benefit from it, however, but seemed to be getting weaker all the time. The pain in my side grew more severe, and I had wasted away almost to a skeleton. At this stage a friend strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had used three boxes I could feel an improvement, and then I began to gain steadily in health and strength. I took the Pink Pills for a couple of months longer and at the end of that time was completely cured. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to suffering humanity and will always strongly recommend them."

CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM.

Could Not Raise Either Hand or Foot and Had to be Fed and Dressed—Doctors said a Cure Was Impossible.

From the Millbrook Reporter.

Rheumatism has claimed many victims and has probably caused more pain than any other ill afflicting mankind. Among those who have been its victims few have suffered more than Mr. G. W. Coon, now proprietor of a flourishing bakery in Hampton, but for a number of year a resident of Pontypool, where his severe illness occurred. To a reporter who interviewed him Mr. Coon gave the following particulars of his great suffering and ultimate cure:—"Some seven or eight years ago," said Mr. Coon, "I felt a touch of rheumatism. At first I did not pay much attention to it, but as it was suddenly growing worse I began to doctor for it, but to no effect. The trouble went from bad to worse, until three years after the first symptoms had manifested themselves I became utterly helpless, and could do no more for myself than a young child. I could not lift my hands from my side, and my wife was obliged to cut my food and feed me, when I felt like eating, which was not often considering the torture I was undergoing. My hands were swollen out of shape, and for weeks were tightly bandaged. My legs and feet were also swollen, and I could not lift my foot two inches from the floor. I could not change my clothes and my wife had to dress and wash me. I grew so thin that I looked more like a skeleton than anything else. The pain I suffered was almost past endurance and I got no rest either day or night. I doctored with many doctors, but they did me no good, and some of them told me it was not possible for me to get better. I believe I took besides almost everything that was recommended for rheumatism, but instead of getting better I was constantly getting worse, and I wished many a time that death would end my sufferings. One day Mr. Perrin, storekeeper at Pontypool, gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and urged me to try them. I did so somewhat reluctantly as I did not think any medicine could help me. However, I used the pills, then I got another box and before they were gone I felt a trifling relief. Before a third box was finished there was no longer any doubt of the improvement they were making in my condition, and before I had used three boxes more I began to feel, in view of my former condition, that I was growing quite strong, and the pain was rapidly subsiding. From that out, there was a steady improvement, and for the first time in long weary years I was free from pain, and once more able to take my place among the world's workers. I feel better than I felt for seven years previous to taking the pills. I thank God that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came in my way as I believe they saved my life, and there is no doubt whatever that they rescued me from years of torture."

IN A DECLINE.

Mrs. W. Goodwin, Argyle Sound, N. S., says:—"After the birth of my first child I was in poor health and unable to recover my strength. I had a severe pain in my left side and lung, which almost made it impossible for me to breathe. I had a bad cough day and night, and was troubled with night sweats, and on awakening found myself very weak. My complexion was sallow, and my appetite entirely gone. All my friends believed me in a decline. Our family physician attended me for a long time but I got no better. Then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Acting on this advice I bought a supply, and continued their use until my health was fully restored. I am sincere in saying that I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pink saved my life."

CONSUMPTION OF THE BLOOD.

Mrs. J. M. Gordon, Cataraqui, Ont. says:—"If I could not have got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I do believe I would not be in the land of the living. I had what one of my physicians—for I tried a number—called consumption of the blood. I was wasted away to a shadow, and my hands were literally transparent. I had a hacking cough, could not sleep and could scarcely eat. Doctors having failed to help me, I determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was soon gratified to find that they were helping me. I continued their use for several months, and am thankful to say that they have fully restored my health. I consider Dr Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to humanity."

A vegetable remedy for diseases arising from Disordered Liver, Stomach or Bowels, such as Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Coated Tongue, Bad Breath, Feeling of Languor, Distress after Eating, etc.

Mrs. Clara Howe, Moncton, N.B., says: "I used Laxa-Liver Pills for Headaches and Liver Trouble, and they not only relieved me but cured me. They do not gripe or sicken and are easy to take."

SONG OF THE BEGGAR MAID.

The moon is a king with a silver crown
In the blue, blue sky.
Happy go lucky and low lie down,
Favored by fortune's every frown,
Beggarly maid am I; beggarly maid am I.

What is his wand with the starry tip?
A pale moonbeam.
He lays it gently upon my lip.
Kings may quarrel and kingdoms slip.
Happy I lie and dream; happy I lie and dream.

Here I lie through the dear, dear night.
May it linger long!
Every goblin and every sprite,
Happy go heavy and happy go light,
Sings in my dreamland song, sings in my dreamland song.

Kings may quarrel and kings may groan
With a long, long sigh.
Queens may languish and make their moan.
Beggarly maiden and all alone,
Happiest queen am I, happiest queen am I.

THE MINISTER'S STORY.

He Takes a Perilous Ride and the Groom Shows Appreciation.

Rev. Dr. Britt of Omaha, who officiates as editor of The Veteran, dearly loves a good story and can tell one as well as listen to one. Dr. Britt was for years a leading minister in the Methodist church, but resigned on account of ill health. He served in the Union army for four years and earned the right to wear a badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, and his service in the army makes him peculiarly fitted for his position of editor of the Grand Army organ of the department of Nebraska.

A few days ago Dr. Britt was telling of one of his ministerial experiences. It occurred years ago in Illinois.

On the coldest night in the winter of 1878 Dr. Britt retired to bed in a well warmed bedchamber and prepared to sleep the sleep of the just. Just as he was dreaming of a donation party that did not eat more than it left he was aroused by a knock at the front door. When he answered the knock, a man stepped into the room and shook the snow from his coat.

"I want you to go out near Mott's schoolhouse and marry a couple," said the stranger.

Mott's schoolhouse was nine miles from town, and Dr. Britt naturally objected to traveling that distance through a blizzard.

"Why not wait until morning?" queried the doctor.

"It can't be did, parson," said the stranger. "The man has got to start for South America in the morning an wants to take a wife with him. His girl has steadily refused him up till three hours ago, an as he's got to start tomorrow he wants to marry her an take her along."

Dr. Britt had been married just long enough to appreciate the situation, and finally consented to go. He wrapped himself up as warmly as possible and took his place on the spring seat of the lumber wagon that was to convey him to the bridal scene. It was the coldest ride he had ever experienced and reminded him of that icy night before the Sunday that Donelson surrendered. But the home of the bride to be was finally reached. A few neighbors were gathered, and as soon as the preacher was thawed out he performed the marriage ceremony.

The next morning the bride and groom started for South America and rode to the railroad station in a lumber wagon with Dr. Britt. The doctor went to the station with them, and just before the train departed the groom called him to one side and thrust a sealed envelope into his hand.

Dr. Britt thrust the envelope into his pocket and hastened home. Calling Mrs. Britt into his study, he opened the envelope to gaze upon his fee.

The envelope contained a $1 bill and a 50 cent shinplaster.—Omaha World-Herald.

DAUDET AS A YOUTH.

He Played the Heroic and Was Told to Get His Hair Cut.

When he was a boy, Alphonse Daudet's father failed, and for some time the two lived together in poverty in Lyons. An elder brother, Ernest, however, got a position in a glass store in Paris, and finally, when 17 years old, Alphonse went to live with him and to try his fortunes in the great city. Ernest's wages amounted to only $90 a month, and Alphonse brought nothing with him from Lyons except about 40 cents and a voracious appetite. He is even said to have worn rubber boots on that memorable journey. The two brothers took lodgings in an attic and for several years led a poverty stricken life. Nothing, however, discouraged the two lads. Both had confidence that there was a future in literature for Alphonse, who in these trying years wrote a volume of poems which he had succeeded in getting printed. A copy of the volume fell under the eye of Empress Eugenie, who persuaded her brother-in-law, the Duke of Morny, to hunt the young man up and help him.

The result of the empress' interest in the young poet was that the duke invited him to call upon them. When Daudet entered, the duke asked:

"Can you write?"

"Yes, sir," replied Daudet.

"Very good. I want a secretary. Pay, 5,000 francs. Good morning."

The boy was nearly overcome. He had never imagined that any one was paid that much a year—about $1,000. But he suddenly remembered that he differed in politics from the duke and drawing himself up announced the fact.

Instead of being deeply moved by his heroic course, the duke said: "Oh, go and get your hair cut. I don't care anything about your political beliefs."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

History In Novels.

Save in one or two of Cooper's novels, says Paul Leicester Ford in The Atlantic, it would be well nigh impossible to find a romance dealing with Revolutionary history which does not make the Whig of that war the patriot and the Tory the disloyal and usually evil acting man. Yet the student of history knows that the loyalists, if a minority, were largely composed of the gentry and educated classes of the country; were, in fact, the equivalent of what today are termed the "better element," and were superior in character to many of the men who opposed them. No American novelist has ventured to write of John Hancock and Jonathan Trumbull as men suspected of smuggling, or of Samuel Adams as a public man who sought, as other officials have done more recently, to vindicate himself from the charge of defalcation by an appeal to the ballots of the masses.

Would any American author, striving to write popular fiction, dare to picture one signer of the Declaration as selling the secrets of his country to the French ministry for a paltry pension, or another taking advantage of information of the need of the continental cause for wheat to corner the supply at once so far as he was able? In one case alone have our writers dared to draw an approximately faithful portrait of a man who came to the front in early Revolutionary days, to describe the bounty jumper, deserter, smuggler and drunkard, who nevertheless rose to high honor in the American cause, and the reason for this exception is explained when the name of the man is given as Benedict Arnold.

Boils, pimples, and eruptions, scrofula salt rheum and all other manifestations of impure blood, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Judgment For Plaintiff."

An ambitious young lawyer paid his first visit to a country court holding its session not very far from New Orleans not long since, says The Times-Democrat. He went to represent a big railroad in a suit brought by a countryman to recover the value of an ox which departed this life in a vain attempt to hold up the limited mail.

The question before the court was one of identification, and the countryman had testified that he know the ox by his color and the flesh marks.

The young city lawyer rose and with dignity said: "If your honor please, there can be no question that this witness has sworn falsely when he testified that an ox can be recognized by his color. I was a stenographer before I became a lawyer, and for two days, your honor (drawing out his notebook), I have taken a detailed description of every ox that passed the hotel, and I am prepared to swear as an expert that 'all oxen look alike to me.'"

"You are trifling with the dignity of this court, sir," sternly said the judge, "and I will fine"— "Hold on, judge," said the clerk. "There hain't been but one yoke of oxen in this town in a week. Old man Henley's been a-hauling wood, and the lawyer's been counting the same oxen over and over."

"Judgment for plaintiff," said the judge, and the city lawyer, glad to escape the wrath of his honor, took his departure, a sadder but wiser man.

The Family Table.

Confucius many years ago advised his disciples thus: "Eat at your own table as you would eat at the table of a king." There are many reasons for the observance of some formality at the daily board. How otherwise are the children in the family to learn the correct usages of good society in this respect? To allow a child to demand and obtain his roast while the other members of the family are taking their soup is to create in him an impatience of restraint and to deprive him of the due appreciation of things done decently and in order. No matter how simple the dinner, it is well to have it in courses and with the accompaniments of careful serving and dainty table appointments. The house furnishers show as attractive patterns in the cheaper as the more expensive ware. It takes only a little seeking to furnish the table with dishes of dainty design. Says a sensible writer, "A meal served on the kiss is not an aid to digestion."

IF WE KNOW.

When the year has found its freedom from the bondage of the frost
And the memories of winter in a tide of life are lost,
Then the heart awakes to answer nature's impulse and rejoice
If we know her hidden meanings and the music of her voice.

There are voices in the tree tops—we may hear them as we pass.
There are whisperings of summer in the springing of the grass.
There's a noble sweep of triumph where the hawk is on the wing,
And the perfume of the lilac is the spirit of the spring.

Oh, the pulsing warmth of waking, how it permeates the air!
'Tis the anodyne of hope that steals the bitterness from care.
We may lay aside our burdens in the glory of our choice
If we win the heart of nature and will hearken to her voice.

Gems and Color.

Among the maladies common to all gems of color is one which arises from exposure to the light for a long period. They lose color. The colors of the emerald, sapphire and ruby are as nearly permanent as possible, but experiments made a few years ago in Berlin and Paris showed these stones suffered by exposure to the light, and a ruby shown two years in a shop window was many shades lighter than its mate which had been kept in darkness.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

Mrs. James Stewart, No. 160 Hughes street, St. Thomas, writes:—"Some four or five years ago I was troubled with a complication of diseases and was treated by several of our best city doctors, and tried all kinds of patent medicines, but received no benefit until I tried SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC, and I at once began to improve. My left side at one time was paralyzed and I was scarcely able to move, and had to be assisted in dressing. Before I had used one bottle my health improved, and the medicine effected a complete cure.

I can highly recommend SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC for all nervous disorders. It is an ideal Blood Purifier and will do all that is claimed for it. I will be pleased to give any information I can to any one similarly affected. Since using the medicine I have had no return of the disease. FUR OPPORTUNITIES

"Opportunities," said the old darkey, are sure to come to every man and woman, but it's only a bright man or woman dat knows um when dey comes"—

It does not take a very bright man or woman to recognize the "opportunities" we offer this week in Fine Fur Goods. The fact is we want after the holidays to unload—do not wish to carry Furs over season, and our stock is so large that it compels a reduction at once in order to clear. A bargain is doubly a bargain when it comes at the right time. From now on the best time to wear Furs—real cold weather comforts.

AT LOW EBB.

Morality must be at a very low ebb in St. Thomas, Ont., if one is to believe the St. Thomas Times. In Saturday's issue of that paper, it declares that "society is rotten to the core," and continues:

"It underlies the life of every section of the city. If the main sewer of St. Thomas' social life were to discharge its accummulation of filth and scandal, gossip, shame and infamous smut for one brief year upon the pages of a daily newspaper, what decent people there are in existence would hide their faces in unutterable horror and disgust. Oh, for the pen of a Hall Caine, such as inspired his book, 'The Christian,' with which to depict the petrifying moral quicksands which underlie the serene surface of sanve, sanctimonious serenity. If the secrets which the medical men of this city are perforce entrusted with, if the family skeletons with which they come in contact were revealed and exhibited and made public, it would cause a crumbling of many a family altar, the vanishing of many a home, the destruction of the faith of many a confiding wife, or unquestioning trust of many a too-indulgent husband, and the bringing of gray hairs in shame and sorrow to the kindly shelter of the tomb."

HARVEY COUNCIL.

The Harvey council met at the clerk's office on Dec. 15th as the statutes direct. The members were all present; minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Communications and accounts read from W. B. Kelly re school tax on lots in school section No. 4, Harvey. Petition, F. S. Spence re amendments to license acts. Treasurer's Financial statement read, adopted and the clerk instructed to procure 100 printed copies of the same for distribution. William J. Oliver as commissioner reported that John Stewart agrees to fence the road, north side of lot 20, in the spring, for 12 days of statute labour for 1898. On motion James Oliver was appointed to examine the quarter lines between lots 25 and 26, across con. 18; also lots 30 and 31, cons. 14 and 15, and any valuable timber, is to be put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder. The reeve was also instructed to draw orders in favour of trustees for the amounts levied upon the several sections respectively, amounting to the total sum of $1,405.45; also orders drawn to pay for roads and bridges, accounts and officers' salaries for 1897, amounting to the sum of $308.10. On motion the statute labour charged to Thos. A. Gordon, and not done in 1897, is to be removed from the collector's roll and he is allowed to do the work in 1898. On motion, the taxes charged to the Widow Holt was removed from the collector's roll for 1897.

On motion the council adjourned sine die.

MRS. STERNAMAN'S CASE.

Court Says Evidence of Her Former Husband's Illness is Admissible.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—In Regina v. Sternaman, the Divisional Court has decided that the evidence was properly admissible which was given at the trial on behalf of the Crown to show that accused's former husband had been taken seriously ill after eating food prepared by her, and that the symptoms attending his illness and death were those of arsenical poisoning. The court points out as worthy of notice that the Legislature of New Zealand had in 1896 enacted that "on a charge of poisoning in order to prove that the accused administered the poison as charged, or his intent in so doing, it may be proved that he administered or attempted to administer poison on other occasions to the same or other persons."

Count Telsener Dead.

New York, Jan. 4.—Count Telsener, who was related to Mrs. John W. Mackay through having married her younger sister, died at his home in Villa Aba, near Rome. He was an intimate friend of King Humbert and spent much of his time in the company of His Majesty. He achieved a reputation as a civil engineer, and just before his death had been planning improvements, at the suggestion of King Humbert, for the system of Italian railways.

Young Knock Pilfered.

Hespeler, Ont., Jan. 4. — Herman Knock, a lad employed in the A. W. Brodie mills here, was arrested yesterday on the charge of stealing sums of money amounting, it is supposed, to about $60 from his uncle, Mr. Helmuth Wolf, who resides at his home. The money was kept in a trunk and it was abstracted in small sums at different times. Young Knock confessed to the theft and afterwards was removed to Berlin, the county seat, to stand his trial.

John Fox Frozen to Death.

Gravenhurst, Jan. 4.—John Fox was a farmer, aged about 50, living at Loon Lake, Muskoka township. Friday afternoon last Fox was in town and procured three bottles of whiskey. About five o'clock in the afternoon he was seen reeling homewards. He managed to get within a short distance of home, when he fell in his tracks, upon a private road leading to his house. There he laid for four or five hours. When he was found he was terribly frozen. He died on Sunday.

How Thin You Look.

A Code of Signals.

Nature has a code of signals—a listless step and tired, weary feeling are in the code. They show that the system is run down and dragged out. Nature's medicine for this is Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills—they benefit the entire system, brace the nerves, and brighten the brain, curing nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness and palpitation of the heart, etc.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure should be kept in every home; if used rightly would save a world of trouble.

THE RANKIN TRAGEDY.

Story of the Defence—Mrs. Stephens Says He Purposely Blocked the Highway to Obstruct Her.

Bracebridge, Jan. 4.—(Telegram Report.)—The following is the defence side of the story in the Rankin tragedy:

On the morning of the 21st inst. Mrs. Stephens and her son drove to Yearley's and did business in Mr. Clark's store. On their way home they found the road blocked by the team and sleigh of the late James Rankin. He had taken a position between two piles of bark, one on either side of the road. It was impossible to pass, nor would Rankin move out of the way. It is said, furthermore, that he intended leaving his sleigh loaded with bark until the next morning. Mrs. Stephens was told to find her way home by another road. This would have been difficult to do. At this place she was not more than 300 yards from her own house.

She flatly denies that she sent the boy for the gun, but says that another one of her boys, hearing the quarreling, brought the gun. The boy who did the shooting says that deceased attempted to strike him with an ax, and that he did the shooting in self-defence. In the scrap Rankin got Mrs. Stephens' hat and handkerchief, in which were tax receipts and five cents. Most likely the defence will put in the plea that he robbed her. The defence also say that Rankin knew Mrs. Stephens had gone out on this road and purposely blocked the road to prevent her getting home.

Chief Constable McKinnon, of Huntsville, brought the accused to the jail here. Mrs. Stephens has an infant with her, and leaves several small children at home in an almost destitute condition. Application will be made by a petition from people of Stisted to the Attorney-General to get her out on bail.

It is said that every person in the township, except Mrs. Stephens' father and mother, would sign a petition for her release, not especially because of their respect for her, but because of their intense dislike for Rankin.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was picked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then comes the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

Yellow Skin and Eyes.

Biliousness causes yellow skin and eyes, tired, weary, sluggish feeling, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters cleanses the blood and regulates the liver, curing all its diseases: "From a child I suffered from biliousness and headache, and all the money I spent for medicine brought me no relief. Four bottles of B. B. B. cured me completely, however, and I gladly recommend it."

The Opening Ball

$56,000 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS

TO BE SOLD FOR $38.000.!

We're booked for a lively time on this, the opening month of 1898. Weeks and weeks ago, before the holiday trade had fairly begun, we arranged for collecting goods for a very special occasion during January, 1898. The extent of that preparation is shown to-day in the vast quantities of WINTER CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS, at prices below the market, and with such facilities for quick selling as have never before been equalled. We believe there is plenty of business to be got even in midwinter? Every live clothing dealer knows that the thermometer is a livelier salesman than any other that can be employed. People wont buy until the time comes, and that means until the weather is right. Besides, half the people wear last year's winter garments until January bargain time comes. Acting on that principle this store has been busy every January for years.

COLD WEATHER IS A GREAT BOOMER!

With such prices as we now quote, we expect to surprise those who have been "playing a waiting game," as well as those who will take the trouble to see the goods and the value they represent. What we emphasize now is NEW GOODS, NEW STYLES AND NEW PRICES. It is important that you remember that. Buying as we do in great quantities and selling for Cash, have reduced the cost so materially that shoppers can't help but wonder where our profit comes from.

WE Buy for Cash, Sell for Cash; Buy Low, Sell Low—Because we know how to.

Wide awake waiters, and people on the lookout for January Snaps, have a chance now, the like of which can't be got anywhere else but at this Big Store.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a head of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them? for $80.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Cheap Prices.

DEATH ROLL IS 23.

Over 100 Others Injured in London's Disaster.

THE LATEST LIST OF THE DEAD

Tragic Death of the Father of Ald. McPhillips—The Council Organizes Efficient Aid for the Distressed—An Inquest Opened—Messages of Sympathy and Offers of Help.

London, Jan. 5.—Yesterday's revision of the death roll in the terrible accident in London resulted in several changes, which, in the aggregate, have happily reduced the total, which now stands at 23; there are, however, some half dozen victims so severely injured that the physicians have but little hope of their recovery. The only name added is that of John Fortner, who was not identified until yesterday morning.

From all sections of the country came messages of sympathy, showing how deeply the calamity had touched the hearts of the people of Canada.

Upon the streets the disaster was the sole topic of conversation. The cause for it was earnestly discussed by the citizens and had it been shown that faults of construction could be brought home to anyone, the excited people might have been led to add one more victim to the gruesome list. So many had been injured that nearly every household had a relative or intimate friend who had suffered, and bitter words of condemnation were on every lip. When it was made known that the portion of the hall which had given way had stood for years, the note of vengeance was changed to one of sympathy for the afflicted. From nearly every city and town in Canada, and from many prominent men, came messages offering financial relief if such were needed.

A special meeting of the City Council was called this morning, and committees were appointed to investigate and report upon any cases in which assistance was needed. In the afternoon the committees met and reported that several cases of extreme destitution were found, and it was decided to at once take steps for relief.

The members of the Council decided that no list of those on whom the heavy hand of sorrow had fallen, adding pecuniary troubles to their great loss, should be made public, but that the Mayor and aldermen should see that each case should be immediately relieved without informing the recipients from whom the aid was coming.

Mayor Little to a reporter said that London could take care of all who were in want, and would not put forth any plea for aid to any other city. "We will take care of our own, and, although the City Council may not have power to spend any money, we will see that no one shall suffer. I will personally see that everything will be done to render all help possible to those who may be in need."

The Mayor's public-spirited utterances found ready response, and on all sides there was an immediate endorsation of the decision not to establish any public relief fund, or invite help from other cities.

Coroner's Inquest.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Coroner J. H. Flock empanelled a jury, which viewed the body of W. H. Dell and visited the scene of the accident. The proceedings were merely formal, and the sitting of the jury will commence on Friday. It is expected that a host of expert testimony will be called, as should it be shown that the city was in any way deficient in its duty, or that the hall was known to be unsafe, there is no doubt that claims for damages, aggregating many hundreds of thousands of dollars, will be filed.

Another death, which, although not directly brought about by the accident itself, and one which will be deeply deplored, was that of Mr. Patrick McPhillips, sr., of 510 Princess avenue. Mr. McPhillips was one of London's best known citizens, and had reached the ripe age of 89. His son Patrick, a barrister, had been triumphantly returned at the head of the poll as alderman for No. 1 Ward, and was one of those upon the platform when the floor gave way, but luckily escaped unhurt. The shock of the news of the calamity was too much for the old gentleman, and he expired suddenly at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

The funerals will be of a private character.

The Corrected List Gives This as the Number of Persons Were Killed in the Accident.

Contracts for Military Supplies Awarded—Canadian-Made Paper in Great Britain—Other Notes.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—Postmaster-General Mulock returned to the city yesterday.

Immigration Agents Appointed.

Mr. Sifton has appointed the following immigration agents to work in a few of the Western States during the next three months: C. W. Speers, of Griswold, to Nebraska; J. S. Crerar, of Yorkton, to Iowa; L. Rankin, of Regina, to Kansas; Wendelino, of Winnipeg, to North Dakota; D. A. McEwan, of Estervan, to South Dakota; J. Sutter, of Edmonton, to Illinois; Mr. Braum, to Minnesota.

Canadian-Made Paper in Britain.

Mr. George Mawson, a London, England, paper dealer, is in the city, bearing letters of introduction to Sir Richard Cartwright and other Ministers from Lord Strathcona. The object of his visit is to work up an export paper trade in Canadian paper to England. He points out that as Canada is exporting considerable pulp to England at present, there is no reason whatever why the manufactured article should not find a ready market over there. As between pulp and paper there would be an actual saving in freight, owing to the absence of moisture in paper as compared with pulp. At the price at which newspaper paper is selling in England to-day, a fraction over a penny a pound, Mr. Parmalee, the Deputy Minister of Trade, is dubious about Canadian paper finding a lucrative market there.

Registration of Cheese Factories.

Last session an Act was passed to provide for the registration of cheese factories and creameries and for the branding of dairy products. It will come into force next season. Although the Act is permissive and not obligatory, already 379 factories have taken out certificates of registration, which will protect them against the sale of inferior products.

Contracts Awarded.

The contracts for supplies for the permanent military corps throughout the Dominion have been awarded, among them the following: London—William Isaac, meat; John Diprose, bread; John Lawson, potatoes and groceries; William Percival, forage and straw for men; Wm. Stevely & Son, cleaning stoves and furnishing stoves and stovepipes.

Toronto—Geo. Garner, meat; W. Carlyle, bread; Wm. MacKerrow, potatoes and groceries; Moses Hunter, forage and straw; Wm. H. Lake, coal oil, cleaning stoves and furnishing stovepipes; M. Bryan, cleaning chimneys.

Kingston—Michael Walsh, meat; J. R. Carnovsky, bread; J. S. Henderson, potatoes and groceries; C. Donoghue, forage and straw for men; Chas. D. Chown, cleaning and putting up and furnishing stovepipes, coal oil.

Duncan Byron MacTavish, Q.C., was sworn in this morning as Senior Judge of the County of Carleton by Judge Ross. Afterwards Judge MacTavish presided at chambers.

Commissioner Sheppard.

Mr. E. E. Sheppard, Canadian Trade Commissioner to South America, writes the Trade and Commerce Department that he will be in Victoria about the middle of this month. He was then in Guatemala, and proposed returning by the west coast.

THE TENDER SYSTEM

Opposition Amendment Favoring Its Adoption.

IT IS REJECTED BY THE HOUSE.

A Bill Modifying the Powers of Division Court Judges—To Prevent Gambling—Small Jails to go—To Protect Children—No More Gratuities—New Notices of Motions.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Not more than one-half the members of the Legislature were in their places when the Speaker took his chair yesterday afternoon. The Government is rushing business just the same, however, and there is every prospect at present the House will prorogue not later than January 20. The Government introduced three bills of minor importance yesterday, to which the Opposition will take no objection. There seems to be no legislation before the House that will cause a delay in prorogation beyond the actual routine work before they can become law. There has been no spirit or fight left in Mr. Whitney and the other members of the Opposition since the Premier announced his timber policy. The timber bill seemed to take the wind completely out of the Opposition sails and all seem anxious now to get through the business and get home.

The Timber Commission.

The report of the special committee to consider the best means of preserving the timber wealth of the province was presented to the Legislature yesterday. After setting forth their reasons very voluminously the members advised as follows:

1. The present system of fire-ranging should be not optional but compulsory with all holders of timber berths.

2. That the officials of the Hudson Bay Co. be asked to co-operate with the Government in preparing and printing fire proclamations in the languages of the Indians of the northern districts.

3. For all unworked limits on which the ground rent shall be two years in default on the termination of the present license year, the license shall not be renewed.

4. That license holders be not allowed to cut any trees for logs smaller than will measure 12 inches. The limit now is 9 inches.

5. A system of reforestry similar to that already introduced by the Government.

Reducing Judges' Powers.

Hon. Mr. Hardy moved the second reading of his bill relating to judgment summonses and other matters. The bill forbids Division Court judges to issue injunctions. He said also that the bill passed last session permitting suit to be brought for interest only on overdue mortgages had been used to send people to jail on judgment summonses. This bill would prohibit such proceedings in such cases. Messrs. St. John, Willoughby and other members of the Opposition gave the bill a hearty support.

Mr. Garrow spoke strongly in favor of passing a bill which would not permit imprisonment in any form for non-payment of debt. He said at present the law did not permit imprisonment for debt, but placing a man in jail for contempt in the Division Court amounted practically to the same thing. The bill received its second reading.

To Prevent Gambling.

There was considerable discussion when Mr. Dryden's bill to prevent gambling and games of chance at agricultural exhibitions came before the House in the committee stage. Mr. German was of opinion the law would not be enforced should the bill pass, and therefore discredit would fall upon the law. Many other members supported his view, but the great majority did not think the bill strong enough. Mr. Haycock said he would like to see a punishment provided for the directors of fairs where gambling was permitted. The bill passed without amendment.

Small Jails to Go.

Hon. Mr. Hardy introduced a bill respecting county jails, which provides that in cases where the number of prisoners do not exceed three per day for two years an arrangement may be made with the neighboring jail to take charge of such prisoners, and abolishing the local jail. The bill also provides that when a vacancy occurs in the office of jailer the office may be abolished and the sheriff act, if suitable arrangements can be made between the sheriff and the council.

To Protect Children.

Hon. Mr. Davis introduced a bill respecting maternity boarding houses and the protection of infants. The bill transfers the powers over such matters, now vested in local boards of health, to the local medical health officer, and provides that the support of children who come from such institutions shall be a tax upon the municipality where the parents reside.

No More Gratuities.

Hon. Mr. Hardy introduced a bill which provides that in future anyone entering the service of the province shall not upon retiring receive superannuation, nor shall their families receive a gratuity in case of their death.

The Tender System.

Mr. Crawford moved a resolution declaring that supplies should be purchased by the Government for public institutions only by tender. He said the tender system was the most economical and best. It had been adopted by municipal corporations and after years of experience it had been pronounced the best. He admitted the Government had already adopted the system to some extent, but urged them to purchase in no other way. He would not say it would be practical to purchase small items in this way, but the Opposi-

When these were distributed the company spent the rest of the evening in social chat, games and amusements.

REHEARSES THE FINAL SCENE.

Men the Murderer of Blanche Lamont Passes His Last Days on Earth.

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Jan. 5.—Theodore Durrant has rehearsed the scene of his own death. At his own request, made absolutely without emotion, he has been told every incident that will mark the minutes of his last hours of life. A book and several papers on religious subjects were received at the prison yesterday for Durrant. They were offerings from a woman who now resides in Toronto, Ont. She was a resident of San Francisco three years ago, and has displayed an interest in Durrant's affairs since his arrest for the murder of Blanche Lamont.

Durrant may invite five of the 150 people who will be present, but as Warden Hale will revise the list it is unlikely that any of his attorneys will be seen beside the gallows.

The condemned man has made the following requests concerning his execution:

First—That the rope used to hang him shall be destroyed immediately after his death, so that no person can say that he holds a piece of it as a memento.

Second—That none of the spectators shall be allowed to gaze upon his features after he is executed.

Third—That no autopsy shall be held after death, and that no physician be allowed to examine his body.

Fourth—That after he is pronounced dead his remains shall be delivered to his parents as soon as possible.

The father of Durrant has received from Meridan, Texas, a document which purports to be the original alleged confession of Joseph E. Blanther to the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams. It will be used in the final effort to secure a stay of execution.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Contrary to general expectations, the attorneys for W. H. T. Durrant, the condemned murderer of Blanche Lamont, did not appear in the Federal Court yesterday to renew their efforts to secure a stay of execution on behalf of their client. This action led to a rumor to the effect that they had abandoned all further hope of saving Durrant's neck, but this they deny.

Instant Death on the Track.

Blenheim, Ont., Jan. 5. — A man named Ingram was struck by the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad train last night near Wilkie and instantly killed. Deceased was walking on the track and paid no attention to the repeated warning signals. The body was brought to Blenheim and an inquest will be held to-day.

The News Broken to Her.

Cayuga, Ont., Jan. 5.—The news was broken to Mrs. Sternaman yesterday by her spiritual adviser, Rev. J. C. Foote, a Methodist minister of this village, that the decision of the Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall yesterday would not allow her a new trial. On hearing the news she wept silently.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodds Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is babbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

THE TENDER SYSTEM.

tion would like to see the bulk purchased in this way.

Hon. Mr. Davis said there was no cry for this movement in the country. (Hear, hear.) It was a matter that was brought up in the House every session and yet it received no support in the country. He was glad the Opposition had at last admitted that most of the supplies were now purchased by tender. It resolved itself simply into what should be the dividing line between what should be purchased by tender and what should not. The Government at present was purchasing by tender in all cases where supplies could be secured to advantage in this way, but no business man would say that it would be practicable to go farther than the Government was already doing. The country wished the Government to buy by tender when it paid to do so, and to buy in the open market when it would be more advantageous to do so. He read from the public accounts to show that in many instances supplies purchased by tender had cost more than when the same articles such as meat had been purchased in the open market. The county councils, school boards and other bodies purchased in the same way as had been adopted by the Government. At present some $200,000 worth of supplies were purchased by tender, while those purchased in the open market amounted only to $68,000. (Cheers.)

Mr. Marter took issue with the Government and claimed that at least $300,000 worth of goods were purchased in the open market yearly. He pointed out that the Dominion Auditor-General advised that all articles when practicable should be purchased by tender.

Mr. Haycock thought it would not be practicable to purchase all supplies by tender, yet he thought the Government could adopt the tender system to a greater extent than at present.

Mr. Middleton said it would be impossible to purchase by tender to adavntage except in standard or graded goods. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Whitney said the speech of the Provincial Treasurer was quite stolen from the arguments of the Opposition. (Laughter.) He had read from reports showing that under the tender system of Ontario supplies were purchased at a less cost than in similar institutions in other places in the open market. Why, then, did not the Government purchase all their supplies in this way. He denied that the Government purchased a large proportion of their supplies by tender, and stated the Government was attempting to deceive the public when they so stated.

The resolution was negatived on division by 86 to 48.

Also, that the action of the Government in refusing to grant the Canadian Niagara Power Company an extension of its franchises meets with the approval of this House; and that no consideration of rental or revenue for park purposes should restrain the Government from holding that company to a strict compliance with the terms of its contract with the Park Commissioners, or from terminating the same for non-compliance with its terms.

How Elizabeth Was Dressed.

Queen Elizabeth's love of sumptuous apparel indeed grew with her years and the leading fashions of the courts of Europe furnished her with designs for new dresses, which she would continually cast aside for others such as her fancy might suggest. On all occasions she dressed in the richest costumes, adorned with brilliants, precious stones and jewelry of the rarest workmanship. Even in her old age she continued to dress like a young girl, afraid of nothing so much as of being thought old. "Upon the subject of her personal beauty she would smilingly accept the most extravagant flattery," says Carte, "however fulsome it appeared to everybody else." When Paul Hentzner saw her, she was in her sixty-seventh year. Being a German, he observed her with an eye wholly unclouded by any sense of reverence for the divinity which hedges round a monarch. Indeed he was so ungallant as to jot down in his notebook that Queen Elizabeth wore a wig, and that red! He goes on to remark that she had in her ears two pearls with very rich drops and that the bosom was uncovered.

She was dressed in white silk bordered with pearls of the size of beans, and over it a mantle of black silk, shot with silver threads. Instead of a chain she had on an oblong collar of gold and jewels. He adds that "wherever she turned her face every one fell upon his knees"—an act of homage which on state occasions had been paid to her father, and Elizabeth never forgot or allowed others to forget that she was the daughter of Henry VIII.—Nineteenth Century.

INCREASED WHEAT AREA.

The Special Crop Report of the New York Journal of Commerce on the Crop Outlook.

New York, Jan. 5.—The special crop report of the New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin says:

Final returns make the area of winter wheat 26,663,000, as compared with 25,930,000 acres harvested last year, an increase of 11.4 per cent. The increase on the Pacific coast, that is, in California, Oregon and Washington, is 4.5 per cent., the approximate acreage being 3,969,000, as against 3,798,000 acres last year. There has been a material increase in wheat seeding in the Southern States, due to the low price of cotton. Favorable weather during December improved the condition of wheat. The present average is 87.8 per cent., as against 84.1 per cent. last month.

In the six principal States east of the Rocky Mountains the improvement has been more noticeable. The condition is now 84.8 per cent., as compared with 79.5 per cent., Dec. 1. According to the January returns there are 240,000 bushels of wheat held on farms, which is 41.5 per cent. of last year's production. On the corresponding date last year there were held in the same position 190,000,000 bushels.

Of this total, the six principal winter wheat States east of the Rocky Mountains have 83,000,000 bushels, or 44.4 per cent. of the last crop; Minnesota and the Dakotas 79,000,000 bushels, or 41 per cent., and the Pacific Coast 30,000,000 bushels, or 38.9 per cent.

Present estimated supply of wheat in all positions 315,000,000 bushels. Domestic requirements for bread to next July 150,000,000 bushels, and for spring seeding, say 20,000,000 bushels more, in all, 170,000,000 bushels, leaving a surplus for export during the ensuing six months and for home reserves at the end of June of 145,000,000 bushels.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Thus, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

CHINA'S NEW LOAN.

Paris and St. Petersburg Cannot Raise the Money.

IT IS NOW OFFERED IN LONDO

The Times Denies That Britain Has Any Intention of Demanding Territory or Taking the Lead in the Partition of China—Aims to Extend Trade Under the Empire.

Berlin, Jan. 5.—The Cologne Gazette, on authority from the best-informed quarters in Paris, announces that since Thursday last important negotiations have been proceeding in London for a Chinese loan, the attempts made in Paris and St. Petersburg to arrange a loan having failed. China thereupon offered to contract for £16,000,000 in London, at the same time asking the good offices of the British Government.

China, it appears, contemplates offering as security the land tax, under the control of Englishmen, and that, furthermore, an Englishman shall succeed Sir Robert Hart as director of the Chinese Imperial Maritime customs. In addition, Great Britain will insist upon a concession of territory, relative to which secrecy, according to the informant of the Cologne Gazette, must be temporarily observed.

The Cologne Gazette adds that it is understood Russia has renewed her offer to China to conclude a loan in Germany on more favorable terms than are obtainable in Paris or London.

BRITAIN'S POLICY.

Old England Has no Intention to Demand Territory From China, But the Very Reverse.

London, Jan. 5.—The Times, commenting editorially this morning upon the statement of the Cologne Gazette, that since Thursday last negotiations have been proceeding in London for a Chinese loan, upon the proposed security of the land tax and a cession of territory, denies that England has any intention to demand territory or to take the lead in the partition of China. It says:

"England's policy, on the contrary, aims at maintaining the Chinese Empire as a going concern and a vast field for the extension of trade. In pursuing this policy we are glad to note that England enjoys the powerful support of the United States Government, as well as the public opinion of that portion of the American people which is not swayed by blind jingo denunciations."

The editorial considers the Government would be justified even in incurring "reasonable financial risks, which might formerly be properly regarded as outside the scope of Government action," in order to combat "measures restrictive of traded which Russia and Germany are seeking to obtain from China in the shape of railway and mining monopolies and the like."

The Chinese Loan.

London, Jan. 5.—The Evening News says it is reported in the city that the negotiations for a Chinese loan of £16,000,000, guaranteed by the British Government, are practically concluded.

HOSTILITIES ARE FEARED.

The Offending Commandant Has Not Been Recalled—Waiting for Prince Henry.

Pekin, Jan. 5.—The Ministers and the Tsungli-Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office) spent the whole of one night in discussing the disposition of the Chinese commandant of Tsao-Chou, province of Shan-Tung, who is accused of having used threatening language to a German missionary. The commandant has not been summoned to Pekin for examination, as previously cabled, the difficulty having been smoothed over. The general situation remains unchanged.

Hostilities are feared. The German Minister, Baron Von Heyking, is understood to be temporizing until the arrival in China of Prince Henry of Prussia.

Movements of British Warships.

Hong Kong, Jan. 5.—The British cruiser Edgar has arrived here and the British cruiser Grafton has sailed northward.

The bulk of the British fleet is reported to be at Chemulpo, near Ning-Po.

Death of Mrs. McLaren.

Hamilton, Jan. 4.—Mrs. McLaren, mother of Colonel McLaren, commanding the XIII., and one of the most estimable ladies in the city, died last night, aged 76.

Mrs. Georgina Scott, the colored woman who was so badly burned by the upsetting of a lamp a month ago, died yesterday morning at the city hospital.

Was Curley Murdered?

Toronto Junction, Jan. 4.—The inquest into the cause of the death of Joseph Curley, who was found dead in the Keele street subway last Thursday, was resumed last night. The facts so far elicited by the evidence go to show that death must have been instantaneous, but no direct evidence as to the cause has so far been discovered. The inquest stands adjourned till next Thursday.

Miss Willard Fainted.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 4.—Francis E. Willard, President of the National W. C. T.U., fainted last night at the close of her lecture on "A White Life for Two," which she delivered in the Congregational church. A physician was summoned, but it was some time before she recovered sufficiently to be removed to the home of her cousin, Willard Robinson.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD.

This Time Norway and Sweeden Are Involved in Probabilities.

Christiana, Norway, Jan. 4.—The bellicose spirit has been revived here by the Verdensgang, the organ of the party of the Left, publishing a report upon alleged clandestine inquiries made in August by Swedish officers regarding several Norwegian fortresses. The publication has caused a sensation in both countries.

Influential Swedish newspapers indulge in war threats. Coincident with these threats is the establishment of great Swedish depots for war munitions at Osterund, on the Norwegian frontier. The indignation in Norway has been increased by this action on the part of Sweden.

France Claims Clapperton Island.

Paris, Jan. 5.—The Libre asserts that Clapperton Island, over which the Mexican flag is reported to have been hoisted by marines from the gunboat Democrate, after the Stars and Stripes had been hauled down, really belongs to France, and adds:

"Naturally, the Americans have asked for the protection of their Government; but it is France's duty to re-establish order in that island, adjudicate between the Americans and Mexicans and demonstrate our own rights, which have never been contested."

Pope's Intervention Solicited.

Rome, Jan. 5.—It appears that Mgr. Anser, Bishop of the Province of Shan-Tung, China, in his recent visit to the Pope, not only discussed the developments in China, but had an unofficial mission from Emperor William to enlist the aid of the Pope on behalf of the naval bill, and it is affirmed that the Pope, while refusing to intervene directly in German politics, promised to use his influence indirectly with the Centre (Catholic party in the Reichstag) in support of the naval bill, having in view the interest of German Catholics in China.

Gen. Blanco to Take the Field.

Havana, Jan. 4.—La Discussion says that General Blanco will take the field within the next fortnight and proceed to Eastern Cuba. During his absence from Havana Senor Calves, Premier of the new Colonial Cabinet, will assume control of the Government of the island.

Philippines Cheered for Spain.

Madrid, Jan. 4.—An official despatch from Manilla, capital of the Philippine Islands, announces that the Spanish flag has been hoisted at Camocrent and Riscubato. It is added that the insurgents rendered military honors and cheered for Spain.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble — both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung,' says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont.; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

The Funeral of the Late Mr. Rundle

The funeral of the late Arthur L. Rundle took place on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, Park street. Rev. Mr. Shorey conducted a most impressive service at the residence in the presence of the family and friends, after which the members of Court Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, of which the deceased was a very active member, took a farewell look at their dead brother, and afterwards conducted the funeral to the cemetery. The pall bearers were Bros. W. H. Isaac, Thos. Drew, Ezra Goode, H. Evans, Robert Morrison and J. Montgomery. At the grave Rev. Mr. Shorey offered prayer, after which Mr. E. A. Kemp, D. D. H. C. R., officiated for the Foresters and delivered the funeral address over the grave, Bro. Rev. Mr. Armitage acting as chaplain. Expressions of sympathy were shown in an impressive and marked manner. The Foresters placed a handsome floral wreath on the coffin bearing the letters "C.O.F." and the Masonic fraternity of Peterborough sent a very appropriate floral contribution with the emblems of their order destined in flowers of contrasting shades.

On motion of Messrs. Burnham and McKee, the statements were received and the town treasurer notified to pay over to the board the sum required in such amounts monthly as needed to meet the expenses of the schools.

Dr. Burnham mentioned the fact that one of the pupils at the Collegiate Institute had recently fallen and injured himself in descending the stairs into the basement, where there was no light. He asked that the Property Committee be authorized to place a light at the foot of the steps.

Mr. McBain stated that there was a light there, but that it might have not been lit at the time of the accident.

The Property Committee will see that the place is lit hereafter.

The Board resolved itself into Committee of the Whole and resolved to lay the application of Messrs. Gillespie and Simpson on the table for the present and to grant Miss Smith the leave of absence which she requested. Miss N. Hall was appointed to fill Miss Smith's position in her absence.

Dr. Burnham and Mr. Hill moved that the Kindergartens be placed under the immediate control of the Inspector as the other schools.—Carried.

Mr. McCreary's resignation was accepted and the committee in appointment will make a suitable acknowledgement of his long and valued services.

A SWEET TOOTH.

A Thief Steals a "Cent in the Slot" Gum Box From Maybee's Restaurant.

Last evening as Nightwatchman James Gordon was going his rounds he noticed fresh footprints in the snow in the alleyway leading from Brock street south, between Water and George streets.

As it was then a quarter to eleven he thought the circumstances suspicious and traced the footmarks down the alley until he came to a rifled "cent in the slot" gum box which he ascertained had been removed from in front of Maybee's restaurant on George street and which had not been missed until its recovery was reported.

What money was in the box and gum had been removed.

By the irregularity of the footprints Mr. Gordon came to the conclusion that the thief was drunk. He traced the marks down the alley and out on Water street. The baldness of the action in taking the box from as conspicuous a position would confirm the belief that it was the act of a drunken man.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

A Young Man Given Fifteen Days in Gaol for Ill-using a Horse.

Magistrate Dumble imposed a sentence of fifteen days in gaol, this morning, on a young man who hired a horse the other day and drove it from 8.30 o'clock in the morning until 10 p.m. The animal was brought back to the livery stable from which it was hired, bleeding in several places from the punishment which had been inflicted on it with a whip. The option of a fine was not allowed, as it was resolved to make an example to deter others from indulging in like practices with hired horses.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

A Small Blaze in Mrs. Warrington's Residence.

Between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon the alarm summoned the brigade to the residence of Mrs. Warrington on the Baptist church property, Murray street.

Mrs. Warrington was out at the time, and some wood behind the stove took fire and burned a hole through the floor. The damage was slight, owing to the prompt response of the fire laddies.

Linseed and Turpentine are not only popular remedies, but are also the best known to medical science for the treatment of the nervous membranes of respiratory organs. Dr. Chase compounded this valuable Syrup so as to take away the unpleasant tastes of turpentine and linseed.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Electors of Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I wish to take this opportunity of most cordially thanking the electors of the town of Peterborough generally for the very liberal support given to place me in the honourable and responsible position of Mayor of the town for the year 1898. I shall do all in my power to guard, foster and promote the interests of the town.

I would also thank my many friends who rendered such active and effective assistance in successfully promoting my candidature.

I respect the motives of those who felt it their duty to oppose me, but, regarding myself as representative of the entire body of the electorate, it shall be my earnest endeavour to mete out even-handed justice to every class and interest of the community, irrespective of considerations of opposition or support.

I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,

A. L. DAVIS.

LeGARE ARRESTED.

He Was Caught in Quebec and Will be Brought Here for Trial.

Shortly before Christmas a traveller for a Quebec shoe firm, named D. LeGare, borrowed a coat and pair of gauntlets from Mr. George Graham, of the Oriental hotel, and decamped without returning them.

The case was placed in the hands of the police and the chief telegraphed to the police department at Quebec. Receiving no answer he conducted inquiries as to the man's whereabouts and ascertained that he had lost his position. Finding out where he was living in Quebec, he sent his address to the Chief of Police in that city and asked for his arrest.

This morning a telegram was received stating that LeGare had been secured. Chief Bossel leaves for Quebec on the next train for the prisoner.

CATHOLIC LITERARY ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINMENT.

The Membership Contest Decided and a Good Programme Presented.

The entertainment in the Catholic Association rooms last evening was somewhat different from the past entertainments, and could really be termed a night of fun, as those who were present laughed to their heart's content at the humourous numbers on the programme.

The entertainment opened with a brilliant pianoforte duet by the Misses Doris, two clever young pianistes.

The Association Glee Club then contributed a catchy chorus, which was followed by a sand jig by that clever dancer, Mr. S. Houlihan, who was forced to respond to an encore.

Mr. Frank Dwyer's sweetly sung solo was well received, and closed the first part of the programme.

Then came a two-act dialogue, "The Too Good-Looking Man," which created no end of amusement. Mr. Dick Simons took the part of the much-loved young man, and created no end of fun. Miss Nellie Lane and Miss E. Loftus, the rival sweethearts, acted their part to perfection, and that is saying a great deal. Their portrayal of the characters assigned to them was natural, and they well deserve the applause they received. Mr. L. J. Picard, the obliging photographer, conducted his role in an able manner indeed, as did also his assistant, Mr. John Hanrahan. This number was one which caused no end of amusement.

At this juncture the President announced the result of the membership contest, which was started some weeks ago. Mr. Jas. Lonergan was the winner of the first prize, and Mr. Harry Burns captured the second. Both young gentlemen on receiving their prizes briefly thanked the donors as well as the Association. As a result of this contest the membership has largely increased.

After another chorus by the Glee Club, the screaming farce "Razor Jim," was put on, and for about twenty minutes the audience enjoyed a hearty laugh. Of course Dick Simons was Razor Jim, and he was simply too funny for anything. Mr. F. Quinlan made a capital Mr. Jones, and Mr. Jas. Wyer as Sarah Bernhardt, filled the bill exactly. His make-up was an excellent one, and together with the other characters named, acted his part in a perfect manner. Mr. T. J. Begley took the part of Edwin Booth.

The accompanists during the evening were Misses M. McCabe and M. Begley, and Messrs. J. A. Henderson and T. Mahony.

The Baby Boy Covered with Eczema and Cured By Dr. Chase.

Mr. Jas. Brown of Molesworth, Ont., tells how her boy (eight months old) was cured of torturing Eczema. Mothers whose children are afflicted can write her regarding the great cure, Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her child was afflicted from birth and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE JOHN BURNHAM.

Resolution of Condolence—Mr. J. M. Drummond Appointed Nominating Officer.

Yesterday a special meeting of the County Council was held, for the purpose of appointing a nominating officer to act in the election to fill the vacancy in the County Council caused by the lamented death of Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., one of the representatives of the Otonabee Division in the council.

The members present were Mr. Warden Anderson in the chair and Messrs. Middleton, Fitzgerald, Casement, Shaw, Eastland, Brown and Pearce.

THE LATE MR. BURNHAM.

The Warden, Mr. Anderson, in briefly addressing the Council, deeply deplored the sad occasion that brought them together. It was to be deeply regretted that the council had to act on account of the sad death of Mr. Burnham, one of the oldest members of the Council. Since last election two members of the council had been removed by death. In a council of ten two of their most esteemed and ablest members had passed away. He felt that in the matter of special ability the council had lost more than half. He suggested the propriety of the council drafting a resolution of condolence.

Mr. [illegible] Pearce in rising to move a resolution, referred in moving terms to the great loss the council had sustained. Mr. Burnham as a councillor was a model that that they could profitably follow. The loss sustained by his death was great and a resolution of condolence was indeed timely. He then moved

That this council most fully concur with the remarks of the Warden and deeply deplore the irreparable loss, not only to this council, but to the whole community at large, sustained by the death of our esteemed colleague, the late John Burnham, Q. C., member of the Otonabee County Council Division, who proved himself a man much above the ordinary abilities, and whose worth we so much appreciated, and that the Warden and Messrs. Casement, Pearce, Brown and Middleton be a special committee to draft a memorial expressive of the council's sympathy with the widow and family of the deceased.

TRIBUTES FROM HIS COLLEAGUES.

Mr. Casement, speaking to the resolution, endorsed heartily with what had been said in praise of the late Mr. Burnham. He had sat at the same desk in the council with Mr. Burnham for ten years and could not find words to express his feelings in reference to him as he desired. Mr. Burnham had set an example that all could profitably follow. He closed with a reference to Mr. Burnham's fairness of character. In every question that called for thought Mr. Burnham could be relied upon.

Mr. Middleton referred to his personal experience with Mr. Burnham since he came into the council; he had found him a true friend. The more he knew of him, the more highly he thought of him. He had always found him open and companionable. His place if filled in many years would be hard to fill.

Mr. Brown, of Belmont, felt the loss of Mr Burnham very deeply. He was a member of the council in 1869, when an address accompanied by a valuable souvenir, had been presented to Mr. Burnham by the late Michael Sanderson, thanking the former for his valuable services in the past, and since then Mr. Burnham's services had been equally valuable. In Mr. Burnham's death the council had lost one of its ablest members.

Mr. Shaw agreed with the eulogistic remarks that had been made. Mr. Burnham's death was a loss to the council, as a body, individually and to the community, and his place would be hard to fill.

Mr. Fitzgerald, though a new member of the council, paid a warm tribute to Mr. Burnham's good qualities as a councillor and as a man.

Mr. Eastland endorsed all that had been said. The council had indeed lost an able and much respected member.

NOMINATING OFFICER APPOINTED.

A bylaw introduced by Mr. Middleton, was duly passed, appointing Mr. J. M. Drummond nominating officer for the bye election in the Otonabee Division.

The Opening Ball

$56,000 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS

TO BE SOLD FOR $38.000.!

We're booked for a lively time on this, the opening month of 1898. Weeks and weeks ago, before the holiday trade had fairly begun, we arranged for collecting goods for a very special occasion during January, 1898. The extent of that preparation is shown to-day in the vast quantities of WINTER CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS, at prices below the market, and with such facilities for quick selling as have never before been equalled. We believe there is plenty of business to be got even in midwinter. Every live clothing dealer knows that the thermometer is a livelier salesman than any other that can be employed. People wont buy until the time comes, and that means until the weather is right. Besides, half the people wear last year's winter garments until January bargain time comes. Acting on that principle this store has been busy every January for years.

COLD WEATHER IS A GREAT BOOMER!

With such prices as we now quote, we expect to surprise those who have been "playing a waiting game," as well as those who will take the trouble to see the goods and the value they represent. What we emphasize now is NEW GOODS, NEW STYLES AND NEW PRICES. It is important that you remember that. Buying as we do in great quantities and selling for Cash, have reduced the cost so materially that shoppers can't help but wonder where our profit comes from.

WE Buy for Cash, Sell for Cash; Buy Low, Sell Low—Because we know how to.

Wide awake waiters, and people on the lookout for January Snaps, have a chance now, the like of which can't be got anywhere else but at this Big Store.

Central Bridge and Engineering Co'y vs. Dominion Construction Co'y.

The action came on for trial yesterday in Toronto before Mr. Justice Rose. No evidence was taken, a verdict being entered by consent in favour of plaintiffs for $6,300.00. R. M. Dennistoun for plaintiffs. D'Arcy Tate for defendants.

The Central Bridge Co., of town, erected a highway bridge over the Des Jardins canal and T. H. & B. Railway at Hamilton during the past year. This is one of the largest and highest arch bridges in the country. It was built at a "pound" price and the Dominion Construction Co. who had the contract for building the T. H. & B. Railway complained that the bridge was too substantial and a better bridge than required by the specifications—in other words that it weighed too much.

The Central Bridge Co. entered suit for $17,000 and the case came up for trial at the sittings in November last, when it was adjourned for trial before Judge Rose in Toronto.

The case came on yesterday and before evidence was taken a settlement was arrived at, whereby the Central Bridge Co. receive $14,200.

A. Mercer

A baby is like crazy patchwork, composed of bits of its ancestors. All of them contribute something to baby's physical or mental or moral make-up. The mother gives the largest share. To a great extent the health of a child depends upon the health of the mother, both before and after birth.

If, during the period of expectancy, the mother enjoys good general and local health, she will have a child with a robust body, an alert brain and vigorous health. You cannot expect such a child from a weak, sickly, nervous, despondent woman, who is broken down by derangements and disease of the distinctly feminine organs. A woman in that condition is almost sure to have a puny, sickly, peevish baby. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best preparation for motherhood. It relieves maternity of its dangers, and of almost all its pain. It restores the delicate and important organs that bear the brunt of maternity to perfect health and strength, and assists the regular and healthful performance of all the natural functions. It banishes the ailments of the critical period, and makes baby's debut easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health. Thousands have testified to its merits. Good medicine dealers sell it, and no honest druggist will insult your intelligence by urging upon you something else as "just as good." The "just as good" kind is dear at any price.

Mrs. F. B. Cannings, of No. 4320 Humphrey Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I am now the happy mother of a fine, healthy baby girl. I feel that your 'Favorite Prescription' has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I took three bottles of the 'Prescription,' and the consequences were I was only in labor forty-five minutes. With my first baby I suffered eighteen hours, and then had to lose him."

KLONDIKE GOODS.

Satisfactory Arrangements Said to Have Been Made by Mr. Sifton—The U.S. Expedition.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Hon. Clifford Sifton states that a satisfactory arrangement has been arrived at in regard to goods entering the Yukon at Dyea and Skaguay. Bonding privileges will be granted the United States for similar privileges which have been conceded to Canada. Goods arriving at Dyea or Skaguay will be sent over the passes on a certificate, and the customs duties will be paid on reaching Canadian territory. It will not be necessary to pay customs officers to accompany the goods. Mr. Sifton has also arranged to send fifty Mounted Policemen along with the United States relief expedition whenever it is ready. It is expected that the expedition will leave early in February.

Instructions have been issued to city postmasters not to send to the dead-letter office any letters for points within the Empire which may be posted short of postage under Mr. Mulock's 3-cent-per-pound proposal. It is possible that some people may not have heard of the interference by the Colonial Office with the Postmaster-General's project. For the present, therefore, these short-paid letters will be sent forward to their destination, postmasters affixing the stamps necessary to give proper postage.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood, yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

CORONA'S RICH CARGO.

In Drafts, Gold Dust and Nuggets She Had $1,200,000.

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 4.—There was $697,500 in gold dust and nuggets on the steamer Corona, which has arrived from Alaska. One of the nuggets weighed as high as 15 ounces. From a careful estimate it is safe to say that in drafts and gold dust there was about $1,200,000 in wealth aboard the Corona.

Fifty to Seventy Below Zero.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 4.—The Klondikers that have arrived here on the steamer Corona from Skaguay and Dyea say the weather there is extremely cold, the thermometer ranging from 50 to 70 below. The ice alla long the river is piled up as high as 15 feet, and only the best dog teams can get over it. Many outfits which started down in boats were met along the river, frozen in, where they will have to remain until the ice goes out. A large party of Mounted Police, with 16 horses and 30 tons of provisions, were at Bennett's Lake on the way down to Big Salmon, where Major Walsh is waiting for them.

FIFTY YEARS AFLAME.

A Scottish Coal Mine That Has Been Burning Half a Century.

There is a coal mine in Scotland, located between the railway stations of Dalily and Kilkerran, that has been burning continuously for 50 years.

In the working of this mine, which produced a hard and dirty coal, the seam dipped suddenly, and the shaft communicating with the lower works was at a distance from the one which led up to the surface of the ground. A second engine became necessary, and it was placed at the head of the lower shaft. Half a century ago it had to be run by steam generated on the spot instead of by electricity generated elsewhere, as would be done now, and one day the coal in the neighborhood of the machinery, having become quite dry and inflammable, caught fire.

The engine man tried to put it out, but failed, and signaled to be brought to the surface, the other miners having knocked off work for the day. Ten minutes after he was on terra firma the fire had made such headway that the flames were roaring up the shaft and rising to a height of 50 feet in the air. It was, of course, impossible to put it out, and in time the fire gradually grew less, but it remained burning, and great fears were entertained lest it should communicate with other pits and even wreck the whole mining industry of the neighborhood.

An engineer who was sent for from London to endeavor to put out the fire bored holes in the neighborhood of the pit in order to pump in a gas which was inimical to the fire. This scheme, however, was a failure, and it was found that the fire was extending, for the trap dike, which had been cut in order to get into closer proximity to the fire, opened the way to the seam beyond, and it is this seam which has been burning ever since.

Thousands of pounds were spent in the endeavor to quench the fire and how many thousand pounds' worth of coal have been used it would be impossible to say.

Eight or ten years ago the fire came to the surface within a few yards of where the train went by, and, as may be imagined, nervous passengers were often alarmed at seeing the evidences of the fire and steam issuing from the bowels of the earth, for the pit seems to be the recipient of some little stream which the heat converts into steam, which rises from half a dozen jets in the most uncanny manner. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

A JOKE THAT FAILED.

Windust's Facetious Suggestion Acted Upon to His Detriment.

Back in the early sixties, and for many years before and some years afterward, Edward Windust kept a most popular restaurant at 18 Park row. He was a peculiar man in many respects, and in none so much as stickling for absolute purity in everything he put upon the tables for his guests, among whom were most of the celebrities of the day. Windust was always affable and good natured and dearly loved any kind of an innocent joke. Every morning he took a big basket on his arm and trotted down to Washington or Fulton market to order supplies for the day, some of the choicest of which he carried back in his basket. The dealers in both markets knew him and were anxious to sell to him, because they knew that he would pay good prices for the best of stuff. One old woman in Fulton market supplied him with horse radish for many years and for a short time after he sprung what he thought was a joke on her. He said to her one morning: "Aunty, it seems to me that your horse radish is not as strong as it used to be. Are you sure you are not adulterating it with something?"

"Indeed I am not. What would I use to adulterate horse radish I'd like to know?"

"I don't know, but I began to suspect that you were mixing ground turnips with it," said Windust.

"Sure, I never thought of such a thing," the woman answered.

Windust said many times afterward that he devoutly wished that he had never joked with the woman about the matter, for he was never able to get pure horse radish from her again and had to give up trading with her after 20 years of pleasant business relations.—New York Sun.

Water Our True Beverage.

"Water is really our only true beverage," Mrs. S. T. Rorer writes in her cooking lesson in The Ladies' Home Journal: "Forming, as it does, three-quarters of the weight of the human body, it is of the next importance to the air we breathe. Milk is a typical food, not a beverage, and should never be used as such. It is true that it contains a large amount of water, but only sufficient for its digestion.

"In a very short time the nonwater drinker becomes sallow, constipated and uncomfortable. The poison matter that should be dissolved by the free use of water and carried off in the circulation and through the excretory organs is held in the system; the body loses weight; the skin becomes dry and rough, losing its life and brilliancy. Three-quarters of the weight of the living body should be water. A large quantity of this water is taken in the form of green vegetables and fruits. A healthy person should drink at least 1½ quarts of cool, not iced, water in each 24 hours, a glass the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night and the remaining quantity after or between meals. Infants frequently suffer more from the lack of cool water than from the lack of food."

FALLEN FLOWERS.

One of the workers of the world,
Living, toiled, and, toiling, died,
But others worked, and the world went on
And was not changed when he was gone.
A strong arm stricken, a wide sail furled,
And only a few men sighed.

One of the heroes of the world
Fought to conquer, then fought to fall
And fell down slain in his blood stained mail,
And over his form they crept.
His cause was lost and his banner furled,
And only a woman wept.

One of the singers among mankind
Sang healing songs from an o'erwrought heart,
But ere men listened the grass and wind
Were wasting the rest among like a wave.
And now of his fame that will ne'er depart
He has never heard in his grave.

One of the women who only love
Loved and grieved and faded away.
Ah, me, are these gone to the God above?
What more of such can I say?
They are human flowers that flower and fall.
This is the song and the end of them all.
—Arthur O'Shaughnessy in Athenæum.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

HORSES IN HISTORY.

SOME OF THE NOBLE STEEDS THAT HAVE ACHIEVED FAME.

The Four Footed Friend For Whom a City Was Named—Roman Horses That Lived Like Princes—Chargers Who Won Renown Amid the Carnage of War.

It is hard to say with any near approach to accuracy how long the horse has been a domesticated animal. We can only say that he has been so from time immemorial—that is, from the earliest times of which we have any records. The Assyrian sculptures—and they are about the most ancient of which we know anything, for some of them are estimated to date from 4200 B. C.—contain more representations of caparisoned horses than even men. Still, we do not get any examples of favorite horses until a long time after this.

Even the first examples, indeed, are only legendary, for, though there is no doubt that Hector of Troy existed, it is not improbable that Homer invented the names of his three favorite horses, Podarge, the cream colored Galathe and the fiery Ethon. But the horse of Alexander the Great, Bucephalus, is an individual as historically real as his master. This famous horse was, says Plutarch, offered to Philip for 13 talents (about £3,518), but he displayed so much viciousness that Alexander's father was about to send him away when the young prince offered to tame him. He agreed, in the event of failure, to forfeit the price of the horse and began by turning his head to the sun, as he observed that the horse was frightened at his own shadow. In the end he completely tamed him—so completely, indeed, that Bucephalus, though he would permit nobody except Alexander to mount him, always knelt down for that purpose to his master. He died at the age of 30, and his master built as his mausoleum the city of Bucephala.

Readers of Macaulay will remember the famous black Auster, the horse of Herminius, and the dark gray charger of Mamilius, whose sudden appearance in the city of Tusculum without his master brought the news of the defeat of the allies at Lake Regillus. Connected with that battle, too, were the horses of the great "twin brethren," Castor and Pollux, coal black, with white legs and tails. But those are legendary. Not so, however, the well known horse of Caligula, Incitatus. This animal had a stable of marble; his stall was of ivory, his clothing of purple and his halters stiff with gems. He had a set of golden plates and was presented with a palace, furniture and slaves complete, in order that guests invited in his name should be properly entertained. His diet was the most costly that could be imagined, the finest grapes that Asia could provide being reserved for him. Verus, another Roman emperor about a century later, treated his horse almost as extravagantly. He fed him with raisins and almonds with his own hands, and when he died erected a statue of gold to him, while all the dignitaries of the empire attended the funeral.

As we come to later times, so we get more examples of favorite horses. William the Conqueror had one which he rode at the battle of Hastings, about which almost everything seems to be known except his name. He was of huge size and was a present from King Alfonso of Spain—"such a gift as a prince might give and a prince receive." This gallant horse, however, did not survive the battle, for Gyrth, Harold's butcher, "clove him with a bill, and he died." Richard I's horse was called Maleck, and was jet black. He bore his master through the holy war and arrived in England before him. In fact, he survived the king several years. The second Richard, too, had a favorite horse, called Roan Barbary, which was supposed to be the finest horse in Europe at that time, and it was on Roan Barbary that the young king was mounted when the incident wherein Wat Tyler was stabbed by the mayor of Walworth took place.

About a century later we get the Wars of the Roses, and in the many battles of that civil disturbance a couple of horses played important parts. These belonged to the great Earl of Warwick, the kingmaker. His first was Maleck, a beautiful gray, which he rode at the battle of Towton. It was this horse whose death turned the fortunes of the battle, for Warwick, seeing that his men were giving ground, deliberately sprang from his favorite horse and killed him. Then his men knew that the kingmaker was prepared to conquer, but not to fly. They rallied and finally won the battle.

There were two horses belonging to highwaymen which were famous in their time. One of them belonged to the celebrated knight of the road, Paul Clifford. He was called Robin and was Irish. In color iron gray, he was reputed by judges of horseflesh — and there were some who were quite as competent to give an opinion, if not more so, as any of the present day—to be absolutely without blemish and to be second to none. Another famous horse, or rather mare, was Black Bess. Her owner, Dick Turpin, or, to give him his correct name, Nicks, committed a robbery in London at 4 o'clock in the morning, and, fearing discovery, made for Gravesend, ferried across the river and appeared at the bowling green in York the same evening, having accomplished his ride of 300 miles in 16 hours on one horse. At least so says the legend, and this is certain—that on his trial he was acquitted, the jury considering it impossible that he could have got to York in the time. —London Standard.

DON'T TALK OF YOUR ILLS.

People Are More Interested In the Pleasant Side of Life.

"Every one of us has his and her own ailments," writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal, decrying the unpleasant habit many people have of discussing their bodily ills. "It is enough for us all to keep well ourselves. To be compelled to listen to the ailments of others does not make that task any easier. Besides all this, these unnecessary narratives of personal ailments are positively injurious to ourselves. Physicians all agree that many of the slight illnesses, of which some people make so much, could be cured if they would but take their minds from themselves. Too many people work themselves into illnesses or prevent themselves from getting well by talking about a petty ailment which, if forgotten, would right itself.

"I will not say that women, more than men, are prone to this evil, but as the majority of women have more leisure than the majority of men they are more likely to let their minds dwell upon every little ill that assails them and talk about it. It seems to me that one of the most important lessons we can all learn with the close of the year is to refrain from inflicting upon others what is purely personal to ourselves. Let us cease this tiresome, this inconsiderate, this unnecessary talk about our ailments. Cold and hard as it may seem, the fact is nevertheless true, and will ever remain so, that the vast majority of people are interested in what is pleasant in our lives, but not in what is unpleasant. Pains and sorrows are elements in our lives which are sacred and interesting only to ourselves."

THE COURT JESTER.

A Practical Joke That Will Commend Played on Cardinal Wolsey.

Amelia Wofford tells of "The Court Jesters of England" in St. Nicholas. The following is related of King Henry VIII's jester:

Sommers, like Scogan, liked a practical joke, and one that he played on Cardinal Wolsey is thus quaintly told by Armin:

"Of a time appointed the king dined at Windsor, in the chappel yard at Cardinall Wolsey's at the same time when he was building that admirable work of his tombe, at whose gate stood a number of poore people, to be served with alms when dinner was done within, and as Will passed by they mainted him, taking him for a worthy personage, which pleased him. In he comes, and finding the king at dinner and the cardinall by attending, to disgrace him that he never loved, Harry, sayes hee, lend me £10. What to doe? saies the king. To pay three or foure of the cardinall's creditors, quoth hee, to whom my word is past, and they are now come for the money. That thou shalt, Will, quoth hee. Creditors of mine! saies the cardinall. Ile give your grace my head if any man can justly aske me a penny. No, saies Will. Lend me £10. If I pay it not where thou owest it, Ile give thee £20 for it. Doe so, saies the king. That I will, my liege, saies thee cardinall, though I owe none. With that he lends Will £10. Will goes to the gate, distributes it to the poore and brought the empty bag. There is thy bag againe, saies hee. Thy creditors are satisfied, and my word out of danger. Who received, saies the king, the brewer or the baker? Neyther, Harry, saies Will Sommers. But, cardinall, answer me in one thing, to whom dost thou owe thy soules? To God, quoth hee. To whom thy wealth? To the poore, saies hee. Take thy forfeit, Harry, saies the foole. Open confession, open penitence. His head is thine, for to the poore at the gate I paid his debt, which hee yields is due, or if thy stony heart will not yield it so, save thy head by denying thy word and lend it mee. Thou knowest I am poore and have neyther wealth nor wit, and what thou lendest to the poore God will pay thee tenfold. * * * The king laught at the jest, and so did the cardinall for a shew, but it grieved him to jest away £10 so."

Popular Hotel Man.

"I was troubled with pimples on my face and head which caused me much annoyance. After trying many remedies without benefit I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle helped me and I took four bottles. I am now completly cured." JAMES REILLEY, Proprietor Chapman House, Sarnia, Ont.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Total interments in Little Lake Cemetery for 1897	173

W. H. FOORD, Supt.

4th January, 1898.

In noticing the incidents of the report one remarks that largest number of deaths were of children under 5 years—68, and the numb largest were of persons in advanced age, between 60 and 95, the two opposite poles of life—infancy and old age—inviting most strongly the attack of death. It is a pleasure to note that the deaths from contagious diseases were only 6 out of 167. Whooping cough took 3, diphtheria 1 and typhoid fever 2. This, if the ture causes of death are given, indicating the excellent sanitary condition of the town.

Another thing to be noticed is that the foreign born periods interred are becoming steadily less. Out of 167 interments 102 were native born Canadians.

DECEMBER WEATHER NOTES.

Together with a Few Details as to the Past Year.

With the exception of July, December had a greater precipitation than any other month of the past year. The rainfall amounted to 2.12 inches, while snow fell to the depth of over 20 inches, a total of 4.18 inches (allowing 10 inches snow to equal one inch rain.)

Not only was the amount larger than usual, but the number of days on which snow or rain fell was also in excess. There was snow on 13 days and rain on 7 days.

The mean temperature of the month was 23.6 degrees, being about the average.

The highest temperature was on the 11th, viz., 49 degrees.

The lowest temperature was 11 below zero, on the morning of the 24th. The coldest day of December, 1896, was on the 24th, and strangely enough was also 11 below.

With the exception of the period from the 9th to the 17th, there was sleighing all the month. Though a couple of inches of snow fell on several occasions in Dec. 1896, there was scarcely enough at any one time to give sleighing.

A REVIEW OF 1897.

The lowest temperature of the year 1897 was 13 degrees below zero on the 25th January. The highest temperature was 96 degrees on 5th July, giving a yearly range of 114 degrees.

Zero or below was reached on 25 days:—in January, 10 days; in February, 6 days; March, 3 days, and December, 6 days.

THE FIRE BRIGADE'S ANNUAL MEETING.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

Memorandum of the Fires Which Took Place During 1897—Only Half as Many as in the Previous Year.

The Fire Brigade held its annual meeting last evening, which was attended by all the members. All the old officers were re-elected as follows:

Captain—J. D. Craig.
1st Lieut—J. F. Hayes.
2nd Lieut—W. R. Turner.
Secretary—J. H. Yelland.
Treasurer—C. Rutherford.
Committee—Messrs. W. R. Turner, J. Metheral and J. Gibbs.

During the year 26 fires were attended which is just half the number which took place during the previous year. The memorandum of the fires of 1897 was as follows:

January 19—Fire in Consolidated Milling Co's flour mill on Dickson's raceway. The brigade answered promptly but could not save the mill diner.

February 3—False alarm.

February 25—Alarms for fire in Hunter's Terrace on Patterson street. House partially destroyed.

February 26—Alarm sounded for fire in same place as the night before. It was quickly extinguished.

March 2—Fire in Wolstenholm's livery stable on Charlotte street. One line of hose laid and fire soon under control.

March 13—Burning chimney in house occupied by O Huffman.

March 15—Alarm sounded for fire at gas house but it was a false alarm.

March 21—Fire in McComb's glove factory on Hunter street. One line hose laid and fire in cellar quickly extinguished. The alarm was also rang for a second fire in the same place but it was promptly put out.

April 1—False alarm from the Bridge Works.

July 8—Fire in Dickson Company's lumber yard. One line of hose laid but not required.

July 16—False alarm from the Bridge Works.

July 26—Fire in T. Hart's and Dr Meber's sheds; partially destroyed.

July 27—Alarm for Mr Everett's sheds on Murray street; small damage.

Sept 17—Refuse on fire in rear of Overend's Hotel. Extinguished with no damage done.

Oct 25—Alarm from W H Moore's. Services not required.

Nov 24—Fire in small house on Brock street owned by John Craig. Residence was gutted.

Dec 31—Fire on Rubidge street, in No 1 ward. Services not required.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then comes the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

How to be Beautiful.

To be beautiful we must have pure blood and a clear skin. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and makes the skin bright and clear. It cures all skin and blood diseases. Witness the following: "I had scrofula on my face for some time, and could get no relief until I tried B.B.B. One bottle healed me and left no scars. It is the greatest blood purifier in existence."

THE OTONABEE DIVISION VACANCY.

Mr. J. M. Drummond Will Conduct Nomination Proceedings in Keene on January 24th.

At the meeting of the County Council yesterday Mr. J. M. Drummond was appointed Nominating Officer for the Otonabee Division bye-election to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Burnham's death.

The nominations take place in the town hall, Keene, on Monday, Jan. 24th.

As to the candidates, it is known that Mr. T. J. Johnston, the present reeve of Otonabee, will be one, and Mr. E. A. Peck, of Ashburnham says if he is offered the nomination he will be inclined to accept it.

The resignation of Mr. Johnston will necessitate a re-arrangement of perhaps the whole council of Otonabee, and, perhaps, an election in each case.

My baby had Eczema in its worst form. The top of her head was as raw as a piece of beef, the hair eaten down to the scalp by applying tar poultices, and I thought if she ever got well she would be bald. The best physician in the city attended her, but she continued to get worse all the time, and he finally admitted "it was the most obstinate case he had ever seen," and that he was "at his wits' end." Some one suggested CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I purchased and tried. In a few days I noticed a great change. She continued to improve, and to-day is entirely cured, has a nice head of hair, is lively and hearty, and the disease shows no signs of returning. I send you her photograph to show her as she is to-day.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.08 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them a for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

Next thing is your Celery, of course everybody says that your Celery is the best, nicest, crisp and tender. You have lots of it to sell? Yes. There comes my car, so good day! Push along! Bye, bye.

Opposition Attack the Surplus Unsuccessfully.

A GOVERNMENT MAJORITY OF 18

The Trivialities Indulged in by the Opposition Are Costing the Country Thousands of Dollars—The Treasurer's and the Premier's Reply to Opposition Charges—A Busy Day.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—The Opposition in the Legislature has evidently determined to prolong the proceedings to an indefinite period. They are daily bringing forward amendments to the motion to go into supply of the most trivial character and apparently for no other reason than to make campaign speeches. When the cost per day for running expenses is considered, the country is spending many thousands of dollars to hear Mr. Marter, Whitney, Kerns, St. John, Willoughby and Matheson talk.

The Surplus.

Mr. Matheson upon the motion to go into supply regretted the Government took railway debentures into account in the surplus amounting to $300,000. He moved an amendment to this effect. He contended that all railway debentures should be deducted from the assets and added to the liabilities.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt, in reply, said the subject had been worn threadbare in the House. If the charge was that the public had been misled, then he wished the Opposition to point out specifically where the misleading statement came in. (Hear, hear.) He said the Government had never claimed to have stated all their assets in the budget, and had they done so they could justly have swelled the figures by over $8,000,000. (Cheers.) The unpaid balances due on Crown lands, for instance, amounting to several hundreds of thousands of dollars were not included in the assets, and yet no one would deny they were perfectly good and that ample security was held to secure the payment. The old Parliament buildings site was not included either. Mr. Matheson had claimed that $80,000 of railway debentures should be deducted from the assets. Very well, then, he should give the Government credit for nearly one and a half millions dollars to be added to the assets which the Government had not done. (Cheers.)

Messrs. Marter, Gibson (Huron), Kerns, Whitney, Haycock and others followed.

The Premier's Reply.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said the Opposition arguments could not be taken seriously, since they wanted the Treasurer to falsify the books of the Government. They wanted the Treasurer to deduct from the surplus the railway debentures not yet due and half of which when due were paid out of current revenue. (Hear, hear.) He was glad that at last Mr. Whitney had admitted that between money in the bank and deposits in the hands of the Dominion Government the Provincial Government had a surplus of over five millions. The Opposition's complaint simply amounted to a matter of bookkeeping. Well, the books were kept in exactly the same way as at Ottawa (cheers); the system followed was exactly the same as had been instituted by the Conservatives at Ottawa.

The vote having been taken, the amendment was voted down.

A Law-Made Dentist.

Mr. James Frederick Riggs wishes to practice dentistry without passing his examinations. A bill was introduced by Mr. St. John to permit him to do so. Yesterday the bill came before the Private Bills Committee and received some rough handling. The reasons advanced why he should be allowed to practice were that he held an American diploma and that he was too old to begin his Canadian studies. A letter was read from Dr. Willmott on behalf of the Dental College protesting against the passage of the bill, which was allowed to stand over and will probably not be heard of again. A bill was passed authorizing the town of Goderich to issue debentures to aid a grain elevator and power to exempt the building from taxation, also a bill to consolidate the floating debt of the County of Simcoe and to issue debentures amounting to $50,000 and to erect a House of Industry costing $20,000.

New Railway Bills.

The Railway Committee met yesterday and passed three bills with but trifling amendments: Respecting the Chatham City and Suburban Railway Co., and the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway Co. To-day the committee will consider the bill of the Toronto and Scarboro Electric Railway, Light and Power Co.

His Lordship's Sorrow.

Chief Justice Meredith yesterday sent this letter to the Speaker of the Legislature: "The awful calamity that has fallen upon my native city and brought death and sorrow into so many homes there renders it impossible for me to take part in any festivities at this time and I pray you therefore to excuse my absence from your dinner on Tuesday evening next."

The Pigs Again.

Mr. St. John seems to have pigs on the brain. Yesterday in the Public Accounts Committee Mr. Wm. T. Harris, the dealer who purchased the hogs all the trouble is about, was called to give evidence under oath. He swore positively that none of the hogs he purchased, some 95 in number, had been diseased or mutilated. This did not satisfy Mr. St. John, who again called Fred Newton who had killed the animals and who again swore they were all diseased. He was forced to admit, however, that he had given his evidence expecting a reward from the Opposition. (Laughter.) Mr. St. John says he will call upon the Provincial Secretary to-day to enter the witness box.

A Victory for Victoria.

Hon. Mr. Ross, respecting Toronto University. The bill extends the time by six years that Victoria University may send five representatives to the Senate of Toronto University. At the end of this period graduates of Victoria will be required to vote for members of the Senate in common with graduates of Toronto University.

County Council Loans.

Mr. McKay (Victoria), to amend the Municipal Act. Under the present law municipalities may only borrow 80 per cent. of their expenses for the expenses of the current year. This bill enables them to borrow the full amount levied for the current year.

The Revised Statutes.

Hon. Mr. Hardy gave notice that he would introduce a bill respecting the Revised Statutes of Ontario of 1897.

Niagara's Power.

Mr. German will ask the Government if they have undertaken any survey of the rapids below Suspension bridge on the Niagara river with the view to ascertaining what hydraulic power exists there for electric or other purposes.

Division Court Powers.

Mr. McNichol gave notice of this resolution:

That, whereas the procedure in the Division Courts of the province is of the simplest kind consistent with a due regard to the interest therein, thus enabling such litigants to procure justice in a speedy and inexpensive manner; and, whereas great delay and expense is occasioned to the public who have occasion to resort to tribunals of a higher jurisdiction owing to the system of pleading and practice in vogue therein, and such system is unnecessary for the preservation of the rights of the parties in many cases now out of the jurisdiction of the Division Courts; and, whereas the Division Courts are almost entirely self-sustaining and require little, if any, support from the public funds,

Therefore be it resolved, That in the opinion of this House it is in the highest degree desirable that the Division Courts Act should be amended so as to extend the jurisdiction of the said courts as follows: (a) To all personal actions where the amount claimed does not exceed $100. (b) To all personal actions where all parties consent thereto and the amount claimed does not exceed $200. (c) To all claims and demands of debt account or breach of contract, or demand, whether payable in money or otherwise, where the amount of balance claimed does not exceed $200. (d) To all claims for recovery of a debt or money demand, the amount or balance of which does not exceed $300, and the original amount of the claim is ascertained by the signature of the defendant, or of the person whom, as executor or administrator, the defendant represents.

SEALSKIN WEAR DEBARRED.

Any Lady Owning a Sacque of That Material is Liable to Have it Confiscated at New York.

New York, Jan. 6.—There is trouble in store for anyone, man, woman or child, who hereafter attempts to enter the United States wearing anything made of sealskin. The instructions issued by the Treasury Department to collectors at the different ports of entry are of the strictest possible kind. No garment of seal, unless it bears the Pribyloff Island stamp, will be admitted to the country, no matter whether the garment was originally purchased in America or not.

A lady who arrived here from Great Britain yesterday on the Aurania wore a sealskin sacque that had been purchased in London. At first the customs inspectors told her that she would have to take the jacket off, and that it would be confiscated. Of course the lady was indignant, and there was a lively scene. The matter was referred to Collector Bidwell. It was then discovered that the lady had left London, and was on her way to America prior to Dec. 29, the date of the coming into force of the new regulations. She was therefore allowed to retain her jacket. Collector Bidwell stated that hereafter it would be mandatory for the customs officers to send to the public stores all sealskin garments, whether on consignment or on their owners' backs.

Aliens Grasp the Trade.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—(Telegram Special.)—D. D. Mann, just returned from the coast, says trade is only fair in British Columbia, and the great bulk of the Klondike business is going to Americans. The trade is practically from one American port to the other. Americans have now the inlet by the front and back doors, that is, by Yukon and the Chilcoot and White Passes. He thinks for the present that a possible Canadian route is by Stickeen River and Lake Teslin.

Drastic Means to Cow Quebec's Riotous Convicts

INTO SUBMISSION TO THE LAW.

The Minister of Justice Authorizes This Punishment of the Ringleaders in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary Convict Riots—The Canadian Pacific Telegraphers.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—The authorities of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary have decided to try drastic means to put a stop to the riotous conduct of the convicts, and as a result some twenty of the ringleaders will be flogged in the presence of their fellows within the next few days. The trouble has now been going on for some months, intermittently, to the terror of the residents of the quiet little village outside the walls. It began over the taking away of the allowance of tobacco, and to show their dissatisfaction the convicts howled and banged their wash basins all night long. They were allowed to tire themselves out, but every few days the noise would recommence. Christmas Day brought no interriment to those behind the bars, and it was no better for the guards. The noise began early in the morning and lasted all day and all night. Consequently none of the Christmas extras were given to the inmates, and this was seized upon as an added reason for keeping up the din. Acting Warden Foster has been doing his best to bring about peace by moral suasion, but as all his efforts have failed he came to the conclusion that nothing short of corporal punishment would be of any use. He made a report to the Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice, to that effect, and suggested that he be allowed to flog the ringleaders in the presence of the others. This he believes will have the desired effect. Mr. Mills came to the same conclusion, and after mature consideration gave the desired permission. As soon as the news becomes known in the penitentiary it will no doubt put an end to any wish to create a disturbance, and the subsequent application of the lash to the backs of the ringleaders should effectually cure them of insubordination.

C.P.R. Telegraphers' Conference.

The conference between the C.P.R. telegraphers and the officials is not yet finished. The telegraphers, having obtained no satisfaction from Mr. Shaughnessy and Mr. Tait, have brought the matter before the President, Sir William Van Horne. If no satisfactory solution is arrived at, the telegraphers will demand a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The Organization of Railway Telegraphers, which this committee represents, extends over the entire North American continent, and may be considered one of the most powerful of the numerous orders of railway employes. This particular committee, however, actually represents only nine hundred men, from Winnipeg to the eastern seaboard on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and from Detroit to the Atlantic on the Atlantic division. In view of any difficulty, however, it may be assumed that the entire order will uphold the eastern division telegraphers in their contest against the railway.

He Died an Infidel.

New York, Jan. 6.—One of the most remarkable wills ever filed in the office of the surrogate is that of Henry Morehouse Taber offered for probate yesterday. In spite of the fact that Mr. Taber was president and treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian church, in the opening clauses of his will he denounces all religion as sham and as having its origin in superstition. He requests that no services be held over his body and that it be cremated. Mr. Taber died on Christmas eve at the age of 73 years. Two children survive the testator, and to them the entire estate valued at over $1,000,000 is given absolutely.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. EDITORIAL NOTES.

A STATEMENT recently printed shows a striking difference between the expenses of the session of the Quebec Legislature this year, under a Liberal Government, and what they were last session under a Conservative Government. The Flynn Government had 104 copyists; now there are 12. Then there were 52 messengers; now 28. Then there were 31 temporary employees in the departments; now 7. The cost last year was $300 a day; now it is $88.86. This is the Liberal Government's idea of economy. It tallies with the view held by most people on the subject.

THE action of the Ontario Government in putting into legislative shape its settled policy of Canadian timber for Canadians has aroused Americans to a new view of the profit of liberal trade relations with Canada. From Michigan, which according to Opposition orators and organs was especially favoured, comes a strong appeal for a recognition of the importance of less restricted trade relations with this country. The Detroit Free Press in a recent issue says:—The resources of the wide Empire (Canada) to the north of us are just beginning to be developed. In a few years Canadian commerce will be vastly increased, and if it is worth so much to-day, what what will it not be worth when the population, wealth and products of the Dominion reach the dimensions which a short time is sure to bring? It will be unprofitable shortsightedness indeed to raise artificial barriers against the natural flow of this commerce across our borders. Nothing but hostile tariff legislation and indifference to the opportunity that lies at our northern doors can prevent the continued growth of this commerce, to the mutual advantage of both countries.

A VERY IMPORTANT REPORT.

SUBMITTED BY THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON RE-FORESTRATION, ETC.

How Fast Pine Grows—The Report Recommends the Extension of the Present System of Fire Ranging, the Co-operation of the Hudson Bay Company, the Protection of Small Trees and the Establishment of Forest Reserves.

In the Legislature Tuesday the Commissioner of Crown Lands laid on the table the report of the Royal Commission appointed in June last to investigate the subject of "restoring and preserving the growth of white pine upon lands in the provinces, which have been cleared or partially cleared by lumbering operations or by fire, and which are not adapted for agricultural purposes or for settlement." The commission consisted of Mr. Rathbun, President of the Rathbun Lumber Co.; John Bertram, President of the Collins' Inlet Lumber Co.; J. B. McWilliams, Superintendent of Forest Rangers; Alex. Kirwood, of the Crown Lands Department, and Thos. Southworth, Clerk of Forestry.

During the fall and summer the members of the commission visited the townships of Smith, Harvey, Galway and Burleigh, in the county of Peterborough; the territory along the north shore of Lake Nipissing, and down the Vermillion River, in the township of Louise; the country around Thessalon, Algoma Mills and Killarney; the townships of Carlyle and Humboldt and other points on the north shore of Georgian Bay. The commissioners also inspected some of the territory on the north shore of Lake Superior and the country along the line of the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway west of Port Arthur, in addition to taking a somewhat extensive trip through the Rainy River country, visiting also portions of the northern parts of Minnesota and Michigan in the United States.

The report goes on to animadvert strongly upon the almost criminal carelessness of many lumbermen which results in destructive bush fires. The investigations of the commission, however, show that the after growth of fires is largely white pine in white pine districts, and though at superficial inspection the popular and birch monopolize the fire swept areas, yet the young pines make their appearance and ultimately crowd out the less valuable woods.

A SAMPLE CASE.

The commissioners put forward as an example of what results might be obtained, the township of Burleigh, in the county of Peterborough. The cutting of timber began here 50 years ago, the original forest being chiefly of excellent pine. About 35 years ago a colonization road was run through the township and since then the lumbermen and the fires started by settlers have devastated the forest on the west side of a stream known as Eel's Creek. The frequent fires have burned over a large part of the soil and killed any pines that may have been left by the lumbermen, so that any natural reforestration here would be a very slow process.

Now, for the other picture. The east side of Eel's Creek presents an altogether different aspect. Viewed from the Burleigh Road, it has the appearance of a thrifty young poplar forest, with a few young pine trees appearing on a level with the poplar. On closer examination it was found that the young forest was largely composed of red and white pine. It was moreover learned that this portion of the forest had not been visited by fire since twenty-three years ago. The pine will, if protected from fire, soon overtop the poplars and assert the supremacy of their species. The conclusion arrived at was thas within fifty years lumbering operations in this locality could be profitably resumed and the larger pine trees taken out, producing timber of a merchantable quality and giving the younger trees a better chance to grow. Reasonably good forest conditions could, under proper regulations for cutting, be introduced and a continuous supply kept up.

PROTECTION FROM FIRE.

This statement as to the condition in the Township of Burleigh may be taken as fairly typical of the course of natural forest regeneration in nearly all the fire-swept lands which came under the observance of the commissioners. Much of the forest lands now looked upon as of little use will yet, under proper protection, be very productive. The main feature of forest preservation mus be protection from fire.

To the north of the height of land which sheds water into Hudson Bay, it was found that some timber lands had been burned over through the carelessness of Indians, but the Hudson Bay officials there had promised to help the Government in protecting the forests.

The commissioners proceed to say that, though in earlier years the lumbermen confined their operations to taking out trees which measured at least 14 inches diameter at the butt, many rafts were observed to-day to consist of mere poles—six inches or so in diameter. This practice should be promptly set upon by the Government.

HOW FAST PINE GROWS.

The commissioners give the following idea of the rate of growth of white pine: A young tree which would cut only one log 8 inches in diameter and 16 feet long, measuring 16 feet, board measure, would, if allowed to stand for 30 years, grow in diameter at the rate of one inch in five years—in some cases the growth is an inch in two years—and hence would give a butt of 14 inches diameter, 16 feet long, or 100 feet of lumber, board measure. In addition to this, however, this tree would have grown in height sufficiently to give two more logs, one, say of 11-inch, and one of 8-inch diameter, both 16 feet long, or a total of 164 feet, board measure, for the tree. Thus, a tree that required, perhaps, 40 years to make its first 16 feet of merchantable timber would in 30 years more have increased to 164 feet.

The commission suggests that a market should be secured for the "thinnings," which should be taken out where the timber stands too thick, and the idea is put forward that much of this apparently useless forest material might be utilized in the manufacture of pulp and small wood goods, or for the production of charcoal for smelting ores.

CONCLUSIONS OF THE COMMISSION.

In conclusion the Commission recommends that:

1. The present system of fire ranging inaugurated by the Government in 1896 be extended so as to be compulsory on all the holders of timber berths; that all unlicensed timber land contiguous thereto be also protected by rangers employed by the Government, and that all fire rangers be subjected to the inspection and control of the Department of Crown Lands,

2. That the officials of the Hudson Bay Company be asked to co-operate with the Government in preparing and printing fire proclamations in the language of the Indians of the northern districts, to be posted along the canoe routes throughout the country.

3. That for all unworked limits on which the ground rent shall be two years in default on the termination of the present license year, the license shall not be renewed, but the berths be held by the Crown as forest reserves.

4. That licensed holders be not allowed to cut any trees for logs smaller than will measure 12 inches across the stump two feet from the ground, unless under special forest conditions, with the sanction and under the supervision of the district forest ranger.

5. That the Government take power by order-in council to withdraw from sale a location, and set aside, to be left in permanent Crown forest reserves, such areas of territory as are generally unsuitable for settlement and yet valuable for growing timber.

CARED FOR AND CURED.

LITTLE SICK CHILDREN

Short Sketch of the Work Done by the Great Mother Nurse—The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

From every county in the great Province of Ontario children are admitted free into the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto, whenever their parents cannot afford to pay.

And few of the poor little sufferers who are nursed and cared for have rich parents, it would seem. Last year the expense of the Hospital was nearly $30 000. And to meet this but $1 325 was received from pay patients.

The balance must come from the more fortunate folks, who are charitable and generous.

The Hospital for Sick Children is the largest of its kind in the world—without exception. There are 200 cots. The average number of patients is 100 per day; 476 were nursed in the Hospital this year—312 little ones were cured and departed with health, strength and sturdy limbs.

In the dispensary department medicine was given to 4,123 children.

Thus nearly 5,000 children were treated in one year.

A great record of good.

In twenty-two years some 24,000 sick children have been nursed and cared for by the Hospital for Sick Children.

Where do the little patients come from?

From all parts of the province—in 1897 there were patients received from these places:—Arthur, Bandа, Barrie, Bedford Park, Belleville, Bradford, Brampton, Brighton, Brockville, Brooklin, Carney, Cartwright, Collingwood, Corbetton, Davisville, Doncaster, Eagleton, East Toronto, Eldorado, Elmvale, Ennis, Esquesing, Ewan, Foxmead, Frankford, Gananoque, Georgetown, Gravenhurst, Green River, Hamilton, Hampton Mills, Humber Bay, Huttonville, Invermay, Lambton Mills, Lime Lake, Listowel, Little Current, Markham, Markdale, Meadowvale, Merriton, Mimico, Mitchell, Mono Mills, Mortimer's Point, Mount Albert, Mt. Forest, Nauwigewauk, Newmarket, Newtonbrook, Niagara Falls, North Bay, Norwich, Oakville, Orillia, Oshawa, Ottawa, Owen Sound, Parry Sound, Penetanguishene, Port Perry, Picton, Riverview, Saintfield, Scotland, Springfield-on-Credit, Stratford, St. Catharines St. Mary's, St. Thomas, Thornhill, Toronto, Toronto Junction, Otterson, Victoria Road, Waubaushene, Westport, Whitby, Whitevale, Wingham Woodstock.

How do they come? Very often parents hear of the work of the Hospital through the newspapers. In some instances friends of the little sufferers make application on behalf of parents who are poor, but independent and self-reliant.

It generally falls to the lot of the chairman of the Hospital Trust to decide when there is a question of ability to pay. One day, about a year ago, this gentleman was driving towards the city of Brockville, and while passing a school-house the scholars rushed out in eager haste for the fifteen minutes of joy they crowd into recess. Mr. Robertson smiled as the youngsters passed him; but the smile vanished when he observed in the rear a little chap who was hobbling along on crutches, happy but crippled. One of his legs was bent at the knee to a right angle. The carriage was stopped, and the little fellow called.

"My boy, how did you injure your leg so badly?" was the enquiry.

The lad explained that he had met with a mishap one day while chopping wood that he had been treated in an eastern hospital for some time; that his leg had been straightened, but had again become useless. His parents and schoolfellows looked upon him as a cripple for life.

And so he might have been.

"How would you like to have your leg straightened for good?" asked the Hospital chairman, who knew of the complete cure effected at the great Toronto institution in similar cases.

"Well, mister, there is nothing I would like better," said the boy.

He was assisted into the carriage, and told to direct the driver to his father, who had a blacksmith shop near by. The boy was one of a family of seven children. Most gladly did the father give his consent to the child's removal to the Hospital for treatment.

The little deformed lad thus fortunately met on the highway near Brockville is a cripple no longer. His leg is stiff, but it is straight. He remained in the Hospital for many months. But it was a joyous home-coming when the boy walked firmly and straight without the aid of stick or crutches.

This is a single case. Thousands of cases might be cited.

The editor of this paper has been informed that if anyone knows of any sick child under fourteen years of age, who is suffering from accident or disease, and whose parents cannot afford to pay for proper medical or surgical assistance—they are asked to communicate with the Hospital for Sick Children.

There is room for such children in the Hospital. They will be nursed, cared for, and in all probability, cured.

There is a debt of $70 000 hanging over the institution, $20,000 of which is for debts which must be paid at once.

Even with the strictest economy it requires no less than five executive officers, 24 nurses and 20 domestics to carry on the work of the Hospital. Twenty-five more children could be taken care of with the same number of attendants.

The work of the Hospital is ever increasing. Its doors are wide open to every ailing child in the province.

Such a work should have a million friends in Ontario. If each friend could spare a dollar—what a rich endowment with which to carry on the work.

But the trustees only ask for $20 000—a sum which they are required to pay before the end of January.

Everyone can help.

The need is most pressing.

The appeal is the appeal of poor, weak, suffering childhood, of little, wan-faced babies and children who lie on beds of pain.

The Hospital appeals to you—the reader of this newspaper.

Your dollar will bless you in the giving.

And you will give it.

Every penny aids—every dollar helps—and your dollar may restore health, strength and straight limbs to some poor crippled boy or girl.

Won't you help?

A group of little boys whose maimed and deformed limbs are being straightened at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. (Re-produced from photograph).

This is a home charity — something that should appeal to every heart.

It was Charles Dickens, that great-hearted Englishman — the friend of the fatherless, the reliever of the oppressed and down-trodden, who appealed to every human heart, when he said: "The two grim nurses—poverty and sickness—who bring these children before you, preside over their births, rock their wretched cradles, and nail down their coffins."

In this enlightened Canada of ours—this bright Province of Ontario—this shall not be as long as the doors of the Hospital for Sick Children remain open.

Help remove that mortgage.

Help unload that load of debt.

IN AID OF THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

Matthew xxv. 40.

"Inasmuch as ye gave ear unto the sighing
Of the least of these, the children of my care—
Of your love, from death redeemed them, or, in dying,
Stood between them and the shadow of despair.

"Inasmuch as when the little ones did languish,
You put forth a hand to make their burdens light—
Inasmuch as when they lay on beds of anguish,
Ye were with them in the watches of the night.

"The joy you brought to light, when sorrow hid it,
Now awaits you—an exceeding great reward,
As ye did it unto these—to ME ye did it;
Enter ye into the joy of your Lord."

"Lord, when sought we out the children that did languish?
When put forth the hand to make their burdens light;
Lord, we wist not when they lay on beds
of anguish,
And we slept throughout the watches of the night.

"For our lives were full of trouble and of labour,
And the night followed hard upon the day;
Had we lingered with the children of our neighbour,
Our own little ones had perished by the way."

"Inasmuch as though ye might not touch or tend them,
Ye were with them in your love, to heal and save—
And were hands and feet to those who did befriend them,
By the gold and by the silver that you gave.

"Find your treasure where your ransomed ones have hid it;
Take it back a thousandfold for your reward;
As ye did it unto these—to ME ye did it;
Enter ye into the joy of your Lord."

STRENGTH CAME BACK.

The Anvil once more rings with the strokes of his hammer.

Mr. Thos. Portarin, the well known blacksmith of Goderich, Ont., tells how sickness and weakness gave way to health and strength. "For the past four years my nerves have been very weak, my sleep fitful and disturbed by dreams, consequently I was frequently very dizzy and was much troubled with a mist that came before my eyes, my memory was often defective and I had fluttering of the heart, together with a sharp pain through it at times. In this condition I was easily worried and felt enervated and exhausted. Two months ago I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, since that time I have been gaining in health and strength daily. They have restored my nerves to a healthy condition, removed all dizziness and heart trouble, and now I sleep well and derive comfort and rest from it. That Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a good remedy for Nervousness, Weakness, Heart Trouble and similar complaints goes without saying." Price 50 cts. a box at all druggists or T. CEDED TO GERMANY.

China Gives Up Territory at Kiao Chou Bay.

CHINESE LOAN ARRANGEMENTS

British Government May Guarantee the Loan—Corean Customs Control—Mr. Brown Maintains His Hold of the Post—Death of Major-General Venttsman-Bingo—Cable News.

Pekin, Jan. 6.—The Kiao-Chou difficulty was settled yesterday at a conference of the Tsung-Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office), which made the necessary concessions. Details are expected.

An Indefinite Lease.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—The cession of Kiao-Chou Bay to Germany takes the form of a lease for an indefinite time. Germany is at liberty to erect on the ceded territory all the necessary buildings and establishments, and to take the measures required for their protection.

What the Territory Consists of.

The Reichs Anzeiger says the ceded territory comprises the whole of the inner basin of Kiao Chou Bay, so far as the high-water line, the larger headlands, situated south and north of the entrance of the bay, to the point where they are bounded by mountain ranges and also the islands situated within and in front of the bay. The ceded territory comprises an area of several square miles, bounded by a larger zone around the bay, within which no measures or arrangements may be made by China without the consent of Germany. Finally, "In order to avoid conflicts which might disturb the good understanding between the two powers," China has transferred to Germany for a period a lease of all sovereign rights over the ceded territory.

BRITAIN WILL HAVE A SAY

In Regard to Affairs in the Far East, and She Has Friends.

London, Jan. 6.—There is a general feeling in England, and it is reflected on the Stock Exchange, that the situation in the far East is improving. It is believed the proposed Chinese loan of £16,000,000 ($80,000,000) will be guaranteed by the British Government, although the final decision is not likely to be reached until the meeting of the Cabinet on Monday next.

The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday afternoon referred to the "Ascendancy of money over the mailed fist," and says: "Great Britain's vessels are anchored off Chemulpo and at Port Arthur. This is quietly implying that Great Britain will have a voice in the future arrangements. Further, the latest telegrams clearly indicate she has plenty of friends."

Continuing, The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "Aside from the Japanese, nations like the United States, whose interests are purely commercial, are well disposed towards our Government, and are opposed to trade exclusiveness."

Brown Holds the Fort.

London, Jan. 6.—Special despatches from Shanghai yesterday say that Mr. J. McLeavy Brown, the British Corean customs agent at Seoul, maintains a firm hold on his post, and that M. Alexieff, the Russian agent, who has been endeavoring to supplant the Englishman, has been unable to obtain control of the finances, owing to the fact that all the funds are vested in Mr. Brown's name in the Hong Kong Bank at Shanghai, which institution honors Mr. Brown's signature only.

The idea of an alliance with Great Britain is reported to have excited intense enthusiasm in Japan. The Marquis Ito's Cabinet, it is added, will endeavor to promote an Anglo-Japanese [illegible].

What the Times Says.

London, Jan. 6.—The Times says, editorially, this morning: "It would be simple to assume that The Reichs Anzeiger's despatch tells the whole story, for it quite omits to say what China gets in return. To the world at large, however, the material fact is that Germany, by physical force, has obtained a naval station. This is the fact that must guide other powers in determining their own policy.

"The talk of a lease is a mere saving of appearances. There is no doubt that both Germany and China are aware that it is a practical cession in full sovereignty. It provides a further argument in favor of an English guaranteed Chinese loan."

The Lease is for 50 Years.

London, Jan. 6.—A despatch to The Times from Pekin, dated yesterday (Wednesday), says that Germany has taken a lease of Kiao-Chou for 50 years. It says also reports are current there that a French occupation of Hai-Nan Island is imminent.

Russia Cutting Freight Rates.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—In order to promote exports, the Railroad Committee has ordered a reduction of 20 per cent. in the freight rates on flour going to the Russian seaports, and has ordered a reduction of 10 per cent. on grain to be ground at the seaports prior to shipment.

AT THE CAPITAL.

A Budget of Live Topics—Canada's Trade in the Kootenay Country—Fire at Ottawa College.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—It is certain that unless the C.P.R. secures an independent entrance into Rossland there is little prospect of Toronto and other cities of Ontario getting a fair share of the trade of that camp. Two prominent Toronto merchants were in town yesterday interviewing different members of the Government regarding the present position of affairs in Southern British Columbia. While the decrease in C.P.R. rates from Montreal, Toronto and other eastern points to the Kootenay are advantageous as far as they go, yet these gentlemen say it is absolutely impossible to get Toronto goods into Rossland on reasonable terms, owing to the exorbitant rates charged by Mr. Heinze over his 14-mile line from Trail to Rossland. The result is that Rossland merchants find it cheaper to buy goods in the States and pay duty upon them than to purchase them in Quebec or Ontario. This Mr. Heinze is evidently a power around Rossland. He has been here on and off for several days, and is at present in the city trying to head off the C.P.R. from building an independent line into Rossland. Mr. Heinze's interests include a smelter at Trail, a standard gauge railway, 94 miles long, from a point on the Columbia River opposite Robson to Trail, and the narrow gauge line from Trail to Rossland, 14 miles in length, or a total of 96 miles of railway. Two competent railway and engineering experts were sent from the United States to value Mr. Heinze's properties, including the railway lines and smelter, and the value put upon them by these gentlemen was $440,000. The C.P.R. Company officials, anxious to come to terms with Mr. Heinze nearly doubled the amount suggested by the expert, and offered him the sum of $800,000 for the properties. There are no flies on this shrewd American, and realizing that he is master of the situation, he asks a cool $1,200,000 for his property, and will not take a cent less. The C.P.R. Company thereupon decided to drop him, and planned to build a line direct from Robson to Rossland. They, therefore, according to law, deposited with the Department of Railways and Canals the plans necessary for the new Rossland line. Under the Railway Act it is provided that a company can go ahead and expropriate the necessary land and build their line as soon as the plans are approved by the Minister or his deputy. The C.P.R. has made application for such approval.

Ottawa University Scorched.

A serious fire occurred at Ottawa University yesterday, as a result of which the eastern wing was badly gutted, and the beautiful chapel greatly damaged. The total loss is in the vicinity of $40,000, which is covered by insurance. The insurance is as follows: Quebec Fire Ins. Co., $20,000; Agricultural Ins. Co., $5,000; Phoenix Co. of London, $5,000; North British & Mercantile, $15,000; Connecticut Fire Ins. Co., $5,000; Scottish Union and National, $20,000; Insurance Co. of North America, $20,000; Phoenix Ins. Co. of Hartford, $10,000; London Assurance, $20,000; Alliance Assurance, $20,000; Northern Assurance, $20,000; Guardian Assurance, $20,000.

A Natural Gas Deputation.

A formidable deputation from Essex County and Detroit, representing the Standard Oil Company and municipalities in which the company is procuring natural gas, was in town to-day, and interviewed Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Messrs. Mills, Scott, Tarte and other Ministers to protest against the imposition of an export duty on natural gas, but on the contrary, that permission be granted to lay another pipe across the Detroit River, so that more gas may be sent into Michigan.

The Ministers heard the representatives of the delegation, and said they would be duly considered.

That Alleged Ill-Treatment.

Judge Dugas of Montreal and Frank Pedley of Ottawa have been appointed commissioners by the Dominion Government to investigate the charges preferred against the contractors building the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, for alleged ill-treatment of their employes. Judge Dugas, who will be chairman, leaves for the West on Monday.

Who Stole the Coins?

The National Art Gallery, which is in charge of Mr. Tarte's Department, was burglarised last night, and a case of old coins and medallions, given to the Government many years ago by Col. Falkland, was stolen. Some of these coins were over 2000 years old, and are almost priceless. The matter is being investigated by the Minister and Deputy Minister.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 5.—London Glasses and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is babbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

Why Modern Bricks Are Hollow.

The use of paper in the manufacture of high grades of bricks for interior housework, trimmings, facings and for decorative purposes is evidently much on the increase. Already some very good samples of enameled paper brick have been shown. In the latest process of making and enameling the paper bricks the bricks are made on the hollow principle. The object of making the brick hollow is practically the same as sought in the making of hollow forged steel shafting. Not only is a defective center removed, but it is possible to put a mandrel into the hollow, and by applying pressure, the walls are operated upon both from the inside and the outside.

When a solid body is heated, the temperature of the interior always varies from that of the outer portion at first, often resulting in an expansion of one or the other that causes defects. For these reasons the plan of forming the bricks upon the hollow principle, plugging them afterward, is recommended. Sawdust is found to be a good filler. It is first fireproofed, as is also the paper pulp used in the bricks. Then it is mixed with cement and pressed into the hollow of the bricks, smoothed and enameled over, making a perfect shape.—Philadelphia Record.

A Lucky Find.

Two men walking on Campbell street toward Twelfth one night were accosted by a negro woman who was excited.

"Kin either one of you means give me a match?" she said.

"What for?"

"I lost a quahtah down there, an I want to hunt fur it."

She was given several matches and ran ahead and began striking matches and looking along the sidewalk. When the two men came up, she had stopped hunting and had apparently found the coin.

"Well, did you find it?" inquired one of the men.

"No, but I done find this horseshoe, an that's better'n two quahtahs," she said.—Kansas City Star.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

STRENGTH CAME BACK.

The Anvil once more rings with the strokes of his hammer.

Mr. Thos. Porteous, the well known blacksmith of Goderich, Ont., tells how sickness and weakness gave way to health and strength. "For the past four years my nerves have been very weak, my sleep fitful and disturbed by dreams, consequently I arose in the morning unrested. I was frequently very dizzy and was much troubled with a mist that came before my eyes, my memory was often defective and I had fluttering of the heart, together with a sharp pain through it at times. In this condition I was easily worried and felt enervated and exhausted. Two months ago I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, since that time I have been gaining in health and strength daily. They have restored my nerves to a healthy condition, removed all dizziness and heart trouble, and now I sleep well and derive comfort and rest from it. That Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a good remedy for Nervousness, Weakness, Heart Trouble and similar complaints goes without saying." Price 50 cts. a box at all druggists or T. CEDED TO GERMANY.

China Gives Up Territory at Kiao Chou Bay.

CHINESE LOAN ARRANGEMENTS

British Government May Guarantee the Loan—Corean Customs Control—Mr. Brown Maintains His Hold of the Post—Death of Major-General Yeatman-Biggs—Cable News.

Pekin, Jan. 6.—The Kiao-Chou difficulty was settled yesterday at a conference of the Tsung-Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office), which made the necessary concessions. Details are expected.

An Indefinite Lease.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—The cession of Kiao-Chou Bay to Germany takes the form of a lease for an indefinite time. Germany is at liberty to erect on the ceded territory all the necessary buildings and establishments, and to take the measures required for their protection.

What the Territory Consists of.

The Reichs Anzeiger says the ceded territory comprises the whole of the inner basin of Kiao Chou Bay, so far as the high-water line, the larger headlands, situated south and north of the entrance of the bay, to the point where they are bounded by mountain ranges and also the islands situated within and in front of the bay. The ceded territory comprises an area of several square miles, bounded by a larger zone around the bay, within which no measures or arrangements may be made by China without the consent of Germany. Finally, "in order to avoid conflicts which might disturb the good understanding between the two powers," China has transferred to Germany for a period a lease of all sovereign rights over the ceded territory.

BRITAIN WILL HAVE A SAY

In Regard to Affairs in the Far East, and She Has Friends.

London, Jan. 6.—There is a general feeling in England, and it is reflected on the Stock Exchange, that the situation in the far East is improving. It is believed the proposed Chinese loan of £16,000,000 ($80,000,000) will be guaranteed by the British Government, although the final decision is not likely to be reached until the meeting of the Cabinet on Monday next.

The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday afternoon referred to the "Ascendancy of money over the mailed fist," and says: "Great Britain's vessels are anchored off Chemulpo and at Port Arthur. This is quietly implying that Great Britain will have a voice in the future arrangement. Further, the latest telegrams clearly indicate she has plenty of friends."

Continuing, The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "Aside from the Japanese, nations like the United States, whose interests are purely commercial, are well disposed towards our Government, and are opposed to trade exclusiveness."

Brown Holds the Fort.

London, Jan. 6.—Special despatches from Shanghai yesterday say that Mr. J. McLeavy Brown, the British Corean customs agent at Seoul, maintains a firm hold on his post, and that M. Alexieff, the Russian agent, who has been endeavoring to supplant the Englishman, has been unable to obtain control of the finances, owing to the fact that all the funds are vested in Mr. Brown's name in the Hong Kong Bank at Shanghai, which institution honors Mr. Brown's signature only.

The idea of an alliance with Great Britain is reported to have excited intense enthusiasm in Japan. The Marquis Ito's Cabinet, it is added, will endeavor to promote an Anglo-Japanese alliance.

What the Times Says.

London, Jan. 6.—The Times says, editorially, this morning: "It would be simple to assume that The Reichs Anzeiger's despatch tells the whole story, for it quite omits to say what China gets in return. To the world at large, however, the material fact is that Germany, by physical force, has obtained a naval station. This is the fact that must guide other powers in determining their own policy.

"The talk of a lease is a mere saving of appearances. There is no doubt that both Germany and China are aware that it is a practical cession in full sovereignty. It provides a further argument in favor of an English guaranteed Chinese loan."

The Lease is for 50 Years.

London, Jan. 6.—A despatch to The Times from Pekin, dated yesterday (Wednesday), says that Germany has taken a lease of Kiao-Chou for 50 years. It says also reports are current there that a French occupation of Hai-Nan Island is imminent.

Russia Cutting Freight Rates.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—In order to promote exports, the Railroad Committee has ordered a reduction of 20 per cent. in the freight rates on flour going to the Russian seaports, and has ordered a reduction of 16 per cent. on grain to be ground at the seaports prior to shipment.

AT THE CAPITAL.

A Budget of Live Topics—Canada's Trade in the Kootenay Country—Fire at Ottawa College.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—It is certain that unless the C.P.R. secures an independent entrance into Rossland there is little prospect of Toronto and other cities of Ontario getting a fair share of the trade of that camp. Two prominent Toronto merchants were in town yesterday interviewing different members of the Government regarding the present position of affairs in Southern British Columbia. While the decrease in C.P.R. rates from Montreal, Toronto and other eastern points to the Kootenay are advantageous as far as they go, yet these gentlemen say it is absolutely impossible to get Toronto goods into Rossland on reasonable terms, owing to the exorbitant rates charged by Mr. Heinze over his 14-mile line from Trail to Rossland. The result is that Rossland merchants find it cheaper to buy goods in the States and pay duty upon them than to purchase them in Quebec or Ontario. This Mr. Heinze is evidently a power around Rossland. He has been here on and off for several days, and is at present in the city trying to head off the C.P.R. from building an opposition line into Rossland camp. Mr. Heinze's interests include a smelter at Trail, a standard gauge railway, 24 miles long, from a point on the Columbia River opposite Robson to Trail, and the narrow gauge line from Trail to Rossland, 14 miles in length, or a total of 38 miles of railway. Two competent railway and engineering experts were sent from the United States to value Mr. Heinze's properties, including the railway lines and smelter, and the value put upon them by these gentlemen was $440,000. The C.P.R. Company officials, anxious to come to terms with Mr. Heinze nearly doubled the amount suggested by the expert, and offered him the sum of $800,000 for the properties. There are no flies on this shrewd American, and realising that he is master of the situation, he asks a cool $1,200,000 for his property, and will not take a cent less. The C.P.R. Company thereupon decided to drop him, and planned to build a line direct from Robson to Rossland. They, therefore, according to law, deposited with the Department of Railways and Canals the plans necessary for the new Rossland line. Under the Railway Act it is provided that a company can go ahead and expropriate the necessary land and build their line as soon as the plans are approved by the Minister or his deputy. The C.P.R. has made application for such approval.

A Natural Gas Deputation.

A formidable deputation from Essex County and Detroit, representing the Standard Oil Company and municipalities in which the company is procuring natural gas, was in town to-day, and interviewed Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Messrs. Mills, Scott, Tarte and other Ministers to protest against the imposition of an export duty on natural gas, but on the contrary, that permission be granted to lay another pipe across the Detroit River, so that more gas may be sent into Michigan.

The Ministers heard the representatives of the delegation, and said they would be duly considered.

That Alleged Ill-Treatment.

Judge Dugas of Montreal and Frank Pedley of Ottawa have been appointed commissioners by the Dominion Government to investigate the charges preferred against the contractors building the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, for alleged ill-treatment of their employes. Judge Dugas, who will be chairman, leaves for the West on Monday.

Who Stole the Coins?

The National Art Gallery, which is in charge of Mr. Tarte's Department, was burglarised last night, and a case of old coins and medallions, given to the Government many years ago by Col. Falkland, was stolen. Some of these coins were over 2000 years old, and are almost priceless. The matter is being investigated by the Minister and Deputy Minister.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

Why Modern Bricks Are Hollow.

The use of paper in the manufacture of high grades of bricks for interior housework, trimmings, facings and for decorative purposes is evidently much on the increase. Already some very good samples of enameled paper brick have been shown. In the latest process of making and enameling the paper bricks the bricks are made on the hollow principle. The object of making the brick hollow is practically the same as sought in the making of hollow forged steel shafting. Not only is a defective center removed, but it is possible to put a mandrel into the hollow, and by applying pressure, the walls are operated upon both from the inside and the outside.

When a solid body is heated, the temperature of the interior always varies from that of the outer portion at first, often resulting in an expansion of one or the other that causes defects. For these reasons the plan of forming the bricks upon the hollow principle, plugging them afterward, is recommended. Sawdust is found to be a good filler. It is first fireproofed, as is also the paper pulp used in the bricks. Then it is mixed with cement and pressed into the hollow of the bricks, smoothed and enameled over, making a perfect shape.—Philadelphia Record.

A Lucky Find.

Two men walking on Campbell street toward Twelfth one night were accosted by a negro woman who was excited.

"Kin either one of you mens give me a match?" she said.

"What for?"

"I lost a quahtah down there, an I want to hunt fur it."

She was given several matches and ran ahead and began striking matches and looking along the sidewalk. When the two men came up, she had stopped hunting and had apparently found the coin.

"Well, did you find it?" inquired one of the men.

"No, but I done find this horseshoe, an that's better'n two quahtahs," she said.—Kansas City Star.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble—both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung,' says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

MR. PRINCIPAL M'CREARY'S RETIREMENT.

From the West Ward School after Twelve Years Faithful Service.

Mr. James McCreary, whose resignation of the position of Principal of the West Ward school, was accepted Tuesday by the Board, came to Peterborough twelve years ago to-day to enter upon the duty he practically resigns almost to an hour on the twelfth anniversary of his arrival. During his twelve years in town Mr. McCreary has won the highest respect as a citizen, and, as a teacher, has most faithfully, assiduously and successfully attended to the duties of the office. In fact his close devotion to his work led him to contemplate retirement for rest at any early date; but receiving an offer that involved double the financial remuneration attached to the principalship, he sent in his resignation, to take effect immediately, and the Committee on Appointments of the School Board in deference to his wishes, and in gratitude for the excellent services he had rendered in the past, consented to accede to his request for immediate relief from his engagement.

Mr. McCreary's retirement will be much regretted by his fellow teachers, by whom he was well esteemed, by the scores of pupils, who during the past twelve years, have profited by his capable instruction, by and the many citizens who have learned to respect him. Mr. McCreary has accepted the position of manager of the exhibition tour in the southern United States of the "Petrified Man," owned by his brother-in-law, Mr. T. H. Graham, but while abroad he will not cease to be a citizen of Peterborough. Mrs. McCreary remains in town, occupying the residence during his absence, which, long or short, will only, it is hoped, be temporary.

DOG AND POULTRY SHOW.

Entries Continue to Come in—Show to be Held in the Market Hall.

The entry list for the Poultry and Dog Show continue to swell and if the attendance is commensurate with the worth of the Exhibition it will prove a great success. Quite a number of well known dogs are coming from Montreal and special classes not mentioned in the prize list are to be opened up on the understanding that seven or more entries for each will be forthcoming.

The Bench Show is held for the purpose of encouraging the breeding of a better class of dogs in Peterborough and it is hoped that all owners of dogs of good stock will have them entered in order that the weak and strong points may be ascertained.

The fox terrier, "Radiance," bred by Mr. C. McCormick, of town, and now owned by Mr. A. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, will be shown. It won in Toronto and Brooklyn in its class and also carried off a great many specials at both shows. The prize fox terrier puppy of the year will also be shown, but the great bulk of exhibits will consist, it is hoped, of local dogs.

A COMPLIMENT TO PETERBOROUGH.

Flattering Imitation of our Late Mayoralty Candidates.

There's a proverb that says that imitation is the sincerest flattery, or words to that effect. This is exemplified in the election address of a candidate for mayor for a lakeside town to the south of us. With an impartiality only equalled by the undeflectable equipoise of the scales of the blindfolded goddess of Justice, the lakeside candidate steals his address from those of Mr. Yelland and Mr. Davis. The first half of the address is taken, word for word, (with only local adaptation) from that of Mr. Yelland. The second half is taken word for word (with only local adaptation) from that of Mr. Davis. The candidate thus shows his impartiality, and the custom of literary burglary will doubtless become popular, for on the strength of his hermaphrodite address, the gentleman named was successful, and is now mayor of the town of—, but the name is suppressed, for any town that is capable of such generosity of impartial theft of the brains of others, would doubtless object to taking its right hand into the confidence of its left in respect to its actions of liberality.

Celebration of the Latimer—Russell Wedding Yesterday—The Sherwood-Poussette Nuptials This Morning in St. John's Church.

LATIMER—RUSSELL.

One of the prettiest weddings that has ever delighted the vicinity was that which took place at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Riverview Farm, South Monaghan, the homestead of Mr. James Latimer, whose daughter, Miss Lillie, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Russell of Cavan township, near Millbrook.

Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, of Bailieboro, performed the ceremony, and there were over fifty guests present, including the mother and brothers of the groom.

The bride wore a very attractive travelling gown of blue ladies' cloth. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Mary Latimer, who was similarly attired. The groomsman was Mr. J. W. Russell, Professor of Mathematics, McMaster University, Toronto.

At the conclusion of the interesting ceremony the guests were invited to partake of a most recherche wedding dejeuner, which was spread in a simple but most elegant manner. The dining room was beautifully decorated for the occasion with smilax and carnations, which were also used upon the tables, the effect being exceedingly effective. Many of the older guests, who had witnessed many wedding occasions, declared that they had never seen the arrangements for a wedding so beautifully carried out, and at the same time with such simple elegance and good taste.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Russell left for their home in Cavan, where a fine new brick residence has been erected for them on one of the finest farms in the township.

Amongst the guests present from a distance were Mrs. James Stratton, Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter, and the Misses Stratton, of Peterborough; Dr. Edwy Stratton, of Orting, Washington State, and Miss Belle Dixon, of Belleville.

SHERWOOD—POUSSETTE.

An event which was surrounded by more than ordinary interest was the wedding this morning of Miss Annie Sherwood, third daughter of Mrs. C. E. Sherwood, No. 19 Gilmour street, to Dr. W. Courthope Poussette, of Chicago, son of Mrs. Edw. Poussette, town.

The ceremony was performed in St. John's church by the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, at a quarter past eleven in the presence of a few of the most intimate friends and the relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. Sherwood, looked most charming in a stylish gown of purple covert cloth braided in black and trimmed with sable. She also wore a chic purple velvet toque with purple birds and white osprey and carried a magnificent shower bouquet of white bride roses. Her sister Miss Marion Sherwood, was the bridesmaid and was most attractively gowned in a gray broadcloth suit trimmed with black and white satin and gold braid. A handsome black velvet picture hat was also worn and pink roses were carried.

The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Mackiem Poussette.

The choir were all present in compliment to the bride, who formerly sang with them As the bridal party entered the church Lohengrin's wedding march was played and before the service began the choir sang "The Voice that Breathed o'er Eden." As a recessional Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Poussette drove to the Grand Trunk Station, accompanied by the wedding party, and left for Chicago by the noon train.

Both bride and groom were well known Peterborough and were great society favourites. They will be greatly missed in social circles and the most cordial good wishes will accompany them to Chicago, where Dr. Poussette has decided to locate and practice.

RECEIVED THE HABIT OF THE SISTERHOOD.

A Solemn Ceremony at Mount St. Joseph—Four Young Ladies Received the Habit of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph—Names of the Postulants—Eloquent Sermon by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

On Tuesday at Mount St. Joseph, the Mother House of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph, four young ladies received the habit of the order. They were: Miss Maria Gilmurray, of Brickley, in religion, Sister Mary Evangelica; Miss Minnie Young, daughter of Mr. C. Young, Young's Point, in religion, Sister Mary Leona; Miss Hannah Costello, daughter of the late Michael Costello, of Emily, in religion, Sister Mary Thecla, and Miss Ellen O'Connell, daughter of Mr. Jas. O'Connell, Ashburnham, in religion, Sister St. Catherine.

The solemn ceremony took place in the chapel, and was celebrated by Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, assisted by Rev. Father Bretherton, of Emily, and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, of the Cathedral.

The special sermon, an address of unusual excellence, was preached by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, upon the duties the postulants were called upon to address themselves to in their new relations. His text was from the Gospel of St. Matthew, chap. 19, v 27—"Behold I have left all and followed Thee." The preacher related the incident of the young man that came to our Lord with the statement that he had kept all the commandments from his youth up, and applied our Lord's reply—to sell all he had and follow Him, to the position of the young ladies in their new sphere of duty. They were called upon to serve Christ's poor—the poor materially, intellectually and morally. They were eloquently enjoined to imitate the example of Christ—his poverty, chastity and obedience, and the media of grace to help them in the discharge of their high duties were pointed out, prayer, vocal and mental, the use of the sacraments of the Church and obedience to the rule of the house.

In the sanctuary during the ceremony were Rev. Father McCloskey, Campbellford; Rev. J. J. O'Sullivan, Douro; and Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan, of this Cathedral.

V. Rev. Vicar-General Laurent, of Lindsay, though arriving late for the ceremony, was present for the occasion.

In the congregation were several of the relatives of the postulants.

A hockey match was played in the rink a few days ago between the Stars and Mohawks. The teams lined up as follows:

H Choate	forwards	P Doughty
Chas Conway		Jos Snider

The game created a great deal of excitement, being called at 2 p.m., and lasting, so the survivors say, till 3 o'clock, at which hour the "Stars" began to shine.

The report that James touched the puck with his stick is false.

Snyder was ruled off for using a steel hockey stick. Had it been harder than the players' heads it might have been allowed.

Tully when raising the puck, lifted Lowry with it through the goal. Two goals were allowed.

Doughty thought the ice too slippery for good hockey, and should be padded in the future.

Loss—On New Year's day a hockey team. Parties having any information, please inform the secretary. It is understood they were showed under.

The members of the "Chosen Friends" met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hyde on New Year's Eve and an enjoyable evening was spent.

HOCKEY.

It is too bad that arrangements were not made to have the Winnipeg hockey team stop off here this week on its way through to Ottawa. The Winnipegers were given a hot game here once before and such a match would have drawn a big crowd.

The first match in the senior series of the O. H. A. will take place here on Friday, the 14th inst., when the Toronto Athletic Club seven come down to try conclusions with the Peterboroughs. Although the city team is reported to be very fast this year and has secured the services of Hardisty, the great Rat Portage forward, yet the local boys will be in good shape for the event and will doubtless be quite able to hold up their end.

The Globe says that Peterborough will have a very strong Junior team this year and that Walter Phelan is putting up a fine article of the game for the Seniors.

Lionel King is to referee the Brampton-Orangeville game to-morrow night.

ICE RACES.

It has been decided to hold the Belleville ice races on the 25th and 26th inst. On the first day there will be a three-minute race and a 2:37 race. Purses of $100 will be offered for each. On the 26th there will be a 2:40 race and a free-for-all. For the former a purse of $100 will be hung up, and for the free for-all $125 will be offered.

WRESTLING.

In the preface to a Hand Book, on wrestling, Hugh Leonard gives athletes aspiring to distinction in this branch of sport some valuable advice. For instance, he says: "No exercise brings in to play all the muscles of the body in a more thorough manner, and none is more interesting than wrestling. For youth its attractiveness and value need no comment. Nor is it less valuable as an exercise among those of maturer years whose vocations restrict them to indoor exercise. It is also of importance to the specialist in athletics, as a basis exercise for general development, in these days when there is such a tendency to specialties.

"True, there is a prejudice against wrestling among many who mistakedly regard it as too violent an exercise. Of course, at the beginning, care must be taken against over exertion; but that is true of every sport. The muscles must be gradually strengthened and habituated to do their duty. The wrestler must creep before he can walk. But when he has learned thoroughly the art of wrestling, he will find no other exercise more valuable, in the cultivation of faculties which will help him to success, whatever his walk in life—viz, agility, strength, determination, coolness and quick exercise of judgment."

Leonard selects the catch-as-catch-can style as his chief theme. He says: "The catch-as-catch-can style is the least artificial, and the most ancient mode, as well as the one which is destined to have the most lasting popularity. Apart from those styles of wrestling which involve the use of special clothing or accoutrement, this system includes every hold, trip, or throw which is to be found in the other systems."

In his historical review of the sport, Leonard shows us that wrestling as an art dates back to hoary antiquity. Throughout literature from its beginning, we can find records of contests in wrestling, and first among these may be mentioned that celebrated encounter between Ajax and Ulysses, immortalised by Homer. The written history of wrestling, however, ante dates these legendary tales of Homer and the much-sung siege of Troy. In the land of Egypt, which has furnished us so many things to show that there is nothing new under the sun, we find in the ancient temples evidence, indelibly traced, that wrestling was a perfected art 3,000 years before Christ. The Greeks undoubtedly obtained their knowledge of wrestling from the Egyptians. In the old days the sport was frequently continued to the death. In England wrestling began to be practised at an early day. Disorderly conduct at the early contests at St. Giles' Fields and Clerkenwell threw them into disrepute. But wrestling did not die. This is evidenced by the frequent allusions of English writers, the most notable instance of which is the contest between Orlando and the duke's wrestler in "As you Like it." This contest, although it took place in other and imaginary lands is but a description of wrestling as practiced in England in Shakspere's time. It will be recalled that both Leonard and Denny Gallagher have not infrequently played the part of the wrestler on the stage in performances of "As You Like It." In France and Germany the Græco-Roman style of wrestling has prevailed through several centuries.

In America, catch-as-catch-can wrestling is, and long has been, decidedly the most popular. Athletic clubs and universities of the present day throughout the country, have heartily taken up the sport, says Leonard, and hold annual contests among their members in which the most intense interest is taken, and the time seems to be not far distant when it may form the regular part of the education of the average American boy, as in the days of antiquity it was a feature in the education of the Greek youth. In India, China and Japan wrestling has been practised uninterruptedly for thousands of years.

Leonard says the time to throw a man is when he is moving or exerting his strength in the same direction as that in which you desire to throw him. Under the head "fainting," he says: "A wrestling bout is an epitome of a military campaign. In either case success depends more upon strategy than upon strength. With armies of anything like equal strength, the general of neither would think of trying to crush his rival by direct attack." He recommends perseverance. The chances of successful preparation or anticipation by the opponent will be found to decrease with each trial. While securing one hold at a time is the simplest procedure, successful wrestlers often obtain two separate holds—one with each hand. To throw an opponent with either of these holds alone might be possible; when the two are combined, however, they are often irresistible. Weight should always be used in pinning a man to the floor when downed. This is also true of the under man, who, by making himself dead weight, can often frustrate attempts to pull him into shape for a fall. Considerable attention is given to the conduct of the men on the mat. Rigidity of pose or muscles is always to be avoided. Quickness cannot be attained if this rule is ignored.

The Opening Ball

$56,000 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS

TO BE SOLD FOR $38,000!

We're booked for a lively time on this, the opening month of 1898. Weeks and weeks ago, before the holiday trade had fairly begun, we arranged for collecting goods for a very special occasion during January, 1898. The extent of that preparation is shown to-day in the vast quantities of WINTER CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS, at prices below the market, and with such facilities for quick selling as have never before been equalled. We believe there is plenty of business to be got even in midwinter. Every live clothing dealer knows that the thermometer is a livelier salesman than any other that can be employed. People wont buy until the time comes, and that means until the weather is right. Besides, half the people wear last year's winter garments until January bargain time comes. Acting on that principle this store has been busy every January for years.

COLD WEATHER IS A GREAT BOOMER!

With such prices as we now quote, we expect to surprise those who have been "playing a waiting game," as well as those who will take the trouble to see the goods and the value they represent. What we emphasize now is NEW GOODS, NEW STYLES AND NEW PRICES. It is important that you remember that. Buying as we do in great quantities and selling for Cash, have reduced the cost so materially that shoppers can't help but wonder where our profit comes from.

WE Buy for Cash, Sell for Cash; Buy Low, Sell Low—Because we know how to.

Wide awake waiters, and people on the lookout for January Snaps, have a chance now, the like of which can't be got anywhere else but at this Big Store.

VICTORIA CLUB NOTES.

The Rooms Excellently Heated for the Winter Season—Some Suggestions.

When is there to be another free smoker for the members?

What's the matter with that billiard tournament? The committee should arrange dates for the draws to be played off immediately before all interest is lost in the matter.

The heating apparatus is all that could possibly be desired, and the rooms are at all times warm and comfortable.

The officers should arrange another pedro tournament. Challenges have been received from numerous outside parties but have been given no attention.

There is a quartette of cribbage players at the club who would like to arrange a match in the rooms any evening with a like number of outsiders.

The question has been asked as to whether interest in club matters could not be increased by the appointment of an entertainment committee, upon which could be imposed the responsibility of arranging an entertainment of some nature to take place every two weeks.

The Baby Boy Covered with Eczema and Cured By Dr. Chase.

Mr. Jas. Brown of Molesworth, Ont., tells how her boy (eight months old) was cured of torturing Eczema. Mothers whose children are afflicted can write her regarding the great cure, Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her child was afflicted from birth and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him.

During the visit of Li Hung Chang, the "Grand Old Man of China," to this country, the New York Sun said of him: "He is a large, strong, impressive specimen of manhood. He has a massive frame, a shapely head, a commanding face and well posed features. He is a keen observant of mankind, of life and of things. He is seventy-four years of age and still in the hey-day of his power."

If a Chinaman, usually regarded by us as a barbarism, can live to a healthy, hale old age, why cannot Americans, with their more advanced civilization, do the same? The reporters discovered during Li Hung Chang's stay in this country, that he took every thought for his health. He lived upon the simplest of diets and never passed a day without consulting his physician. He limited his toil to a reasonable number of hours, and would not deviate from his rule in this matter. American men follow just the opposite practice. They work to the limit of endurance, will not even take the proper time for eating, resting and sleeping, and never think of their health until it is gone. There is a wonderful medicine for hard-working men. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It takes the place of a physician. It keeps away ill-health and restores health when it is lost. It is the great appetite sharpener, blood-maker and flesh-builder. It makes the digestion perfect, the liver active and the blood pure and rich. Medicine dealers sell it.

"My husband had been a robust young man," writes Mrs. M. J. Tedder, of Ellington, Reynolds Co., Mo. "When he was 31 years old he began to cough very hard. He had pains through his chest and lungs. His mother and the rest of his family had died with consumption. He continued to cough every winter, until in 1885 he had an attack of pneumonia. His cough grew worse and worse. He would vomit immediately after his meals. In 1886 he coughed night and day. He was getting very weak and had no appetite. He commenced Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' He improved. His appetite got better. When he had taken seven bottles he looked like a new man and felt like a new person. He weighs more than he ever weighed before. He gained twenty-eight pounds and is cured."

THEY BOTH GOT OFF.

Dr. Hutchinson and Augustus Frezello Are Free by That Marriage.

Ingersoll, Ont., Jan. 5.—The Hutchinson case came up for trial hearing yesterday and, after the evidence was all in, the Crown authorities asked the magistrate to dismiss the charge against Dr. Hutchinson, as there was not a particle of evidence against him, which the magistrate accordingly did.

The case against Augustus Frezello was then proceeded with, but, after argument, the magistrate held there was not sufficient evidence to commit him for trial and summarily discharged him and dismissed the case.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure.

St. Thomas, Dec. 27.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population almost is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter that "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood, yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

MADEMOISELLE THERMOMETER.

I know of a restless young lass,
Who lives in a house made of glass,
And from her location
Marks each vibration
Of hot and cold waves as they pass.

When heat is announced, she will spring
To quickly make note of the thing.
'Tis very surprising
That simply by rising
So true a report she can bring.

To self elevation inclined
She has such a volatile mind
That in every season
A suitable reason
For frequent depression she'll find.

Her temper mercurial thus Creates everywhere such a fuss
That in conversation
Affairs of the nation
Are slighted, this maid to discuss.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Princess Beatrice as a German Author.

London, Jan. 4.—It was recently announced that Princess Beatrice, youngest daughter of the Queen and widow of Prince Henry of Battenburg, was writing a devotional book dealing with widows' mourning. The book was published today at Darmstadt. It is written in German and contains a preface by the Rev. Mr. Vogel, a German clergyman, who says that he was requested to revise the work, but that he left unchanged many sentences which were not quite German, fearing to efface their originality. The Daily News publishes long extracts from the book, but does not mention its mode of publication.

A NATURAL WONDER.

The Tramp Red Sandstone Bowlder of the New Jersey Mountains.

Countless thousands of years ago vast stretches of glacial deposits came sliding across the state of New Jersey, mounted the Palisades, pushed their way across the Hudson river, scoured over Manhattan Island and slid out into the Atlantic ocean, whither they disintegrated and sank into the deep or perhaps glided on to the other shore.

But in their onward march these glaciers left indestructible evidence of their grinding stride, and today all along the palisades the trap rocks and bowlders are worn smooth where the mountains of ice and sand passed over them. In some rocks are deep scratches, all pointing eastward and showing which way the glacial deposits drifted. There is the evidence, mute, but indisputable.

To the careful observer there are numberless other evidences of the presence of glacial influences in the past, but none is more convincing than the tramp bowlder that has finally settled down in the woods in the heart of Englewood borough. There it sits, a towering mass of rock weighing perhaps 200 tons and resting upon three points which in themselves find a purchase on a flat rock that is part of and common to the character of rock which composes the palisades. But, strangely enough and to the wonderment of geologists, the tramp bowlder is red sandstone from the Jersey hills 25 miles inland, and the pedestal is metamorphite or soft granite.

Around this marvelous monument have grown trees that may perhaps be a century old, and they have completely hedged it in, while the rock itself has stood where it stands today for thousands of years. On the pedestal or that part of it which is protected from the action of the elements can be seen the deep ridges and scars made across its flat surface by the great grinding pressure of the body of ice and sand that passed over it countless years ago when New York was ice and snow clad and the world was a desolate waste in a state of chaos.

This tramp bowlder has caused geologists much wonderment and is regarded today as one of the finest specimens ever left in the wake of a glacier. It is equally astounding as though an explorer should find the hull of a steamboat in the Sahara desert. The only way it could get there would be through some great convulsion that had lauded it from the sea in the heart of the inland sands.—New York Journal.

BIRDS' EGGS.

The Reasons Why They Are Not All of One Shape.

Why is there not a fixed form for all eggs? We can see no reason in the anatomy of the bird, but we may often find reasons for the shape of any particular egg in its later history.

It is noticeable, for instance, that the more spherical eggs, as those of owls, trogons and the like, are usually laid in holes in the earth, rocks or trees, where they cannot fall out of the nest, and that the eggs of the ordinary song bird, which makes a well constructed nest, are oval, while the slim, straight sided, conoidal eggs, tapering sharply to a point, belong to birds that construct little or no nest—to the shore birds, terns, guillemots and the like. Why? Because these last drop them in small clutches and with little or no preparation upon sand or rock, where, were they spherical, they could only with difficulty be kept closer beneath the sitting bird, but conical objects will tend always to roll toward a center. An additional advantage is that eggs of the latter shape will take up less space—form a snugger package to be warmed. In the case of guillemots the single egg laid is especially flat sided and tapering, and the species owes its perpetuation largely to this circumstance, since, were it not for the egg's toplike tendency to revolve about its own apex, the chances are that it would be pushed off the ledge of naked sea cliff where the careless or stupid bird leaves it.

This suggests a word in reference to the popular fable that sitting birds carefully turn their eggs every day or oftener in order to warm them equally. No such thing is done, because unnecessary, since, as we have seen, the germinal part always rises to the top and places itself nearest the influential warmth of the mother's body.—Ernest Ingersoll in Harper's Magazine.

WAS THIS MURDER?

Toronto Man Dies in British Columbia From Cold and Injuries.

Nelson, B.C., Jan. 5.—In an inquest held into the death of Albert Ashton, who was found badly frozen on the Kaslo and Slocan Railway, and who died soon after being found, it was developed that Ashton, who was accompanied by a companion named Kellehan, had trouble with a Whitewater hotelkeeper named Boreen, in which Ashton was used roughly. Kellehan and Ashton then left Whitewater, but Ashton, owing to his injuries, was unable to keep up to his companion, and lay down by the wayside. The jury returned a verdict "that Albert Ashton came to his death through exposure, aggravated by an assault on his person by Charles Boreen, at or near the Victoria Hotel, Whitewater." Boreen was arrested on the charge that he "did unlawfully kill and slay one Albert Ashton." His examination was adjourned and bail fixed at $12,000. Ashton comes from Toronto, though little is known of his people.

Tender, if True.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 5.—At the Lyceum Theatre last night Ernest Williams sang "Mother, I Love You So" to a large audience. The pathetic melody caught the great crowd and the singer was encored.

As the orchestra struck up the prelude for the second time a telegram was handed Williams. He read it, hesitated a moment and then staggered to the footlights and repeated the song with the tears streaming down his face.

When Williams left the stage the manager stepped to the front and explained that the telegram advised the singer of the death of his mother.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

VICTIMS OF GOITER.

The Disease Is Brought on by Drinking Snow Water.

The valley of the Rhone has been quite noted for its goiter victims, although I am happy to say that through the increased watchfulness of the authorities there now is an abatement of the disease. Many different causes are assigned to the terrible affliction—this enlargement of the glands of the throat, goiter, or "big neck," as it is sometimes called—and even the best informed are far from being unanimous as to its origin or prevention. The peasants themselves say it is brought on by the habitual use of snow and glacial water. The water is so cold it acts as a counter irritant, and so inflames the throat, but this explanation hardly holds, as the inhabitants of the upper regions are not so often afflicted as are the people in the lower valleys. The use of chemically impure water, especially hard water, is given as a cause.

The experiment has been made where the water of certain wells was used to the exclusion of all other water. Within a short time goiter symptoms began to manifest themselves where none had been before. Sometimes this disease is epidemic. An instance was noted where in a garrison one out of every 20 men became afflicted. Infants are seldom born with goiter, but after it once takes hold the progress of the disease is very rapid. I believe that it is rarely fatal, but because of this enlargement of the glands and the consequent disfigurement of the throat it is most repulsive, and yet the natives are so accustomed to seeing it that they do not seem to care. It probably is simply a source of discomfort rather than mortification. In fact, in some portions of France, Italy and Switzerland a goiter is a thing to be prised and to be exhibited, for its possession exempts a man from military service. Young men have been known to resort to certain wells supposed to convey this poison to the blood that they might evade conscription. When Savoy was annexed to France, vigorous measures were adopted to stamp out if possible this hateful disease. There was a heavy penalty for drinking the water of forbidden wells, and then the little children were treated in the hope of curing them. Lozenges of iodine were administered, and out of 5,000 children 2,000 were cured, and more would have been helped had not the parents ignorantly opposed the giving of the remedies. The villages also were cleaned and sanitary measures insisted upon. For, aside from all other causes, it is quite agreed that goiter may be transmitted or be sporadic. Like diphtheria, it is a filth disease, and often has its origin in the negligent habits of the villagers. These peasants refuse to live elsewhere than in the old "dorfer" (villages), each morning going far away to the fields, but returning at night to their overcrowded homes, where men, women and children, cows, goats and donkeys dwell together fraternally.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

SHOWED HIS BAGGAGE.

There Wasn't Much of It, but It Satisfied the Clerk.

It is not always necessary to travel with three or four saratogas, a dress suit case, a bundle of rugs and a bird cage in order to obtain good accommodations at hotels.

Occasionally there does exist throughout this hospitable land a hotel which does not require a certificate as to a person's ancestry, status in life, past history and future movements before its clerk permits one the privilege of a room. At least this is the firm belief advanced by a young Chicago couple just back from their wedding trip. Down east one day the train wended its way through the woods and heights of the Adirondacks and miles away from civilization halted at a lone platform bordered by a piny wildness too alluring to be slighted by westerners fresh from prairie lands.

"Train stops 1 hour and 15 minutes," announced the young husband who had made a dash for the conductor. Out on the platform and up the charming road wandered these two, and time flew. However, they kept an eye on their watches and reached the platform with ten minutes to spare.

But the train was gone.

A lone man perched at the end of the platform explained in a bored way in the face of their indignation that it was 15 minutes and not 1 hour and 15 minutes that the train stopped.

"When is the next train?" the travelers begged.

"There isn't any," sweetly said the native.

"Where is a hotel?" they shouted.

"Up the road the other way," the sphinx said in a tired way and turned to watch the antics of a grasshopper.

Up the road the other way they went and discovered in the wilderness a hotel with a haughty clerk, electric lights and all modern improvements.

"Any baggage?" inquired the man at the desk as the young man registered.

The travelers gasped in consternation as they stared wildly at each other with the sudden shock of realizing that trousseau, traveling bags and umbrellas were speeding miles away from them.

"Oh, yes!" gulped the young husband airily. "Baggage — of course." He plunged into one pocket, drew out a small comb, his wife's powder box and its accompanying square of chamois, which he gravely laid before the clerk.

That gentleman never moved an eyelash.

"Front!" he called. "No. 927!"

The heroine of this story still claims the imperturbable clerk was a mind reader, but her husband says it was all due to her helpless, appealing air and the streak of cinders on her nose.—Chicago News.

FRANKLIN'S GRAVE.

Reasons Given For Allowing It to Remain In Its Present Condition.

Benjamin Franklin's grave is in a neglected condition. No appropriate stone rises over it, the ground round about it is uncared for, and the tomb of the great scholar and statesman is as obscure as that of a man whose name and fame were no part of the glory of his country.

His grave is destitute even of a headstone. It is covered by an old fashioned marble slab which was placed there 100 years ago and is now worn and discolored by age.

Nothing has been done to it since Franklin was buried there, and even the modest arrangements of the grave are not kept in the perfect condition that is expected of a great man's tomb. The earth on all sides is bare of grass, the common thatching of the commonest grave, and an air of desolation is about the whole place.

The sexton said that the descendants of Franklin would not do anything to repair the grave; neither would they allow anybody else to do anything. Every day he has received offers of subscriptions from visitors, who are distressed by the forlorn appearance of Franklin's resting place and who would like to see it improved. In reply he says, as he has been instructed, that Franklin wished it so, "being a plain man averse to display of any kind." Not long ago, at his own expense, he had the fading inscription recut, or else even the only distinguishing mark, the name, would be gone.

If he had not done so, the last resting place of the greatest man, outside of Washington, in American history would have been forgotten and unknown. Who is responsible for this condition of affairs? Not the living relatives of Franklin. The responsibility rests with the American people, to whom the man belongs. They should see to it in the future that what little is there to mark the grave is kept in better order than it has been in the past.

Before he died Franklin provided for his own gravestone and instructed a stonecutter of his acquaintance in every detail, even to the inscription which was to be placed upon it. He desired to be buried beside his wife, who had died some years before, and a common slab was to be placed over them both. The inscription arranged as he ordered it reads:

BENJAMIN and DEBORAH } FRANKLIN
1790

Everything was done as he desired, and the work was paid for out of his estate and stands today the same as when he died.—Philadelphia Times.

Wabbled When He Came to Possum.

Old Uncle Claybrook is a very religious old darky and holds converse with his Maker twenty times a day or oftener. His habit is to pray and then turn off into what appears to be a one sided conversation with the Lord, but it is evident that there is another party to it as far as he is concerned. To hear him reminds one very much of a telephone conversation.

The other day he was going through his customary devotions, and when he got to the point of expressing thankfulness for the many blessings of life he broke off into a recounting of them, says Cicero T. Sutton of the Owensboro Inquirer. "An den, dar's possum, Lord—how'd you ever think of makin possum? Possum jes' beats all. You jes' couldn't beat it ef you tried ag'in. Possum, he, he! Yes, dar's watahmillion. I hadn't thought of dat. Hit's jes' great. You couldn't beat hit neither, could you, Lord? Now, hones', couldn' you jes' fix it so dey bofe git ripe at oncet? Ef you was to do dat, you mought go out an shet de do'. Doy wouldn't be no mo' sin an no mo' sorrow an no mo' tribelation. Jes' try hit oncet, Lord, an jes' see whut a diffunce hit would make."

And then "old uncle" began to hum a quaint negro camp meeting tune and stopped to look at a piece of liver in a butcher's stall as the best substitute for his loved possum or as best suited to the small piece of money which represented his total movable wealth.

MRS. JOS. QUERIN, hotelkeeper's wife, at Ethel, Ont., was troubled with Eczema of the Head and Face for about 9 years, and was so bad at times she could not go near the hot stove to do her cooking. Her head was one mass of scabs, and although she treated with doctors it kept getting worse. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment, she got some, and was delighted to find the first application do her good. Mr. R. G. Kennedy, builder and contractor, No. 304 Perth Ave., Toronto, says: It is the best medicine I ever used. I was troubled with piles for many years, and always in misery. I suffered so much during this time that I often wished death would come and end my sufferings. I spent a great deal of money trying all kinds of medicine, but received no benefit until I tried Sloan's Indian Tonic. It relieved me almost instantly and effected a permanent cure. I will never be without the medicine as long as I can procure it. It is a model blood purifier and will stimulate the whole body. You are at liberty to use my name in declaring the great healing qualities of Sloan's Indian Tonic, and all who purchase one bottle will soon perceive its good effects.

FUR OPPORTUNITIES

"Opportunities," said the old darkey, are sure to come to every man and woman, but it's only a bright man or woman dat knows um when dey comes"—

It does not take a very bright man or woman to recognize the "opportunities" we offer this week in Fine Fur Goods. The fact is we want after the holidays to unload—do not wish to carry Furs over season, and our stock is so large that it compels a reduction at once in order to clear. A bargain is doubly a bargain when it comes at the right time. From now on the best time to wear Furs—real cold weather comforts.

Call and see what genuine Fur Bargains we are now offering. Prices reduced on some goods 20 per cent., on others 10 per cent., others again 15 per cent.

Mr. Thos. Dodds, a student of Knox College, delivered an address in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. Mr. Dodd's described the work done by the Knox Missionary Society and strongly urged the necessity of sending the gospel to the new settled districts of Canada.

The members of the English church are busy preparing for their entertainment. It will probably come off next week.

On Thursday evening last a large number of Mr. F. G. Code's friends assembled at the McGregor House to bid him goodbye before he took his departure for Winnipeg, where he has been transferred. About nine o'clock the guests entered a large dining hall where supper had been prepared in elegant style by Mine Host McGregor. After partaking of the good thing prepared, Mr. H. G. OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The very fine sleighing made it lively for the municipal elections.

The contest for the township reeve was a lively one between Messrs. Boates and Adams, the latter having a majority over Boates, the old reeve, of about 60. There was no reason to find much fault with Mr. Boates, being a very competent reeve, as also Mitchell, past deputy-reeve, beaten by W. S. Graham by about 40.

Congratulations from Omemee acquaintances to Mr. A. L. Davis in obtaining such a victory for the honourable position as Mayor of Peterborough. Business men here also extend to T. H. Hamilton the best wishes in becoming councillor at the first attempt. If Tom is as energetic in municipal affairs as in business circles nothing but the top of the ladder in municipal life will satisfy his ambition.

Mrs. Jas. Fowler, Smith, who had her leg broken some time ago, is now in a poor state of health.

Mr. Jardine is the new principal of the high school.

The family of the late Mr. Hunter have left for Dunnville their former home.

The Rev. J. A. Tanner has a good deal of sickness throughout his congregation.

Mr. A. Thornton is still very low.

Miss Williamson, music teacher, has been visiting Mrs. T. H. Hamilton, Peterborough, during the holidays.

Another large purchase of pigs was made here to-day for Matthews, Peterborough.

NORTH HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

What blustering, stormy weather we have had lately, but we have good sleighing.

Mr. Egerton Crowe's little daughter, who was seriously ill for a long time, is recovering.

Mr. Adam Brock won the prize, a nice dinner set of dishes, which was offered by Mr. D. Cain of Bobcaygeon, to the one one who would make the nearest guess as to the weight of an immense bar of soap.

Mr. McKnight has resumed his services in connection with the Presbyterian church here.

Mr. Cairndaff, Mr. John Tate and Mr. Sutton have each put in a camp in the woods.

Our school meeting took place on Dec. 20th, and first on the programme was the re-election of trustee McRagian Richmond.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

GALWAY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A basket social was held last week at Union School section No. 2, under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church. There was a large attendance, and the proceeds amounted to about fifty dollars.

A farewell party was held at the residence of Mr. C. Coben last Monday evening in honour of the departure of their daughter, Mrs. T. Petrie of Otonabee, who spent the Christmas holidays with her parents. Two sleigh loads of young people drove from the village of Klamount and passed the evening in playing games and music, both vocal and intrumental. Mr. T. Petrie was also present and gave several solos in his usual good style. The crowd dispersed after partaking of an elaborate supper, which was served about midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Petrie left on the morning train for Peterborough.

Mr. Alex. Long of Otonabee, who has been visiting friends here during the past two weeks, returned home on Thursday.

There was a very keen contest for municipal honours here this year. The old officers were returned by an increased majority, with the exception of Mr. Geo. Martin who resigned. Mr. David Curtin fills the vacancy. It appears that the election was held more for the fun than for a change of government.

We have good sleighing now and the farmers are commencing to haul the products of the farms to market.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 3 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

Choice stock of Groceries and Provisions, Fruit, Fish and Vegetables, always fresh, good and cheap. Free delivery. Glad to see all my friends, and thank them for their kind patronage. Wishing you the compliments of the season, I remain your truly

"PIGS EVERY DAY."

This Diet Makes Members Pray for a Speedy End.

YESTERDAY'S ASSEMBLY DOINGS

The Limited Companies—Second Readings—New Plumbing Inspector—Gore Bay an Entry Port—To Purchase Toll Roads—New Laws—Notes of the House Doings.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—The members of both sides of the House are praying the end may come soon; they are having pigs served up to them every day by Mr. St. John, notwithstanding the fact that day after day witness after witness is called who gives his story and theory the lie direct. Yesterday the whole session of the Public Accounts Committee was taken up by Mr. St. John trying to get Mr. Warner, the caretaker at the piggery, to state something which might injure the Government. Mr. St. John failed for the reason, as Mr. Warner stated, there was nothing to "find out." In the meantime the Government is determined to do all in its power to save the country unnecessary expense by facilitating legislation. The Premier gave notice yesterday that after Monday next there would be two sessions of the House daily, one in the forenoon as well as the afternoon and evening.

The Limited Companies.

Hon. Mr. Davis moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Ontario Companies Act, which gives limited companies two years in which to use up their stationery improperly marked.

Mr. Whitney inquired what was to be done about the cases that had already been before the courts.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said the bill provided that in future all such cases could not be brought without the consent of the Crown. The Government would reserve the right to remit costs in all cases that had been passed. The bill was then read a second time.

Second Readings.

These bills were read a second time:

Respecting the Chatham City and Suburban Railway Company—Mr. Pardo.

Respecting the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway—Mr. McKee.

Respecting the County of Simcoe—Mr. Paton.

To confirm and legalize a bylaw of the corporation of the town of Collingwood—Mr. Paton.

Respecting the municipality of the town of Goderich—Mr. Garrow.

New Plumbing Inspector.

Mr. Hobbs introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act of 1892, which provides that plumbing inspectors may be appointed in cities who may collect fees to remunerate themselves.

Gore Bay an Entry Port.

Mr. Farwell introduced a bill to amend the Woodman's Lien for Wages Act, which simply provides for an extension of the present Act to pulp and cordwood and enables process to be filed at Gore Bay as well as at Sault Ste. Marie.

To Purchase Toll Roads.

Hon. Mr. Hardy introduced a bill to further facilitate the purchase of toll roads. The bill provides that in cases where the parties agree to it the commissioners may act as arbitrators and their judgment will be regarded the same as though rendered by the Provincial Arbitrator.

New Laws.

These bills were passed through the committee stage and will be read a third time early next week: Respecting the Kingston, Portsmouth and Cataraqui Railway Co.; respecting the city of St. Thomas and the St. Thomas Street Railway Co.; to confirm bylaw number 586 of the town of Berlin; relating to the city hospital at Hamilton; to incorporate the Presbyterian Ladies' College, Ottawa, and to incorporate the Sisters of Loretto.

Notes.

Mr. Hardy introduced a bill to confirm the revised statutes.

Mr. Gibson (Huron), who retires from politics after this session, was moved to tears when Mr. Whitney so feelingly referred to his honorable career.

Hon. Mr. Harty introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Waterworks Acts. The bill gives the water commissioners in cities and towns the right to enter any premises and disconnect the surface pipes.

The Premier has given notice of a bill to amend the Registry Act, also respecting the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors.

Mr. Hobbs gave notice of a bill respecting cemeteries, while Mr. German has an amendment to make to the Assessment Act.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock last evening that Mr. Speaker might entertain a number of gentlemen at dinner. It has been remarked that Mr. Evanturel has, contrary to precedent, never invited a representative of the Legislative press to share his hospitality.

GOLD IN LABRADOR.

A Party Going From Nova Scotia to See What the Possibilities Are in That Northern Country.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 6.—That Labrador is very rich in minerals there is every reason to believe, but whether it contains rich deposits of gold, as many are inclined to believe, is a problem that has yet to be solved. To settle this question is the object of the expedition which is to leave Halifax early next season. The theory that gold exists in larger quantities in northern latitudes than elsewhere may or may not be correct, but true it is that, on account of their being less accessible, and on account of the difficulties to be overcome and the hardships to be undergone in order to reach and work them, rich deposits in the north have lain undisturbed through the centuries and only recently, when the more easily worked deposits of the south are becoming exhausted, men are beginning to turn their faces to the north and face the cold and danger and the difficulty that lies in the path of the gold-seeker in the icy regions in order to seek the precious metal in those parts of the earth where they have not dared to seek it before. Those who have visited Labrador report that there is abundant evidence that gold exists. In fact, the article itself is said to have been found, though no systematic search for it has been made in the more likely places. A reporter asked two or three prominent mining men for their views in regard to the proposed scheme to make a prospecting expedition to Labrador. They all agreed that the possibilities were great, and that there was little doubt that the gold was there if it could but be found. One felt confident that the expedition would meet with success. In the event of starting, he intended to make one of the number.

Many applications had been received and there seemed to be no difficulty in making up the party. It was proposed that it should number about fifteen, and the intention was to leave by a sailing vessel about June 15 and proceed to Sandwich Bay, St. Louis River, and Hamilton Inlet, landing a party of five at each place. The vessel would proceed to the head of the Inlet, which extends about 180 miles inland, where the last party would be landed. Here the vessel would remain in charge of the crew until the return. A full supply of provisions and medicines sufficient for three months would be carried. In making up the party young and active men who could withstand the fatigue and hardships would be selected. Each party would prospect as much of the country as possible and return to the coast at a given time to meet the ship. Another who intends accompanying the expedition was enthusiastic. He had been in the country and believed that within it existed another Klondike. Men who knew nothing of mining had found gold. The difficulty, he believed, would be to strike the right place.

DARING BURGLARY AT HESPELER.

Midnight Mechanics Got Away With a Cartload of Goods.

Hespeler, Ont., Jan. 7.—One of the coolest burglaries that has occurred here for many years was perpetrated yesterday morning about 1 o'clock. Two men drove up to Herman Krieg's coal and wood office, in which a stock of gent's furnishings is also kept. They forced in the front doors, and stole about $100 worth of hats, caps and clothing, loaded them on the sleigh and drove away. A passerby half an hour afterwards noticed that the doors of the store were open, and, suspecting that a robbery had been committed, aroused the proprietor, who at once summoned Chief Constable McMaster, who traced the thieves to Guelph by means of a peculiar mark in the snow made by one of the front hoofs of the horse, caused by the loss of part of the shoe. Word has just reached here that a man by the name of Fulton Smith of Galt has been arrested in Campbellville on suspicion of being connected with the robbery. Chief McMaster left for that place this evening to bring the prisoner here for trial.

TEN CENTS A DAY ON ALIENS.

Another Turn of the Screw Proposed by Assemblyman Clark at Albany.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 7.—Assemblyman C. J. Clark will introduce next week a bill providing a tax of 10 cents per day on each alien laborer employed in this State. It compels every employer to report the number of aliens under him, and to pay the tax under a heavy penalty for failure. The measure is said to be backed by organized labor.

A bill is also to be introduced, limiting the practice of hypnotism to regularly licensed physicians.

A Klondiker Missing.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 7.—September 21st last John W. Horn left San Francisco for Seattle with a letter of credit of $25,000, issued by a San Francisco bank, since which time nothing has been seen or heard of him. Horn was a returned Klondiker and a letter to-day from relatives in Eldon, Iowa, suggests that possibly he has been murdered. The police at San Francisco and Sound cities have been unable to learn anything of him since he stepped on the northbound boat.

Reindeer for the Klondike.

Wahington, D.C., Jan. 7.—A cablegram received at the War Department to-day from Lieutenant Devore, who was sent with Dr. Jackson to Europe to secure reindeer for the Klondike relief expedition, said that a steamer had been chartered for the transportation of the reindeer to the United States and it was expected the party would be able to sail for New York on the 20th inst.

He Used a Razor When Tired of Life.

Cayuga, Ont., Jan. 7.—James Glasby, a young farmer living in the township of North Cayuga, committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor. Deceased has been melancholy for a few days, but no idea was entertained of his committing such a rash act. Deceased was unmarried and lived with his parents.

NEW TREATY PORTS.

Condition of Guaranteeing the Chinese Loan.

IT IS BELIEVED TO BE SETTLED.

An Issue of £16,000,000 at Three Per Cent.—German Press Comments—The Eastern Question Becoming More Tranquil—A British-Japanese Alliance Reported.

London, Jan. 7.—It is learned on excellent authority that, in the event of Great Britain guaranteeing the new Chinese loan, the concessions required will take the form of insisting upon the opening of new treaty ports, open to all nations alike.

The financial article of the Globe says it is reported on the Stock Exchange that the British Government has arranged to guarantee the Chinese loan of £16,000,000 at 3 per cent., the price of issue to be 110.

Russia Wants a Slice.

London Jan. 7.—According to a special despatch from Shanghai, Russia is endeavoring to obtain terms similar to Germany's for the occupation of Port Arthur and the Liao-Tong Peninsula from a point considerably north of Ta-Lien-Wan. It is believed that the attitude of England and Japan will frustrate her designs.

Matters Becoming More Tranquil.

Berlin, Jan. 7.—The North German Gazette to-day in a semi-official article says:

"The development of affairs in East Asia is becoming more tranquil. Tension was caused by the political antagonism of Great Britain and Russia, but, behind the political antagonism, now appears an economic one, which, however, should be arranged with little difficulty. There is no reason why one state should exclusively undertake the Chinese loan. Prudent considerations suggest the advisability of an international arrangement."

Self-Satisfaction in Germany.

The German press is indulging in a tone of extravagant self-satisfaction over the success of German diplomacy in China. The fact that Emperor William personally conferred the Order of the Red Eagle upon Baron von Bulow, the German Foreign Minister, for his share in the affair, indicates that the Emperor is delighted with the outcome of his policy.

The newspapers, with the exception of the Vossische Zeitung, are full of sneering remarks at England's expense.

It is now discovered that if Germany moves further north she is bound to clash with Russian interests; if further south, then with English interests.

Various rumors are current as to conferences of the powers to settle the Chinese question, but none can be relied upon. Herr Richter, in the Freisinnige, thinks an unnecessary noise has been made for what he calls an omelette; and he says he cannot perceive any commercial advantage in the acquisition of Kiao-Chou.

Crushing Defeat for England.

Vienna, Jan. 7.—The Deutsche Zeitung, echoing German feeling, says:

"England has suffered a crushing defeat, but there is no fear of war. The British lion roars, but he does not bite. All civilized nations ought to be grateful to Emperor William for having destroyed the myth of Great Britain's universal domination."

The Lease is for 99 Years.

London, Jan. 7.—The Times says this morning it understands the terms of Germany's lease of Kiao-Chou to be 99 instead of 50 years.

Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

London, Jan. 7.—According to a special despatch from Shanghai, the existence of an Anglo-Japanese alliance is openly asserted there in well informed quarters, an alliance to maintain the status quo in China and Corea and to declare the independence of Corea under the joint guarantee of England, Russia and Japan.

Russian Cruiser Bound for China.

Port Said, Jan. 7.—The Russian cruiser Bossia, 12,000 tons, has arrived here on her way to China. It is believed she will be compelled to disembark her guns in order to traverse the canal.

THE C. P. R. TELEGRAPHERS.

Some Foundationless Rumors Corrected—The Status Quo.

Montreal, Jan. 7.—The statement that the C.P.R. telegraphers had referred the matters in dispute between them and the company to Sir William Van Horne is without foundation. Nor is there, as implied in a published despatch, an imminent danger of a strike. The points over which there was a difference between Mr. Tait, the assistant manager, and the committee of the telegraphers were referred to Mr. Shaughnessy, who gave his decision. This was not agreeable to the committee, and negotiations were suspended, at least for the present. This does not imply that an end has been reached, but rather that the committee await further instructions from the heads of the order. Both the C.P.R. and the committee maintain the greatest reserve, but it is not thought by either that there will be any insuperable difficulty in arranging a final settlement. The committee, it is understood, are now in communication with Mr. Powell, grand chief telegrapher, regarding the decision of Mr. Shaughnessy upon the points referred to him.

Nervous Prostration

Sick Headache and Dizziness — All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. SEEKING OFFICE.

The Ottawa Journal (Independent Conservative) says:

Nominally the Conservatives at Toronto are kicking about bad hogs sold for pork, but really they are kicking about what seems to them the bad hogs who have been monopolizing the provincial government for the past twenty-five years or more.

We thank an enemy for thus indicating the true motives that animate the policy—if policy it can be called—of the Ontario Opposition. Office and the spoils of the office are what they are seeking, not the good of the country. Matters of petty moment engage their attention, for instance the "piggery issue" is consuming the time of the House and costing a large amount of money besides. Mr. St. John sought to show that the Humber piggery, constructed to convert unused food from public institutions into merchantable pork, and, therefore, profit, cost $35,000 instead of $7,500, the actual cost. Failing in this, he sought to prove that diseased hogs were sold, and is wasting more time and money over a matter that is not all to the point. If diseased pigs were sold (and they were not) the Ontario Government is not responsible. When the disease broke out in the Humber piggery, the matter was turned over to the Dominion Government inspector, and the slaughtering was done under his direction, and whatever pigs were sold, were sold subject to his direction. But there is no proof, except in the diseased imaginations of the Opposition, that a single diseased hog was sold. We have the evidence of three reliable public men to that effect against the testimony of two disgruntled employees who struck for higher pay, and because it was refused, threatened revenge. It is not the public interest that is troubling Mr. St. John and the Opposition, it is the desire for office that leads them to seek political capital, even in the pig sty. All the other grounds of attack are equally without foundation or valid excuse. Subjects that have been discussed and disposed of time after time are brought up and made the basis of windy electioneering speeches by the members of the Opposition. This prolongs the session and of course adds to the expense of legislation. They find the record of the Government's administration unassailable and, therefore, they lug in side issues that have a reality no bearing upon the really vital question—the capacity or integrity of the Government, but are mere matters of procedure. The Ottawa Journal has "cined up" the Opposition to a nicety. All they want is office—not the good of the Province, but office for themselves. The very means they take to gain office is the best possible proof of their unfitness to perform its duties. The people will not be deceived. They have enjoyed good honest and effective government at the hands of the present administration and are not inclined to turn over the government of the Province to the nebulous political intellect and demonstrated incapacity of the present Opposition.

DESERTING THE SHIP.

DR. RYERSON'S retirement from the representation of East Toronto in the Ontario Legislature has no doubt a legitimate excuse in the demand for greater attention to his professional practice. Still it is suggestive for all that. When the late leader of the Opposition, Mr. Meredith, retired Dr. Ryerson's was one of the names mentioned as his successor, the others being Messrs. Marter, Whitney and Howland. Two of the aspirants are out of the running now, Dr. Ryerson and Mr. Howland. It is very probable that Dr. Ryerson is sick of politics—sick of hope deferred. The Canaan of office is still afar, and since there is no prospect of his warming a cushion on the treasury benches, he wisely decides to stick to his scalpel. It is a sign of the times. Within "the space of one revolving moon" Mr. Whitney has lost two of his extremely problematic cabinet colleagues, Mr. Howland and Dr. Ryerson, representatives of two ridings in the capital city of the province. The process of disintergration begins at the heart.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

DR. RYERSON is a skilful specialist in his profession, but he is a great failure as a political practitioner. He undertook the treatment of a "calf-with-a-cough," and the poor creature died on his hands, and never a cent of the fee was collected.

THE Montreal Star, ultra-Conservative as it is, is compelled to admit that "it can hardly be said with any fairness that Mr. Whitney and his colleagues have stampeded the Government in the House. In Mr. Hardy, Mr. Ross, Mr. Harcourt and their colleagues and their supporters, the Opposition have had to meet a formidable phalanx of debaters." It remarks that "the Opposition have made the further mistake of unduly emphasising some very petty issues," and after due reflection it concludes that "the Opposition certainly made a better impression on the 'stump' than face to face with their opponents in the Legislature," all of which proves, says the St. Thomas Journal, that the weakest feature of the Ontario Opposition is itself.

CANADA'S TRADE.

Figures have been recently published showing the monthly returns of Canadian exports and imports for November. These were of a very gratifying character. The imports amounted to $10,460,810, as compared with $8,692,651 for the corresponding month last year. The exports showed an increase for the month of nearly two million dollars.

These figures indicate the continuance of the trade prisperity of Canada, to which we have had occasion to refer several times lately. There seems to be no let up in the demand, both at home and abroad for Canadian goods, and the import trade, due in a measure to the better advertisement of Canada in England, shows most gratifying increases.

Now come the statistics of failures for the past year fully bearing out our contention that with the advent of a wise and business-like federal administration, would come and has come a period of greater prosperity than Canada has known for many years. During 1897 the number of failures in Canada amounted to 1,907, against 2,179 last year, while the total liabilities were only $13,149,939 against $16,208,400 for 1896.

In every province except Nova Scotia and Manitoba, failures show a falling off. In Ontario the number is 64 less than a year ago, while in Quebec they show the large decrease of 206, only 669 being recorded for the year. There were only ten failures in the Northwest Territories, and the same number in Prince Edward Island.

Affairs in Newfoundland were also somewhat better, there being a total of 20 failures against 24 in 1896. Liabilities, however, showed a slight increase.

The bloo ruin and disaster which were prophesied by the Conservative press and pastizans as an inevitable result of the Liberals being returned to power, has not yet materialized. We might add that there is no immediate prospect of it materialising either.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble — both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung," says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont.; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

CARED FOR AND CURED.

LITTLE SICK CHILDREN

Short Sketch of the Work Done by the Great Mother Nurse—The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

From every county in the great Province of Ontario children are admitted free into the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto, whenever their parents cannot afford to pay.

And few of the poor little sufferers who are nursed and cared for have rich parents, it would seem. Last year the expense of the Hospital was nearly $30,000. And to meet this but $1,325 was received from pay patients.

The balance must come from the more fortunate folks, who are charitable and generous.

The Hospital for Sick Children is the largest of its kind in the world—without exception. There are 200 cots. The average number of patients is 100 per day; 476 were nursed in the Hospital this year—312 little ones were cured and departed with health, strength and sturdy limbs.

In the dispensary department medicine was given to 4,133 children.

Thus nearly 5,000 children were treated in one year.

A great record of good.

In twenty-two years some 24,000 sick children have been nursed and cared for by the Hospital for Sick Children.

Where do the little patients come from?

From all parts of the province—in 1897 there were patients received from these places:—Arthur, Banda, Barrie, Bedford Park, Belleville, Bradford, Brampton, Brighton, Brockville, Brooklin, Carney, Cartwright, Collingwood, Corbetton, Davisville, Doncaster, Eagleton, East Toronto, Eldorado, Elmvale, Ennia, Esquesing, Ewan, Foxmead, Frankford, Gananoque, Georgetown, Gravenhurst, Green River, Hamilton, Hampton Mills, Humber Bay, Huttonville, Invermay, Lambton Mills, Lime Lake, Listowel, Little Current, Markham, Markdale, Meadowvale, Merriton, Mimico, Mitchell, Mono Mills, Mortimer's Point, Mount Albert, Mt. Forest, Nauwigewauk, Newmarket, Newtonbrook, Niagara Falls, North Bay, Norwich, Oakville, Orillia, Oshawa, Ottawa, Owen Sound, Parry Sound, Penetanguishene, Port Perry, Picton, Riverview, Saintfield, Scotland, Springfield-on-Credit, Stratford, St. Catharines, St. Mary's, St. Thomas, Thornhill, Toronto, Toronto Junction, Utterson, Victoria Road, Waubaushene, Westport, Whitby, Whitevale, Wingham, Woodstock.

How do they come? Very often parents hear of the work of the Hospital through the newspapers. In some instances friends of the little sufferers make application on behalf of parents who are poor, but independent and self-reliant.

It generally falls to the lot of the chairman of the Hospital Trust to decide when there is a question of ability to pay. One day, about a year ago, this gentleman was driving towards the city of Brockville, and while passing a school-house the scholars rushed out in eager haste for the fifteen minutes of joy they crowd into recess. Mr. Robertson smiled as the youngsters passed him; but the smile vanished when he observed in the rear a little chap who was hobbling along on crutches, happy but crippled. One of his legs was bent at the knee to a right angle. The carriage was stopped, and the little fellow called.

"My boy, how did you injure your leg so badly?" was the enquiry.

The lad explained that he had met with a mishap one day while chopping wood, that he had been treated in an eastern hospital for some time; that his leg had been straightened, but had again become useless. His parents and schoolfellows looked upon him as a cripple for life.

And so he might have been.

"How would you like to have your leg straightened for good?" asked the Hospital chairman, who knew of the complete cure effected at the great Toronto institution in similar cases.

"Well, mister, there is nothing I would like better," said the boy.

He was assisted into the carriage, and told to direct the driver to his father, who had a blacksmith shop near by. The boy was one of a family of seven children. Most gladly did the father give his consent to the child's removal to the Hospital for treatment.

The little deformed lad thus fortunately met on the highway near Brockville is a cripple no longer. His leg is stiff, but it is straight. He remained in the Hospital for many months. But it was a joyous homecoming when the boy walked lamely and straight without the aid of crutches.

This is a simple case. Thousands of cases might be cited.

The editor of this paper has been informed that if anyone knows of any sick child under fourteen years of age, who is suffering from accident or disease, and whose parents cannot afford to pay for proper medical or surgical assistance—they are asked to communicate with the Hospital for Sick Children.

There is room for such children in the Hospital. They will be nicely cared for, and in all probability, cured.

There is a debt of $40,000 hanging over the institution, $20,000 of which is for debts which must be paid at once.

Even with the strictest economy it requires no less than five executive officers, 24 nurses and 20 domestics to carry on the work of the Hospital. Twenty-five more children could be taken care of with the same number of attendants.

The work of the Hospital is ever increasing. Its doors are wide open to every ailing child in the province.

Such a work should have a million friends in Ontario. If each friend could spare a dollar—what a rich endowment with which to carry on the work.

But the trustees only ask for $20,000—a sum which they are required to pay before the end of January.

Everyone can help.

The need is most pressing.

The appeal is the appeal of poor, weak, suffering childhood, of little, wan-faced babies and children who lie on beds of pain.

The Hospital appeals to you—the reader of this newspaper.

Your dollar will bless you in the giving.

And you will give it.

Every penny aids—every dollar helps—and your dollar may restore health, strength and straight limbs to some poor crippled boy or girl.

Won't you help?

A group of little boys whose maimed and deformed limbs are being straightened at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. (Re-produced from photograph).

This is a home charity — something that should appeal to every heart.

It was Charles Dickens, that great-hearted Englishman — the friend of the fatherless, the reliever of the oppressed and down-trodden, who appealed to every human heart, when he said: "The two grim nurses—poverty and sickness—who bring these children before you, preside over their births, rock their wretched cradles, and nail down their coffins."

In this enlightened Canada of ours—this bright Province of Ontario—this shall not be as long as the doors of the Hospital for Sick Children remain open.

Help remove that mortgage.

Help unload that load of debt.

IN AID OF THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

Matthew xxv. 40.

"Inasmuch as ye gave ear unto the sighing
Of the least of these, the children of my care—
Of your love, from death redeemed them, or, in dying,
Stood between them and the shadow of despair.

"Inasmuch as when the little ones did languish,
You put forth a hand to make their burdens light—
Inasmuch as when they lay on beds of anguish,
Ye were with them in the watches of the night.

"The joy you brought to light, when sorrow hid it,
Now awaits you—an exceeding great reward,
As ye did it unto those—to ME ye did it:
Enter ye into the joy of your Lord."

"Lord, when sought we out the children that did languish?
When put forth the hand to make their burdens light;
Lord, we wist not when they lay on beds of anguish,
And we slept throughout the watches of the night.

"For our lives were full of trouble and of labour,
And the night followed hard upon the day;
Had we lingered with the children of our neighbour,
Our own little ones had perished by the way."

"Inasmuch as though ye might not touch or tend them,
Ye were with them in your love, to heal and save—
And were hands and feet to those who did befriend them,
By the gold and by the silver that you gave.

"Find your treasure where your ransomed ones have hid it;
Take it back a thousandfold for your reward:
As ye did it unto these—to ME ye did it;
Enter ye into the joy of your Lord."

—J. Brunton Stephens, Brisbane.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA.

Dedication of the Union Church at Skaguay.

REV. FATHER GOBEIT'S SERMON.

The Public Schools of Manitoba Denounced—Off for the Yukon—The Natural Gas Policy—Spain Entitled to the Preferential Tariff—Capital Notes.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Your correspondent learns by private letters from Skaguay of the dedication of the Union Church, erected there through the efforts of the Rev. B. M. Dickey, the young Presbyterian pastor sent to the Yukon by the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, who left Vancouver on the 2nd of October, and finding Skaguay a large community without any religious instruction, stayed there. The dedication of the church took place on Sunday, December 12, Mr. Dickey conducting all the services. In the morning communion was celebrated, 32 communicants participating. The people of Skaguay rallied to the support of Mr. Dickey in an energetic and earnest way. A lot was purchased on McKinney avenue, and a considerable part of the labor required to build was cheerfully contributed. When the congregation assembled on that Sunday morning Mr. Dickey had the pleasure of knowing that the church building of this his first charge had been constructed without incurring a dollar of debt. The building is 24x40, gothic in design, and will comfortably seat 250 people. In course of time it is hoped to put in a ceiling and to otherwise improve the appearance of the interior. Six trustees, representing various Christian denominations, were elected to take charge of the temporal affairs of the church, namely, Messrs. F. A. Wise, Episcopal; J. E. Floyd, Methodist; C. A. Broomfield, Presbyterian; R. K. Latimer, Baptist; H. Lombard, Congregational, and John Davis, Native Christian. Mr. Dickey will always be able in future to recall with pride the fact that the various divisions of the Protestant Church united to worship God under one roof and under one Christian pastor.

After considerable correspondence with the Home Government it has been decided to admit products of Spain to the benefits of the reciprocal tariff up to the 31st of July next. This concession is made, not on the merits of the Spanish tariff, but on account of the treaty arrangements between that country and Great Britain, the law officers of the Crown having decided that Spain is entitled to the privilege. The concession will apply on all importations of Spanish goods from the 28rd of April last.

It is understood that arrangements are completed whereby Canadian goods for the Yukon district will be allowed to pass through the disputed territory without payment of United States customs charges, under the regulations soon to be put in force by the customs authorities at Dyea. The goods are to be entered at customs at Dyea or Skaguay on a list which will be checked by a United States officer at the frontier, or possibly at Tagish. If the goods are found to correspond with the list they will then pass without further charge by the United States customs. The intention is on both sides to remove any unreasonable impediment in the way of transporting goods.

Father Gobeit of Ottawa University preached a sensational sermon in the Basilica yesterday. He stigmatized the Manitoba schools as godless, and said that the Government which supported them was the enemy of religious liberty. The Pope's encyclical, he said, would soon be published, and then he would see who among the Catholics of the Dominion were the true friends of the church. The day will come, he said, when so called Catholic politicians would be hurled from power, and religious liberty would be established in Manitoba, and Catholic schools would be given to Catholic children. The reverend father condemned the school question, and said there was no compromise possible. "We must have our schools or nothing." He compared the political leaders of the day to Herod's heirs, who were among Catholics like wolves in sheep's clothing.

Another party of Ottawa men left yesterday by the C.P.R. for the golden fields of the Yukon Valley to seek their fortunes. It consisted of six well-known business men, namely: Dr. G. P. Matthewman, dentist; C. W. Parker, photographer; Dennis Pulford, M. Berry, J. B. Dorion, photographer, and H. Street. Dennis Pulford is a brother of Harvey Pulford, captain of the Ottawa Hockey Club.

The Government has decided that the companies pumping natural gas across the Detroit River are not to extend their operations, and has ordered the charter of the Interior Construction Co. to be cancelled altogether.

Panic in the Penitentiary Chapel.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—There was a panic in the Penitentiary here yesterday when a candle on the altar in the Roman Catholic Chapel ignited the decorations. It flashed up and seemed to fill the whole altar. The women screeched and wept, and men dashed frantically about. Prisoners soon subdued the flames by smothering them with their coats. The tumult brought a score of guards to the chapel, who feared a riot had broken out.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

Would You Be Glad to Hear It?

Jinx has recently become a father. The other morning he was hurrying to the office with the cynical air of a man who had been taking no heir almost all night and has just managed to snatch a few winks after the bawl. It had suddenly flashed across him that he had forgotten to comb his hair when he was accosted by Greens.

"Hello, old man! Allow me to congratulate you! A boy, I understand? I am glad to hear it!"

"Y-e-e-s," replied Jinx.

"You seem rather melancholy about it, though. Nothing wrong?"

"No. I was merely thinking that you wouldn't be so glad to hear it if you heard it all night long."—Pearson's Weekly.

Lost Treasures.

Shortly before the war between Turkey and Greece broke out it had been intended to transfer to the Central museum at Athens various old Christian treasures, antiquities and manuscripts dating back in some cases to the fifteenth century and stored in the churches at Tyrnavos and elsewhere. Delay proved fatal. During the war these treasures were all destroyed by fire or carried away.—New York Post.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

It certainly grows steadily in popularity and in circulation.

THE LOST IS FOUND.

Ernest Brault, who Left Home Three Weeks ago, Returned Last Night.

Chief Rousel some time ago wrote to the chiefs of police in the Province asking them to be on the look out for a French-Canadian named Ernest Brault, who had strayed away from his home here about three weeks ago.

Brault was described as being 40 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches, medium stout build and clean shaven. He wore a brown suit, Irish frieze overcoat with large collar and soft black hat when last seen.

His friends received word from Brockville yesterday that Brault was in that town, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Ralph Larocque, left left evening to bring him home, but in the meantime Brault had started to return himself, and on the arrival of Mr. Larocque in Brockville he found a telegram awaiting him from Peterborough stating that Brault was at home.

On being questioned he stated that he had walked to Norwood, then on to Havelock, and down to Stirling, where he took a freight on the Grand Trunk and worked his way as far east as Montreal. That he was well treated whilst away is evidenced by the fact that he had quite a sum of money with him on his return.

BIRD AND BENCH SHOW.

Another Largely Attended Meeting Held Last Evening.

The attendance last evening was most encouraging at the meeting of the members of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association, and reports were received from committees, stating that arrangements had been completed for the leasing of the Market Hall on January 18th, 19th and 20th for the exhibition, and authority was given for the purchase of lumber for the chicken coops and the benches for the dogs.

Attention was drawn to the fact that a large number of special prizes had been offered for local dogs and that therefore a large number might be expected to be entered, which are owned in Peterborough. It is not necessary to have a pedigree with the entries, but the date of birth must be furnished for statistical purposes. The entry list positively closes on Monday next.

Final arrangements for the show will be made on Wednesday evening next, when a meeting will be held in the council chamber.

AN EXPLANAITON.

The Meaning of "School Girl's" Short Letter.

A correspondence appeared in Wednesday's issue of THE EXAMINER, which seems to demand more explanation. "School Girl's" letter was a protest against the bad quality of the gas by whose alleged light she was endeavouring to learn her lessons. No criticism of the principal of the public school was intended—his moral influence was solicited to assist in improving the quality of the gas so that "School Girl" could report at school with perfect lessons. "Not to put too fine a point upon it," the quality of the gas supplied for consumption could be improved. "School Girl" is not the only one that has reason to complain of the impurities our gas contains in the shape of no stinted quality of Egyptian darkness. Our gas contains "darkness that may be felt"—by those who have to use it for reading purposes.

THE PROVINCIAL Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

It Has Been Invited to Come to Peterborough for 1899.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors held last evening, delegates were elected to represent the Association in Brantford at the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, which opens in that city on the 20th inst, and continues until the 23rd.

A resolution was passed inviting the convention to Peterborough next year—and there is every possibility of the invitation being accepted, as the Peterborough building is a model one, and those interested in the work at outside points are anxious to see it.

Messrs. Ackerman, Knapman, Bennet and Buxton will be the delegates, and it is probable the list will be added to. A synopsis of the programme will be published in a few days.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Fred. Foot.

The many friends of the family will learn with deep regret of the death of Elizabeth Curtis Foot, wife of Mr. Foot, of the firm of Foot & McWhinnie, boot and shoe merchants, which took place last night.

The last illness of Mrs. Foot, was caused by typhoid fever, was of seven week's duration. At the ordinary termination of the disease there was a slight improvement, but she did not convalesce and four weeks later death ensued. The deceased lady was a daughter of Mr. Henry Goodfellow, of North Fredricksburg, near Napanee. She was born in Bristol, England, in 1846, and was therefore 52 years of age at the time of her death. She was married to Mr. Foot in 1867 and came with him to Canada in 1871 and has since been a very highly esteemed and respected resident of the town. She was a member of the congregation of St. John's. She leaves behind her to mourn the loss of a most estimable and well-beloved wife and mother, a husband and seven children, the eldest being Mr. Harry Foot, travelling representative of a wholesale house, the rest being daughters. Mrs. E. Kemp, of Norwood, and Mrs. Joseph Clarke, of North Fredricksburgh, are sisters of deceased. Mr. Foot and family have the earnest sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

The funeral takes place from the family residence, 246 McDonel street, on Sunday, Jan. 9th, at 1.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Funeral of the Late Donald Raine in Port Hope.

The following obituary notice of the late Donald Raine, brother of Miss Maggie Raine, of town, appears in the Port Hope Guide:

"The funeral of the late Donald Raine, of New York, who died in that city on Wednesday morning, Dec. 29th, took place here on Sunday afternoon, from the residence of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Smith, John street, to the Union Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted services at the residence and cemetery. A large number of friends were in attendance.

Mr. Raine was 36 years of age and spent the early part of his life in Port Hope. He was an employe in the Guide office in those days and later served Mr. T. George Watson in his drug store. He left some sixteen years ago for New York city and secured a most responsible position in a large manufacturing concern where his duties were so constant that only the legal and half holidays were available, so that he has not visited his native town as he often wished to do.

He received a slight injury while engaged in business, but nothing to cause uneasiness, but his death was caused by brain fever, after an illness of only a few days. A sorrowing wife and sisters mourn his death and his loss will be much regretted by a large circle of friends whose sympathy is with the bereaved ones.

ST. JOHN'S CHRISTMAS TREE.

The Annual Entertainment and Distribution of Prizes to the Children.

The annual Christmas treat of the Sunday school pupils of St. John's Church was held last evening in the school house when the little ones were greatly delighted by the profusely laden tree and the interesting programme which was rendered during the evening.

The Sunday school is greatly indebted to Miss Alma McCollum for the interest which she took in the preparation of the programme, arranging choruses from the Mother Goose stories, which were sung by the children of the Mission Band. The first chorus was 'Sing a Song of Sixpence,' which was splendidly rendered by the children in costume. This was followed by the Pickaninn Minstrely Company, the members of which by special request sang "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight," and "There's a watermillion spoiling down at Johnsing's." A representation of Mother Hubbard and her dog, arranged by Miss McCollum, was then given, Miss McCollum taking the part of Mother Hubbard, and Master Allen Campbell that of the traditional canine of the rhyme. Afterwards a number of other well adapted choruses from the nursery rhymes were given and then the distribution of presents and prizes from the tree took place to the great delight of the pupils.

The list of prize winners was as follows:

Miss English's class — Katie Graham, Mabel Godfrey, Alma Foot.

Miss Comstock's class—Nellie Graham.

Miss Poole's class—Katie Morris, Gertie Bradburn, Gladys Boy.

Miss Sherwood's class—Olive English, Katie Bullen, Ethel Roberts.

Miss Layfield's class — Ellie Dugan, Pearl Pratt, Jennie McNairn, Daisy Mills.

Mrs. Best's class—Miss Maud Rush, Miss Vida Foot.

Miss Lockridge's class—Misses Vincell Hall, Marion Rush, Ruth Dawson.

Miss Belcher's class—Misses N. Hall, Dollie Comstock, M. Roberts, — Foote.

Miss Lough's class—Misses Maggie English, Charlotte English, Victoria Elliott.

Miss Mellville's class—Douglass Burgess, A. Seward, Charles Kingscote.

Miss Fanning's class—Charlie Kingan.

Miss Boucher's class—Walford Hatton.

Mr. Rush's Class—H. Kingscote, R. Dawson.

Mr. Kingscote's class—A. Graham.

Miss Jenkin's class—Tom Dawson, Allie Gibbs; Horace Walkey, highest marks in school; Warren Dean (special prize.

The success of the evening is largely due to the combined efforts of Miss McCollum and the teachers who spared no pains in perfecting the details. They were kindly assisted by other members of the congregation.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

It is Proposed to Reduce the Fees to the Former Figure.

The attendance at the monthly meeting of the Historical Society last evening at the Y.M.C.A. hall was not as large as it would otherwise have been if the weather had not been so disagreeable and several other counter attractions made greater claims on the members.

The chair was occupied by Col. H. C. Rogers, and during the evening another new member was received. The Lecture Committee reported on the financial results of the recent lecture by Miss Fitzgibbons, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of condolence concerning the recent death of the Vice-President of the society, Mr. John Burnham.

A notice of motion was received, which will be discussed at the next meeting. It deals with the reduction of the membership fee from $1 a year to the old figure, viz., fifty cents.

The balance of the evening was then spent in discussing the following scheme, which was submitted by Mr. T. A. S. Hay:

As it is essential that the Historical Society should be in possession of all information possible relating to the early history of the town and county. A schedule has been suggested whereby a large amount of information might be obtained without much expense to the Society, and which at the same time will be of some advantage, intellectually and financially to a number of young people, by encouraging research into the past history of their native county. This is to offer prizes to the pupils of the Public and Separate Schools and Collegiate Institutes, for the best paper on the history of the early settlement, growth and development of the Town and County of Peterborough.

For which a few conditions and other points have been drawn up, and it is suggested that the appointment of a committee should be made to carry out the scheme. The general conditions would be as follows, subject of course to approval and revision by the committee:

1. Prizes to be competed for by pupils of the Public and Separate Schools and Collegiate Institutes of the Town and County of Peterborough. All competitors must be certified pupils at time of writing.

2. The paper must contain indisputable facts and correct dates relating to the early settlement, growth and development of the locality written about, to contain not less than ——— words.

3. All papers submitted are to become the property of the Historical Society, and to be filed in the archives.

4. The judges of the competition will be an Examining Board, consisting of ——— on whose decision the awards will be made.

5. The papers are to be legibly written on marginal foolscap paper, and on one side of the sheet only.

7. Competitors will not sign their names to the paper, but mark it with a symbol or nom de plume for identification. The full name, address and school together with the distinguishing symbol used are to be written on a separate piece of paper, enclosed with the historical paper, sealed in an envelope and addressed to the secretary.

7. The papers must be in the hands of the secretary not later than ———

8. Prizes will be awarded on a date to be arranged.

9. Each competitor may select any one of the following subjects for his of her paper and will only be allowed to compete on one subject. Circulars embracing all conditions will be sent to each school in the town and county to be posted in that school:

(a) For history of any township in county of Peterborough.
(b) For history of county of Peterborough.
(c) For history of town of Peterborough.
(d) For history of town and county of Peterborough.

Competitors will state which of the above subjects they intend their paper to be judged under.

Amounts of prizes to be fixed by council.

Moved and seconded that the scheme for obtaining information as above be left in the hands of the Executive Council to report at the next regular meeting of the Society.

The Opening Ball

$56,000 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS

TO BE SOLD FOR $38,000!

We're booked for a lively time on this, the opening month of 1898. Weeks and weeks ago, before the holiday trade had fairly begun, we arranged for collecting goods for a very special occasion during January, 1898. The extent of that preparation is shown to-day in the vast quantities of WINTER CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS, at prices below the market, and with such facilities for quick selling as have never before been equalled. We believe there is plenty of business to be got even in midwinter? Every live clothing dealer knows that the thermometer is a livelier salesman than any other that can be employed. People wont buy until the time comes, and that means until the weather is right. Besides, half the people wear last year's winter garments until January bargain time comes. Acting on that principle this store has been busy every January for years.

COLD WEATHER IS A GREAT BOOMER!

With such prices as we now quote, we expect to surprise those who have been "playing a waiting game," as well as those who will take the trouble to see the goods and the value they represent. What we emphasize now is NEW GOODS, NEW STYLES AND NEW PRICES. It is important that you remember that. Buying as we do in great quantities and selling for Cash, have reduced the cost so materially that shoppers can't help but wonder where our profit comes from.

WE Buy for Cash, Sell for Cash; Buy Low, Sell Low—Because we know how to.

Wide awake waiters, and people on the lookout for January Snaps, have a chance now, the like of which can't be got anywhere else but at this Big Store.

HOCKEY.

A telegram was received from the Winnipegs this afternoon stating that they might play here on the 18th.

There will be an extra practice this week on Saturday evening at the rink.

What is the matter with the young ladies that they have not tried any hockey games this winter. If some arrangement could be made whereby the young ladies from Lindsay could be brought over for a game a handsome sum might be realized at the gate for the Protestant Home and House of Providence, or the Children's Aid Society.

The captain of Queen's hockey team has wired the Winnipeg city hockey team, now touring through Ontario, that the game scheduled for Saturday night would have to be cancelled as Queen's could not put a team on the ice. This means that Kingston hockey lovers will be deprived of witnessing the department of a fast team. Here is a chance for Peterborough to make another bid to get the Winnipegs here. They asked too high a figure before but as their Saturday night game is cancelled they might be secured at a reasonable price. They were to get 40 per cent of the gate at Kingston. In referring to the matter the Kingston Whig says:—"Members of Queen's college hockey team requested the Frontenacs to go up against the Winnipeg team on Saturday, feeling uncertain of doing anything creditable to themselves. At a meeting of the executive of the Frontenacs last night the proposition was rejected, the team not being in condition and being weakened by the absence of Rayner. The only alternative left for Queen's is to secure assistance from both Frontenacs and Cadets and put as strong a team as possible on the ice against the visitors. Queen's team is not in a position to meet any team at present." It was afterwards decided to cancel the game.

Fred Metcalfe will play hockey this winter with the Queen's team. He is an old hand with the stick.

Forey Weatherhead is expected to arrive in Kingston to-night to settle down to steady practice with Queen's hockey team, of which aggregation he is captain.

From present indications, says the Kingston Whig, the senior championship cup will go westward to some of the fast hockey teams up that way. It looks as though Queen's mortgage on the trophy had run out.

Manager Arthur Irwin, of the Toronto Baseball Club, has left for Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Washington and other cities where the Toronto hockeyists will play next month, and while there the baseball magnate will arrange the details of the tour. Leaving Toronto about the third week in February, Mr. Irwin will take with him an all-Toronto hockey team, to play in the cities above mentioned, and perhaps Pittsburg, carrying in all nine or ten men. Many a hockeyist has expressed a desire to go on the trip, but the selection of the team has been left entirely with Geo. Carruthers. He has been requested to choose a representative team from the city, that will be known on the road as the Toronto hockey team, and one that will also defeat everything in sight in Uncle Sam's country. Some people have already made hasty calculations regarding the team and its makeup, but they certainly seem premature, when the seven has not yet been chosen. The team will have lots of time to practice before their departure. Manager Irwin has this year done a lot to advertise Toronto, and the hockey scheme is a further step in that direction.

ICE RACES.

Kingston is talking of holding ice races. It is some years since any were held in Peterborough and a two days' meet should be easily gotten up here.

A woman's health is her best and most precious endowment. Her good looks, her enjoyment of life, her happiness, and love and its continuance all depend upon her health. Call it vanity if you will, it is a woman's duty to worship at the shrine of her mirror. It is her duty to preserve her good looks and youthful spirits as long as possible.

The woman who suffers from some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine, can note the daily encroachments of general ill-health, by looking in her mirror. The sallow or blotched complexion, heavy eyes and dark circles under them, the little wrinkles that gradually creep around the corners of her eyes and mouth and the general look of listlessness and despondency will tell the story. Special troubles of this kind are too frequently neglected because the natural and proper modesty of women keeps them from consulting the average run of physicians. These men, because they are without inherent delicacy themselves, imagine that women are the same. They insist upon obnoxious examinations and local treatment from which any sensitive woman shrinks. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for a woman who suffers in this way than all the doctors of this description together. During the past thirty years it has been used by over ninety thousand women with marvelous results. It is an unfailing cure for all weakness and disease peculiar to women. All good medicine dealers sell it.

"For a number of years I suffered with a complication of female troubles," writes Mrs. J. B. Ferguson, of Edgmoor, Chester Co., S. C. "I tried various remedies from physicians, but nothing seemed to do me any good. It seemed that my back would kill me. I had smothering spells at night so bad I could not rest. Also had constipation. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets' and was entirely cured."

THE CANOE SPEAKS.

On the great streams the ships may go
About men's business to and fro,
But I, the eggshell pinnace, sleep
On crystal waters, ankle deep;

I, whose diminutive design,
Of sweeter cedar, pitchier pine,
Is fashioned on so frail a mold
A hand may launch, a hand withhold.

I, the unnamed, inviolate,
Green, rustic rivers navigate.
My dipping paddle scarcely shakes
The berry in the bramble brakes.

Still forth on my green way I wend
Beside the cottage garden end
And by the nested angler fare
And take the lovers unaware.

By willow, wood and water wheel
Speedily fleets my touching keel;
By all retired and shady spots,
Where prosper dim forgetmenots.

HOW BAILEY BEAT BARNUM.

And That at the Veteran Showman's Own Game, Advertising.

One of the elephants with the Barnum-Bailey circus was the means of making the fortune that Mr. Bailey is credited with possessing. It was as a baby phenomenon that the pachyderm did the good turn for the successor of "the great and only Barnum."

Columbia is the name of the creature, and of the hundreds of rare animals in the aggregation none is treasured more highly than she, now a huge, ungainly and overgrown creature with not half the wit possessed by the smallest elephant connected with the circus.

It was away back in 1880, when the news got around that the first elephant born in captivity was living and traveling with the Bailey show. Mr. Bailey was a struggling young circus owner then, battling against fearful odds. Barnum was at the height of his most remarkable career—at the very topmost notch of circus fame.

Mr. Barnum, quick to see the advantage of having so important an attraction as a real American baby elephant, telegraphed to Mr. Bailey as follows:

"Will give $100,000 for your baby elephant. Must have it."

Mr. Bailey wired in answer, "Will not sell at any price."

This seemed a daring thing for Mr. Bailey to do, for $100,000 would almost have purchased the entire show. Even Mr. Bailey's best friends, whom he consulted in the matter, advised him to accept the offer. Instead of doing that he refused it and hustled east with his circus to meet Barnum on his own ground.

By the time that the Bailey circus reached the east the whole country was billed with posters on which was printed "What Barnum Thinks of the Baby Elephant." Underneath that heading was printed Barnum's telegram to Mr. Bailey. As the Bailey show followed in the wake of the Barnum circus each town in which the Barnum aggregation appeared was billed with the Bailey posters.

Probably the Bailey advertising did not affect the attendance at the Barnum circus. Mr. Bailey has since said that he thought that it did not. But the advertisements staring the veteran showman in the face everywhere he went worried him, and finally to dodge the huge posters he changed the route of his circus, although that routine had been determined upon nearly 12 months in advance. He jumped from New York to Kansas City and surrendered the whole eastern field to the Bailey show. The next year the two shows were consolidated and have been one show ever since.

Mr. Barnum's one joke with Mr. Bailey as long as the shrewd old circus manager was alive was, "Well, have you any more baby elephants that you do not want to sell?"—New York Press.

THE LUMPJAW SCOURGE.

An Old and Experienced Butcher Thinks That at Least 10 Per Cent. of the Cattle Are Affected.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 6.—The case of lumpjaw unearthed by the Windsor police is not an isolated one. John Plant, the oldest and most experienced butcher in Windsor, having been in the business, wholesale or retail, for over 40 years, says: "Lumpjaw is very prevalent throughout Essex and Kent counties and I think it should be a very low estimate to say that 10 per cent. of the cattle are affected by it. The farmers are too avaricious to kill the diseased cattle and they don't care if the flesh is sold for food. There is no meat inspector in the city nor any officer whose duty it is to see that no diseased meat is offered for sale. That case of Neville's would never have been discovered and the meat would have been sold on the Windsor market if some enemy of his had not given the tip to the police." "I hardly think that the percentage of affected animals is quite 10 per cent.," said Dr. Orchard, Government Veterinary Surgeon. "Nothing has been done to stamp out the disease, which would entail an enormous expense, but I intend to go out next week and make an investigation. Lumpjaw is classed with glanders and other infectious and contagious diseases, and every animal found to be affected is shot and the Government pays one-third of the expense."

James Neville, of Gosfield North, is to be tried in the Police Court to-morrow on a charge of selling a diseased animal to Charles Shaw. The penalty for a first offense is one year and for a second two years imprisonment.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

SANDY'S GHOST.

"'Commerdations fer the night, stranger? Waal, yes; I reckon we can fix a place fer you. Hev a chear an set you down."

"Thank you. Don't you find this rather a lonely place—no neighbors, no nothing, that I can see? How came you to settle here, so far removed from other habitation?"

"Waal, perhaps it's best not ter ask too many questions ter once."

"Beg your pardon. No offense was intended, I assure you. Simply idle curiosity."

"Don't say 'nuther word, stranger, but come in an we'll hev a snack fer supper. Polly, bring on the victu'ls. Yer jes' in time."

Polly at once obeyed. She was a typical western girl—tall, lithe, graceful and limpid eyed. She was clear skinned and high spirited, too, and in this case ignorant through no fault of her own. John Barr's eyes scanned her intently, and a flush came to her cheeks. For the first time in her life she was unpleasantly conscious of her bare feet. It may have been this that made her stumble and spill some of the contents of an earthen bowl over the guest's knees as she placed it on the table.

Her eyes flashed and a tear of anger twinkled on the lashes. She stopped, half meaning to apologise, but an oath from her father caused her to set the bowl down heavily and to hurry from the cabin. A moment later Barr saw a flutter of pink calico from behind a pile of rocks. Old Kit Robinson saw it too.

"Don't wonder at yer sayin 'tain't right. She's a ama't gal an a good looker, too, an should hev been sent away frum here ter school ter be oddicated. But she won't leave her no 'count dad. I orter be shot fer cussin her. But I ain't what I use ter be. Settin here an keepin guard makes me narvous."

Barr's eyes asked the question his lips refused to speak. Supper eaten, the men went outside and sat with their chairs tilted back against the cabin. Something in the younger man's frank face had softened old Kit into a reminiscent mood and made him strangely inclined to gratify an idle curiosity.

The soft evening winds sighed through the branches of the tall spruce pines, and the declining rays of the setting sun caused the shadow of the rude home to stretch out longer across the greensward. From its shelter where he sat John Barr looked out on the grand ranges of the Rockies and wondered where in their vastness he would find the man he sought—the finding of whom had brought him out into this wild and almost forsaken mining camp.

Old Kit's voice failed him for a moment, but he quickly regained his composure and continued:

"But when old Sandy, my good old pard, give up I didn't keer fer nothin. We buried him in style. All the boys frum round the diggin's wus thar, an many an eye wus wet. We didn't hev nary a preacher, but the gal she prayed at the grave. Fer the life of me I don't know where she larnt it. Reckon the old woman must hev told her. Next mornin the gal showed me a letter thet Sandy give her jes' afore he died. It was ter his boy, an she wus ter give it ter him if he ever cum out this way, an she's got it yet.

"Thet same evenin after supper, feelin kinder glumish an like thar wus sumthin in my throat I couldn't swoller, I tuk a stroll up the gulch. I went on out ter the top of the edge of the big rock an got ter studyin whar I'd find another pard like Sandy. All ter once I felt a hand touch my shoulder kinder light once or twice. I jumped up, half expectin it wus Sandy, but it wus only the gal. Waal, I wus all tuk back at furst, an then I got mad.

"'What air you doin up here?' I axed, kinder rough. She hed tears in her eyes as she looked at me an said:

"'Pap, don't git mad. I wus lonesum. I seed you cumin up this way, an I follered you, 'cause I wanted ter tell you thet Sandy said ter give his boy his pile when he sums.'

"'Waal,' says I, 'you might hev waited till I cum back ter the house.' An then I sent her back.

"Arter she wuz gone I sot ter studyin whar in the world Sandy's pile wuz. I tried ter think whar could he hev hid it. But it warn't no use. All ter once I noticed it wus plum dark, an as these mountings ain't a he'lthy place fer a man ter roam in arter nightfall, especially if he ain't got his shootin irons on, I cut a pretty swift gait fer the shack.

"Jes' as I cum round the bend thar at the pine I happened ter look up terward the cliff, an thar sot Sandy. Yes, sir. It wus him sure as yer born. My feet felt heavy as lead, an I couldn't move frum the spot. I tried ter holler, but it warn't no go. Finally I gave a sudden jerk an made a step terward him, an as I did so he disappeared. Then I made tracks fer home. But I kept mum, 'cause I knowed the boys would say thet mounting dew wus lickin up my brains an I would be seein snakes an sich things afore long.

"The next night sumhow or 'nuther I thought ter go an see if he wus thar ag'in, an, sure 'nough, thar he sot, lookin kinder sad an makin marks on the rocks with his fingers. I hed my hand on my gun this time, so I got a little closter than afore. But, by hookey, he got away from me ag'in, nor did he cum back.

"I could hardly wait fer the next night ter cum round. At the same time I wus on hand good an early, jes' as it begun ter git dark, an the trees looked like long spooks a-stretchin out their arms. I looked terward the cliff, an thar he sot a-markin an a-scratchin on the rock with his fingers an still lookin sad. Now, this bein the third time, I got kinder bold, an I went a little closter an says:

"'Sandy, wha-what's the ma-mat-matter with you? Didn't the boys do the plantin right fer you?'

"Then as luck would hev it I thought of sumthin else right quick, an I said:

"'Or is it the dust you hev hid whar yer sittin?'

"Waal, he looked up then, an the happiest smile cum ter his face, an all ter once he disappeared ag'in. An since then I hev sot here an guarded the place till the right one cums along ter claim it.

"Let's see. What did you say yer name wus?"

"Pardon me. I thought I had told you. My name is John Willett Barr."

"Polly, oh, Polly! Cum hyar, gal. What wus Sandy's full name? I plum fergot."

"What you want ter know fer?" she asked. "I ain't a-goin ter tell you now. Thet's my own secret."

"Cum, cum, gal. Tell me ter once, or it won't be he'lthy fer you."

"Waal, then," she answered stubbornly, "it's John Willett Barr."

At her reply the younger man's face grew deathly pale, and he started up from his chair, but Kit thrust him back into his seat, saying:

"Bring me the letter, Polly."

"What are you goin ter do with it, pa?" she inquired cautiously.

"I promised old Sandy on my oath ter keep it till the right one cums erlong ter claim it, an I mean ter keep my word. The right one is here, gal. Thar he sits. So trot that letter out an don't parley long with me if you knows whon yer well off."

Polly stared at the younger man in wi- You look "Well, Lowell," says: must have American's 'Howdy!' is as expressive as any of the others, as well as the briefest." —Washington Star.

"ON THE OTHER TACK."

A Charming Boys' Book by Capt. Metcalf, of the Hazel Brae Home.

A delightfully interesting book for boys was placed on the editor's table this morning. It is a sea story entitled "On the other Tack," written by Mr. W. C. Metcalfe, assistant superintendent of the Hazel Brae Branch of Dr. Barnardo's Homes, and better known locally as Captain Metcalfe. The book is published by that eminent publishing firm, Jarrold & Sons, Warwick Lane, London, England. It is printed on good paper, in clear, bold type, is finely illustrated, and bound in illuminated cloth. "On the Other Tack" is a breezy sea story of love and adventure. The hero who "spins the yarn" himself is a young apprentice in the merchant service, who is returning from Australia in a sailing ship to pass his examination for a second officer. Among the passengers is a beautiful girl, the daughter of a rich but crusty father, a banker, who takes an aversion to young Tarle, when he sees that the young people are mutually attracted. An exciting chapter is devoted to the rescue of the young girl from drowning, she having fallen overboard while watching the process of fishing for shark. The middy leaps from the rigging, where he was at work, and lands the lassie safe on board. This act increases the father's antipathy to the youngster, and he forbids his daughter to speak to the lad. An exciting shipwreck and equally exciting rescue follow, and after the arrival in England, fate brings the young lovers together again. The young man interposes to prevent a burglary of the banker's residence in which the young man encounters a titled nonentity, whom the father, with a weakness for "the gentry," designs as a husband for the daughter, who, however, point blank refuses to wed him. The young man becomes a second officer, and on his first voyage to Australia passes through a thrilling experience with ice bergs, is in imminent danger of death, from being cast alone on a berg, but is rescued and reaches Australia, where his "lady love" arrives opportunely on a visit to her brother, and the lovers meet. The stern father, softened by his wife's death, consents to their marriage and as the nursery stories have it, they lived happy ever after. This interesting plot is well worked out and the story is filled with thrilling incident of the very kind to enchain the heart of a boy, and indeed of older persons. The style of the writer is terse and simple, but of good literary quality. The moral tone of the book is high, and while the lessons conveyed savour nothing of cant or "preaching," they teach a reverence for courage, honesty true, manly character and unselfish practice of consideration for the good of others, as contrasted with mean devotion to selfish pursuit of pleasure and profit at the expense of others. Mr. Metcalfe is a practical sailor of twenty years experience and tells a tale of the sea in a charming manner. He is a voluminous writer, about a dozen books for boys standing to his credit as author. All have had large sales have passed through many editions, and a similar success will attend his last published work, "On the Other Tack," which will delight a boy "down to the ground." For sale at the Peterborough Bookstore."

HENRY GEORGE'S LAST WORK.

The book upon which Henry George spent the last six years of his life will be published this month by Mr. George N. Morang, Toronto. It will take a large octavo volume and contain about as much matter as "Progress and Poverty," the surprising popularity of which is attested by the fact that over 8,000 copies have been sold during the past month. The new book will be entitled "The Science of Political Economy," which the author characterizes in his introduction as follows:

"Of all sciences political economy is that which to civilized men of the day is of the most practical importance. For it is the science which treats of the nature of wealth and the laws of its production and distribution; that is to say, of matters which absorb the larger part of the thought and effort of the vast majority of us—the getting of a living."

RELIGIOUS POETRY.

The Examiner has been requested to publish the following lines written by Mr. John Snelgrove, of Mariposa, a brother-in-law of Mr. Samuel Edwards, town:

My seventy years are past and gone,
And many conflicts past,
And yet I trust in Jesus Christ
To save my soul at last.

When lying on my bed by night
Midst many doubts and fears,
I wrestle then with God in prayers
And shed my briny tears.

But trusting in the promises
Of God who cannot lie,
I have a hope through Jesus Christ
To save me when I die.

My journey's almost run,
My labour almost ended;
There may be yet a few more days
To my shore life extended.

Now day by day I offer up
To Heaven my earnest prayer,
That you and I and all the rest
May safely enter there.

Gird on your faith and trust in God,
The great eternal reign,
Who promised us that praying breath
Cannot be spent in vain.

May all my own dear family
In Jesus put their trust,
To take their souls to glory
When bodies turn to dust.

When lying on my dying bed,
O Jesus then draw nigh,
And take my soul from earth away
To joys that never die.

Come all my old companions,
Come to the Gospel feast
And put your trust in Jesus
And find eternal rest.

Let concussions shake this solid world,
And the last flames arise,
I put my trust in Jesus Christ
To mount above the skies.

Let mountains fall and mountains hurl,
And mighty thunders roar,
By faith I trust in Jesus Christ
To reach the golden shore.

ST. LAWRENCE PARK PROJECT.

St. Mary's Island and Canal Point on Grindstone Island Purchased.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 7.—Commissioners Weed, Davis and Holden, composing the committee of the State Fisheries, Game and Forest Commission, having in charge the purchase of land along the St. Lawrence River for the purpose of carrying into operation the desire of the State, as expressed in a legislative enactment of the last session, to establish, in conjunction with the Dominion of Canada, an international park on the St. Lawrence River, report that they have purchased St. Mary's Island for $5,000, and 70 acres, composing what is known as Canal Point, on Grindstone Island, for $1,900. The last Legislature appropriated $30,000 for the purchase of land, and about $20,000 remains unexpended. It will be used before the close of the present session of the Legislature in the purchase of land on which the State has an option. The Legislature will be asked for an additional appropriation to construct docks and summer houses for the park. The committee is of the opinion that the fish and game laws for the St. Lawrence River should be uniform, and that the State should frame a code that will be acceptable to the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

MAGOWANS ARE SEPARATED.

Report That Mrs. Barnes-Magowan Intends to Return to Her Old Home.

Trenton, N.J., Jan. 7.—Ex-Mayor Frank A. Magowan and Mrs. Barnes-Magowan, nee Miss Edith Riddell, of Toronto, are said to have separated. The woman is at Barlow Hotel, where she and the ex-Mayor went last week after Magowan had been notified by the management of the American House that his presence was no longer desired.

Magowan left Barlow's last night taking with him his belongings and he spent the night at the Trenton House in company with his son Spencer. Neither Magowan nor Mrs. Barnes-Magowan would see any reporters to-day, but the statement that they have separated is generally accepted by Magowan's friends, with some of whom he had a conference yesterday. It is understood that Mrs. Barnes-Magowan will go home to her people in Toronto.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Ottawa, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

Gentlemen,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattress; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much a praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 3 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

Bill Which is to Do Away With Town Wards.

IT HAS PASSED THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Middleton Withdraws His Departmental Store Bill—An Inquiry to be Made—New Laws—Aid to Hospitals—Mr. Stratton's Bill—The Election Day Soon to Come.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Probably the most important bill that has come before the Legislature this year was that of Mr. Caven, which passed the Municipal Committee yesterday. The bill provides that every town of a population of 5,000 or under shall have a mayor and not more than six councillors by a general vote of the electors. This does away with wards in the towns. The office of reeve and deputy reeve is also abolished, and each voter may vote for mayor and also for six councillors. In the case of villages there shall be a reeve and but four councillors elected in the same way and by general vote. The bill also provides that township councils shall be composed of a reeve and four councillors. At the end of two years the electors may decide by a majority vote whether or not they shall go back to the ward system, with this difference, however, that but one councillor may be elected in each ward and the other members of the council by general vote.

Departmental Stores.

Mr. Middleton last week moved the second reading of a bill which provides that departmental stores having more than three departments shall be taxed. The debate was hot and was not finished at the hour of adjournment. Yesterday the debate was resumed.

Mr. Haycock wished to know where the Government would draw the line should such a bill become law. Why not make it more than one department, why not more than ten? Why had the figure three been selected? He thought Canada was a free country and that any man should feel that he could engage in any honest legitimate business he pleased. (Cheers.)

Hon. Mr. Hardy said the bill was a very important one and he was sorry it had not been introduced at an earlier stage of the session. Such a bill had passed in several of the United States. In Illinois it had passed the Senate, but had been thrown out by the Representatives. There was a good deal in what Mr. Haycock said, but it must be remembered the bill did not prohibit departmental stores handling all classes of goods, it would simply act as a check. The matter was serious. The natural current of trade was to be respected. He would not say, however, that these currents could not be disturbed when they tended to grind out of existence the smaller merchants. He advised that the bill should be withdrawn and that next session a resolution along the same lines should be moved at an early stage in the session, that deputations should then be heard upon both sides by a select committee and all the facts possible should be obtained. Then if it was considered necessary legislation might be introduced. It had been suggested there should be a royal commission appointed to gather evidence upon the subject. He thought a special committee could do the work just as well. In any case he did not think such a law should apply to the merchants of towns and villages. So far as he knew complaint had been made only of the large institutions of this character in the larger cities.

Mr. Middleton said there was nothing in what Mr. Haycock had said about freedom of trade. Doctors, lawyers, druggists, architects and others now could not enter business as they liked. Canada was not a free country in the sense that any man could enter any business he pleased and run it as he liked. There was no doubt but that there was a strong feeling against these stores in the country on the ground they were greatly injuring trade. He withdrew the bill, glad to have it upon such an authority as that of the Attorney-General that legislation could be passed dealing with this subject. He would move in the matter next session if he came back. (Laughter.)

Mr. Crawford opposed the idea of placing any restrictions upon departmental stores. He said the cry they were not popular was false and proved so by the fact that so many people purchased from them. (Hear, hear.) He was sure when the matter came up next session there would be many strong arguments against the bill.

These bills were read a third time and now only await the Lieut.-Governor's signature to become law: Respecting the synod of the diocese of Ottawa; respecting the city of Ottawa; to prevent gambling at agricultural exhibitions; respecting water powers; respecting the Sydenham Glass Company of Wallaceburg; respecting the town of Walkerton; respecting city of Toronto; relating to Victoria University; respecting the village of Huntsville; respecting the city of St. Thomas and the St. Thomas Street Railway; to confirm bylaw No. 586 of the town of Berlin, and incorporating the Sisters of Loretto.

Aid to Hospitals.

Hon. Mr. Davis moved resolutions to ratify orders-in-council granting annual aid to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Barrie; the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Cornwall; the General Hospital, Rat Portage; the Sanitarium for Consumptives, Gravenhurst, and the St. Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury. The motion passed.

Mr. Stratton's Bill.

An important amendment was made to Mr. Stratton's bill to amend the Municipal Act in the Municipal Committee yesterday. The bill now reads that adjoining townships in the same county or not may purchase jointly road working machinery and appliances, fire engines and fire appliances and hold them in common, the expenses to be divided.

THE ORR MURDERER.

Allison Has Confessed to the Murder of Mrs. Orr.

THE BOY TELLS HOW HE DID IT.

Shot the Woman From the Woodshed as She Was Milking and Finished His Work With an Axe—He Says He Committed the Crime Out of Revenge.

Berlin, Jan. 8.—The confession of James Allison, the murderer of Mrs. Orr on August last, was made yesterday to Governor Cook of the jail. The confession was set down in writing at noon yesterday, but in reality Allison made it over a month ago, shortly after he was sentenced to be hanged. As is often the case with murderers, the wretched youth found it impossible to keep the awful secret any longer, and he had to make a confidant of some one. Governor Cook was the very first person Allison spoke to about the crime. Since then he has made confessions to others, but that to the Governor was the first. Mr. Cook does not remember exactly what day it was, but it was one day about a month ago that he had occasion to visit Allison in his cell. There was something on the boy's mind it was quite evident. Presently he began to talk about the murder, and finally said that the Orrs were entirely wrong about his having tried to assault Mrs. Orr. It was not that at all, he said. Mr. Cook let him talk, and by putting in a question here and there and making suggestions he got the whole story out of the condemned man. Allison did not want him to make it public, however, and out of consideration for him Mr. Cook agreed to keep it quiet. Yesterday Allison made up his mind that he would give the story to the public, and he sent for Mr. Cook. Writing materials were furnished, and at Allison's dictation the following was written down:

"I want this to be at once made public. I told it to the authorities some time ago. I never at any time made any improper proposals to Mrs. Orr. I had made up my mind to get even with the Orrs for things they said and did to me. That morning I got mad because they would not let me go to Niagara Falls. After breakfast I left my loaded gun in the woodshed. I did some chores. Mrs. Orr was milking about 20 feet from the woodshed. I went into it and fired at her through the door. She fell off her seat and never moved again. An ax lay near her. I took it and struck her on the head with it. I had the grave in the swamp ready some days before, but it was too far off, so in a hurry I made the grave in the corn patch and dragged her to it by the hands and buried her. I hid the gun and raked up the tracks with the fork after I got back from Barnes'. This is the truth, so help me God! (Signed) James Allison."

Witnesses: J. Cook, jailer; Thomas Tracey, turnkey.

It is a peculiar circumstance that Allison should make a confession on the day four weeks exactly from which he is to be hanged. The jail people say the lad is greatly changed lately, and they expect him to go to the gallows undaunted and without fear. Under the ministration of his spiritual adviser Allison seems to have changed from a stupid, ignorant boy to a thoughtful young man, giving evidence of intelligence which lay dormant so long a time, and which, had it been cultivated before, would have saved him from his present awful situation. Three copies of the confession were written, one for each of the two local evening papers and one for the representative of a Toronto paper here. These were sent to the post-office. Only one of the local papers got the confession from the post-office, and the result was that one local daily was last night badly "scooped."

THE FIRST CENTURY.

Bicycle Riding, Under Difficulties, to Kingston, Ont.

Kingston, Jan. 8.—In a storm of sleet and rain, with a foot of snow on the roads, F. O. Myers, of Road King fame, rode a century from Port Hope to Kingston, getting over the distance in nine hours and forty minutes, making the first century run in Canada for 1898. He was delayed considerably on the road through friends stopping him to offer congratulations. When he jumped off his wheel at the British American Hotel his clothing was thoroughly drenched. The last 25 miles were covered under two hours. The first century ridden in '97 was made by Sergt. Beatty, Toronto, on April 5. He also held the same honor in 1896.

Sick Headache and Dizziness—All Cured.

Little Girl Has Grown Plump and Rosy Since Taking Hood's.

Nervous mothers and sickly children endure a vast proportion of the suffering which is caused by impure and impoverished blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives relief by purifying and enriching the blood. Read this statement:

"I was bothered with sick headaches and dizziness. I also had nervous prostration and weakness in my stomach, which made me feel very ill indeed. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, which was highly recommended by many, and by the time I had taken four bottles I was in perfect health. About a year ago my little girl, then six years old, had bronchitis and chicken pox. We were told that her was the careful treatment she might receive at the hospital. We took her there and for eight days they had no hope of her recovery, but later she had a change for the better. Her sickness, however, left her very delicate and weak, and she did not grow any for a year. It was then I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as I had used it for myself and found it such a good medicine for building up a constitution. She had not taken two bottles before she had improved wonderfully. She has grown rosy and plump and is quite herself again. I have great faith in Hood's." MRS. M. INTENSIVE FARMING.

Mr. D. M. MacPherson, M.P.P. for Glengarry County, has given to "Farming," a Toronto agricultural journal, an account of a year's working of his farm of 125 acres. The results are so remarkable as to be worthy of the widest possible publicity. The net value of his crop for this past summer was $6,577. Of this $3,735 represents silage corn, hay and oats cut for fodder, 1,105 tons in all, raised from 75 acres. The remainder comes from 47 acres of cow pasture and three acres of pig pasture. The farm accounts for last year, from November 1st, 1896, to November 1st, 1897, show a profit remaining to Mr. MacPherson, of $1,445. And besides this he was able to pay for labour the tidy sum of $2,150.

This is an exceptionally good farm statement, and if it were the rule rather than the exception there would be plenty of prosperity in the country. Mr. MacPherson has demonstrated clearly that there is wealth in the soil and in the climate if there is only the needed intelligence available to get it out.

The plan on which this farm is operated is to turn every square foot of it into producing milk for the cheese factory or creamery, or beef and pork for the best available market. It is an extraordinary thing that Mr. MacPherson can get thirty tons of silage corn where other farmers can only get ten or eleven; that he can get three tons of hay to the acre where others get from one to two; that he can make three acres of land devoted to hog products yield a profit of $213 an acre, and that his cows give an average of 6,000 pounds of milk a year. It is a pity, the Montreal Herald thinks, there is not a larger percentage of men who are energetic enough to conduct farms on such a basis as this, and public-spirited enough to give to others the benefits derivable from a knowledge of what they are doing.

It is this sort of farming that the Ontario Government by the various helps it provides, aims to make general. Through the Agricultural College, Dairy Schools, Travelling Dairy, Farmers' Institutes and other media the farmer gets the results of the latest scientific research and most exhaustive experiment. This is the true function of Government and it is the policy of the Ontario Administration to devote the public revenues for the benefit of the people. No greater benefit can be conferred than the improvement of the methods and, consequently, results of farming. Farming lies at the base of all commercial and financial movements. The farmer in his straw hat and sweat-stained clothing is as important, and in effect, a more important factor than the bank president in his irreproachable broadcloth. The state of a season's crop is the pulse upon which the financial physician places his finger in order to form a prognosis of the future of the financial and commercial world. Under these circumstances a Government will the more amply justify its existence as the custodian of the interests of the state, the more devotes its efforts towards the improvement of the farming industry. Give prosperity to the farmer, and, as a rule all other interests are safe and sound. Besides the more attractive and profitable farming can be made, the more will be attracted to it as a calling, thus improving the national condition.

The term "intensive" farming at the head of this article, defines the most profitable and only rational mode of successful farming. It means, in a word, mixing brains with soil. It means the devotion of the culture, intellect and well informed mind of the farmer to the problem of giving the soil the most productive conditions; a system of farming in which the old "rule of thumb" so to speak, is replaced by the application of reason, research and intelligent experiment. Some farmers will do this of themselves, but for the great mass of the farming community, with deficient means for such a purpose, the Ontario Government conducts the research and experiment, and at no cost to the people. The entire farming population derives as much and, and perhaps more benefit than the favoured farmer, with thousands at his disposal, for he has to spend these thousands to reach results which every farmer in the land can get, by virtue of the Government's aid, through a 25 cents membership with a Farmers' Institute. The farmer who decries the value of our Agricultural College and its kindred institutions is no friend to himself or his calling; and the politician who, for his partisan ends, casts discredit upon the Ontario Agricultural College involves the sacrifice of the interests of the most important class of the country, and consequently the best interests of the state.

HAULTAIN.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Christmas tree of the English church, Haultain, was as usual a great success. The tree was loaded down with beautiful presents. There was a large attendance and everyone seemed happy. The programme was superintended by Mrs. W. G. Stone, who takes a great interest in the Sunday school work. She is assisted by Mrs. Dunsford and Miss McCauley. Addresses were also given by Rev. A. H. Greene and Mr. Bradshaw. We were very glad to see some of our Young's Point friends. The children of the English church, Haultain and Young's Point wish to return thanks to the Mission Band of St. John's church, Peterborough, for their beautiful Xmas presents and wish them all a Happy New Year.

REVOKED

Is the 2-Cent Postage From Canada to Any Point Within the Empire—Other Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The following notice appears to-day in the Canadian Gazette, signed by Dr. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General: "Negotiations being on foot for a conference between the Imperial, Canadian and other colonial authorities for the purpose of considering the whole subject of inter-Imperial postage, the proposed reduction by Canada of the letter rate from Canada to Great Britain and other parts of the empire from five cents per half ounce to three cents per ounce will not take effect until further notice. Accordingly, the existing rate of five cents per half ounce, or fraction thereof, on letters from Canada to all parts of the empire will continue in force, and senders must prepay such letters by affixing stamps for the full amount of postage required; otherwise such letters will be liable on delivery to a double rate in respect of the amount of such shortage."

Still another batch of countries is added to the list of those entitled to the benefit of the Canadian reciprocal tariff. They are Morocco, Liberia, Salvador, Tonga and the South African Republic. The concession is not made on the merits of the tariffs of these countries, but on account of Great Britain's treaty obligations.

One of the Government bills to be introduced in Parliament the coming session will be to revise and consolidate the irrigation accounts. The experience of the past three years of the workings of these Acts in the Territories, demonstrated certain defects in the law, which it is proposed to amend, and at the same time to simplify the law.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

CLEO'S THRIFTY MOTHER.

Washed and Ironed the Dancer's Clothes and Walked Miles For Twenty Cents.

The parsimony of foreign celebrities who come to this country has been frequently amusing to Americans. There have been some very striking instances of it in recent years, but the mother of Mlle. Cleo de Merode seems to have carried off the palm in this respect. Salvini, it is said, was so penurious that he bought a sandwich on the street for 5 cents rather than pay for his supper at a hotel, and one of the stories told about him on his last visit to this country was that once in Philadelphia he gave the porter of a hotel a penny and told him to buy him three tacks. The actor had discovered that his trunk was damaged, and he wanted to repair it himself.

Tamaqua was notorious here for his stinginess. It was said that he sold the tickets sent to him in view of his artist's privilege and hired his own brother as a valet because he could be got at a cheap figure. Then he used to make him roll his trunks around on a truck at the foreign custom houses rather than pay the porters a fee for the work. Herr Van Biene marked as a curiosity and sent back to England a hotel bill of fare on which he had marked the price, $1.50, for a tenderloin steak as one of the wonders of an extravagant and youthful country. It may have been nothing more than good business judgment which prompted Mlle. Calve to look for a business manager while she was here and then express the greatest astonishment that such an assistant of the most capable kind could not be hired for $10 a week.

These are some of the stories told about the highly paid foreigners who come to exhibit themselves here. But Cleo's mother holds the record. It is said that she astonished the servants at the Imperial hotel by washing her daughter's clothes in the bathtub and ironing them herself. On the day before they returned to Europe the ballerina and her mother were seen on lower Broadway. They had gone down to one of the exchange offices in order to get $100 in French money. It was raining. An acquaintance met the two just as they were coming out of the office.

"Why, that wretch inside," exclaimed the mother indignantly, "wants to give me only 517 francs for $100." Then Mme. la Mere de Cleo de Merode put up her umbrella with a mighty emphasis and stepped out on to the sidewalk. "Why, a man offered me 518 up town. But I thought I could get 520 down here. Now we shall have to walk up town, for otherwise there will be no profit left for us." Then Cleo and her mother started to trudge up town. The dancer received $9,000 for her appearances here.—New York Sun.

THE WATCH OF DEATH.

Mrs. Sternaman, Convicted of Murdering Her Husband, Now Continually Under the View of Sharp Eyes.

Cayuga, Ont., Jan. 8.—Man's mercy alone can now save Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman from death. They notified the doomed woman yesterday that her appeal for a new trial had been denied and that her last hope lay in executive clemency. The death watch was put on duty in the morning, and from now until she goes to the gallows on Jan. 24 sharp eyes will watch her every movement.

Not in twenty years has the Crown demanded a woman's life as the cost of a crime and as the adequate warning to other lawless souls. Women have been hanged in Canada, but none of the rising generation can recall an instance. This fact adds to the interest aroused by Mrs. Sternaman's seemingly hopeless situation. Petitions have been scattered broadcast throughout Canada, and in every county of the Province of Ontario people are peddling them and securing signatures. Late yesterday afternoon W. M. German of Welland, who defended Mrs. Sternaman, sent word to her that he would appear before the Minister of Justice early next week, and would appeal for clemency and urge a commutation of her sentence to life imprisonment. It is the last card, the final play in the woman's game with death. If it wins she will spend her life in Kingston Prison, in the murderess' ward. If it loses she will go to her death sixteen days from to-day.

HIS SENTENCE COMMUTED.

James Troy, the Murderer of Angus McLeod, Will Not Hang After All.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—James F. Troy, who was sentenced to be hanged at Napanee on January 14, for the murder of Angus McLeod, will not meet his death on the gallows. The Governor-General has approved of an order-in-council commuting the sentence to life imprisonment. The self-confessed murderer has gone insane, and this is the reason given for the commutation. The same plea was brought forward at Troy's trial, but he has grown worse since.

Lumberman Killed in Muskoka.

He was felling a tree, and upon looking up was struck in the forehead by a falling limb and instantly killed. He was about 35 years of age and unmarried.

RUNNING SORES.

There is nothing that will so waste and wear away the health as a running sore. Burdock Blood Bitters heals and dries up sores and ulcers, no matter how large or of how long standing, by cleansing the blood of all impurities and sending rich pure life-giving blood to the diseased part, thereby supplanting the decaying tissue with healthy healing flesh.

Mr. Stephen Wescott, Freeport, N.S., found (Burdock Blood Bitters) a wonderful blood purifier and gives his experience as follows: "I was very much run down in health and employed our local physician who attended me three months, finally my leg broke out in running sores with fearful burning. I had thirteen running sores at one time, from my knee to the top of my foot. All the medicine I took did me no good, so I threw it aside and tried B.B.B.; when one-half the bottle was gone, I noticed a change for the better, and by the time I had finished two bottles my leg was perfectly healed and my health greatly improved."

CHINA'S NEW LOAN.

Great Britain May Furnish the Money.

RUSSIAN GUARANTEE REFUSED.

China Will Not Accept a Loan Guaranteed by the Russian Bear—Britain's Star in the Ascendant—Britain's Premier Will Help China to Preserve Her Autonomy.

London, Jan. 8.—The Standard says it is now rumored that Great Britain will lend China £16,000,000 direct, without the issue of a private guaranteed loan.

Russia's Offer Rejected.

Pekin, China, Jan. 8.—China has rejected the proposals for a Russian guaranteed loan.

Kiao-Chou has been leased to Germany for 50 years only, although Germany had demanded a 99-year term.

To-day the Chinese Ministers and the Members of the Tsung Li Yamen (Board of Foreign Affairs), paid New Year's visits to the foreign legations.

SALISBURY IN THE FIELD.

He Will Help the Chinese Emperor to Rule in His Own House.

London, Jan. 8.—The Cabinet will meet to-day, presumably to decide about the Chinese loan.

The Standard, in an important editorial, apparently inspired, says: "For the present, it must suffice to say that China has made earnest overtures for Great Britain's good offices, and that Lord Salisbury is giving the closest attention to the matter in its practical aspects. The probabilities point to a settlement, which, without involving undue risk to the British exchequer, will secure for England advantages the value of which cannot be appraised in mere monetary terms."

The editorial proceeds to state that the loan will be partly devoted to paying the Japanese indemnity and "will thus make the Emperor of China again master of his own house, while enabling the Mikado so to increase his army and fleet as to render Japan a power which the strongest western state cannot afford to affront."

The editorial declares: "It is the policy of England and Japan to bring the commercial development of China into harmony with its territorial integrity, and in pursuance of this policy the cordial co-operation of the United States may be presumed upon."

With reference to difficulties in the way of a British guarantee loan the editorial says: "Happily there is no absolute dearth of expedients."

Japs Are With Britain.

London, Jan. 8.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that a Japanese fleet of three battleships, 10 first-class cruisers and numerous smaller vessels has received orders practically placing it at the disposal of Sir Alexander Buller, commander-in-chief on the China station, this step being taken "in case Russia persists in ignoring the joint interests of England and Japan."

The Amalgamated Engineers.

London, Jan. 8.—The Engineers' Society only received £600 yesterday toward its fund. A report that the society had collapsed was circulated in Glasgow today. It had the effect of booming the Scotch railway securities, but later the report was denied.

The Employers' Federation has been further strengthened by accessions of firms in Leeds, Wigan, Preston and Nottingham.

Chamberlain Has "Tersely Refused."

London, Jan. 8.—A despatch from Cape Town to the Daily Mail says that Mr. Chamberlain, the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, has "tersely refused" to submit to arbitration the difficulties between the Transvaal and the British Government.

Fearful Explosion in Glasgow.

Glasgow, Jan. 8.—During a fire to-day at Hatrick's chemical works an explosion, which killed four firemen and injured a number of other people, took place. The damage done is estimated to amount to £50,000.

Lady Somerset Resigns.

London, Jan. 8.—Lady Henry Somerset has resigned the presidency of the Women's Temperance Association and the vice-presidency of the World's W.C.T.U.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 8—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

None So Excellent.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more than any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

Miss Mary Ellen Hicks
South Bay, Ont.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts.

LAWYER SUES DOCTOR.

A Peculiar Case for Malpractice in the Town of Pembroke.

Pembroke, Jan. 8.—Lennox Irving, barrister, of this town, has entered a legal claim for $10,000, which is one of the strangest on record. While playing a game of football three years ago he fell, breaking his leg. Dr. W. W. Dickson attended to his injuries, but Mr. Irving never regained the full use of his limb and is compelled to limp owing to a shortage of an inch or more. This he claims is owing to lack of surgical skill on the part of Dr. Dickson.

He refused to pay the bill for attendance, the doctor sued, and Mr. Irving has entered a counter claim for $10,000 damages. To this Dr. Dickson pleads the statute of limitation. It appears that a medical man cannot be sued for damage for malpractice after one year from the time of his attendance on cases.

A Widow and Six Orphans.

Galt, Ont., Jan. 8.—Fred. Palmer, clock repairer, was found in a dying condition, lying on the road below the C.P.R. bridge that crosses Beverley street. The injured man, in trying to cross the bridge, fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. He died before the arrival of a doctor. The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary. Deceased was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife and six children.

"The Satanic Press."

Toronto, Jan. 8.—The last service in connection with the week of prayer was held yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Parsons took for his text the last command of Christ. "The enemy is in the camp," exclaimed the speaker. "Just the other day a wealthy New York Presbyterian trustee died renouncing the Gospel, and the satanic press made this known the world over."

Meat at $1 a Pound.

Vancouver, Jan. 8.—J. A. McRae of this city has just received a letter from his brother, Archie McRae, who is in Dawson City. He states that he refused $1,500 for 200 pounds of supplies. Flour will probably be rather scarce before spring, but fresh meat is plentiful at $1 per pound.

Choked to Death by a Piece of Beef.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Angus McPherson, a farmer residing a few miles north of Maxville, met with a peculiar death. While eating his dinner a piece of beef, which was not properly masticated, stuck in his throat. He died almost immediately in terrible agony.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth So Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A Curiosity.

Mr. Robert Prymar has a peculiar freak of nature on exhibition at his place, near Trent Bridge. About two weeks ago a two-year-old heifer belonging to him died. On being opened her stomach was found to contain a large growth, connected to the the rest by a large cord. The growth was surrounded by a number of smaller ones. It weighed about 24 lbs., somewhat resembling a liver, and on being cut into blood oozed out of the wound. The cow always ate well until she died, but seemed to be growing weaker all the time.

HANGING ON SLEIGHS.

The Danger which is Involved for Those who Amuse Themselves in this Manner.

With the opening of the sleighing season begins the usual list of casualties and narrow escapes caused by the great risks incurred by school children in their endeavour to "hang on" to every passing cutter or bobsleigh.

Yesterday at noon a small boy was struck by a whiffletree on the head and knocked insensible ac George street. He soon recovered and was none the worse of the accident, but it would not need to have been much more serious to have inflicted what might prove to be a permanent injury.

The practice of stealing rides is more in evidence on Saturdays of course than any other day, as the children have a holiday on that day, and there are a great many sleighs in from the country, offering unlimited opportunities for indulging in the fun. The upper and lower ends of George street and the streets in the outlying portions of the town are literally lined with children, and who in the pursuit of this facinating amusement, run a risk every time they indulge in it.

Only last year a little lad was killed in south end of the town, whilst amusing himself in this manner, and the narrow escape of the youngster yesterday would appear to be strong reasons for the town authorities taking some action in the matter. Haveloeg has passed a bylaw prohibiting the hanging on to sleighs of children, and it has been suggested that Peterborough make a like move.

RETAIL MERCHANTS.

They Will Probably Form an Association for Protection.

Mr. T. H. Smith, organiser for Eastern Ontario of the Retail Grocers' Association of Canada, is in town with the object of establishing a a branch in Peterborough.

He has already interested a large number of the merchants, and on Tuesday evening a meeting will be held in the town council chamber, presided over by Mayor Davis, when a discussion will take place on "The fair system of taxation for retail merchants and the proper plans for charging the personalty tax." A remedy for the departmental store innovations will also be presented.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

A Paper on "King Lear" to be Read by Sheriff Hall.

The next meeting of the Fortnightly Club will be held on Tuesday evening and a programme containing especially entertaining features has been prepared for the occasion.

Sheriff Hall read a paper on "King Lear" and his well-known literary ability promises to invest the subject with a great deal of interest. A musical programme has been arranged.

FOR MEN.

Rev. A. Dykeman will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at 4 15. All men welcome.

Young men's meeting at 8 o'clock tonight. The general secretary will lead.

Bible class on Sunday for all men not members of other Bible classes. Subject, the Unjust Steward.

ASHBURNHAM BREVITIES.

The statutory meeting of the Ashburnham School Board will be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 19th, when the newly-elected members, Messrs. Sheridan, Polk and Manisee, together with the other members, Messrs. Adams, Agnew and Pollock, will elect a chairman, committees, etc., and enter on the duties of the year.

A new butcher shop has been opened on Elizabeth street.

There was a very large attendance at the cottage prayer meeting at Mr. A. McCarthy's on Friday evening. Next Friday evening the meeting will be at Mr. D. McGregor's.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Y.W.C.A. will be held at the rooms on Monday, Jan. 10th, at 3.30 o'clock.

Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held on Wednesday evening next in the town council chamber. As the Society has full charge of Victoria Park the citizens should be generally interested, and a large attendance will doubtless be present at the meeting. Directors for the year will be elected.

At the Yukon.

A report is current, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, that a statement has been seen somewhere to the effect that Harry Downing and Robert Mellmoyle were attacked at their shanty by some marauders who overpowered them and robbed them of their provisions. Nothing is said of anyone being shot, and it is supposed that Harry was taken by surprise and held up, for in that horrid region, where the loss of provisions means loss of life, a man would be perfectly justified in protecting his grub with his revolver. If the report is true it is evidently time that Major Walsh got on to the ground and administered a little summary admonition through the medium of a policeman's carbine. It is to be hoped that our plucky boys who have ventured into this terrible region will safely pull out of their difficulties.

More Powerful Than a Sermon.

John Griffith, whose performance of Mephistopheles in "Faust" is pronounced the best now before the public, will come to the Opera House next Tuesday evening. The mere pointing of a moral, the preaching of a powerful sermon, or the evolving of a great principle from the author could not alone make a successful play. Goethe's "Faust," as dramatized for the stage, is of coarse immortal. Mr. Griffith's conception of the Devil is plausible and one of those impressive characterizations that carry the thoughts into the hereafter. The scenery to be used is carried by the Griffith combination complete. The effects are strangely wierd. Mr. Griffith is supported by a very strong company of dramatic celebrities and his performance is well worth a visit. Secure seats early. Prices 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents. 1d

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Delphis Legare is "Sent up" on the Charge of Stealing a Coat and Pair of Gauntlets.

Delphis Legare, the traveller, for whom the Chief went to Quebec city, was before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with the theft of a fur coat and pair of gauntlets from Mr. George Graham, of the Oriental Hotel, on December 18th, last.

Mr. Graham identified the coat and gloves, which were given up by the prisoner, and stated that they were borrowed from him two weeks ago Saturday by Legare, who promised to return them on the following Tuesday. He had heard nothing from Legar until his arrest, when he had written explaining the circumstances under which he had neglected to return them.

Wm. LeBar testified that he was working at Leary's livery stable on the evening in question and had been telephoned from the C.P.R. by the operator, who stated that a traveller wished to be driven to Bobcaygeon. A bargain was made and on inquiry being made about about a heavy coat, LeBar offered to lend one which was in the office. Later on in the evening he had called for the prisoner at the Oriental Hotel, when the coat was found to be too small for him. Witness then suggested that Mr. Graham might have one. Chris. Graham had gone to see about it but found that his father was out. Prisoner and witness then tried to borrow one from Fairweather's, but there was none in stock which he wished to allow out. On returning to the hotel Mr. Graham, being in, consented to lend the coat, and also offered a pair of gauntlets. The prisoner said he would return them on Tuesday. Witness drove him out to Bobcaygeon, where he wished to see some relatives, and leaving him there, returned to Peterborough.

Mr. Chris Graham gave evidence as to the prisoner asking for the coat and getting it.

Chief Rossel in the box stated that on going to Quebec for the prisoner, he had found his man in the detective's office. The coat and gloves were there with him.

The prisoner, Legare, then testified in his own behalf, his story being substantially as follows: On his way back east from Toronto he had stopped off in Peterborough in order to go out and see a brother-in-law living near Bobcaygeon. He had inquired of the C.P.R. operator about the route and as the stage was gone was advised to hire a rig, and the arrangement was then made over the telephone. He then drove to the Oriental and had tea. When the driver called for him with a fur coat it was too small, and some one had suggested that Mr. Graham had one. He eventually secured this coat and Mr. Graham had also lent him a pair of mittens. He said at the time that he would return them about Tuesday. He then drove to Bobcaygeon and spent Sunday there, the driver returning to town. On Sunday he made arrangements for the stage to call for him on Monday morning and bring him back to Peterborough but it did not call. He then took the stage to Lindsay, thinking he could come on over to Peterborough on the evening train. After boarding the train he secured a ticket and asked the conductor to wake him on arriving here and then went to sleep. He did not wake until he reached Port Hope. He was much incensed at the conductor but could not afford the time or money to return again to Peterborough. He had just enough money to get a ticket for Montreal and purchased one. On getting there he raised enough money to get home to Quebec. As this was his first trip and it had been unsuccessful he lost his position. He intended to return the coat and gloves as soon as he could get the money to pay the express charges. He did not like to send them "collect," having borrowed them. The detectives had come upon him at dinner a few days ago and asked for the coat and gloves, which he had immediately given them, and accompanied them to Judge Chauvis. He explained the circumstances, and was told that the matter could doubtless be easily settled. He had not been detained, but was allowed to go without bail on the understanding that he would appear when called on.

The Magistrate in reviewing the evidence found great fault with the prisoner for not communicating with Mr. Graham prior to his arrest. If he had done this all trouble would have been avoided, but as he had not, there was no other alternative but to commit him for trial.

County Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defense.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS CHANGE.

Oak Hall Bought by Gough Bros.

It was known for the past week that negotiations were in progress between the Sandford Clothing Manufacturing Company, of Hamilton, and Gough Bros., of town, for the purchase, by the latter, of the Oak Hall stock on the corner of George and Hunter streets. The negotiations were finally completed on Thursday evening, by which Gough Bros. secured the entire stock, the purchase price being at the rate of 62½ cents on the dollar of the manufacturers' cost. Considerable surprise was felt at the announcement but the business reasons which have influenced the Sandford Company to close out their branch in Peterborough are such as would naturally influence a wholesale concern desirous of dropping out of the retail trade. Gough Bros. have made another lucky stroke of business and to them will doubtless come the cream of the transaction. This is the second time in four years that Gough Bros.' enterprise has come to the rescue of clothing dealers in this corner store.

The "Oak Hall" store at the corner of George and Hunter streets will be closed on Monday to make preparations for the rushing clearing sale which begins on Wednesday morning and will continue—well, not very long, for the prices at which this superb stock is offered will speedily empty the shelves and tables. Particulars in Monday's EXAMINER.

THE BIRD AND BENCH SHOW.

An Experimental Farm Exhibit of Poultry Dressed to Suit the British Market, Promised.

Wide spread interest is being taken in the Poultry and Bench Show to be held in Peterborough on January 18th, 19th and 20th.

Mr. Collins, secretary, has received the following letter from Mr. A. G. Gilbert, manager of the Poultry Department of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa:

DEAR SIR,—I have been instructed to attend your poultry show, and bring poultry dressed to suit the British market. I will do so if I can get the turkeys and geese which I have ordered. Will you want an address on "Profitable Poultry Keeping" and when, during the exhibition? I have to be in Owen Sound on the evening of the 19th, so you can govern yourselves accordingly. Your dates almost conflict with Owen Sound, but I am willing to do the best I can to help your show. I hope your exhibition will be a big success, and wishing you and your brother officers a very happy New Year, I am,

Yours very truly,
A. G. GILBERT,
Manager Poultry Department.

Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, 7th January, 1898.

P.S.—The exhibition of dressed poultry will remain with you whether I do or not.

A. G. G.

This is a very important announcement, especially to the farmers, who will find it to their interest to visit the exhibition, even if only to see this one exhibit. In these days of intensive farming, when every department of farming has to be worked to insure profit, the raising of poultry should receive attention as a side issue, and a very profitable one, of successful farming. There is money in poultry, especially if we send it properly dressed for the British market. Our British cousins are good pay and good buyers, but they must have things to suit them. There is a right and a wrong way to dress poultry to suit the British market, and the right way will be demonstrated at the poultry show on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 18th, 19th and 20th. Every farmer who wishes to sell poultry for shipment to the British market, should visit this exhibition. He will learn more by five minutes' observation of poultry properly dressed than he will by columns of reading. Exhibition in the Market Hall, Peterborough, Jan. 18th, 19th and 20th. Besides the show of dressed poultry, there will be a magnificent show of live poultry and the best dog show ever presented in the Midland district. All under one canvas—that is, all for the one price of admission, which is 15 cents.

BIG ICE CONTRACT.

The Swift Company to Obtain Their Supply of Ice at Norwood.

Messrs. Squire Bros. of this place, says the Norwood Register, have secured the contract from the Swift Company, of Chicago, for Mr. Roland Scriver, of supplying the company with 2000 tons of ice for their ice house at Havelock. This is quite a "wind-fall" for the labouring men of this place as it will furnish employment for 20 men and 6 teams for three weeks every winter. The company have tested the ice and found it to be thicker and of better quality than that supplied them at Peterborough. Mr. Scriver commenced work this week erecting derricks and slides for loading the ice on the cars. Messrs. Squire Bros. have given the sole control of the ice in the pond to Mr. Scriver, and parties in town wishing to secure a supply will make application to Mr. Scriver.

APOPLECTIC STROKE.

Mr. Stephen Clarke, of Belmont, Struck Down.

On Tuesday evening last Mr. Stephen Clarke, of Belmont, was seized with an apoplectic stroke while sitting in a chair reading a newspaper. The left side of his face and of his leg are partially paralyzed and his arm is completely useless. Mr. Clarke was apparently in perfect health on Monday but his condition at present is critical. His mother and grandmother each died from the same cause, so that it is, apparently, hereditary. Mr. Clarke is one of Belmont's most popular residents and his sudden illness is sincerely regretted by his many friends.

He will read a paper on "How to encourage theological study amongst the clergy." Rev. C. B. Kenrick and Rev. Mr. Hedley, formerly of town, will also be in attendance.

Jack Curran, of Orillia, better known here as "Mary Ann," is firm in his intentions to go to the Klondike in the spring. Curran has no superior in the Canadian Lacrosse Association as an all round good man and so clean a game did he play that his presence on the field did much to elevate lacrosse. He will be missed on the Orillia team.

Mr. E. B. Willis, representing Dr. Wood's Blood and Nerve pills, is in town in the interests of his company and is flooding the town with advertising matter. The testimonials as to the efficiency of the remedy speak strongly as to its worth in regard to the restoration of lost vim, energy and strength Orders have been placed with all the local druggists.

Mr. W. L. Allen, councillor for No. 2 Ward, left on the noon train to-day for the home of his parents in Bowmanville, as his right knee, which was injured in the gymnasium some time ago and which necessitated his going home once before, is again giving him considerable trouble. His physician has prescribed him five or six weeks of absolute rest in bed with associated treatment. Mr. Allen's many friends regret the circumstances that take him from the town and will prevent his attendance at the inaugural meeting of the town council, to which he was so handsomely elected last Monday.

Mr. W. L. Baynes Reed, of Keene, has been appointed by the Bishop of Toronto, to be incumbent—practically rector—of St. John's church, a north-eastern suburb of Toronto. This is a fitting promotion and recognition of Rev. Mr. Reed's services in the parish of St. Mark's Otonabee, where he has laboured two years and a half, and is a source of pleasure to his many friends. Rev. Mr. Reed succeeds in Norway Rev. G. L. Star, who has been translated to the curacy of St. George's Cathedral in the diocese of Ontario. During his incumbency of his late parish, Mr. Reed, has won the confidence and commendations of his bishop, and greatly endeared himself to the members of his flock by his faithful and effective pastoral work as well as by his kindness of heart, evidenced in his attention to the poor and his ministrations to the suffering and afflicted. In his home, Keene, he has won a high degree of popularity and has co-operated in commendable harmony, with the ministers and congregations of other denominations in the promotion of moral and social improvement. Mr. Reed's many friends, in his late parish in Ashburnham and in Peterborough, while regretting his departure, heartily congratulate him in the promotion involved in his new appointment. He leaves for Norway at the end of the month.

HOCKEY.

Every hope is now entertained of being able to bring the Winnipegs here within the next couple of weeks.

The first match in the junior series of the O.H.A. will be played here Tuesday evening between Norwood and Peterborough II. Mr. Myles Hamilton will referee. The juniors are very strong this year, and an exciting game may be expected.

The Ottawa Free Press in speaking of the Wednesday evening game with the Winnipeg team, says: "Although the match was not a brilliant one by any means it was fairly good for so early in the season. Winnipeg's men are very fast skaters, and in this respect outclassed the home players. The westerners depended on their speed at all times to carry the puck through. They have a strong defence. Baker in goal made many clever stops and Swinford at point used his body to advantage. In Breen at cover point they have an excellent player, who never loses his head. Leyecque did lots of telling work, and the cover-point had a habit of passing back to the point man when closely pressed."

The chances are good for a game with the western team on the 18th.

CURLIANA.

The first match in the annual Lindsay-Peterborough medal series will be played next week, six rinks participating in each town as usual.

Four rinks played off last evening in the second draw of the LeBrun medal series, with the appended result:

CRICKET.

The gate money of the English cricket team in Australia has been enormous, and big profits are in sight for the promoters of the tour. At Melbourne in four days of the match with Victoria the takings were over $10,000, and about $8,000 at Adelaide. From Melbourne for the first test match at Sydney, the journey of 570 miles was made in a special train at an expense of over $1,000. Prince Ranjitsinhji thinks that McLaren, who is in Australia with Stoddard's cricket team, has shown himself to be the finest batsman in the world.

THE WHEEL.

In the current issue of Cycling appears a fine photo engraving of Mr. Milt Walker, of town, and the following remarks about him: We present herewith a cut of Mr. M. G. Walker, one of Peterborough's old reliables on the racing path. Removing to the eastern town in '94 and beginning to ride that summer, he won his novice and the Midland District and Peterborough championships, which he has held ever since. In '95 he landed first in the half-mile handicap in 1.01 in the Peterborough L.A.W. Circuit Meet. He rode later in the R.Q.T., starting from the 7-minute mark, when he passed 230 men and finished in seventeenth place, making the fourth best time, 1.01.06.

At Quebec on July 1st, '96 he was one of Peterborough's trio in the W.G. & R. team trophy race, and out of the eighteen flyers competing, he landed third from the front. Although only racing a part of last season, he won several firsts, two seconds and two third prizes. He wound up the year by winning first time prize in the twenty-mile handicap road race, in which nearly all the cracks of Eastern Ontario came to the scratch. Mr. Walker is an expert bicycle machinist, and to the Peterborough Bicycle Works, of which he is the proprietor, come, therefore, a large proportion of the disabled mounts of the district for repairs.

THE RING.

Kid McCoy was asked what he would do if he fights Fitzsimmons and his reply was:—"Fitzsimmons is the worst proposition that any man has ever had to go up against. He is not clever, nor does he resort to strategy, but he can stand punishment as no one else ever did. I was once his trainer and know something of his weakness as well as his strength.

"I would not try the solar plexus blow; at least I would not make a special effort to land one. That can be used effectively only when a man is not expecting it, and Fitzsimmons would be anticipating it from start to finish. I will always have in mind the fact that I am facing the gamest and best fighter that I ever saw. I have a jab and a hook punch that I think are ahead of any blows ever tried. It was one of these latter that I used on Creedon, and it did the work so quickly that I did not realize what force there was to it. My arm was drawn back only a few inches, but it flew with the speed of a ball out of a cannon. One of these might not put Fits out, nor two of them, but a constant hammering away will do wonders. I would play for the point of the Australian's jaw. When he is knocked out that is the blow that will do the work. My scheme would be to prolong matters as much as possible, thereby weakening my opponent, and then to take advantage of every opening I saw. I would try the hook or the overhand blow as the circumstances permitted. I would make a waiting fight, but I do not mean to be understood as stating that I would not take advantage of opportunities to administer good, hard body blows. On the contrary, I would punish Fits as much as possible, and try for a knock-out only when I believed the time for it had arrived. Some persons have said that the punishment given him by Corbett at Carson had no apparent effect. I tell you it did, and I am satisfied that had the solar plexus blow been anticipated and avoided Fitzsimmons would not have won. Corbett committed the one unpardonable sin of the prize ring—he held his man cheap.

"I will show you how I could have guarded that solar plexus blow had I been Corbett. I would have drawn away my body and thrown off the blow with my right while swinging for Fitz's jaw with my left. Then to stop a left-hand hook I would block with my right and shoot in the same hand for the jaw, while stopping the right with my left. For a right hand swing or straight lead, I would duck and counter or reverse the above."

TRENT CANAL ITEMS.

Mr. Geo. Charlton, of Douro, Meets With an Accident, as Does Mr. E. Thompson.

On Wednesday Mr. Geo. Charlton, of Douro, who drives a team and wagon on the canal, met with a severe accident. It appears that he was unloading stone at the dumping place near Lakefield, when he fell off the wagon on his back. When he was picked up he was found to be insensible, and remained in that state for over two hours. On regaining consciousness, it was found that he had sustained a number of severe bruises and was injured internally. He is again able to be around, but is a little sore.

During the week Mr. E. Thompson, foreman on the T.V.C. met with a severe accident. It appears he had a gang of men putting a portable engine in the planing mill at lock 4. The men were backing the engine down a slight grade, when the front wheels suddenly cramped and the engine started down the grade. Mr. Thompson was behind the engine and before he could get out of its road it caught one of his hands and jammed it against the building. Crow bars were required to force the engine from the building before his hand was released, and it was found to be badly bruised.

THE ENGINEER.

(Dedicated to the Trent Valley Staff.)

Who comes with Faber sharpened keen,
With profile long and sober mien,
With transit, level, book and tape,
And glittering axe to swat the stape?
The Engineer.

Who sets the level, bends his spine,
Squints through the glass along the line,
Swings both his arms at rapid rate,
Yells "Hold that bloomin' rod up straight!"
The Engineer.

Who raves and snorts like one insane,
Jumps in the air and claws his mane,
Whene'er he sees a scraper take
A whack at his most cherished stake?
The Engineer.

Who swears he'll charge "an eyenlten"
For stakes destroyed by mules or men,
While on all fours he tries in vain
To find the vanished stake again?
The Engineer.

Who saws the air with maddened rage,
And turns with haste the figured page,
And then with patience out of joint,
Tries in another "reference point?"
The Engineer.

Who calls it "your unrivalled gall,"
Whene'er you kick for "overhaul,"
And gives your spine the frigid chill
Whene'er you spring an "extra bill?"
The Engineer.

Who deals with figures quite profane,
Then tells you solid rock is loose;
That hard pan's nothing more than loam,
While gumbo's lighter than sea foam?
The Engineer.

Who, after all, commands our praise,
(In spite of his peculiar ways),
While others harvest all the gains
That spring from his prolific brains?
The Engineer.

What Everybody Knows

Or ought to know, is that health and even life itself depends upon the condition of the blood. Feeding, as it does all the organs of the body, it must be rich and pure in order to give proper nourishment. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the body pure, rich and nourishing, and in this way strengthens the nerves, creates an appetite, tones the stomach and builds up the health. Hood's Sarsaparilla ward off colds, pneumonia and fevers, which are prevalent at this time.

TALBOT BROS. THE LEADING TOBACCONISTS OF PETERBOROUGH.

SHE HAD A THIRST

And Tried to Turn on the Water Tap. But Struck the Air Brake and Caused Trouble.

The New York Central Chicago Express came into the Grand Central station about six minutes behind its scheduled time the other day. The cause of it was the thirst of a young lady, who is said to have travelled on a pass issued to Miss Caroline Hurt, Chicago.

The train was a few minutes late, but was making up time rapidly on the stretch of road just this side of Garrison's. Suddenly the engine gave out a terrific screech, and the train came to a standstill so suddenly as to throw the passengers half-way out of their seats.

An investigation showed that the young lady, becoming thirsty, had tried to open the faucet of the water cooler. Being unsuccessful, and spying above her head the lever of the emergency brakes, she had supposed that it was intended to turn on and off the water. One tug at it had brought the train to its sudden standstill.

A magnificent example of what care of health will do for a man is presented in the life of Mr. Gladstone, the greatest statesman of the century. This "Grand Old Man" at eighty-six years of age, retained his intellectual vigor unabated, and had not lost the sinewy grip with which he fastened upon any subject that interested him.

Nearly every man has it in his power to live to a green old age like the great statesman of England. It is simply a matter of a little daily thought and regard for health. If, when a man feels that he is a little out of sorts, he will resort to the right remedy, he will never have to submit to the more serious ills of life. Most men, when they have a headache, feel drowsy during the day and are restless during the night, and find their appetite falling off, pay little or no heed to these warnings. The inevitable result is some dangerous and possibly fatal malady. The doctor may call it consumption, malaria or biliousness, or perhaps some blood or skin disease. It makes but little difference. These troubles all have their inception in the same cause — improper and insufficient nourishment. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery corrects that cause. It makes the appetite keen and hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active and the blood pure and rich. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It facilitates the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food, filling the blood with the nutriment that makes new and healthy flesh and nerve tissue. Medicine dealers sell it.

"Last summer," writes Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa., "I was going into consumption. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery completely cured me."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure.

St. Thomas, Dec. 27.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population almost is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter that "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood, yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

Was it an Earthquake?

Harrow, Ont., Jan. 7.—About 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon quite a severe shock was felt in this vicinity. Every building in town was shaken, but no damage done. The shock was accompanied by a distant roar as of some great explosion, which seemed to come from over Lake Erie. Some think it was an earthquake.

THE WORLD'S POPULATION.

It Could All Find Standing Room on One of England's Shires.

England today contains 30,000,000 people, but it has trebled its population in the course of a century, inasmuch as the population was 10,000,000 on the accession of the Hanoverian dynasty. At the time of the great revolution in 1688 England contained 5,500,000, while London, now 5,500,000, contained only 500,000 inhabitants.

It further appears that the entire population of the country was under 1,000,000 when the "Domesday Book" was compiled shortly after the Norman conquest. Other nations are more or less amenable to the same principle of increase, and modern ideas of the vast populations of antiquity are far from being correct. In spite of the grossly exaggerated statistics of Josephus, the site of Jerusalem and the course of its ancient walls, which can easily be traced, prove that the Holy City could never have accommodated more than 100,000 people, while the outer walls of Rome, still standing, indicate that the ancient population of the Eternal City could not, even in its palmy days, have exceeded 1,000,000 people.

"Westward the star of civilization takes it course" is a truth confirmed by the history of the ancient world and set forth in the rise and fall of the successive empires of China, India, Assyria, Babylonia, Egypt, Greece and Rome. The westward trend of the Aryan families of Celts, Teutons and Slavs in prehistoric times points to an eastern origin of the primitive nations that gathered strength as they marched toward the lands of the setting sun, and it now appears highly probable that the bulk of the world's population had congregated around the blue waters of the Mediterranean when Greece and Rome were in the meridian of their power. The numerical strength of these nations was not great, and modern ideas of the vast population of the ancient world are more fanciful than real.

From the foregoing considerations it would appear that the regular home troops of the British army, numbering about 100,000 men, could find standing room on four acres of ground, a space equal to that of Trafalgar square, London, while the entire force of volunteers in this country, numbering about 250,000, could be accommodated in Lord's cricket ground.

The 5,500,000 people in London could easily stand in Regent's park, while the 40,000,000 of the United Kingdom could be packed together in a space within range of a cannon that can fire the distance of a mile.

The present population of the world could stand in Middlesex, while all who have ever lived since the Christian era could stand in Yorkshire, and all the inhabitants of the world, reckoning from the time of Adam to the present day, could, as far as area is concerned, have found ample standing room in England.—London Tit-Bits.

EMERSON AS A FATHER.

The Author Wanted His Children to Ride and Dance.

A baby's cry or its joyful little crow would instantly bring my father from his books or writing. Many men are rather afraid to take a little baby. The younger the better for him. His skill in handling and amusing them was great, and it was strange to see how this was divined in advance by those somewhat shapeless beings of whom Artemus Ward said: "How beautiful is babes! So like human beings, only so small!" They were pretty sure to stretch out their small, pudgy hands to him.

The boy, natural, independent, enterprising, acting on simplest motives, was always looked at with sympathy by him—a relief from the caution, the sentimentality, cant or indirectness that his elders often showed. "See how well that boy rides bareback and sticks like a burr!" "Look at that fine girl, simple and fearless as Iphigenia," he would say as he saw the children of the Concord farmers go by his window, and forgot his task in the pleasure of looking at them.

Indeed they were pretty sure to reappear in his books. When I, having no mother and only older sisters for companions at home and attending a small private school, was naturally timid and slow in finding my place among the boys of the neighborhood, it troubled my father, and he called Tommy Hazel, the "naughty boy" of our part of the village, and promised him a quarter if he would work me into the ball playing of the public school opposite the house. The game was "four old cats," baseball in its modern form being then unknown.

Today athletics and amusements perhaps get something more than their fair share of attention, probably because two generations ago the body was neglected and the mind and soul alone were deemed worth training.

But life is like a stool with these three legs—body, mind and spirit. For its perfect poise all three of these must be good. My father saw how much of real value he had missed in his boyhood and that games, adventures, even fights, are good schoolmasters, teach some things better than books and must supplement these.

Because he had not learned to ride and dance and enter a company with ease he wished all the more that we should. He put me under the orders of our loyal Irish workman, an ex-dragoon, did not worry lest I be thrown off, but charged me, if I were, to be sure to get right on the same horse again, and I have always been most grateful that I was denied saddle and stirrups until I had grown rather independent of such aids.—R. W. Emerson in Youth's Companion.

Yellow Skin and Eyes.

Biliousness causes yellow skin and eyes, tired, weary, sluggish feeling, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters cleanses the blood and regulates the liver, curing all its diseases: "From a child I suffered from biliousness and headache, and all the money I spent for medicine brought me no relief. Four bottles of B. B. B. cured me completely, however, and I gladly recommend it."

Mrs. W. Coleman, Toronto, Ont.

THE NEW ROYAL YACHT

Will Cost a Million Dollars and be as Long as the Cruiser New York.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Navy Department has received a report from the naval attache at London, Eng., telling of the ceremony attending the laying of the first plates for the Queen's new yacht, to replace the antiquated Victoria and Albert, which has carried royalty for many years.

The new yacht is to cost $1,000,000. The new vessel will be the same length as the cruiser New York 380 feet over all. She will have a speed of 21 knots. Only two guns will be in her battery, and those are intended principally for saluting purposes.

Denounced the Daily Press.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—At the general meeting of the Evangelical Alliance last night Hon. S. H. Blake, the president, made a strong address, in the course of which he asked: "What are we to do with the daily press?" Then Mr. Blake told how in England, where the standard of the press was the highest in the world, people were keeping the newspapers out of their homes and away from their children. He argued that the long details they contained about murders and every other nasty piece of news made men and women vicious and even criminals, and instanced the case of a man who had confessed when convicted of the murder of his wife that he had learned how to mix the poison by reading of precedent cases in the newspapers. The newspapers were robbing the home life of its privacy. Family affairs were being continually made public.

"Where they get it, the devil only knows," was his blunt commentary.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

Will This

Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WE HAVE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

'Twas a bright morning in the summer of 1860, said Captain Handy, that Jack Bolles and I, a couple of boys not yet 20 years old, were discharged in Valparaiso from the whaling bark Golconda of New Bedford with $110 apiece in gold "condors" in our pockets. All the romance of whaling in the south seas and its attendant dangers which had filled our imaginations when we shipped as green hands at the "one hundred and ninetieth lay," had been effectually dissipated by the greasy realities of "blanket and hawse pieces," cutting up in the "blubber room," "down scrape" and "trying out," supplemented by a ten hours' pull in the boats every other day, poor food, and rough, if not brutal, treatment, from the officers.

So, as we stood that morning on the jetty, clinking the money in our pockets and watching our old ship disappear in the offing, we felt indeed "monarchs of all we surveyed."

At last the hull was down, and, turning away with sighs of relief, we clattered once more up the ill paved street to the consul's office, where we had been paid off, and inquired of him when we could take passage for home. We learned, much to our disappointment, that there were no ships in port bound for the States, nor would there be any, except an occasional whaler, for six months to come.

"We must resign ourselves to the inevitable," said Jack, "and the next question is, Where are we going to stop?"

The consul assured us that an American named Henderson kept the only decent place in town outside of the rough sailor boarding houses and recommended us to go there. We found Henderson a good fellow, who gave us a large room with two beds in it, and after seeing our chests safely stowed away we strolled out to look at the town and incidentally to get work.

After walking about the city for an hour or two we descended to the first or commercial street to look for work. Being young, persistent and fairly well educated, we were lucky enough to find employment with two English firms, branch houses of London and Liverpool traders. Next morning we went to work, and for a couple of months our lives moved on tranquilly enough. In the evenings after supper we smoked our cigarettes and managed with the aid of a little grammar to learn a little Spanish. Occasionally on moonlight nights we walked out through the town, but we never went far, as Henderson warned us that it was no uncommon thing for a stranger to be found in the outlying parts of the city with his pockets rifled and a dagger wound in his breast.

One evening my superintendent discovered that a mistake had been made in the outward manifest of the ship Lord Palmerston, and, noting that she was lying "off and on" with her anchor atrip, ordered me to board her as soon as possible before she squared away for old England and rectify the error. So without delay I hurried to the jetty, embarked and in a half hour climbed up the side of the Palmerston.

My business retained me longer than I had anticipated, and it was fully 9 o'clock before I stepped to the side. As the tide was on the ebb my boatman had to land me at the nearest point, and I figured that I had about four miles to walk home.

It was moonlight, but here and there the dark shadows seemed to invite the assassin, and as I hurried on I cast many an anxious glance behind me. I had reached the outskirts of the city and was congratulating myself, when suddenly, from under an overhanging "balcon," a woman darted forth and clutched my arm, crying out in piteous accents:

"Por el amor de Dios, Senor Americano! Por el amor de Dios!" (For the love of God, Senor American!)

"Que quiere conmigo, senorita?" (What do you want with me, lady?) I replied as I stepped under the solitary lamp on the corner and looked at her more closely.

She was dressed in somber black, and the mantilla she wore was so drawn over the face that but one eye was visible. That single orb, however, shone with singular limpidity and beauty.

She was evidently greatly excited, and as she went on in her voluble Spanish I gathered from the little I knew of the language that her father was lying at the point of death in a house near by and she wanted me to go with her to his assistance. Why she wanted me to accompany her I could not understand. Therefore I asked her why she did not appeal to her own people.

She replied that she and her father were strangers, who had but recently come from Santiago, and that there were so many "ladrones," or robbers, among her own people that she dared not trust them, and in a still more urgent tone begged me to go with her.

Truly, "he who hesitates is lost," for, as I thought of Henderson's warning, the lateness of the hour and the woman's singular persistence, and faltered, undecided, she dropped her mantilla, and in an instant every scruple had vanished. The light from the moon illumined a face perfect in its classic beauty and as innocent as that of the Madonna, and as I saw the girl's tear stained cheeks (she was only about 16) and looked into her beautiful, imploring eyes I threw caution to the winds, sailorlike, and motioned her to lead and I would follow.

A look of joy overspread her face, and she fervently murmured her thanks as she guided me up the dark and narrow street. Here and there some building was fantastically silhouetted by the moon, and among its grim shadows I fancied I could see a dark form moving, but at the low, sweet sound of my fair guide's "Por aca, senor" (This way, sir), all my suspicions would vanish, and I felt heartily ashamed of myself and hurried forward in her wake. Graceful as a fawn, she bounded lightly up the steps which led to the street above, revealing as she did so a beautiful foot and ankle, and I, agile though I was, could hardly keep up with her.

Panting with exertion, at last we reached the top of the plateau which overlooked the town, and my guide gracefully waved her hand toward a light, like a star in the distance, and murmured:

"Ahi esta la casa" (Yonder is the house).

At that moment the moon sank behind a mass of black clouds and everything became dark about us. But my guide, pressing her little palm into mine, advanced steadily toward the light. Everything was as still as the dead, and a damp and chilly mist penetrated my very marrow.

As the moon shone out in radiant beauty my blood for a moment seemed to freeze in my veins, for there before me, gleaming brightly in the moonlight and winding like a serpent among the doddering crosses and moldering graves of the Pantheon, was the path that led to our destination.

The low lying wall of the Pantheon lay directly in front of me, and my guide quickly tripped up the steps which led over it, beckoning for me to follow. Though loath to go farther, yet the wondrous beauty of the girl held me as in a spell, and step by step I advanced until I stood upon the top of the wall.

As I looked downward I thought I saw the gleam of steel beneath the steps and the shadow of a man's form crouching there.

I halted and called out to the girl:

"Espera!" (Wait!)

At that moment the moon was again obscured, and in the semidarkness, for there was no street lamp there, and now all my senses were on the alert, I felt, rather than saw, her form as she mounted the steps, and reaching forward took my hand, saying "Porque?" (Why?)

"Porque no me voy" (Because I shall not go), I answered sternly.

As I spoke her fingers clutched mine and with incredible strength she strove to drag me forward, but ignoring her efforts I cast a final look downward, and this time I saw distinctly, for the cloud had passed from the moon, a man coming swiftly and silently toward the foot of the steps.

With one glance at the girl, whose face was now transformed by fury into that of a demon, I hurled her aside, rushed down the steps, every nerve strung to its highest tension and ran at my utmost speed toward the city.

I heard a man's hoarse shout behind me and had reached the steps which led down into the city in safety when suddenly I caught my foot, stumbled and half fell to the ground. Just as I fell forward something grazed my cheek, searing it like a redhot iron, and fell with ringing sound on the steps far below me.

Terror now lent additional wings to my speed, and I never paused until I fell exhausted through the portales of Henderson's home. Managing to crawl up the steps, I staggered into the dining room, where Jack and Henderson sat anxiously awaiting me, and sank breathless into a chair.

Their looks of astonishment were succeeded by those of horror as Jack exclaimed:

"My God, Henderson, look at the blood!"

Putting my hand up to my face I withdrew it wet with blood, and Henderson, who busied himself in washing it away, disclosed a cut two inches long where the knife had just touched me.

Explanations followed, and as I ate the meal waiting for me I told the strange adventure to my willing listeners. As I finished Henderson, who had listened quietly, as was his wont, burst out calmly:

"This explains it all, boys. It's no longer a mystery!"

Pressing him for his reasons, he went on to say that for the last two years foreigners had frequently been found stabbed in outlying and solitary parts of the city. The victims were invariably well dressed, but as no money or papers were ever found upon them investigation had been of no avail.

"But here's a clew which can be followed up," said Henderson, "and tomorrow morning we'll consult the chief of police."

Bright and early next morning, for we got but little sleep that night, we repaired to the chief of police, and to him I told my tale, Henderson acting as interpreter.

The chief was very much surprised and pleased by my information, and after cautioning us to keep silent dismissed us by saying we'd hear from him in a few days.

Two days later the foreign element of the city was thrilled by another atrocious murder. This time it was a rich young Englishman named Burton, who had come down from Lima to visit some friends, and who, after spending the evening with them, left about 11 o'clock for his hotel, which was only two blocks away. Next morning his body, robbed of all his valuables and papers, was found floating in the bay with a gaping dagger wound in the neck.

Burton's friends, who were rich and influential, backed by the British consul, made a vigorous attack upon the supine methods of the police, and at last aroused the authorities to something like activity. Following up the clew received from me, the "jefe" took a personal interest in the matter, and within a few weeks succeeded in capturing the gang, which consisted of five persons—the girl, who was used as a decoy, and four men. It was estimated that more than twoscore foreigners had been murdered by this gang during the 18 months of their sinister operations. At the trial Burton's wallet and passport, found in the robbers' rendezvous, convicted the men, and my identification of the girl completed the case. The men were sentenced, and, according to the methods of that country, were shot three days after the trial. The girl, owing to her youth and beauty, was sent to finish her days in the penal colony at San Carlos.

The years have rolled away since then—years of danger and adventure. Many a time during the war of the rebellion have I looked death in the face, and yet my blood thrills when I think of that night's adventure in Chile.—Philadelphia Times.

DURRANT HANGED AT LAST.

The Murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams Pays the Capital Punishment for His Crime.

San Quentin Prison, Cal., Jan. 8.—Theodore Durrant was executed at 10.35 yesterday morning in the State Penitentiary. He ascended the scaffold calmly, following Father Logan, who administered to his spiritual wants. He made a brief speech in quiet tones asserting his innocence and forgiving those who had persecuted him, mentioning especially the press of San Francisco. His last words were: "I am innocent."

His death appeared to be painless.

After the drop, Durrant did not struggle. In 15 minutes he was cut down. The neck was broken by the fall.

Story of the Crime.

William Henry Theodore Durrant, who was hanged at the State Prison at San Quentin yesterday, gave his life in exchange for the lives of two young women, who were members of the church to which he belonged. While Durrant was convicted of but one murder under the law, he was held responsible by public opinion for the murder of both Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, and it is felt that his death expiates one crime as much as the other.

Durrant's crimes were peculiar in their atrocity from any point of view. Blanche Lamont disappeared on April 3, 1895, and was never seen alive afterwards. She left the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. G. Noble, on that day to go to school. Ten days had passed since Miss Lamont had disappeared, and her friends had almost given up hope of ever knowing her fate, when a discovery was made which led to the finding of Miss Lamont's body. The ladies of Emmanuel Church were engaged in decorating the edifice preparatory to the celebration of the Easter Sunday services, when the mangled body of Minnie Williams was found in the library. A number of ugly knife wounds and some rags that had been forced down the young woman's throat told of the unequal struggle she had made to protect her life. Miss Williams' body was discovered in the afternoon, and late the same night the first clue to the murderer was obtained. From some of the young woman's friends it was learned that she had been seen the evening before with Durrant, and, although there was nothing else to show that he had any connection with the crime, the police decided to arrest him. From the first the police associated the finding of Miss Williams' body with the disappearance of Miss Lamont, and a search was at once begun in the church for her body. Men worked all night and finally lying in the corner of the darkened belfry, the body of the murdered girl was found.

The trial, which began on July 22 and lasted until Nov. 1, was one of the most celebrated in criminal jurisprudence. The evidence throughout was circumstantial but when taken together formed a chain so strong as to admit of no reasonable doubt. The case was submitted to the jury on the afternoon of Nov. 1, 1893, after having been on trial over three months. Twenty minutes after they left the court room the jurors returned and rendered a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Judge Murphy a few days later sentenced Durrant to be hanged on Feb. 1, 1896.

Then began a fight for delay, vigorously maintained for over two years, not even ceasing with the execution of the death sentence. Appeals were taken to every court in the State, exceptions were taken to judges' decisions on technical points, writs of habeas corpus were asked for, and, in fact, every possible thing that the smartest and shrewdest lawyers in California could think of was done to stave off the fateful day.

When, at last, it was seen by the condemned man's friends that nothing could be done through the courts, an appeal for clemency was made to Governor Budd. This, however, was refused, and the sheriff was ordered to carry out the verdict of the court, rendered two years and two months ago.

LOVE'S MESSENGERS.

The rose shall be my messenger,
The herald of devotion.
Each petal sweet shall be the seat
Of tenderest emotion,
And in the heart of each fair rose,
Deep hidden in the core,
There rests my soul, my inner self,
To love but you e'ermore.

Each rose will die, each petal fade
And wither fast away.
Each freighted heart that speaks my love
Will languish and decay.
Not so with love—my soul that's hid
Within each rose's core.
That love will breathe and speak and live
Forever, evermore.

'Twill live for you and speak to you
When roses cease to be.
'Twill breathe the rose's fragrance rare
For thee, my sweet, for thee!
Then haste, my messengers of love,
Tell her my each emotion.
Oh, petals sweet, at her dear feet
Bespeak my fond devotion!

—William Manley in New York Times.

His Income.

James Payn tells of a well known singer many years ago who in the pride of his heart greatly exaggerated to the tax collector his own assessment. "The fact is," he confessed to the commissioners, "I have not 1,000 pence of certain income." "But are you not stage manager to the opera house?" "Yes, but there is no salary attached to it." "But you teach?" "Yes, but I have no pupils." "Then you are a concert singer." "True, but I have no engagements." "At all events you have a very good salary at Drury Lane." "A very good one, but then it's never paid." Under these circumstances the tax was remitted.

Insulted Him.

Ferry—What was the matter with Johnson last night that he should get insulted when I asked him to drink? He is not a total abstainer, is he?

Wallace—It was the way you put the question. He is subject to attacks of kleptomania, and when you asked him if he "wasn't beginning to feel like taking something" he got hurt, very naturally.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Linseed and Turpentine are not only popular remedies, but are also the best known to medical science for the treatment of the nervous membranes of respiratory organs. Dr. Chase compounded this valuable Syrup so as to take away the unpleasant tastes of turpentine and linseed.

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS

Afflicting a Whole Family. Speedily Cured by CUTICURA.

Statements Sworn to Before the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

My wife had appear on her limbs, just above the ankles, five small pimples that began to enlarge, and soon developed into eating ulcers of the indolent type, which, despite all remedies and our efforts to cure them, grew worse and worse, and at the end of three months had become very bad, two of them having eaten to the bone. At that time we began to use CUTICURA remedies, and with two bottles of RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, they were cured sound and well in about two months. The scars are there to-day as living witnesses of the severity and extent of the ulcers.

I also was afflicted the same winter with papular rash, from which I could not rest day or night. My skin became in a very bad fix when I began using CUTICURA remedies. I used them for about one month and was cured.

My little baby girl, when about ten months old, was afflicted with Eczema, her limbs from her knees down were one solid sore from which she suffered greatly. We tried several remedies which only aggravated them, before we began the use of the CUTICURA remedies, in which case there was a complete cure with no return of the disease.

Alabama.

Governor Johnston of Alabama speaks enthusiastically of the prospects of his state. "We are now making steel," he says, "under $12 a tone, and as Alabama is manufacturing iron cheaper than any place in the world a multiplication of small industries having iron and steel for a basis are sure to follow. Alabama has a liberal and progressive policy toward the advancement of education. One-third of the entire receipts from the state taxes are expended in furthering education. We have an agricultural college for each congress district, making nine in all. Besides this, we have a state university and an excellent school system in the towns and counties."

The Opening Ball

$56,000 WORTH OF WINTER CLOTHING

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS

TO BE SOLD FOR $38,000!

We're booked for a lively time on this, the opening month of 1898. Weeks and weeks ago, before the holiday trade had fairly begun, we arranged for collecting goods for a very special occasion during January, 1898. The extent of that preparation is shown to-day in the vast quantities of WINTER CLOTHING, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS, at prices below the market, and with such facilities for quick selling as have never before been equalled. We believe there is plenty of business to be got even in midwinter. Every live clothing dealer knows that the thermometer is a livelier salesman than any other that can be employed. People wont buy until the time comes, and that means until the weather is right. Besides, half the people wear last year's winter garments until January bargain time comes. Acting on that principle this store has been busy every January for years.

COLD WEATHER IS A GREAT BOOMER!

With such prices as we now quote, we expect to surprise those who have been "playing a waiting game," as well as those who will take the trouble to see the goods and the value they represent. What we emphasize now is NEW GOODS, NEW STYLES AND NEW PRICES. It is important that you remember that. Buying as we do in great quantities and selling for Cash, have reduced the cost so materially that shoppers can't help but wonder where our profit comes from.

WE Buy for Cash, Sell for Cash; Buy Low, Sell Low—Because we know how to.

Wide awake waiters, and people on the lookout for January Snaps, have a chance now, the like of which can't be got anywhere else but at this Big Store.

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 3 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Business Being Rushed at the Assembly.

THE DATE OF THE ELECTIONS.

No Conclusion as Yet Reached by the Government—The Premier's Statement—Prorogation Likely to Take Place Within a Week—What Was Done on Saturday.

Toronto, Jan. 10.—The end of the session rush is now on, and if the expectations of the Government are realized this week will suffice to despatch the business on the programme. The Premier intimated that prorogation might, if the printing is sufficiently advanced, take place on Saturday, or at latest on Monday. Mr. Hardy was unable to satisfy the public curiosity as to when the election will be held. In response to an invitation by Mr. Whitney to unbosom himself of this important State secret, he intimated that the Government had not yet come to any conclusion as to the date.

The following bills were given a third and final reading:

To prevent the spread of the San Jose scale.

To make further provision respecting maternity boarding houses and the protection of infant children.

The Attorney-General gave notice that after to-day (Monday) there shall, unless otherwise ordered, be a morning as well as afternoon and an evening session of the House.

Hon. Mr. Davis' bill to amend the Ontario Companies Act passed the committee stage.

The Attorney-General's bill to amend the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act was read a second time.

Hon. Mr. Ross moved the second reading of his bill extending for six years the right of Victoria University graduates to five separate and distinct representatives on the Toronto University Senate.

Mr. Whitney asked if it was intended that at the end of the six years in question a complete fusion would take place.

Hon. Mr. Ross, in reply, expressed the hope that at the end of six years the fusion of the universities would be brought about easily and naturally.

The bill was read a second time, the Ministers leaving it an entirely open question as to whether, at the end of six years, the special representation should be again extended to Victoria.

Hon. Mr. Hardy read a second time his bill respecting the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897, and it was also put through the committee stage.

The Attorney-General's bill to "further facilitate the purchase of toll roads by municipalities," was read a second time.

Hon. Mr. Gibson introduced and had read a first time a bill to amend the Act respecting the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors.

The Attorney-General introduced a bill "respecting the investment of court funds."

Mr. Whitney asked the Attorney-General for the probable date of prorogation.

The Premier, in reply, said that he thought prorogation should take place on Monday, Jan. 17, or perhaps next Saturday. As to the date of the elections he could not say. As a matter of fact, the Government had as yet decided upon no date.

KLONDIKE REPORTS.

A Great Rush to Skaguay—Wm. Byrne's Awful Experience—No Danger of Starvation.

Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 3, via. Seattle, Jan. 10.—Twenty men have arrived here from Dawson. Some of them have been in the interior of Alaska for 10 years. They unhesitatingly state that there is no danger of starvation and no necessity for a Government relief expedition. They say that Thirty Mile River between Lake Laberge and the Hootalinqua is open water, and they were compelled to take to the side hills. Most of those who arrived to-night intend going back as soon as possible with supplies for the coming year. The trail is reported to be in very fair condition For two weeks the weather has been very mild.

A Good Place for Thieves.

Ed. Lard, the man who was recently arrested at Dawson for stealing $92,000 worth of gold dust from a saloon in which he was barkeeper, has been released. It is said that the reason for Lard's discharge was that the police had no food for the prisoners. Major Perry of the Mounted Police is inquiring very closely into the action of the Canadian customs officials who are collecting duty at Lake Lindermann, with a view to determining what amount of provisions an American miner should be allowed to take in duty free.

A Police Precaution.

Skaguay, Alaska, Jan. 9, via Seattle, Wash., Jan. 10.—Captain Wood, in command of the detachment of the Northwest Mounted Police in the district which extends from the White Pass summit to Lake Tagish, warns all persons en route to the Klondike that they will not be permitted to pass Tagish House unless each person has at least 600 pounds of provisions.

His Feet Frozen Off.

William Byrne of Chicago lies in a cabin on the Lewes River with both feet amputated. Byrne and his uncle, James E. Maguire, also of Chicago, were making their way up the river from Dawson, and on Dec. 6, Byrne, who is only 18 years of age, had both feet frozen. The men continued their journey for five days. The boy suffered horribly, and the flesh began to drop from the frozen feet. Still they forged ahead with the bones protruding from Byrne's feet until Lewes River was reached, and the boy placed in a cabin where he could receive some care. It was found necessary to amputate both feet near the knee. A doctor, who happened to be in the Lewes River camp, performed the operation. Maguire, the Uncle of Byrne, reached Skaguay in a dying condition, having been seized with quick consumption on the way up. He will probably live long enough to reach his home in Chicago.

Building Operations at Skaguay.

Building operations are being pushed night and day. Some of the buildings are to be used as hotels and lodging houses, more as dance halls, variety theatres and saloons. Each incoming steamer brings hundreds of people. It is almost impossible for people to secure hotel or lodging house accommodations.

The restaurants, saloons and gambling houses are thronged day and night while general business is good. Tents are being put up wherever an available site can be found, generally in the street.

Skaguay's First Postmaster.

W. B. Sampson, the first postmaster of Skaguay, took charge of his office yesterday.

The first public school will open tomorrow in the new church building.

REV. JOHN HALL D. D.,

Pastor of 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, Resigns His Pastorate—Well Known in Canada.

New York, Jan. 10.—Rev. Dr. John Hall announced to his congregation yesterday morning his resignation as pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. Many of his old parishioners heard it with deep emotion and when the services were concluded not a few members of this rich congregation forgot the restraints of formality and clustered around the pastor of three decades.

"Having served the church for 48 years, and as pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church for 30 years," Dr. Hall read from his letter of resignation, "after prayerful and long consideration, I have decided to resign this pastorate so as to allow the brethren of the session to choose a successor of requisite energy."

Dr. John Hall was born in Armagh, Ireland, July 31, 1829. He entered Belfast College when 13 years old. In June, 1849, he first began to preach as a missionary in western Ireland. In 1867 Dr. Hall came to this country as a delegate to the Old School Presbytery Assembly of the United States, which met in Cincinnati. In New York he was invited to speak in the Fifth Avenue Church, and after the services was tendered the pastorate, which he finally accepted. Dr. Hall has been receiving about $30,000 for his services, $15,000 of which was his salary as pastor of the church.

EX-KING MILAN.

His Appointment as Commander of the Servian Army Creates a Sensation.

London, Jan. 10.—The appointment of ex-King Milan as Commander-in-Chief of the Servian Army has caused a sensation. In well-informed circles the opinion is expressed that the appointment was necessary, as the Servian Army, which has great admiration for the former King, is assuming an independent attitude. The Government hopes Milan will be able to calm the disaffection; but the course of affairs in Servia indicates that King Alexander may ere long retire in favor of his father.

An Italian Frenchman.

London, Jan. 10.—A scandal is agitating the Roman aristocracy. The celebrated ducal house of Litta-Visconti-Arese has renounced its Italian nationality. The Duke married Countess Rosa Tarsis, a noted beauty, by whom he had two daughters, and some time afterwards a boy. The Duke repudiated the boy's paternity and accuses a very high person. He has established the fact in the courts that the child is not his; but, as divorce does not exist in Italy, the Duke has become a French citizen and has instituted proceedings.

A French Purchase in London.

London, Jan. 10.—The French Government has purchased for £25,000 the large mansion at Albert Gate which has long been occupied by the Embassy of France. It is also proposed to rent three smaller houses adjoining the mansion, and to build a big banquet room and offices for the staff.

A Yacht for J. G. Bennett.

London, Jan. 10.—George L. Watson is finishing the design of a very large steam yacht for Mr. James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, which will probably be built on the Clyde.

PAPAL ENCYCLICAL

Promulgated From the Basilica Pulpit Yesterday.

THE POSITION OF THE CHURCH.

Secular Instruction for Children Not Deemed Sufficient—Mgr. Merry Del Val's Report and Visit to Canada Referred to by His Holiness—The Clergy's Zeal Commended.

Quebec, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The long expected Papal Encyclical on the Manitoba School Question was read in the Basilica here to-day. It had been announced in the press that the document would be promulgated throughout the province, but such was not the case. His Holiness speaks as follows:

Apostolical letter of our Holy Father Leo. XIII., Pope, by Divine Providence:

To the archbishops, bishops, and other ordinaries of the Confederation of Canada, in peace and in communion with the Apostolical See:

To our venerable brethren, the archbishops, bishops and other ordinaries of the Confederation of Canada, in peace and in communion with the Apostolical See, Leo XIII., Pope—Venerable brethren, greeting and Apostolical benediction:

In addressing you to-day, and we do so with a loving heart, our mind naturally reverts to those relations of mutual kindness, to that interchange of good services, which have always existed between the Apostolic See and the Canadian people. Beside your very cradle we behold the Church with her charity, and ever since she has received you into her bosom she has not ceased to keep you in close embrace and to lavish upon you her bounties. If that man of imperishable memory, who was Francois de Laval Montmorency, was enabled to accomplish deeds of such exalted virtue and so fruitful for your country of which your ancestors were witnesses, it was assuredly with the support of authority and favor of the Roman Empire. Nor was it from any other source that the works performed by succeeding bishops—men of most striking merits—drew their origin and the assurance of their success. Likewise to ascend to the remotest period, it is truly under the inspiration and owing to the initiative of the Apostolic See that generous bands of missionaries learned the way leading to your country in order to bear thither with the light of the Gospel a higher culture of the first germs of civilization, and it is those germs which, fertilized by them also at the cost of long and patient labors, have placed the Canadian people on a level with the most civilized and the most glorious, and have made that people, although of later birth, the rival of its elders.

Agreeable Memory.

All these facts are most agreeable to our memory. All the more so that the fruits thereof, fruits of no little importance, remain under our eyes. The most considerable of all assuredly is among those Catholic multitudes an ardent love and zeal for our holy religion, for that religion which your forefathers, coming providentially firstly and especially from France, then from Ireland, and again from elsewhere in later years, scrupulously professed and handed down to their posterity as an inviolable trust. But if their sons faithfully keep that precious inheritance we can easily understand what great share of praise is due to your vigilance and activity, venerable brethren, how great a share also belongs to the zeal of your clergy, for, all together, with one soul, you labor assiduously for the preservation and the advancement of the Catholic faith, and such a homage is due to truth, without encountering either disfavor or trammel in the laws of the British Empire. Wherefore, when, urged by the consideration of your common merits, we conferred some few years past on the Archbishop of Quebec the honor of the Roman purple, we had in view not only to set forth his personal virtues, but also to render a solemn homage to the piety of all your faithful.

Concerning what regards the education of youth, upon which rest the best hopes of religious and civil society, the Apostolic See has never ceased to take an active interest therein, in concert with you and with your predecessors. Thus have been founded in great numbers in your country institutions destined for the moral and scientific training of youth, institutions which are so flourishing under the guardianship and protection of the church. Among them the University of Quebec, adorned with all the titles and endowed with all the rights that the apostolic authority is wont to confer, occupies a rank of honor, and sufficiently proves that the Holy See has no greater preoccupation nor more ardent desire than the forming of a youth equally distinguished by its intellectual culture and recommendable by its virtues.

It was therefore with extreme solicitude, as you may easily understand, that we have observed the regrettable events which have marked in later years the history of Catholic education in Manitoba. It is our will—and this will is for us a duty—to strive to obtain, and in effect to obtain by all the means and all the endeavors in our power, that no injury be done to religion among so many thousands of souls whose salvation has been specially committed unto us, above all in a religion which owes to the church its initiation to Christian doctrine, and to the first rudiments of civilisation.

The Delegate's Report.

And as many expected us to speak on the question, and begged of us to trace out a line of conduct and the course to pursue, and we were pleased to decide nothing in this matter before our apostolic delegate had been on the spot, charged with proceeding to a thorough examination of the situation and with presenting us a report of the state of matters. He has faithfully and zealously fulfilled the mandate we had committed to him.

The question agitated is assuredly one of the greatest importance, and of exceptional gravity. We mean the decisions taken several years ago regarding the schools by the Parliament of Manitoba. The act of union of the Canadian Confederation had assured the Catholic children the right of being educated in Public schools according to the prescriptions of their conscience. Now, that right the Parliament of Manitoba abolished by a contrary law. Such a law is injurious. For one children cannot be free to go and ask for the boon of instruction from schools which ignore the Catholic religion or positively oppose it, from schools where its doctrine is despised and its fundamental principles repudiated.

In Self Defence.

If ever anywhere the Church granted such permission it was only with reluctance, in self-defence, and after surrounding the children with many safeguards, which, moreover, have too often been found insufficient to ward off the danger. In like manner must be shunned at any cost, as most pernicious, those schools where all beliefs are indifferently harbored and placed on the same footing, as if for what concerns God and things divine it mattered little to have

A Working Man

Able to Keep His Place in Spite of Difficulties.

He Writes About His Condition—Wife and Children Helped.

WALLACEBURG, ONT.—The following letter will prove of interest to working men and others who may be in a condition similar to that of the writer:

"For three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I have been working at the barber trade for about 20 years and for the last four years I have been very closely confined and have had my meals very irregularly. I was taken with a

and the doctors said it was caused by my stomach troubles. I lost flesh and became so weak I was hardly able to stand up to the chair to work. One day I happened to be looking over some testimonial letters and I thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had taken two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt finely and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I have taken nearly five bottles and now I feel like a man again. I am than I have ever been in my life. My wife and children have also taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a blood medicine and realized much benefit from it. As for myself I cannot say too much for it. I firmly believe that if it had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla I would not have been able to work at my trade any longer." JOHN W. COUGHLIN. Get only HOOD'S.

ONTARIO'S INDUCEMENTS TO SETTLERS.

With the great natural resources of this Province, with its inexhaustible wealth of agricultural, timber and mineral lands, the great desiderata are population and capital for their development. The condition that will bring these to bear is good government and capable and progressive administration. This the present Government has supplied, and will continue to supply. Public confidence in the capacity and willingness of the Government to make Ontario a profitable and desirable home, will induce immigration from, not only the Old Country, but from congested portions of this continent, or from portions where settlers have not found the conditions, either of soil or climate, or form of government and political conditions conducive to desirable residence.

The Crown Lands Department of the Province of Ontario has set apart two townships in Rainy River district in the neighbourhood of the town of Arno for the accommodation of one of the largest and wealthiest band of settlers that has ever entered Canada. The influx is under the leadership of Rev. R. C. Burris, of Bowmanville. There are over a hundred families in the band. They are at present residents in the United States, and will emigrate to the Rainy River district as soon as navigation opens in the spring. The district they are to occupy is a very rich farming country.

The settlers will require no aid from the Government. Besides their household effects, stock, farming implements, they will bring into the district about $200,000 in cash, which they will expend in developing their farms and in opening roads to the railroad lines.

Mr. Burris has been working on the project for some time alone and unaided by the Government. He is at present making arrangements for steamboat and railroad transportation for the newcomers. This is a difficult matter, because the settlers are scattered over several states.

We welcome the new comers and there is every reason to believe that they will make prosperous, useful and contented settlers. In the first place they are enterprising or they would not break up their home to seek new ones on Ontario soil. They are descriminating, for they recognise the fact that good soil, good climate and good government, are the conditions that will yield the best results in the way of prosperity and success. We in Ontario are so accustomed to the blessings of good government that its blessings do not receive the fullest measure of appreciation, as a man that is always well fed does not appreciate this been like one who is deprived of it. We have had a quarter of a century of good government at the hands of the present administration, which is just as alert, just as capable, and just as anxious as ever to advance the interests and develop the resources of the grandest province of the confederation group.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Hardy Government, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, is certainly striking out a more progressive policy than the Province has ventured on for many years. And it is eminently in the right direction—retention of State resources. The Forest Reserves Act will meet with general approval. Tracts of land that are unfit for cultivation, and there are in this Province immense areas of such, are to be set apart as Forest Reserves for the cultivation of pine and spruce. By putting these lands under proper regulations, such as other countries have successfully carried out, they can be made a permanent annual source of direct income, to say nothing of the incalculable climatic benefit in maintaining the water supply of our lakes and rivers.

POINTER ON PIGS.

The Canadian Pecker Scores in the Old Land.

The Canadian pig has another grievance. Following closely on the misuse of his name and dignity, for political ends, by Mr. St. John, comes a story from Great Britain which ought to make him grunt with indignation. It appears the Junior Army and Navy stores, a co-operative concern, has just been fined £50 and costs for selling "British and Irish" hams which were not B. and I., but simply Canadian. But the Canadian pig has the consolation of knowing that he was as good in the teeth of the transatlantic purchasers, as the real original, and that the difference would never have been known had the "informer" not made his repulsive appearance. A discharged employee of the stores, thirsting for revenge, gave evidence, and stated that whenever the stores ran short of British or Irish hams, he was instructed to convert a suitable foreigner by the simple process of giving him another brand, and selling him at the higher price of the genuine article. Thus, if a "real" Wiltshire ham was demanded, and there was no supply, one was made according to this witness, as follows: "A good looking Canadian ham was picked out and rubbed with oil, dusted with peameal and charged so much more per pound." There was no defence and the stores were convicted of the deceit and fined as stated. It is the old old story over again—fancy. Very likely some of our own people have received a Christmas present of a "real English or Irish cured ham" which, after having come from the establishment of one or other of our numerous and excellent pork packers, has been for some time a pilgrim and sojourner in the mother country. Something of the kind occurred not long ago in connection with cheese. Loving British hearts purchased a "real Stilton" and sent it to a relative in Western Ontario and after the many wrappings and dusty casing of the precious mummy had been removed an expert eye noted the impression of a well-known Guelph firm on it. But with regard to this ham controversy the British pig may well say—another such victory and I am lost. His honour or fame is vindicated, perhaps, but at the same time the vindication has raised our Canadian hams and bacon to the top notch in the pinnacle of merit. There was no difference between the British or the Canadian discovered until the "informer" came in. The lesson is one which should be well remembered. The Canadian cured meats have received an advertisement of a very unusual character, but one which should spur us on to renewed efforts. We have before this referred to the enormous importation into England of colonial, foreign and American cured meats, and of this the share of Canada is not in anything like the proportion, or as great as she could make it without much effort. By no means let our producers attempt to make Wiltshires or other hams by the unworthy 'oil,' 'peameal' and rubbing process. Let us send as many honest, above board, Canadian hams as we can. The people, now that they have been paying high prices for Canadian ham under another and assumed name, and liked them as well as the article they falsely purported to be, will doubtless turn to them in preference, and great will be the sale thereof.

ADVERTISING AS AN ART.

Sometimes it is said that a large part of the feminine world on opening a newspaper reads the marriages and deaths and then turns to the fresh advertisements. It would be nearer the fact to say that a woman who is the head of the family reads the important news and then settles down to study the advertisements that touch her round of duties. Such a course is perfectly natural and business-like. Men look over advertisements for the same reason, though in the line of their own daily transactions. The law of choice is at work in both cases. All mankind love a bargain and all desire to keep up with the spirit of the times. So the utilities and the attractiveness of advertising grow from year. The specially trained writer and the artist combine to render it more pleasing and effective and all possible typographical ingenuities are employed to the same end. Advertisements are brightened also, by the value of the newspaper space. There may have been a time when the eye of the reader avoided the advertising columns, but that is past. This is an era of enterprise in news and no less of successful progress in advertising.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGONY.

Suffering Ended in a Few Weeks by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petrolea, Jan. 10.—From Ingersoll to Petrolea the way is marked at short intervals by houses which are pointed to as those in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured cases of Kidney Disease, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or other kidney or blood disorder.

John Russell, a farmer living near here, tells of his cure, after suffering fifteen years with Bright's Disease.

Three doctors treated him; may remedies were tried. All failed.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended. He tried them. The invariable result followed. A few boxes cured him.

This story, with variations as to the disease, is told by hundreds in Petrolea. Dodd's Kidney Pills have not been known to fail one yet. Every case has been a cure.

LASSWADE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

There is lots of snow in this vicinity. Never was better sleighing.

W. B. Dingman, wife and daughter, Miss Pearl Dingman, from Rochester, and Archie McColl, from Lakehurst, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dingman, Christmas.

We have J. W. McLean with us again for another year. The trustees are very fortunate in securing his services for this third year, as he is an excellent teacher and a favourite with both old and young of this place. We all join in wishing Mr. McLean a happy and prosperous New Year.

Wm. Dingman was taken a few weeks ago with a third stroke of paralysis which left him speechless for a few hours. He is around again, however, and able to work and ride a distance of 20 miles.

Nicholas Dingman has built a kitchen and wood house this fall which is a great improvement to the place.

Wm. Clary was in our midst this week calling on C. N. Dingman.

The annual school meeting was held at S. S. No. 13. Mr. Lewis Washburn was elected as trustee in place of Jered Dingman. J. Snelgrove is still in the same office, while A. Nicholls is auditor.

Mr. A. Palmeteer, of Warkworth, was here for a few days on business.

There was a party Christmas eve at Mr. M. Woodbeck's. They had a very enjoyable time.

Wilfred Rusaw and Miss Allen were married on the 22nd of December.

Wesley Newbery, who has been very ill, is on the mend again.

The Rathbun Co. have given out jobs to a number of men of this place, but they can't do much yet as the swamps seem to be full of water and not frozen it is impossible to get in with a team.

Walter Woodbeck has sold his place and stock to a young man by the name of Dumanee, of Colborne. Walter started for Michigan last Monday.

Mr. Baskin is stocking his mill this winter. He will be apt to have quite a long season of sawing this coming summer.

Wesley Dulmage's home at Oakdale was made happy on Dec. 19th by the birth of a bouncing baby boy.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

CATARRH! F. F. C. C.

Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR CATARRH AND COLD IN THE HEAD.

This effective remedy for Catarrh and Cold in the head is a fume inhalent—it goes direct to the seat of disease and gives relief in a marvellously quick time. It will cure the slightest cold in the head almost instantly, and, if faithfully and persistently used, it will cure the most stubborn and long standing cases of chronic catarrh of the head—it never fails to do its work—it is easily applied—it is harmless to use—you simply take a small portion of the remedy in the palm of the hands, rub the hands together, then partly open them and inhale the fumes from the remedy into the throat and nose, and rub a little of the remedy on sides of the nose and temples.

Dear Sir—I have been using catarrh remedy of different kinds for the last fifteen years, but find "Forsyth's Faultless Catarrh Cure" the best I have used, and have no hesitation in recommending it to any one troubled with catarrh or cold in the head.

PAPAL ENCYCLICAL.

or not sound doctrine, to adopt truth or error. You are far from ignoring, venerable brethren, that all schools of such a nature have been condemned by the Church, because nothing can be more pernicious, more likely to ruin the integrity of the faith, and to turn away youthful minds from the path of truth. There is another point on which we shall easily agree with those very minds which might dissent from us as to all else, to wit, that it is not by means of a purely scientific instruction, nor of vague and superficial notions of virtue, that Catholic children will leave the school much as their country desires and expects them to be. They must be nourished with far more grave and important knowledge in order to become good Christians, upright and honest citizens. Their training must be the result of principles which, engraved upon their conscience, impose themselves on their life as natural consequences of their faith, and of their religion.

Moral Education.

For without religion there is no moral education worthy of the name nor truly efficacious, whereas the very nature and force of every duty are derived from those special duties that bind man to God—to God who commands, who forbids, and who appends a sanction to good and evil. Wherefore to desire that souls be imbued with good morals and to leave them at the same time deprived of religion is as unwise as to invite to virtue after having ruined its very groundwork. Now, for Catholics there is only one true religion, the Catholic religion, and therefore in the matter of doctrines of morality and religion, they may not accept or acknowledge any that is not drawn from the very sources of Catholic teaching. Justice and reason then demand that our pupils find in the schools not only scientific instruction but also moral knowledge, in harmony, as we have said, with the principles of their religion—knowledge without which, far from being fruitful, no education can be otherwise than absolutely baneful, whence the necessity of having Catholic teachers, readers, and text-books approved by the bishops and of having the liberty to organize the schools so that the teaching be in full accord with the Catholic faith, as also with all the duties that spring therefrom.

Besides as to deciding in what institutions the children shall be brought up, what masters shall be called to teach them the moral precepts, that is a right inherent in paternal authority. When, therefore, Catholics demand—and it is their duty to thus demand—and claim that the teaching of the masters agree with the religion of their children, they make use of their own right, and nothing would be more unjust than to place them in the alternative, either of setting their children grow up in ignorance or casting them into a sphere which constitutes manifest danger for the supreme interests of their souls.

It is not allowable to question nor to abandon in any way these principles of judgment and of conduct, which rest upon truth and justice, and which are the safeguards of both public and private interests. Wherefore, when the new law inflicted a blow upon Catholics' education in the Province of Manitoba, was it your duty, venerable brethren, to protest openly against the injustice and against the injury that it had received; and the manner in which you have fulfilled that duty is a striking proof of your common vigilance, and of a zeal truly worthy of bishops. And although at this point each one of you meets with a sufficient approbation in the testimony of his conscience, learn nevertheless that we add thereto our endorsement and our approbation. For those things which you have sought and still seek to guard and defend are sacred.

However, the inconveniences of the law in question by themselves gave warning that to find an opportune alleviation of the evil a perfect understanding was necessary. Such was the cause of the Catholics that all upright and honest citizens, without distinction of party, should have concerted and closely associated to become the defenders thereof. To the great detriment of that same cause, it was the contrary that took place. What is more deplorable still is that the Catholic Canadians themselves did not succeed in agreeing to defend the interests which concern in such a high degree the common good, and the greatness and gravity of which should impose silence on the interests of political parties, which are of a far inferior order.

We are not unaware that something has been done to amend the law. The men who are at the head of the Federal Government and of the Government of the province have already taken certain decisions with a view to diminish the complaints of grievances, otherwise so legitimate of the Catholics of Manitoba.

We have no reason to doubt that they were inspired by the love of equity and by a laudable intention. We cannot, however, dissimulate the truth. The law which has been enacted for the purpose of reparation is defective, imperfect, insufficient. That which the Catholics demand, and which they have, as nobody doubts, the right to demand, is far greater. Moreover, those very concessions which have been granted suffer likewise from this defect, that owing to changes in local circumstances they may easily miss their practical effect. To sum up the whole, the rights of the Catholics and the education of our children in Manitoba have not yet been sufficiently provided for. Now, everything demands in this question and in justice that full provision be made therefor, that is to say that the immutable and sacred principles we have above touched upon be sheltered and secured. Such must be the aim in view, such the object to be pursued with zeal and prudence. Now, nothing can be more contrary to that end than discord; for that purpose the union of minds and harmony of action are absolutely necessary. However, as the object intended to be attained, and that must be attained in effect, does not impose a determined and exclusive tone of conduct, but, on the contrary admits of several, as it usually happens in matters of this sort, it follows that there may be concerning the course to be pursued certain multiplicity of opinions equally good and plausible. Let no one therefore lose sight of the rules of moderation, of meekness and of brotherly charity. Let no one forget the respect he owes to others, but let all weigh maturely that which circumstances demand, determine what is best to do, and do in a thoroughly cordial agreement, and not without having taken your advice.

Concerning what regards in particular the Catholics of Manitoba, we feel confident that, God helping, they will succeed one day in obtaining full satisfaction. This confidence is based especially on the goodness of their cause, and also on the equity and wisdom of those who hold in their hands the government of the commonwealth, and finally on the good-will of all the upright men of Canada. Meanwhile, until it shall be granted them to obtain the triumph of all their claims, let them not refuse partial satisfactions. Wherefore, wherever the law, or the fact, or the good dispositions of persons offer them some means of attenuating the evil, and of better avoiding its dangers, it is altogether becoming and it is useful that they make use of such, and that they derive therefrom the best possible advantage. Wherever, on the contrary, there would be no other remedy for the evil, we exhort and beseech them to obviate the same by an increase of generous liberality. They can do nothing more salutary for themselves, and more favorable to the prosperity of their country, than to contribute to the maintenance of their schools, according to the full measure of their resources.

There is another point which also calls for your joint solicitude; it is, that by your authority, and with the concurrence of those who direct establishments of education, the entire program of studies be elaborated with care and wisdom, and that care be taken that none be admitted to the office of teacher but men abundantly provided with all the qualities requisite therefor, both natural and acquired. For it is but fitting that Catholic schools should rival the most flourishing by the excellence of their methods of training, and by the splendor of their teaching. From the standpoint of intellectual culture, and of the progress of civilization, there is nothing but what is great and noble in the plan conceived by the Canadian provinces of developing public instruction, of raising its standard ever higher, and of thus making it something greater and more perfect. Now, there is no kind of study, no progress of human knowledge that may not fully harmonize with Catholic doctrine. To explain and to defend all that we have heretofore said those among Catholics may powerfully contribute who have devoted themselves to the labors of the press, and especially of the daily press. Let them therefore remember their duty. Let them defend religiously and with courage whatever is truth, right, the interests of the Church and of society, in such a manner, however, that they remain worthy the respect of persons measured in all things. Let them be respectful, and show a scrupulous deference towards Episcopal authority, and towards all lawful power. The more difficult the times the more threatening is the danger of division, the more also must they study to inculcate that unity of thought and action without which there is little or even not any hope of ever obtaining that which is the object of our common desires.

As a pledge of the Heavenly gifts, and of our paternal affection, receive the apostolic benediction that we most lovingly grant in the Lord to you, venerable brethren, to your clergy, and to your flocks.

Given at Rome, near St. Peter's, the eighth day of December, of the year 1897, the twentieth of our pontificate.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

To-morrow Night's Attraction.

The following is clipped from the Ottawa Free Press:—John Griffith, the young Canadian tragedian, appeared at the Russell last night to a highly cultivated and appreciative audience. Goethe's masterpiece, "Faust," was produced by a strong company, with Mr. Griffith as Mephisto. He established anew his reputation as being the greatest living Mephisto. In Mr. Griffith's version and in his capable hands, Mephistophiles runs the whole show to his liking, and his impersonation of his Satanic Majesty will long be remembered for the power and peculiar mocking characteristics, vivid to a degree in bringing out the protean nature of the gentleman from below. Miss Cathryn Purnell makes a splendid Marguerite, and soon won the admiration of the audience. She possesses the requisite grace and beauty as well as the ability necessary to a perfect portrayal of this important character. Faust, John Fay Palmer; Martha, Mrs. Inman; Elsie, Maude Atkinson, and Wagner, Mr. Lawson, were in able hands. The production as a whole shows careful study and good stage direction, not a single detail being lost. The scenic and electrical effects are of marvellous construction. Bradburn's Opera House, Tuesday, Jan. 11th.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S INAUGURAL MEETING.

Mayor Davis Delivers His Address to the Members.

AUDITORS WERE APPOINTED.

The Council Will Meet Again This Evening to Receive the Report of the Committee Which is Striking the Standing Committees for the Year This Afternoon.

The inaugural meeting of the town council was held this morning and that things in general are to be shaken up around the town hall was evidenced by the fact that the mayor took the chair promptly at eleven o'clock. The Councillors present were: No. 1 Ward—Councillors H. Best, W. H. White and C. B. Robertson. No. 2 Ward—Councillors T. H. G. Deane and T. H. Hamilton. No. 3 Ward—Councillors Adam Dawson, J. H. Cobb and J. B. McWilliams. No. 4 Ward—Councillors Wm. Langford, W. H. Meldrum and J. M. White.

On taking the chair Mayor Davis congratulated the members on their election to seats at the Board and in remarking on the affairs of the town he urged that the estimates be brought down at the February meeting of the council in order that a clear understanding might exist as to the position in which the finances stood. There was no reason why the rate should be any higher this year than last. Concerning the sewer system the mayor explained that about half the contract work was now finished and he advised that new work be not forced, but rather that it be not undertaken at present unless petitioned for by the ratepayers concerned. In reference to the streets he stated that as was known there was a large quantity of broken and unbroken stone on hand. It would be the duty of the Street and Bridge Committee to consider the disposition of this stone in order to give employment to labour and at the same time to use the material in such a way as to guarrantee the work done as permanent as possible. The caterpillar pest of last year was referred to, and the mayor thought that if dealt with at the proper time the nuisance could be greatly abated at a small expense. The charity given by the town, he hoped, would be administered in a similar manner to that of last year. Personal mention was make of the Central Board, which handled the funds so capably. The Market Committee during the year would have to make some amendments to the bylaw in order to protect the market more fully. Peterborough was most advantageously located for the location of manufactures, as being a smaller town than the large manufacturing centres, capitalists would escape much trouble from strikes by coming here. There had been too much dilly-dallying over the question of the erection of a Home of Refuge or home for the aged poor. Some investigation had been made into the matter, but the figures received were almost appalling as regarding the cost of erection and maintenance, and the town was not in a position to look at it. At present, however, there were only six of these unfortunates in the gaol and surely something could be done at a small outlay to do a little for them. It was a disgrace to think that in a Christian community they would have to end their days in gaol. He suggested that a committee composed of two members of the council, Jas. Kendry, M.P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., J. J. McBain, Peter Hamilton and George Webber be appointed to devise some scheme for the approval of the ratepayers, so that the matter might be wiped off the slate. In conclusion he hoped that in the year on which the council was now entering, that the members would lose sight of all selfish aims and have an eye only for the benefit of the town and the interests of the ratepayers.

THE AUDITORS.

Councillors Dawson and Cobb moved that Sheriff Hall be appointed one of the auditors.—Carried.

The Mayor offered the name of Mr. F. E. Bell as the other auditor.

Councillor Maldrum suggested that returns be made by the auditors of all the remissions in taxes granted during the year.

This was put in the form of a motion and carried.

Councillor Deane stated that the auditors' report didn't give a fair idea of the assets of the town. He thought that the value of the town buildings, gaol, hospital, schools, etc., should be shown to the town's credit.

Councillor Best thought that the only duties of the auditors was to check the accounts, but he gave notice of motion along the lines suggested by Councillor Deane.

A. M. Clark applied for appointment as auditor—Received.

The Barnardo Home asked for remisson of taxes.

Councillor Dawson objected to remission being granted, stating that the Home people spent very little money in Peterborough. He had inquired amongst the merchants and ascertained that $7 had been spent for repairs of boots, and only one merchant on George street stated that they dealt with him. The grocers stated that no more than four or five hundred dollars was spent amongst them annually.

Councillor Cobb drew attention to the fact that this matter had been left to the Court of Revision a second time and they had not dealt with it.

Councillor McWilliams urged that the Home be asked to produce its books and show how much money had been spent amongst the merchants.

Councillor Meldrum and McWilliams moved that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee and that a representative of the Home be asked to appear at the meeting.

Councillor Cobb thought the matter was not in the jurisdiction of the council after it had been handed to the Court of Revision to deal with.

Councillor McWilliams inquired whether the Court had asked anyone from the Home to appear before it.

Councillor Cobb replied that he had himself made inquiries amongst the merchants as to the trade they received from the Barnardo Home and had been told that the profit was all wiped out by the presents which they were asked to give.

Councillor McWilliams then stated that if the matter was as Councillors Dawson and Cobb represented, he would be against exemption, but he asked that the books be produced from the Home in order that no mistake be made.

The matter was then left in the hands of the Finance Committee.

The Fire Underwriters' Association wrote asking what action had been taken regarding the perfecting of Peterborough's fire protection.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The estimates as received from the Board of Education were referred to the Finance Committee.

Mrs. K. Mark's application for remission of taxes was referred to the Court of Revision.

A petition from W.D. Points and a number of other asking for a light to be placed on the corner by the South Ward school.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

On behalf of his client, Mr. E. B. Stone wrote stating that Mr. Parrington was entitled to some consideration from the council, both morally and legally, in regard to taxes remitted when he had served notices.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

A. Rhodes asked for remission of statute labour tax.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and Cobb, Mayor Davis and Councillors Dawson, Best, Deane and White were appointed a committee to draft a resolution of condolence from the Council to the widow and family of the late John Burnham.

Councillors Meldrum and Cobb moved that the committee to strike the standing committees for the year be composed of Councillors Best, Deane, Cobb and J. M. White.

In amendment, Councillors Robertson and McWilliams moved that a committee of the whole council strike the committees for the year.

The original motion was carried and the council will meet at 8:15 this evening to hear the report.

—The meeting in the council chamber to-morrow evening will be in the interests of the retail merchants as a whole, and not for the grocers only.

—Seven fine breeding sheep, owned by Mr. Walter Hay, near Minden, were killed by dogs on Wednesday night. He tracked the curs and shot them.

—Walter T. Ross, customs collector at Picton, has two fully developed lemons grown by himself. They measured eight and three-quarter inches in circumference and the two weighed twelve and one-half ounces.

—A new firm has, it is said, acquired possession of the Ground Floor Photograph Gallery, Charlotte street. One of the members of the new firm is a brother of a local minister. Further particulars will no doubt be available in a day or two.

—It requires two teams of horses to get a load of wood over the Hunter street bridge. The planking is bare of snow. The Grand Trunk crossings at Charlotte and Hunter streets are also "stickers" for loaded teams.

—A boom stick that won't break the next time, is now laid down for the derrick to be used at the pits for the lift lock east of Armour's hill, on the Trent Valley Canal works. It is 103 feet long, two feet in diameter at the butt and nearly a foot at the top.

—The year 1898 will have six eclipses, three of the sun and three of the moon. This is the first time in two hundred years that there have been three eclipses of the moon in one year, an occurrence, the astronomers say, that will not take place in two hundred more years.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., pastor of the church, spoke at the morning service on "A Voice from Heaven," taking as his text Heb. xii, 25, "See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth much more shall not be escape if we refuse Him that spake from Heaven." He gave a very practical discourse to a good congregation.

In the evening he chose as his subject, "Besetting Sins," and for his text Heb. 12, 1. On these two verses he based an excellent discourse, which was listened to by a large congregation.

Every Sunday large congregations are present to hear the earnest gospel sermons by Mr. Moore, who shuns not to declare the whole counsel of God.

On Monday evening Mrs. (Rev.) Moore will take the topic at the League.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 all ladies interested in forming a Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the parsonage.

The usual church prayer meeting will be on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Sunday School will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All interested will be welcome.

The cottage prayer meeting will be held on Friday evening at Mr. D. McGregor's, Douro street. All are cordially invited.

The Mark street church choir will hold a concert in the new town hall on Friday evening, January 21st, with a view to getting a new church organ.

Next Sunday evening there will be an old people's service. All fifty and over will occupy the centre seats. Others will please occupy the side seats. Everybody will be welcome.

The Most Prominent are Fashionable.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion has become a fashionable disease. There are very few individuals who have not at various time experienced the miserable feeling caused by defective digestion. No pen can describe the keen suffering of the body, and the agony and anguish of mind endured by the Dyspeptic. Dr. La Londe, of 236 Pine Ave., Montreal, says, "When I ever run across chronic cases of Dyspepsia I always prescribe Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and my patients generally have quick relief."

Cheap Furniture During January.

Stock must be reduced. Cash buyers can look for bargains in all lines of furniture from a good kitchen chair for 26c to the finest parlour suits. Watch for further announcements or call and inspect. No trouble to show goods.—CLINE'S Furniture and Undertaking Warerooms, 425 and 427 George street.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Football and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

HOCKEY.

Don't forget the hockey match to-morrow evening—Norwood vs. Peterborough II.

At a meeting of the hockey club Saturday evening Mr. Walter Phelan was elected Captain of the team for 1898. Walter, or "Scuddy" as he is more familiarly known amongst his friends, is by long odds the best hockey player ever turned out in Peterborough and since his debut on the ice has been referred to as "the backbone of the team." It is most fitting therefore that he should captain the team which is to win the senior championship this year.

The team committee was also selected Saturday evening. It is composed of Messrs. R. J. Fife, W. J. Montgomery and Walter Phelan.

The team for to-morrow night has been picked as follows: goal, E. Wasson; point, R. Thorne; cover point, B. Glover; forwards, Harry King, C. Graham, B. Bellegbem and W. Crossley. Referee, Myles Hamilton.

Cobourg on the home ice beat Oshawa by 6 goals to 3.

The Ottawa Journal in speaking of the Winnipeg-Capital game says:—The Capitals introduced a new feature in hockey, at least as far as Ottawa is concerned. They played to a great extent what would be termed in football an interference game. They played it very successfully too, and a man skating with the puck was frequently protected from attack by another skater in front of him.

CURLIANA.

A deputation of Cobourg curlers met a number of Port Hope curlers in Mr. Burton's office in Port Hope on Wednesday and offered them them the privilege of Cobourg rink for the sum of $3 per member. The offer is being considered.

OFF-HAND GUN CLUB.

The Officers Were Elected Saturday Evening Last.

A meeting of the sportsmen of the town was held on Saturday evening in the Palace Restaurant parlours for the purpose of organising an off-hand gun club. Officers were elected for the year as follows:

Hon. President—H. LeBrun.
President—R. B. McKee.
1st Vice-President—W. D. Parker.
2nd Vice-President—G. W. Hatton.
Secretary-Treasurer—C. LeBrun.
Committee of Management—H. C. Winch, Thos. Rutherford, W. H. Bradburn, A. H. Stratton and Col. J. Z. Rogers.

The members intend to hold monthly rifle matches for turkeys at the butts, and arrangements to this end will be made at once. A comfortable shack will be erected in which the marksmen can keep warm between times, and busses will run at intervals from town in order that spectators may go and see the fun. The first shoot is on the 27th.

BUSINESS BOOMING.

A Big Increase in the Amount of Goods Imported.

The customs returns for the months of November and December show a most gratifying increase under the Liberal regime at Ottawa. For Peterborough the returns are given as follows:—

DEATH OF A PROMINENT PORT HOPE CITIZEN.

Mr. Stanley Patterson Passes Away.

Mr. Stanley Patterson, one of the most prominent citizens of Port Hope, died Sunday afternoon. Mr. Patterson was a successful private banker, was President of the Midland Trust Company, and has been for many years agent of the Great North-Western Telegraph Company and the Canadian Express Company. He was a progressive and highly-respected citizen. His death added to that of his two sons makes the third death in the family in two years.

OBITUARY.

Word has just been received in town of the death of Mr. Wm. Griffin, in Perth. The deceased has for the last four years been employed by Mr. P. Simons in his merchant tailoring establishment, but has lately been going into a gradual decline. Four weeks ago he left for his home Perth. During his residence in town Mr. Griffin was well thought of and most highly respected.

ANOTHER VICTORY

THE CORNER CORNERED AGAIN!

OAK HALL

SURRENDERS TO

OAK HALL — Gough Bros. — OAK HALL

CANADA'S GREATEST HUSTLERS.

"NORTHWARD the Sweep of Conquest Takes its Way!"

We come before the public again with an announcement so important—so sensational in its effect—that it leaves no room for doubt that the battle of business means THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

We announce with pleasure the Matchless Stock of Millionare Santord's Clothing Company in Peterborough, known as "OAK HALL," Corner of George and Hunter Streets, by which we come into possession of

$16,430 Worth of Clothing

OF UNMATCHABLE EXCELLENCE Purchased at a Rate on the Dollar of

62½ CENTS

On the Manufacturer's Cost.

The offer of the Sanford Company to buy out Oak Hall has been open to us for some time. It has been known that this wealthy firm have been anxious to close up their Peterborough Branch rather than continue the fight against competition such as GOUGH BROS. have always put up—with a constituency extending over Ontario, and forming the largest syndicate of Clothing dealers in Canada. It was a mistake to plant an "Oak Hall" acorn alongside the Dauntless Goughs. And so, another rich scalp has been added to GOUGH BROS.' belt. And so, "The Corner" has been cornered again by the Wonderful Cheap Men.

To Wake Up the Town

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12th, we inaugurate a Clean Sweep of the whole of Oak Hall's stock—from the roof through every floor to the basement—from the door strip in front to the wall at the back. It begins and stops at the end.

Everything goes! Necessity has no law. Manufacturer's Prices dashed down without mercy! Not a garment left if we can prevent it.

A TRIUMPHANT SALE!

—A Sale to wake up the Town—a Sale that will be without precedent and hopelessly out of reach of competition—beyond the possibility of an equal in this or any other portion of Canada.

A Clothing Blizzard—Sweeping Oak Hall Counters and Shelves at Prices a QUARTER and a THIRD below original values.

THE QUALITY of this High Class Stock of Clothing will speak—you can be absolutely sure of that. It all bears the label of the Sanford Manufacturing Company. You might be able to get as good Clothing in one or two other stores in Canada, but you can never equal the Clothing and our Prices both together. While it was a notorious fact that Oak Hall never could match or undersell GOUGH BROS., it was acknowledged that their Clothing always took high rank among the Highest Class Goods of America.

THIS SALE, therefore, appeals to the best class of people, who desire to put the stamp of their approval on HIGH QUALITY.

We want a Great Sale—a Great Crowd—a Great Celebration of our latest Famous Victory! The Millionare Merchant Clothier's Sacrifice to GOUGH BROS. will put many a coin in the pockets of those who buy during this Triumphant Sale. Don't forget to follow the Mile Posts to

The door of health stands open to every woman who will enter. All that she needs is the key and a little knowledge. The knowledge that she needs is concerning her own nature, her own physical make-up and the principal cause of ill-health in women.

When a woman suffers from headaches and pains in the back and sides, and burning and dragging sensations and the weakness, nervousness and despondency that are caused by diseases peculiar to her sex, she cannot enjoy good general health. The key to the door of health—the cure for all disorders of this description—is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a medicine specially devised for disorders of this nature and no other. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. When a woman writes to Dr. Pierce she consults a physician who has practiced for thirty years right in one place, and who was some years ago honored by his own townspeople by an election to the National Congress. He will answer letters from women free of charge. All professional correspondence is regarded as sacredly confidential.

"For years I kept failing in health and getting worse and more nervous all the time," writes Mrs. Annie Dulan, of East Stroudsburg, Monroe Co., Pa. "I doctored with two different doctors without relief. My system was run down and my nerves weak. I had ulcers of the uterus which were so painful at times that I was afraid they must be cancers. I felt discouraged and did not get any better until my nurse advised me to write to Dr. Pierce. In May I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took twelve bottles in all, six of each. Thanks to God and Dr. Pierce's medicines, I am cured and am a well woman."

A MORNING GLORY CULT.

This Flower Taking the Place of Chrysanthemums In Japan.

Miss Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore has an article on "The Wonderful Morning Glories of Japan" in The Century. Miss Scidmore says:

As a floral sensation the chrysanthemum may be said to have had its day, the carnation is going, going, and seekers after novelty among flower fanciers are sighing for a new flower to conquer. It is hardly known, even to foreign residents in Japan, that that land, which has given us so much of art and beauty, has lately revived the culture of its most remarkable flower, the asagao, our morning glory. For size, beauty, range of color and illimitable variety there attained this sunrise flower precedes all others until its cultivation has become a craze, which is likely to spread to other countries, and—who knows—perhaps there introduce the current Japanese custom of 5 o'clock in the morning teas and garden parties.

Asagao, the morning flower, is more especially Japan's own blossom than the chrysanthemum, which, like it, came from China as a primitive sort of weed, afterward to be evolved by Japanese art or magic into a floral wonder of a hundred varying forms.

We who know and grow the morning glory as a humble back yard vine on a string—a vine with leaves like those of the sweet potato and puny little pink or purple flowers—are as far in the floral darkness as the Chinese, who know it chiefly as a wild thing of fields and hedge rows, the vine of "the little trumpets" or the "dawn flower," that is entangled with briers and bushes for miles along the top of Peking's walls. The old poetry and the old art do not seem to be permeated with it, as in Japan, where the forms of vases, bowls and cups, the designs and paintings of the greatest masters, repeat the graceful lines of vine and flower, and scores of famous poems celebrate the asagao in written characters as beautiful to the eye as is their sound to the ear.

The asagao was brought to Japan with the Buddhist religion, that particular cult of early rising. Scholars and priests who went over to study the new religion brought back the seeds of many Chinese plants. The tea plant came then, and Eisai brought the seeds of the sacred bo tree, and Tai Kwan, the Chinese priest at the Obaku temple in Uji, who may have introduced the flower to Japan, was one of the first to sing of the asagao in graceful outas, classic poems which scholarly brushes repeat today. "Asagaos bloom and fade so quickly, only to prepare for the morrow's glory," is Tai Kwan's best known verse.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold I had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAT, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

Almost Unbearable.

"I suffered from kidney trouble so much that the pain in my back was almost unbearable and I felt tired and worn out all the time, my tongue was coated and until I took Doan's Kidney Pills I had been unable to do my housework for over a month. These pills have made a complete cure, all my kidney and bladder troubles have disappeared and I feel like a new woman." Mrs. Presley, Kingston, Ont.

THE DISASTER AT LONDON.

Resumption of the Inquest Into the Cause of the Terrible Disaster—The Hall's Condition.

London, Ont., Jan. 3.—The inquest in connection with the death of Edward Luxton of Centralia, Ont., one of the victims of the City Hall disaster on Monday night, Jan. 3, was resumed yesterday afternoon. James Magee, Q.C., represented the Crown, and T. G. Meredith, City Solicitor, the corporation of London.

The first witness, Mr. Henry Frank Whelter, commercial traveler, said he stood near the door, about ten feet from the platform. The floor in front of him suddenly gave way, leaving him about an inch from the gap. So far as he could judge, the platform did not break. The only noise was that caused by the falling of the floor and people. Witness saw no extraordinary movement just before the crash, neither did he see any breaking of seats. He estimated that between 250 and 300 people went down with the floor.

City Clerk C. A. Kingston said that no complaints had been made to him regarding the City Hall during his term of office, nor to his knowledge, ever had been made to the City Council, or to any city official concerning the condition of the hall. So far as he knew there was no foundation for the report that the City Hall had been complained of. The City Engineer's office, above which the floor gave way, had been so occupied for two years, previous to which it was used as a barber shop. In 1888 or 1889, a brick partition was taken out of the shop.

The next witness was Thomas Tracy, barber, who was a former occupant of the City Engineer's office, when it was leased as a barber shop. When he took possession a brick wall was removed to oblige him, and the fatal beam took its place. The wall was taken down by a contractor acting under the instructions of Col. Tracy, the City Engineer. Witness had heard that the hall was unsafe for the past 14 or 15 years, and his shaving cups used to rattle when a dance was in progress overhead. Witness did not know the basis of these rumors.

Several of those who fell with the floor then described the accident.

Henry Merrit, janitor of the City Hall, testified to the removal in 1888 of the brick support under the flooring which fell and the substitution of the fatal cross beam, which broke the night of the accident. On the opposite side of the City Hall, in the City Treasurer's office, there is a beam corresponding to that which broke, but it is supported by an iron pillar. That pillar was put up some years ago by the City Engineer because of complaints that the windows in the City Treasurer's office shook whenever there was a dance on the floor above. Witness always considered the hall safe.

Mayor Little said that during his three years' term in office he had heard no complaints of the City Hall's condition. The matter had never been discussed in Council. Witness had never questioned the hall's safety.

The inquest was then adjourned until Monday next at 2 p.m.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

How Punch and Judy Came to England.

The heyday of the puppet show in England was during the last century. Long before then strolling showmen had exhibited "drolls" or "motions"—as the English puppets were known in the early days—to crowds of gaping rustics, but it was not until the time of Steele and Addison that the puppet show became a fashionable amusement, patronized by upper tendom.

Pulcinella came to London in 1660, when an Italian puppet player set up his booth at Charing Cross and paid a small rental to the overseers of St. Martin's parish. His name was at once Englished into Punchinello, which was soon to be completely Anglicized as Punch.—Harper's Magazine.

A Contingent Name.

The Syracuse Post says that a girl baby was recently brought to a clergyman of the city to be baptized. The latter asked the name of the baby.

"Dinah M.," the father responded.

"But what does the 'M' stand for?" interrogated the minister.

"Well, I do not know yet. It all depends upon how she turns out."

"How she turns out? Why, I do not understand you," said the dominie.

"Oh, if she turns out nice and sweet and handy about the house, like her mother, I shall call her Dinah May, but if she has a fiery temper and displays a bombshell disposition, like mine, I shall call her Dinah Might."

THE LONG WHITE SEAM.

As I came round the harbor buoy
The lights began to gleam.
No wave t'se landlocked water stirred.
The crags were white as cream,
And I marked my love by candle light
Sewing her long white seam.
It's aye sowing ashore, my dear,
Watch and steer at sea!
It's reef and furl and haul the line,
Set sail and think of thee!

I climbed to reach her cottage door.
Oh, sweetly my love sings!
Like a shaft of light her voice breaks forth,
My soul to meet it springs
As the shining water leaped of old
When stirred by angel wings.
Aye longing to list anew,
Awake and in my dream,
But never a song she sang like this,
Sewing her long white seam!

Fair fall the lights, the harbor lights,
That brought me in to thee,
And peace drop down on that low roof
For the sight that I did see,

And the voice, my dear, that rang so clear
All for the love of me,
For oh, for oh, with brows bent low
By the candle's flickering gleam,
Her wedding gown it was she wrought,
Sewing the long white seam!

Von Moltke.

Von Moltke was originally an officer in the Danish army. At the age of 9 years he was entered as a royal cadet—i. e., he was to be educated at the expense of the king, Frederick VI, in the Copenhagen Military academy—and, having taken his examinations, he wore the Danish uniform until he, as a sub-lieutenant at the age of 27, petitioned the king for three years' leave to proceed to the continent to study the military art, as he says in his petition, "to be able on his return to employ his acquirements for the good of his country." This petition was granted, but the count also asked to be allowed to retain his pay, and as the king refused this he took his discharge and entered the Prussian army, a recruit whom that organization has every reason to hold in enduring memory.

Papa Is Excused.

Here is the latest of an enfant terrible who lords it over the home of a politician in this city, says the Toledo Blade: The minister came to the house the other day and the kid entertained him for a short time.

"I say, I'm awful 'fraid of the dark," was his first remark.

"You should not be," admonished the visitor, "for God takes care of you everywhere."

"I know it, and I say my prayers every night, but pop he don't have to, as he don't get home till 'most morning."

English In Japan.

Here are some attempts at English to be seen on the signboards in the streets of Tokyo:

"Wine, beer and other medicines."

"A shop, the kind of umbrella, parasol or stick."

"The shop for the furniture of the several countries."

"Prices, no increase or diminish."

"All kinds of 'superior sundries kept here."

"Skin maker and seller" (portmanteau shop).—London Tit-Bits.

MANY women have to do their own housework. The constant bending over—making beds, sweeping, ironing, sewing—comes hard on the kidneys; cramps and strains them. Backaches, sideaches, headaches follow.

MRS. T. LANGDON, 202 Queen Street, Ottawa, Ont., says: "For two years I suffered greatly with pains in my back across the kidneys. How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WORE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

THE KELPIE'S POOL.

Fergus Grahame lashed the water—too brown as yet from the spring rains for the trout to take freely. He felt the sense of his own freedom somewhat irksome. Perhaps his wood of Garve had cast its shadow on his spirits. On the few occasions when he had visited his ancestral towers a chill had seemed to fall on him as he entered the dark pine avenue that led to the door of Garve. Whether it came from his father's presence or from the trees he could never tell. He was beginning to know that the penalty of freedom is loneliness.

A thought suddenly came to him, and he reeled up his line and moved quickly down stream. When he came forth into the open, he was seen to be a goodly youth. He looked younger than his years, which were 26. The movement of his limbs revealed a sinewy strength whereof his slight, tall figure when at rest scarce gave promise. The face was dark and pleasant looking, but it was hardly that of a man who might be crossed with impunity. The hazel eyes could on occasion give out a flash of resolution and temper, and the lips under the brown mustache could harden into sour, stern lines.

His long strides quickly brought him to the spot near the neck of the valley where the Black wood runs down to the brink of the river and throws a skirmishing party of gnarled and veteran trees across to the farther bank. The water, instead of roaring and tumbling unceasingly over the rocks in its narrow bed, moves by leaps, with rests between. Below the projecting ledges and the writhing fir roots the turbid stream dashes over mossy bowlders into pot holes of unfathomed depth, where the froth spins dizzily all day long. There the trout love to lie, and the most noted of the pools on the Garryvalt was that in which the old bull trout had taken up his quarters. It was said that he had been known for a generation to haunt this spot. Marvelous tales were told of the size and the cunning of this specimen of the Salmo ferox. Every lure had been employed to capture him, but fly and bait, and even hand net and "leister," had all been tried in vain. From his favorite shelter under a great stone this leviathan of the burn seemed to laugh at the attempts to put a hook into his jaw and draw him forth. At length the country people had come to regard him and his pool with a feeling of fear and awe. He had inherited in their eye some of the attributes of his predecessor, the waterkelpie. It was impossible to take him. It was dangerous to try.

The fortunate youth has resolved to give up his day to making spoil of the ancient bull trout. He was free to choose, among other things, the bank of the river whence he should fish. Looking over the family papers last night, he had noticed that the march of his lands with the neighboring estate of the Stewarts of Drumbane followed not the stream, but the skirt of the wood. It crossed the water and inclosed both sides of Kelpie's pool. Fergus had some vague memory that the spot had been the scene or the occasion, or both, of the long feud that had raged between the Grahames of Garve and the Stewarts of Drumbane, but the tale eluded him when he sought to recall it. In his wading boots and with the aid of his rod he crossed the slippery stones to the other bank, and, taking up his position on a platform of rock raised a dozen feet above the surface of the black and troubled water, began dexterously whipping the Kelpie's pool.

The great trout, it seemed, was not at home, or he sulked in his watery cave, scornfully regardless of the red back fly that so persistently lit and skimmed on the water over his nose. At least he made no sign. Meanwhile time passed, and the sun rose higher. The light forced its way everywhere save to the shadowy side of the pool. To the ear of the fisher the hoarse, monotonous chant of the falling waters seemed to be broken now and again by a low chuckle of laughter, as of some elfish thing that mocked his efforts. Still, he had no intention of abandoning his quest, and he tried a new lure. Hardly had he made a fresh cast when he became aware of two figures watching him from the cliff behind. One was a big man, with a beard like a wisp of dry heather, clad in rough Harris tweeds—unmistakably a gillie or gamekeeper. He carried a fishing rod and basket and was evidently in attendance on the slim and upright little lady at his side. Though the water was his, in the legal sense and in the sporting, Fergus' first impulse would have been to cede the place to the lady and to move elsewhere. But the giant trout gave him no choice. Our fathers believe that there is a magic in circling passes and in woven paces, especially when made over running water, that is strong enough to conjure the fish from the flood and even the stars from the sky. Perhaps the rod and the feet, helped by the will of the fisher, had unconsciously wrought this spell of power and drawn the laggard from his lair. Be this as it may, there were in the pool a sudden rush and a mighty splash, and the line ran out with a scream.

"It's either the trout or the devil," muttered the angler as he bent all his thought and skill to playing his unruly victim and keeping him clear of the rocks. Had his mind been less engrossed in his task he might almost have heard what was being spoken behind him.

"Somebody has got before us, Sandy," said the heiress of Drumbane in a vexed voice. She, too, had issued forth that morning bent on making a prey of the great trout. "Who is he?"

"Nae doot ane o' thae cockney vecsitors frae the Clashmore hotel, Miss Elsie," Sandy responded in tones of pronounced disgust. "Do they think wi' their bits o' permits they hae the wyle o' the haill water? Does he ken he's trespassin?"

With Sandy Tosh to "trespass" was more heinous than to commit the seven deadly sins.

"He has spoiled our day. He has taken a great liberty," spoke Sandy's mistress, looking down with sparkling eyes of disfavor on the stranger.

"Dagon him, he's done waur. He's hookit oor big troot!" cried the gillie in uncontrollable excitement as he hastened with great leaps down to the scene of action, followed by the lady.

Fergus Grahame was in the critical part of his struggle with the fish when a wrathful voice at his elbow shouted:

"Put up your rod, my man, an clear awa' oot o' this."

Hardly taking in the sense of the words, he called out fiercely over his shoulder:

"Hold your confounded noise, can't you? Don't you see I've got the trout on the hook?"

At the same moment a hand was laid roughly on the collar of his coat. There was a sudden jerk, and the fish broke away, carrying with it hook and gut.

Fergus dropped the rod and wheeled about in a white fury, and the huge highlander, taking utterly unawares by the fierce onslaught, found himself in an instant shot over the edge of the rock into the depths of the Kelpie's pool. The young laird of Garve gazed after him till he saw him clamber on to the submerged bowlder underneath which the great trout made his retreat. The rocks were too steep and slippery to be climbed by a drenched and unnerved man. Sandy Tosh waist deep in the water could merely cling to them desperately, swearing and loudly calling for help in English and Gaelic and glancing behind him into the mysterious depths of the pool, as much in superstitious terror as in bodily fear.

Fergus Grahame faced about again to confront a new antagonist. The hot blood of her race flushed Elsie Stewart's cheeks. The fire of battle was in her eyes. Her head was held aloft. Her hands were tightly clinched. Had a sword been in her grasp she would have run him through.

"You coward! You murderer!" she cried, stamping her little foot on the rock.

Grahame was now quite cool. He looked straight and steadily into her eyes. Never had a woman seemed so fair in his sight.

"Your man is quite safe and unhurt," he said quietly. "Listen to him!" And indeed Sandy's bellow was easily heard above the roar of the lin.

She made to pass him and to scramble down to the water's edge to the rescue of her clamorous henchman, but her woman's skirts were a hopeless impediment.

"Permit me, Miss Stewart," said the imperturbable young man. "I'll gaff him for you in a moment."

With a skillful but not too gentle hand Sandy was gaffed by the collar and brought floundering and gasping to the bank as if he had been the big trout himself. He rose upright, with the water streaming from his clothes and his great beard and forming a pool at his feet, and stood waiting for a signal from his young mistress, irresolute whether to fight or to fly. Fergus Grahame settled the matter.

"Run up to Garve House and get a change of clothes and a dram. There's half a sovereign for your wetting and your fright. Do you know, man," he added, with a touch of malice, "that you've been guilty of trespass as well as assault?"

At the word "trespass" Sandy Tosh quailed and disappeared in the direction of the dram. The anger had not fled from the eyes of the lady of Drumbane. Into them, however, had come some confusion.

"You are the trespasser, sir," she said proudly.

"You are welcome to fish and walk where you like on Garve, Miss Stewart," he replied composedly. "But I think you will find that I am standing on my own ground."

The young laird strode home less fancy free than before. A new presence seemed to haunt the vistas of the Black wood—a face fair and proud, eyes menacing and scornful that might yet kindle with the light of love. He had been balked in his wish to bring home the great trout. Was he setting forth on a longer and more ticklish quest?

As for Elsie, she was left sole mistress of the field of quarrel, but hot and vexed at heart. What was this young man that he should have tripped up, along with the heels of her gillie, her own maidenly composure and taken from her a woman's dearest privilege—the right of the last word? It was hopeless any longer to think of seeking the wily guardian of the pool when the stranger had failed. There was that in the bull trout's jaw that would keep him from rising to fly for many a day.

Next morning saw her pony at the office door, in the main street of Clashmore, of the "old writer," who was agent and local adviser for the family of Drumbane, as well as for Garve and for other properties around. She got small comfort.

"Sandy Tosh may thank his stars that he got off with a ducking, the gomeril!" said the lawyer dryly. "The ground is Garve's. The question has been fought with sharp steel by the waterside and with counsels' tongues in the court of session, and there is no longer room for doubt."

"But I have stood there and fished scores of times," objected Miss Stewart of Drumbane, "and the old laird has watched me when he thought I did not see him and never said a word."

"Naturally you are your mother's own image, forbye having her quick temper, and this lad, if I am not mistaken, has a good swatch of his father's dourness. You know that 80 years ago Garve and Drumbane were to have joined acres and fortunes?"

"I have heard something. Tell me about it."

"The marriage day was fixed when they quarreled beside the Kelpie's pool, their trysting place. What the quarrel was about there is none that knows unless it be the big trout of the spirit of mischief. But neither would make it up, and they went their several ways. Your mother married her cousin, and Norman Grahame went abroad for his wife."

"And evil came of it," murmured the girl, her bright eyes clouding and dimming with memories.

"Nay, there was one very charming result," was the gallant response.

Elsie was silent for a little. Then a whimsical thought came into her head:

"Then this young man narrowly escaped being my brother?"

"He is no doubt better pleased with things as they are."

"That is not a compliment to me, Mr. Falconer," said Miss Stewart of Drumbane, willfully misunderstanding.

The courtly old lawyer saw his fair client to the door. As he helped her to mount there was the rattle of wheels careering along the Clashmore causeway. Young Grahame drove past, sitting in a high trap behind his swift stepping mare. He raised his whip arm in salutation to the factor and glanced with suppressed eagerness at his companion. At last came his reward. She bowed slightly and smiled. The eyes of the old friend of the family followed them as they went their different ways. When she had ridden a few paces, the lady, as if moved by some will more powerful than her own, turned her head and looked after the charioteer. He, too, was gazing backward, while his mare pranced and curveted to the peril of the gas lamps and windows of Clashmore, his whip raised aloft as if it was another wishing wand. Then the shrewd man of affairs smiled in his turn.

"The quarrel has come first. All will go well," he said to himself.

So also said Clashmore, spying from the windows on the street, where the beginning of a love story and the end of a feud are not seen every day.—London Black and White.

FUR OPPORTUNITIES

"Opportunities," said the old darkey, are sure to come to every man and woman, but it's only a bright man or woman dat knows um when dey comes"—

It does not take a very bright man or woman to recognize the "opportunities" we offer this week in Fine Fur Goods. The fact is we want after the holidays to unload—do not wish to carry Furs over season, and our stock is so large that it compels a reduction at once in order to clear. A bargain is doubly a bargain when it comes at the right time. From now on the best time to wear Furs—real cold weather comforts.

Call and see what genuine Fur Bargains we are now offering. Prices reduced on some goods 20 per cent., on others 10 per cent., others again 15 per cent.

NO TAINTED HOGS SOLD.

The Government Completely Refutes the Opposition's Piggery Charges.

STRONG TESTIMONY PRODUCED.

Every Carcase Was Inspected Carefully—Cleland Calls St. John a Bully.

In the piggery inquiry this morning the Government kept its promise, and put in evidence which seems effectually to discredit Mr. St. John's case. The man who received the hogs at the Central Prison, a butcher of thirty years' standing, swore positively that not one in the 97 was unsound, and that if there had been any signs of disease he could not have failed to see them.

Another important point as to which there has been some doubt hitherto was cleared up. It was shown that Dr. Sweetapple inspected the hogs after all of them had been taken to the Central Prison. His certificate of soundness, therefore, applies not to a few of the hogs, but to the whole of them.

AN EXPERT'S EVIDENCE.

The Government called Charles Moore, who has been employed eighteen years in the Government slaughter house. Moore testified that he had been a butcher for thirty years. He received the hogs at the cold storage house at the Central Prison. He received them from William Newton. The delivery was finished about seven o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, July 14th, 1896. The hogs were put in cold storage, all except some four or five that were hung in the slaughter house. Dr. Sweetapple inspected the hogs first about one o'clock on Monday, the 13th. At that time there were some thirty hogs in storage.

On the Tuesday evening Dr. Sweetapple inspected the hogs a second time. This time the doctor was accompanied by Hunter, the Government cattle buyer. Moore was not present at this inspection.

Mr. St. John questioned Moore closely on this point, and told him that Dr. Sweetapple testified that he had not seen the hogs on the second night. Moore swore positively that if Dr. Sweetapple had said that he had made a mistake.

Subsequently, as will be seen, Dr. Sweetapple accepted Moore's correction.

The hogs were all carted away by Harris, the butcher, on the following morning, Wednesday, the 15th.

The four or five hogs in the slaughter house were not examined by Sweetapple. Moore, however, examined them closely himself and said they were in good condition.

"Would you eat them yourself?"

"Yes."

Harris, who bought the hogs, also examined them. He examined every hog that he took away.

Moore denied that the carcases were mutilated. He denied that they showed spots. If there had been mutilations or spots he would have seen them. He examined the hogs closely enough for that.

CALLED ST. JOHN A BULLY.

Mr. St. John took the witness in hand and spent time some in the examination of departmental regulations. In this pursuit he succeeded in stirring up one of those little discussions which have characterized the progress of the enquiry from the beginning.

Colonel Matheson complained that the Government officials sitting about the room were trying to prompt the witness, and he suggested that any such interrupter be expelled from the room.

But Mr. Cleland declared that the trouble lay in the manner of cross-examination. He protested against the bullying manner adopted by Mr. St. John; the demand for an answer, "yes or no," and similar tactics. This was a committee of the Legislature, not a court of law. The evidence was conflicting. The committee wanted to get at the truth, but it could never do so if the enquiry were to pursue the lines laid down by Mr. St. John. Mr. St. John treated the witnesses as if they were criminals, or defendants in a divorce court.

Colonel Matheson declared that such question were necessary, because witnesses in the enquiry had perjured themselves.

The storm blown over, Mr. St. John tried to find why Moore had no books to show the handling of these particular hogs. Moore replied that Hunter had told him all about the hogs; that they had been slaughtered at the piggery; that they had been sent to the prison for cold storage purposes alone. Therefore, as they were not to be distributed to any of the Government institutions, as is all meat slaughtered at the Central Prison, there was no reason why he should make an entry of them.

NOT A TRACE OF DISEASE.

Moore declared most emphatically, and under rigid examination repeated and reinforced his declaration, that he himself examined every hog in the ninety-seven, and found no traces of disease in any of them.

Dr. Sweetapple was recalled by Mr. Harcourt, who asked him if placing the carcasses in cold storage would have removed any cholera spots that might have been on them. The doctor replied that the cold would have had no effect on spots, or, as he called them, "extravasations."

Mr. St. John produced his book, Miller and Tellor, again. Dr. Sweetapple denied that it was an authority.

"Miller is the chief veterinary official of the United States," said Mr. St. John, "and yet you say this book is not an authority."

The doctor was silent.

"Well," said Mr. St. John, "we'll let that pass. What do you say to Miller's statement that the flesh of hogs suffering from any form of cholera is unfit for human food?"

Dr. Sweetapple declined to contradict this statement. He said, however, that it had never been proved.

Then Mr. Davis asked him as to Moore's testimony that he had inspected the hogs a second time. He reminded the committee that, as he originally testified, he had taken no memoranda as to the date of his visits to the cold storage. He remembered, however, that, having visited the cattle market one evening with Hunter, Hunter had driven him back by way of the prison. He now professed his entire willingness to accept the statement that he had inspected the hogs on the second evening. This is quite in accord with his original testimony, in which he said he was not quite positive as to the date of his visit, and that if Hunter were to say that he had seen the hogs on the second evening he would not deny it.

Now, Moore swears positively that on the evening of Tuesday, the 14th—that is to say, on the second evening, Dr. Sweetapple, accompanied by Mr. Hunter, visited the cold storage house. At that time all of the hogs but the four hanging in the four hangings in the slaughter house were in cold storage. The inference, therefore, is that Dr. Sweetapple inspected them all and found them all sound.

The enquiry will be resumed on Tuesday, but it is pretty generally believed now that Mr. St. John's progress in the establishment of his charges will be purely nominal.

IMPORTANT OPERATIONS IN THE BELMONT-MARMORA DISTRICT.

The Cordova Exploration Co's Plant Opened by Miss Grace Carscallen

An Expert's Description of an Up-to-date Reduction Plant—Good Time in Marmora Region—Wealthy Concerns Have Come To Stay.

(Correspondence Belleville Intelligencer.)

Marmora, Jan. 7.

An incident of great benefit to the mining district of North Hastings, and one of similar interest to the whole province, took place lately at the Belmont mine, near this place, now being operated by the Cordova Exploration Co., Limited, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. I refer to the official opening of the company's new stamp mill by Miss Grace Carscallen, daughter of A. W. Carscallen, M.P., who formerly owned and developed the property.

The opening took place in the presence of a number of persons who had been invited by the general manager, Mr. David G. Kerr, of Glasgow, Scotland, late Superintendent of one of the mines of this same company in Norway, who arrived in this country to take charge of the property on the 15th of August last.

In company with Mr. Kerr, the party made an examination of the main shaft, which is sunk to a depth of 132 feet, and is now being still further developed by sinking and drifting. A level is being run at a depth of seventy feet and one at the bottom of the shaft. Both of the levels are turning out good ore, highly mineralised and rich in the precious metal.

The shaft house over the opening of the shaft is large and capacious, with a dressing room for the men attached. It contains a large steam hoist, steam pump, ore cars, or skips and all the adjuncts necessary to speedy and economical taking from the bowels of the earth the quartz containing the gold. From the shaft house to the mill, a distance of 200 feet, is erected a very substantial tramway, on which is laid the track over which the cars containing the ore are run to the mill, and are dumped on to the grisly, through which the smaller pieces go to the ore bin. The larger pieces are put through the large Blake crusher, and are broken to the proper size to be fed into the stamp battery below by two self-feeders, which are gauged so that only the proper quantity is fed to each battery of stamps. Below the latter are the amalgamation tables, on which is collected the precious metal freed by the stamps. Below the amalgamation table are two vanners, over which the pulp is run and the concentrates are collected and saved for future treatment.

On the arrival of the party in the engine room, Miss Carscallen very gracefully and courageously pulled the lever starting the machinery, when every part of the plant was set in motion, and the regular dropping of the stamps soon reduced to a pulp the ore being therein, the steady flow of water taking it over the plates, soon coating them with a covering of amalgam, which, after being retorted and melted, yields the bright yellow gold so pleasant to the eye and so greedily sought after by high and low.

While it is impossible to give a full description of the mine and plant in a short article that would be understood by the general public, it is only right to say that Mr. Kerr, the competent and experienced manager, who, in the few short months since his arrival in a strange country, with conditions with which he was wholly unfamiliar, has worked such a transformation, deserves the highest praise. The completion of this plant, the thorough renovation and remodeling of the shafts in the most modern and scientific manner, the erection of the necessary buildings, shaft houses, tank house, brick assay office, and many other minor but necessary details in so short a time is certainly worthy of commendation and shows what experience, coupled with energy and close attention to one's business, can do.

The mill was erected and the machinery built and put in place by the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., Limited, of Peterborough, and speaks well for this firm, who are so widely and favourably known throughout the Dominion as mining machinery manufacturers. The construction was under the supervision of Mr. Richard Proust, of Marmora, which in itself is a sufficient guarantee of excellence, strength and convenience.

The whole plant reflects credit upon all connected with it and especially on Mr. Kerr, the effects of whose guiding hand are everywhere visible, making it the most complete, substantial and convenient mill the writer has ever seen.

After the ceremony of opening and inspection was over, and after visiting the assay office which is in charge of Mr. Geo. Hardy, chemist, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, a young employee of the Cordova Exploration Co., the party were entertained to a sumptuous repast at the manager's residence.

The whole day passed agreeably and profitably and our thanks are due to Mr Kerr for a very pleasant time.

NOTES.

The Belmont is booming up and will soon be a gold shipper of some magnitude. The development work being done is proving the property to be rich, and the daily working of the stamps with the regular clean up of the gold, substantiate the favorable reports always made by experts who have examined it. The men forming the company who are working it, are probably the wealthiest in England. They are, at all events, the largest employers of labour in that country. I wish them success. This section is having good times. The Canadian Gold Fields Co., Limited, and the Cordova Exploration Co., both employ a large number of men and are paying out monthly in the neighbourhood of $7,000 to $10,000. This means prosperity, and the best part of it is they have come to stay.

A reliable party states that the Canadian Gold Fields Company have capitalized their property at £10,000,000 sterling and are preparing to extract the arsenic and sulphur from the tailings at their Deloro mine. Our informant adds that arsenic is now worth $105 per ton, there being but three years' supply on hand in the word. This, he says, gives to operators in this region virtually a "corner" in arsenic.

ATTRACTIONS.

MINISTER OF JUSTICE

Now Considering the Case of Mrs. Sternaman.

LAW LIKELY TO TAKE ITS COURSE

The Minister of Customs Issues a Circular Full of Clear-Cut Information to Civil Servants Who May Wish to Influence the Department in Their Favor—Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Jan. 11.—The case of Mrs. Sternaman, convicted at Cayuga of murder, is now receiving the consideration of the Minister of Justice. It is believed that the chances are in favor of the law being allowed to take its course.

A Treasury Board Minute.

Hon. Wm. Paterson has caused the issuance of a circular to all Collectors of Customs, calling the attention of all inside and outside service employes of the department to a minute of the Treasury Board of Jan. 28, 1879, which in part reads as follows:

"The Treasury Board have observed with much regret the growing practice on the part of gentlemen employed in the public service, to endeavor to influence the Minister to accede to their applications for increase of salary or additional retiring allowance, by means of the private solicitations of members of Parliament and other persons of political influence. It is the duty as well as the wish of the board to whom these matters are referred to give the most careful consideration to every representation made to them in the recognized way, on behalf of any public servant, whatever be his social status or his official promotion, and also with regard to the amount of his retiring allowances on quitting the public service. It is the practice of the board to consider questions of salary with reference to the duties and responsibilities of the individual or class whose case is brought before them, and to decide upon them after communication with the heads of the department concerned.

"In fixing the amount of retiring allowance in those cases where the Legislature has left the board a discretion, they have been in the habit of proceeding upon certain principles which they have prescribed for themselves and within the limit of those principles they endeavor to deal with each case impartially upon its merits.

"It appears to the board that any attempt on the part of an officer to approach them on these matters through the private intercession of persons unconnected with his department, is virtually imputing to the board, either that it is likely to turn a deaf ear to a reasonable application unless supported by political influence, or that it may be induced to accede to an unreasonable application if such influence be brought to bear upon it. The board declines either alternative. In order to prevent for the future any misapprehension upon this subject, they wish it to be understood by every public officer, that any attempt made by him to obtain their sanction to his application by any such solicitation as is hereinbefore referred to, will be treated by them as an admission on the part of such officer that the case is not good upon its merits, and such application will be dealt with by them accordingly."

W. T. Crandall, who has been acting as agent of the Department of Agriculture is England for several months, has returned to Canada. He superintended the marketing of the trial shipments of fruit and then waited over to watch the sale of poultry. Despite advices and warnings given to shippers, large consignments of poultry for the English market were sent over in an unsalable condition. English purchasers call for dressed birds, and although this fact was strongly impressed upon farmers by the department, little attention was paid to it. Those who sent over poultry dressed will derive fair returns as a result of their venture, but there will be practically little or no profit for those who sent over poultry in the feather. As demonstrating the difference in price, it may be stated that Canadian birds unplucked only brought 7d per pound in retail stores, while Irish birds plucked, but not as good as the Canadian, brought 9d.

Judge Lavergne, Major Gourdeau, Deputy Minister of Marine, and Commander Wakeham have been appointed a commission to enquire into alleged grievances of St. Lawrence pilots, and also into the complaints of shipping men against the pilots.

Edward L. Bond, a leading underwriter of Montreal, is in town to-day on business connected with the St. Lawrence channel. Mr. Bond has been taking a prominent part in the agitation in Montreal to improve the channel buoys and lights, which have been too few in number, and sometimes not satisfactorily placed.

There has been much discussion in the Montreal Board of Trade on these questions, and the feeling is strong there that the port will lose business seriously if a change for the better is not effected for the navigation of the river.

An admirable pamphlet, prepared by Mr. M. St. John, on the Mineral Resources of Canada, has just been issued by the Department of the Interior. It shows the principal localities in which precious and other metals are mined, how to get there, and the best places for prospectors and miners to obtain their outfits, embellished with a map and some good views.

Another contingent of Mounted Police, consisting of 20 officers and men, will leave Regina for the Yukon on Wednesday. They will sail from Vancouver on the 16th.

The Minister of Justice has three capital cases under consideration.

Judge Dugas, who is going out to the Crow's Nest Pass as a commissioner to investigate the complaints of the workmen, arrived here yesterday. He and Mr. Pedley leave for the west to-day.

Prof. Robertson, Agricultural Commissioner, leaves for Lindsay to-day, where he is to attend the annual convention of the Butter and Cheese Association of Eastern Ontario.

The Right Hon. Horace Plunkett, M. P., who spent a few days in the city, left for England on Saturday.

The Minister of Customs has decided to send an officer to the Stickeen next week.

A. T. Freed, Hamilton's Inspector of Weights and Measures, is here. He is the advance guard of the inspectors who are to revise the regulations pertaining to this branch of the service.

FIGHTING IN CUBA

Gallant Defence of a Fort by Spanish Soldiers Against the Cuban Insurgents—Loss Large.

Havana, Jan. 11.—News from Spanish sources just received here gives an account of what appears to have been a gallant defence of a fort in Santiago de Cuba by Spanish troops. It seems that the principal fortifications protecting the buildings of the central plantation of Ysabel, belonging to Beattie & Company, an English concern, at Media Lima, near Manzanillo, was attacked by a strong force of insurgents during the night of Jan. 9. The insurgent had with them, it is claimed, a rapid-fire cannon, which they placed in position about 600 metres from the fort and behind an embankment of earth a yard thick and about 18 inches high. At the same time 200 insurgents captured the machinery house of the plantation. The fort defending the latter consisted of a brick building two storeys high and in the form of a cross. It was surrounded by wire fences and ditches, and was garrisoned by 96 soldiers, under the command of Captain Esterban Benedicto Manilo, who had two lieutenants under him.

At 6 o'clock in the morning the insurgents began cannonading the Spanish fort, and in the afternoon they began an attack upon it from both sides of the river, and eventually they tried to take it by assault, but they were repulsed. Thereupon the insurgents resumed their artillery fire and kept it up until dark.

The bombardment of the fort was quite severe. The insurgents fired 64 shots, and several of the projectiles exploded within the fort, destroying the walls and compelling the garrison to seek refuge behind the earthworks. From there the soldiers continued the fight and succeeded in beating off the enemy.

The fort was relieved by Capt. Oryan, in command of the local guerilla force of Niquera, and a detachment of Spanish infantry, reinforced by two cannons. The Spaniards then attacked the insurgent earthworks and compelled the enemy to retire with severe loss. The garrison of the fort lost 17 men killed and had 85 men injured.

BACK TO THE LAND.

New York's Typographical Union So Decides for the Unemployed.

New York, Jan. 11.—How to find work for the unemployed in large cities, on a self-sustaining basis, is a question which Typographical Union No. 6 is trying to solve. The officers of the union have come to the conclusion that the cultivation of unused land is the most reasonable form of relief, and it has unanimously decided to make use of vacant lot farms.

F. H. Goodyear of Buffalo, President of the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad and owner of 100,000 acres of land in Northwestern Pennsylvania, has offered to Big Six a tract of from 1,000 to 2,000 acres for a colony. He expects the presence of a colony to bring business to his railroad. Title would be conveyed after the colony was fairly established. The union is expected to raise $10,000 and the donor of the land will contribute a like amount. The union appointed a committee to consider the project.

Medals for the Militia.

London, Jan. 11.—(Telegram Cable.)—Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia in the Dominion Government, sails on Wednesday. It is almost certain that he takes with him an official decision granting long service medals to Canadian volunteers.

The President of the Board of Trade has called a meeting, the object of which is to certify to societies mentioned in Lloyd's Register Bureau. The question of loadline imposed on vessels plying between northern and southern ports will be re-considered. If the regulations now in force vessels from southern ports are allowed deeper loading during the winter months. The Grand Trunk Railway and the Lehigh Valley road are interested.

OFFICIAL SALARIES.

Government Bill Subjecting Them to Garnishee.

THE SALE OF PATENT MEDICINES

Hon. Mr. Hardy Explains the Measure Regulating the Sale of Such Preparations—An Amendment to the Election Act—Many Bills Advanced a Stage.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—The House had a busy routine session yesterday, and rose early that the Government might have an opportunity of giving a hearing to the James Bay Railway deputation. An important feature of the day was the introduction by the Premier of a bill providing for the garnishee of the salaries of civil servants.

Hon. J. M. Gibson introduced and had read a first time a bill respecting incorporated townships.

The following bills were read for the third and last time:

Respecting the Hamilton and Dundas Railway Company.

Respecting the Sisters of St. Joseph for the Diocese of Toronto, in Upper Canada.

To incorporate the Ottawa Stock Exchange.

Relating to the City Hospital of Hamilton.

Respecting the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897.

The Attorney-General's bill to amend the Election Act passed the committee stage after being amended so as to remove the polling division at Jack Fish from East Algoma and add it to West Algoma for election purposes.

The House went into committee upon the bill respecting the sale of patent and other medicines and of alcohol for the purposes of arts and manufactures.

The Attorney-General explained the changes proposed by the bill. The bill was passed through committee and stands for third reading. As it now stands it provides that chemists and merchants who deal in patent or proprietary medicines may sell any patent or proprietary medicine in the original and unbroken package, which contains only sufficient alcohol to hold the medicinal constituents thereof in solution or to prevent fermentation. Chemists may also sell tinctures, fluid extracts, essences, medicated spirits or perfumes containing alcohol and prepared according to any recognized standard work on pharmacy, and when in original packages the same may also be sold by merchants dealing in drugs and medicines elsewhere than in a city. The sale of drugs and medicines containing alcohol by a chemist for strictly medicinal purposes is confined to a quantity which does not exceed six ounces of alcohol, and an exception is made in cases of emergency arising from the serious injury or fainting of any person who may be brought or shall come into a drug store, or in the immediate neighborhood, in which case a druggist may sell not more than six ounces of liquor without the medical certificate required by the Liquor License Act. Chemists or merchants who keep patent or proprietary medicines for sale are required to allow any officer of the license branch to take away samples for the purpose of analysis. The Act is to be read with and as a part of the Liquor License and Pharmacy Acts, and the penalties of the first-named Act will apply when medicinal preparations are found to have been sold as a colorable evasion of that Act.

The Premier's bill relating to judgment summonses and other matters passed the committee stage. As explained before in these columns it curtails the power of Division Court judges to commit judgment debtors to jail.

The Attorney-General's bill to amend the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act, passed the committee stage, as also did Hon. Mr. Ross' bill to extend the separate representation of Victoria on the Toronto University Senate.

The following bills were read a second time: The Attorney-General's bill to allow the investment of court funds in municipal debentures, and the bill to amend the Act respecting the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors.

Mr. Crawford asked for a second reading for his bill to amend the Municipal Act.

The Attorney-General objected and the bill was referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Farwell's bill to amend the Woodman's Lien for Wages Act was read a second time.

Attempted Murder in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—Alfred Thomas, a colored man 30 years of age, went into Debney's restaurant, 208 York street, at 5.30 last night, and fired two shots into his wife, Lizzie Thomas, a white woman, from whom he had been separated for the past nine months. The woman is in St. Michael's hospital with two bullet wounds in the abdomen, one only of the bullets has been extracted. She will likely die. Thomas is in jail. This is the second attempt he has made to kill his wife.

Ballington Booth's Boat Wrecked.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The American brig Manson, official representative on the sea of Ballington Booth's American Volunteers, is stranded on Turner's Lamp, off the Delaware coast, and will be a total loss. The crew was saved.

Mrs. Nack Sentenced.

New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Nack was allowed to plead guilty of manslaughter in the first degree to-day, and was sentenced to 15 years in the Auburn State prison.

Almost Distracted

Dreadful Suffering by a Newmarket Woman.

The Bones in the Nose Affected—Face Would Swell Until Her Eyes Were Closed—How Relieved.

NEWMARKET, ONT.—"I have had a good opportunity of noting the great medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years, and the disease had gone so far that the bones of the nose had become affected and particles had come away through an opening in the left side. Her eyesight was also affected to the extent that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered and at times was almost distracted. She was treated by four different doctors, one of whom was a specialist. They all said they could not do anything for her, as the disease had gone too far. Her nose would swell about every three days until her eyes would almost be closed. Then it would break through and the swelling would subside for a day or two. About Christmas she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has not been troubled with any swelling since, and the sore on the side of the nose has all healed. She is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it to any person who is suffering with catarrh." W. H. FURSDEN.

Severe Pains in the Head

DISHONEST JOURNALISM.

THE Mail and Empire over-reaches itself in the bitter unfairness it manifests in treating political matters. It sticks at no perversion of the truth. It still insists that the policy of the Ontario Government is, as it brazingly asserts, "Our Logs for Michigan Lumbermen." Everybody knows that this has never been, and is not now, the policy of the Ontario Government. Everybody knows that the policy and practice of the Liberal and Conservative Governments since Confederation has been the same in regard to our timber, and that in 1878 a policy was agreed on between both sides of the House. Everybody knows that in regard to timber limits sold in 1890, the condition was attached that the logs cut then should be manufactured in Ontario. Everybody knows that the Government has decided, and the the Legislature will enact before the session is over, that every log cut on Ontario limits after the 30th April must be manufactured in Ontario. And knowing all this, the Mail and Empire brazenly prints the falsehood quoted. If the people of Ontario were illiterate and could not read, such shameless perversion of facts as that employed by the chief Conservative organ might pass. But with a thinking, reading people such attempts to mislead will recoil on the organ—"return to plague the inventor." If the Mail and Empire insists on "rubbing in" the mark of the beast in its forehead, it must look to have its assertions discredited when, by chance, they happen to be, by some momentary lapse, in a line with truth.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE style of the Ontario Opposition is pig-sty-le.

THE Ottawa Free Press says: "A sure sign of an approaching general election and an eighth Liberal victory. The Conservative papers are figuring out the seats they are "going to win," but never do win. They did this in 1871, in 1875, in 1879, in 1883, in 1886, in 1890, in 1894. They are doing it again in 1898. They will doubtless do it again in the year one of the coming century. It is a very vain repetition."

THE Toronto Telegram says:—Ontario journalism is represented in the present legislature by two publishers of more than ordinary ability. The talents of J. R. Stratton, of Peterborough, and Andrew Patullo, of Oxford, are sufficient to equip them for careers as useful as the career of W. D. Balfour.

THE National Magazine for January, contains what is called a "strong article" on the present political and social condition of Canada, by Charles Aubrey Eaton.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

The Cook Company, Windsor, Ontario.

Sold in Peterborough by John Fowler, Druggist.

Whatever the character of the article, or the lines on which it is written, the fact of its being written is a new evidence of the growing idea in the United States that nationally, commercially and socially Canada has become a factor in the politics of this continent to be reckoned with.

THE publishers of text books for the schools of Ontario are from time to time required to furnish to the Government a statement of the school books furnished during the year. Taking the average cost during the last three years for those students attending school it is shown that the cost of text books to the pupils attending the public schools of Ontario averaged 19 2-5 cents per pupil. This is certainly not an extravagant sum, such as Opposition critics would try to make the people believe. Opposition bubbles pricked by the point of fact show similar results in all their reckless charges.

THE Jubilee year was not all padded with show and fuss and feathers. It had its solid side, too. The component elements of the empire were welded, under the white heat of Jubilee enthusiasm, into closer relations, and now Great Britain has to chronicle the biggest foreign trade for 1897 in her history, the enormous sum of £745,423,000, or three thousand seven hundred and twenty-seven million dollars. There's plenty of life in the old empire yet. Detractors may talk of decay and waning influence, but every day adds to the grip of the roots of the empire on the frame work of the globe.

THE mineral output of West Kootenay for the year, or rather the mineral exports from that district for 1897, according to the Nelson Tribune, exceed in value eight millions of dollars. The mineral exports for the month total in value $598,950. Of this value gold represents $224,567; copper, $48,710; lead, $64,629; silver, $253,043; gold bullion, $3,976. The entries for the December week bring the total value of mineral exports for 1897 up to $8,136,696. Including 401,162 pounds of matte from the Trail smelter, and $719,132 worth of product shipped via Revelstoke to 31st October, the total sent out of Kootenay was 53,525 tons ore, of a total value of $8,136,696.

IN a paragraph commenting on the complaint of the Irish World, New York that the Irish do not get a fair share of official recognition in the United States, the Globe remarks: "We are inclined to think that Canada is more liberal—or perhaps it is better to say more just—in its treatment of race and religious minorities than the United States. Two Premiers out of seven since Confederation have been Catholics, one a French Canadian, and there are always five or six Catholics in the Cabinet. There has never been a Catholic President of the United States, and there have been very few, if any, Catholic members of an American Ministry. Ontario has a Catholic Minister and a Catholic Speaker of the Legislature, and we believe that in the Catholic Province of Quebec Protestants are treated with equal consideration." All our citizens, of whatever race, are Canadians, and have their share in national affairs according to the capacity they show.

GOOD-BYE, DYSPEPSIA!

That's What Dyspeptics Say, When They use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"First, Last and all the Time." That's when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets give relief and cure to those suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Biliousness, or any other stomach trouble.

The first Tablet taken gives relief, and begins the cure; the last one taken completes and clinches the cure, and the Dyspeptic is cured for all time. You can't go wrong in using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You don't need to "diet," or starve yourself while using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. You don't have to wait weeks, or months for a cure. It is assured in a few days, and the more generous your diet, the better for yourself. You may, with perfect safety, eat any wholesome food. You needn't be afraid of your old trouble. That was killed the day you began using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets contains a full double treatment. The larger, white Tablets digest the food perfectly and naturally. The little brown fellows attend to the stomach and bowels. They strengthen, tone, and invigorate the former, and regulate the latter.

Do you doubt the truth of the statement that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure the worst case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia or any other stomach ailment? It's easy to test it. Buy a box of the medicine and use it. You'll never doubt again.

All druggists sell Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, or they will be sent, on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble—both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung," says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont.; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

How to Cure all Skin Diseases.

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents.

"THOUGHT MY HEAD WOULD BURST."

A Fredericton Lady's Terrible Suffering.

MRS. GEO. DOHERTY tells the following remarkable story of relief from suffering and restoration to health, which should clear away all doubts as to the efficacy of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills from the minds of the most skeptical:

"For several years I have been a constant sufferer from nervous headache, and the pain was so intense that sometimes I was almost crazy. I really thought that my head would burst. I consulted a number of physicians, and took many remedies, but without effect. I noticed Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, and as they seemed to suit my case, I got a box and began their use. Before taking them I was very weak and debilitated, and would sometimes wake out of my sleep with a distressed, smothering feeling, and I was frequently seized with agonizing pains in the region of the heart, and often could scarcely muster up courage to keep up the struggle for life. In this wretched condition Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills came to the rescue, and to-day I state, with gratitude, that I am vigorous and strong, and all this improvement is due to this wonderful remedy. I fully realize that these marvellous pills are not transitory in their action, but a permanent cure, for they have toned up my nervous system, nourished my blood, and regulated the action of my heart, and restored my long lost health completely."

Baby Fell and Killed Itself.

Kingsville, Ont., Jan. 10.—The 10-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs Samuel Ewing, whilst sleeping in a baby carriage Saturday morning, awakened and fell out on the floor, alighting on its head, causing concussion of the brain. The child remained in spasms all the forenoon and died in the afternoon.

Canada Overlooked.

London, Jan. 10.—Surprise is expressed here that the Admiralty authorities in despatching naval officers to join the vessels of the British squadron in Chinese waters should send them by way of the Suez Canal in preference to the Canadian route.

More Fashionable Barbarity.

London, Jan. 10.—Living tortoises, with their backs covered with jewels, attached by a gold chain to ladies' dresses, are the rage in Paris. They cost about £16. The society for the protection of animals is agitating the matter.

License Inspector Cole is Dead.

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 10.—Seth Cole, License Inspector for the city of Brantford, with but a short illness, died at an early hour Sunday morning.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

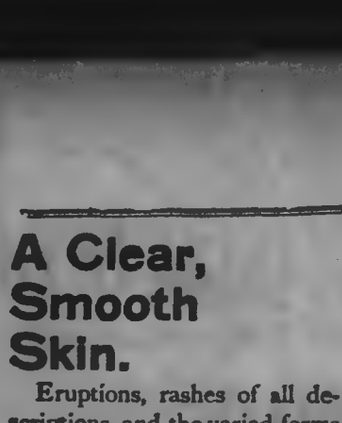
A Clear, Smooth Skin.

Eruptions, rashes of all descriptions, and the varied forms of skin diseases are essentially the result of impure blood.

The wonderful cures wrought by Burdock Blood Bitters in such diseases as Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Shingles, Erysipelas, etc., are on account of its marvellous blood purifying and blood enriching qualities.



It makes the skin clear by making the blood pure.

No better beautifier than B.B.B.

Mrs. R. E. Lees, Fenelon Falls, Ont., says: "I feel thankful to say that through the use of B.B.B. I am strong and healthy to-day. I was troubled with eczema, which broke out all over my body in a scarlet rash and then turned to large sores, some as large as a 25 cent piece. I tried two doctors and they did me little good. At last I got Burdock Blood Bitters and took four bottles which entirely cured me and I cannot say too much in its praise. It has made my skin clear and smooth."

OUTBREAK IN UGANDA, AFRICA.

Lieut. Macdonald and Missionary Pilkington Killed—Fears for a General Soudanese Revolt—Troops for the Front—Tenders for India Bills to Provide Currency—Cable News.

London, Jan. 11.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail declares that, despite denials, the French Government is aware that Captain Marchand has occupied Fashoda, and it intends to base a claim to possession of that region in priority of occupation. The correspondent says, moreover, that the French Government regards this as the most critical issue in foreign politics.

FIGHTING IN UGANDA.

Lieut. Macdonald and Missionary Pilkington Slain—Troops Hurrying Forward.

London, Jan. 11.—A despatch from Mombasa, capital of the coast province in the British East Africa protectorate, says news of renewed fighting in Uganda has been received there from Fort Lubwas, in the Usoga country, under date of Dec. 19. Lieut. Macdonald, brother of Major Macdonald, the commander of the British forces, and Mr. Pilkington, the missionary, have been killed.

Troops are hurrying to the front from Machakos Station. It is reported that the garrison at Buddu, numbering 300 Soudanese under two officers, may join the revolt.

No further details are given. Mr. Pilkington was one of the leading Englishmen in Uganda. He joined Major Macdonald after the mutiny of the Soudanese, to act as interpreter.

The rebellion among the Soudanese soldiers in Uganda broke out in the early part of October last, and the danger has been a general rise of the Soudanese throughout the country and a massacre of the Europeans. Uganda is about as large as France. The Government stations, between 20 and 30 in number, are manned by Soudanese, perhaps 1,200 in all. In the early part of October 300 Soudanese soldiers from the Kampala garrison at Mango, capital of Uganda, on the north shore of the Victoria Nyanza, were sent to the Eldoma station, better known as the ravine. There they mutinied and looted the Government agent's store. They then resolved to march back to Mango, raising the standard of general revolt, to kill the Europeans and establish a Soudanese kingdom in Uganda. They looted the station at Nandi, obtaining 3,000 rounds of ball cartridges. Fortified by this and provided with plenty of ammunition they pushed on toward Mango, looting the stations as they advanced. At Jutas Station the garrison revolted and joined the mutineers, seized Major Thurston, commander of the fort, and occupied the post.

BRITAIN'S EASTERN POLICY

Explained by Mr. Balfour in a Speech to His Constituents.

London, Jan. 11.—Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House of Commons, addressed his constituents at Manchester last evening. He confined himself to generalities. Mr. Balfour said the concert of Europe had not added to its reputation by its treatment of Crete. He declared that it would be better to have a third-rate governor of the island than none at all, and that it was strange the concert could not find one either in Europe or America.

He eulogized the bravery displayed by the British troops in the Indian campaign, a campaign "more difficult than the Afghan war of 1879."

British Interests in China.

Turning to China, Mr. Balfour said British interests there were commercial, not territorial. Except as a base for possible warlike operation, the territory would be a disadvantage, because it would involve responsibility and expense in money and men. He dilated upon the fact that "the extent of our trade in China gives us a special claim to prevent her pursuing a policy that would discourage trade," and added, "but the deepest traditions of our policy preclude us from using any trading privileges as a weapon to exclude our rivals. If we ask freedom of trade, it is not for England alone, but for the whole world."

There was no objection, said Mr. Balfour, in conclusion, to Russia having an ice-free port, provided England was not excluded, but the Government would do its utmost to prevent China yielding to foreign pressure to make regulations adverse to Great Britain or "any improbable but possible attempt to dot the coast of China with foreign stations by protectionist countries who would raise customs or other barriers to our trade."

The burden of the whole declaration was that England's policy in China is for the benefit of the world at large.

Urgency for Money in India.

London, Jan. 11.—Yesterday the Government invited tenders for India bills to the amount of £1,000,000 for the discharge of bills payable on the 23nd. The stringency in money in India is so great it is believed gold shipments will be necessary. Special allotments of telegraphic transfers on Bombay were made to-day at 16 5/16d per rupee.

So great is the urgency for money in India that the India Council is considering plans to increase the supply of currency. In order to facilitate the operation of issuing silver coin against gold deposits at the rate of 16d per rupee and to save the time and expense involved in the remittances of gold to India, it is said the Council will receive, on behalf of the Indian banks or merchants in London, gold for deposit in the Bank of England, against which orders or transfers will enable silver coin to be drawn from the Indian currency departments.

The Strike of the Engineers.

London, Jan. 11.—There are signs that the end of the great strike in the engineering trade of Great Britain is approaching. Large numbers of Glasgow engineers applied to-day for reinstatement, while a meeting of the engineers of Fairfield decided to continue to work, in spite of their previous threats to leave work when the first 25 per cent. of their number were locked out.

England, Japan and Russia to Agree.

London, Jan. 11.—According to a special despatch from Shanghai, it is said there that the agreement between England, Japan and Russia, with respect to Corea involves a restoration of the status quo ante and the reinstatement of Mr. McLeavy Brown as Chief Commissioner of Customs, with a Russian Commissioner at Gensan, the port of Broughton Bay on the east coast, and a Japanese Commissioner at Fusan, in the extreme south-east.

Two Noted Men Dead.

London, Jan. 11.—Sir Charles Hutton Gregory, the well-known engineer and a former President of the Institution of Civil Engineers, is dead.

Mr. Henry Stacy Marks, the painter and honorary retired academician, is dead.

The Queen's Decision.

London, Jan. 11.—The Queen has decided to convert the old palace at Kew, near the Botanic Gardens, into a public museum. The state rooms of Kensington Palace, including the famous banqueting hall decorated by Sir Christopher Wren, all of which have been closed and unoccupied since 1760, are to be restored and thrown open to the public.

The trial by court-martial of Count Esterhazy, the retired officer, charged with writing letters condemning the French army, has been opened in Paris. So far as the evidence went, it was favorable to the Count. Efforts to have the trial take place in secret were unavailing.

Rosa Banko, a music hall singer, and several male accomplices, have been arrested at Buda Pest, Hungary, charged with blackmailing King Alexandria of Servia. They tried to work Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria also, and ex-King Milan of Servia. It was the latter that secured the arrests.

Prince Declared to Be Crazy.

London, Jan. 11.—It is said at the Home Office that the experts' report agrees that Prince, the assassin of Actor Terriss, is insane. In spite of this his trial will commence on Wednesday next under the Lunatics' Act of 1883.

D-O-D-D-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous—No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known, more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. Their discovery startled the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No imitator has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they nearly all adopt names as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. Their foolishness prevents them realising that attempts to imitate increase the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds and gold imitated. Because diamonds are the most precious gems, gold the most precious metal. Dodd's Kidney Pills are imitated because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till years of medical research gave Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured as many cases of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases, hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

A report from Wardsville, Ont., tells how Frank Davis of that place went hunting and chased a rabbit into a hollow log. Davis crawled into the hole after the animal. The log was lying on a hillside and Davis' movement started it down hill. It struck in such a way as to shut the man in, and he was kept there 24 hours, when a Mrs. Till heard his cries and released him by means of an ax and spade.

A meeting of the merchants of Peterborough is called in the council chamber this evening at 8 o'clock to consider the matter of forming a local branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Ontario. The meeting will be addressed by several speakers from Toronto. The question of departmental stores will also probably come up for discussion. Mayor Davis will preside at the meeting.

THE MAYOR'S BANQUET HELD LAST EVENING.

COUNCILLORS AND OFFICIALS ENJOY HIS WORSHIP'S HOSPITALITY.

Strong Speeches Made During the Evening Regarding the Encouraging of Manufactories—Lower Taxation the Keynote.

The supper to which Mayor Davis invited the Councillors and town officials last evening at the Snowden House was quite an elaborate affair. The Mayor, of course, occupied the chair, at his right was Magistrate Dumble, and at his left Councillor Meldrum. Councillor McWilliams and Mr. Aaron Cox also sat at the head of the table. Along the sides were Councillors W. H. White, Cobb, Best, J. M. White, Robertson, Dawson, Langford and Hamilton, also Messrs. J. J. Hartley, E. B. Edwards, Samuel Belcher, Dr. Clark, S. R. Armstrong, Felix Brownscombe, Chief Roszel and Relief Officer Miller.

In responding to the various toasts during the evening almost every guest had an opportunity of speaking and, without exception, all urged the great need of encouraging manufactories in the town. Strong representations were also made as to the necessity of keeping down the taxes.

The menu, and the manner in which it was served, reflected great credit on the proprietor of the Snowden House, even the details

BEING MOST PERFECT.

After full justice had been done it, the toast list was opened by the health of the Queen being proposed, followed by the singing of the National Anthem. Mr. D. W. Dumble then proposed a toast to the health of him whose hospitality was being enjoyed, and those assembled sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," with gusto. In replying, Mayor Davis stated that his experiences during the last few weeks seemed to him like a dream, as just prior to engaging in the contest he had fully made up his mind to retire. As one of the experiences he read the appended letter which had been received:

HAMILTON, Jan. 7th, 1898.

A. L. Davis, Esq., Mayor of Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Please accept the hearty congratulations of a namesake on your elevation to the highest office within your city.

I did not know until I saw your name in the papers yesterday that there was any person in existence who bore the same name and initials as myself.

We are certainly the two greatest people on earth and should you at any time come here do not fail to look me up. I want to grasp your hand because you cannot but otherwise be a jolly good fellow.

Whenever contemplating a visit here, write a few days before hand, as I am generally on the road except Saturdays and Sundays.

Wishing my namesake all sorts of good luck, I remain,

Faithfully yours,
ANSON LEONARD DAVIS,
Hamilton.

The Mayor concluded his remarks by expressing the hope that all might be spared to sit around the same board another year with him.

The toast "The new Council" was then proposed. Mr. Adam Dawson as the oldest councillor present responded first. He explained that his position in the council this year, as chairman of the Streets and Bridges Committee, would be a hard one to fill, and he asked the assistance of all the council.

Councillor Langford thought if the council helped the mayor out during the year as well as they had that evening, he could not complain. He spoke of the manufacturing interests of the town and the keeping down of the taxes.

Councillor Best referred to the sewer system, his particular department, and explained that if the work was done on the initiatory principle, as at present, it would cost exactly the same, as if no more work was done unless it was petitioned for. This he thought was not generally understood. He also referred to the outstanding liabilities of the town, the amount of which he was anxious to ascertain.

Councillor McWilliams stated that although he had not taken any active part in the election of Mr. Davis to the mayoralty, yet he was prepared to give him in his power. He then took up question of encouraging manufacturers here and spoke of a strong English syndicate whose representative he had taken to see the great water power possessed by the town, and who had been greatly pleased with it, as well as with the one at Lakefield. A syndicate was also anxious to make a deal for the street railway, when the line would be connected into a paying and well managed investment.

EVERY ASSISTANCE

Councillor J. M. White proposed the health of the "Baby of the Council," Mr. T. H. Hamilton, the youngest member present.

In responding, Councillor Hamilton referred to the English syndicate, of which Mr. McWilliams had spoken. He had also accompanied one of the members on a trip through the back lakes, when the representative had been greatly pleased with the scheme of running an electric railway out to Lakefield and across to Chemong and then into town again. There were bright prospects of such a deal being made. He urged that the Manufacturers' Committee give especial attention to this syndicate.

Councillor Dawson then proposed the health of the officers of the town. Mr. Dumble responded first and made quite a lengthy address on the prospects of the town. He urged that all work with one aim—to do the best they could for the town. The keynote, he thought, had been struck when the council was asked to keep down the taxes. The town could not grow if left to itself as it was already too big to be kept up by the surrounding country. It must grow within itself by encouraging the location of new manufactories.

Mr. E. B. Edwards commended the idea of the annual supper, being held as a more cordial feeling would thereby be created as amongst the councillors and officials. When referring to the oldest councillor, he though that he could lay some claim to being the oldest officer, as he had been interested in the affairs of the town for over a quarter of a century.

Dr. Clarke spoke of the enormous amount of thrift and energy which was to be seen in some of the western manufacturing towns and urged that stronger measures be adopted in putting Peterborough on a footing with them. There was no reason why Peterborough should not be made as it was a capital distributing point. He often wondered why so insurance companies had their headquarters here.

Mr. Samuel Belcher reminded those who complained of high taxes that if they were increasing steadily it was owing to the fact that greater luxuries were being enjoyed.

Mr. Felix Brownscombe paid a neat tribute to the mayor's executive ability as a councillor and to the attention which he had given the poor of the town.

The Chief of Police briefly thanked those present for the cordial way in which they had honoured the toast.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong drew attention to the fact that whilst the affairs of the town were being looked after, it must not be forgotten that certain foreign relations were somewhat strained. The fire protection question is unsettled; a municipality to the south was ready to go to war on the sewerage question, and the Fire Underwriters had recently been writing some threatening letters.

Mr. F. W. Miller thought that the hearty way in which the toast had been honoured was proof of the fact that none present had ever been forced to apply to him for relief.

Councillor Meldrum made a very kindly mention of the Press when he proposed the toast, which was responded to by the members present.

Councillor Dawson coupled the name of Mr. J. J. Hartly with the toast of the "School Board and Ex-Councillors." Mr. Hartley responded very eloquently, and taking a different view of the town's prospects than the previous speakers, stated that he thought higher taxes would be willingly borne, if manufacturers could be induced to locate here. It was not the taxes which were complained of but the lack of work to enable the men to pay them. With plenty work there would be no trouble.

The toast of "The Bankers and Monetary Institutions," brought Mr. Aaron Cox to his feet. He was sure on looking around the board that the future of the town for the present year was safe in the hands of such men.

Councillor Meldrum, on being called upon, thought that the keynote of prosperity for the town was to be found in keeping down the taxes. The expenditure had now reached its limit. It must not be increased. Careful management was necessary and inducement must be held out to manufacturers to locate in town in order that more people might be brought to Peterborough and the taxes thereby lightened.

During the evening Messrs. E. B. Edwards, F. W. Miller, and the Mayor contributed vocal selections to the evening's enjoyment, which was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

THE BOYS' BRIGADE MINSTRELS.

A Successful Entertainment Last Night.

St. John's school house was well filled last night with an audience assembled to enjoy a lively entertainment put on by the Boys' Brigade. The juvenile calcined cork artists formed a picturesque group on the stage, and their "jokes," many of them fresh, some possibly a little too "fresh," were as a rule less antediluvian than the average "gags" of the minstrel fraternity. The following programme was presented:

Opening overture ..... The Company
Round song—"There's a Watermelon Spoilin' [Down at Johnsang's" Solo and chorus—"McCarthy"..Solo by Master [Alf Hodgson, chorus by company

TO HIM THAT HATH.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Mr. Sheriff Hall has again been appointed auditor of the town books, notwithstanding the fact that he has been for years, is now, and (apparently) ever shall be the holder of a position that yields him a handsome income, whilst others in the town having no steady employment, but depending entirely upon such casual, ill paid work as comes to their hand—and that's mighty little—may fight the battle of life as best they can, and if the landlord don't get his rent, or the scribes' families a meal, or, if someone whose "bowels of compassion" are overdistended, (presumably with Christian charity) supplies the necessaries of life on credit until the account has also become over-distended and summary measures become necessary for its collection, the Sheriff (the same one) will serve the writ and pocket the fee with perfect complacency, and the town council seek re-election upon their past record of common sense and impartiality. It is claimed that the "milk of human kindness" is plentiful in this world. Yea, verily! It flows in a full stream, but unfortunately, in the majority of cases, it flows in the wrong direction.

Yours, etc.,
SCRIBE.

CLOTHING WANTED.

CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS

Double Installation Ceremony—The New Officers of Courts Littlejohn Invested With Their Badges of Office.

The pretty suite of rooms of Court Littlejohn, No. 92, Canadian Order of Foresters were the scene of another very interesting event on on Monday evening. Being the first January meeting of the Court, the installing of the new officers for 1898 was the principal business of the evening.

In a very laudable spirit of brotherhood, Court Littlejohn had extended an invitation to their sister court in town Court Langton, to join with them and have their new officers installed at the same time—as that Court was moving into a new hall which was not quite finished. Accordingly after the regular business of Court Littlejohn was transacted, which included the initiation of another new Forester, the Chief Ranger handed the gavel to Bro. E. A. Kemp, D. D. H. C. R., who officiated during the installing ceremonies. He was assisted by Bro. Robt. Robt. Morrison as H. C. R., Bro. Joseph Saunders as H. M., who discharged their responsible duties with official zeal and skill.

At the conclusion of the installing ceremonies Court Littlejohn's members invited their visiting brethren to a spread in their refreshment room, where about sixty Foresters sat down to hot coffee, cake and etc., served by Bro. McCallum, of the McCallum restaurant. After ample justice was done to the refreshments, Bro. E A. Kemp was requested to act as chairman when a series of loyal and appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to, interspersed with hearty singing.

The toast of "The Queen" was received with expressions of that spirit of loyalty which is so forcibly inculcated by this Order and aroused the enthusiasm of the brethren.

Speeches were delivered during the evening by several gentlemen in response to various toasts.

The chairman proposed the toast of "The Visiting Brethren," which was responded to by Bros. Thos. Drew and W. S. Robinson.

The toast of "The Canadian Order of Foresters" was appropriately replied to by Bros. W. S. Robinson, Harry Evans, and W. M. Green. About 12 o'clock the meeting broke up with "Auld Lang Syne."

BAPTIST MISSIONS.

A Strong Appeal for Aid to Assist the Work in the Great North West.

Rev. A. J. Vining, Superintendent of the Missions for Manitoba and the Northwest, occupied the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church on Sunday morning and spoke in the Park street church in the afternoon. The superintendent stated that this special work had been undertaken in 1875, when a church with seven members was organized in Winnipeg. The work had spread until there were now seventy-five churches in the Northwest. Only eleven of these were self-supporting at present, but an enormous amount of work was being done. No more important branch of mission work was before the consideration of the church this year. There were over a hundred openings for churches and advantage must be taken of the opportunity at once or the doors would be closed. Money spent in this field now meant the establishment of churches which would in the near future be able to contribute to send missionaries to other fields. Mr. Vining's appeal for aid was most eloquent and was liberally responded to.

SPRINGVILLE ENTERTAINMENT.

The Programme Furnished by Talent From Peterborough.

A large number of citizens drove out to Springville last evening to attend the entertainment in the Presbyterian church of that village.

Rev. Mr. McMullen presided and amongst those contributing numbers to the programme were St. Paul's choir, Messrs. Jas. Brown, D. Gordon, R. Maybee, J. Jones, H. F. McKeown, R. Mein, C. N. Brown, and Miss Rutherford. Miss Eva Rutherford, Miss Lough and Miss Pascoe. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. Mr. McKee and Rev. Mr. Tanner.

The church was crowded to the doors and the results totalled up to eighty-five dollars. The affair was regarded as the most successful ever held in the church.

THE CORNER CORNERED AGAIN!

OAK HALL

SURRENDERS TO

OAK HALL Gough Bros. OAK HALL

CANADA'S GREATEST HUSTLERS.

"NORTHWARD the Sweep of Conquest Takes its Way!"

We come before the public again with an announcement so important—so sensational in its effect—that it leaves no room for doubt that the battle of business means THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

We announce with pleasure the purchase of the Stock of the Millionare Santord's Clothing Company in Peterborough, known as "OAK HALL," Corner of George and Hunter Streets, by which we come into possession of

$16,430 Worth of Clothing 62½ CENTS

OF UNMATCHABLE EXCELLENCE Purchased at a Rate on the Dollar of On the Manufacturer's Cost.

The offer of the Sanford Company to buy out Oak Hall has been open to us for some time. It has been known that this wealthy firm have been anxious to close up their Peterborough Branch rather than continue the fight against competition such as GOUGH BROS. have always put up. With a constituency extending over Ontario, and forming the largest syndicate of Clothing dealers in Canada, it was a mistake to plant an "Oak Hall" acorn alongside the Dauntless Goughs. And so, another rich scalp has been added to GOUGH BROS.' belt. And so, "The Corner" has been cornered again by the Wonderful Cheap Men.

To Wake Up the Town

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12th, we inaugurate a Clean Sweep of the whole of Oak Hall's stock—from the roof through every floor to the basement—from the door strip in front to the wall at the back. It begins and stops at the end.

Everything goes! Necessity has no law. Manufacturer's Prices dashed down without mercy! Not a garment left if we can prevent it.

A TRIUMPHANT SALE!

—A Sale to wake up the Town—a Sale that will be without precedent and hopelessly out of reach of competition—beyond the possibility of a n equal in this or any other portion of Canada.

A Clothing Blizzard—Sweeping Oak Hall Counters and Shelves at Prices a QUARTER and a THIRD below original values.

THE QUALITY of this High Class Stock of Clothing will speak—you can be absolutely sure of that. It all bears the label of the Sanford Manufacturing Company. You might be able to get as good Clothing in one or two other stores in Canada, but you can never equal the Clothing and our Prices both together. While it was a notorious fact that Oak Hall never could match or undersell GOUGH BROS., it was acknowledged that their Clothing always took high rank among the Highest Class Goods of America.

THIS SALE, therefore, appeals to the best class of people, who desire to put the stamp of their approval on HIGH QUALITY.

We want a Great Sale—a Great Crowd—a Great Celebration of our latest Famous Victory! The Millionare Merchant Clothier's Sacrifice to GOUGH BROS. will put many a coin in the pockets of those who buy during this Triumphant Sale. Don't forget to follow the Mile Posts to BUYERS OF OAK HALL STOCK.

Oliver Wendell Holmes says that if a man truly loved a woman he would not marry her unless he was absolutely positive that he was the very best man in all the world that she could marry. According to this a man would have to be very conceited indeed or remain a bachelor.

This is going a little bit to extremes, but in sober fact, no man should marry a woman so long as he is the victim of ill-health. No man has a right to ask a woman not only to be his wife, but a life-long nurse. No man has a right to ask a woman to share the burden of his ill-health, and that is what he does when he asks her to be his wife. Ill-health in man is almost invariably the result of disorders of the digestive and nutritive organs. If a man's stomach is right and his liver right, his blood will be pure and rich, and his nerves strong and steady. When the blood is pure and rich a man cannot suffer from ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the great digestive tonic. It is not a mere appetizer, but a scientific aid to the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It makes the appetite keen and hearty, promotes the flow of digestive juices, makes the assimilation perfect, the liver active and the blood pure and rich. It builds firm, healthy flesh tissues. It is the greatest known nerve tonic and restorative.

Mrs. P. Mortenson, of Sanger, Oliver Co., N. Dak., writes: "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best cough medicine I ever tried. A little over two years ago I was afflicted with a very bad cough and my home physician prescribed Cod Liver Oil and other kinds of medicine. He said I might go into quick consumption and might die in two or three months. His medicine did not do me any good. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and began taking it; when I had taken it about two months, according to directions, my cough was cured, and since that time we have always kept your medicine in the house."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. By all medicine dealers.

BRITAIN'S TRADE.

Last Year's Was the Largest in the Country's History.

London, Jan. 10.—The foreign trade of Great Britain during 1897 was the largest in its history. The total exports, imports and re exports amounted to £745,428,000. The increase was entirely in imports and re-exports, the decline in exports amounting to £5,795,000. The growth of the imports is almost entirely due to the huge purchases of produce in the United States, amounting to £114,600,000. The greatest quantity of the exports were textiles.

White House Etiquette.

London, Jan. 10.—The newspapers ridicule the new rules of etiquette at the White House, saying that President McKinley's protocol will rival President Faure's, who has been long taunted with adopting monarchical airs. Vanity Fair, quoting the rule beginning "Invitations issued by Mrs. McKinley take precedence over all other invitations," says: "Such rules prove that under the Stars and Stripes it is quite possible to be 'Plus royaliste que le Roi,' (More royalist than the King). We wonder what Lincoln would have said to any officious understrapper suggesting such rules?"

Dervishes Are Active.

Cairo, Jan., 10.—The Dervishes continue massing their forces at Metemmeh and Shendy, between 80 and 90 miles below Khartoum and Omdurman, and there is great activity at Omdurman with forwarding of supplies to that port.

Nothing is known here in confirmation of the report that the French mission under Captain Marchand has arrived at Fashoda.

The railway to Assouan, just below the first cataract, will be completed in a few days.

French Flagship Ordered to China.

Paris, Jan. 10.—The cruiser Duguay, flagship of the French Pacific squadron, has been ordered to Chinese waters.

The Duguay Trouin is a second-class cruiser, iron and wooden hull, of 8,593 tons displacement. Her complement is 311 men and she has a speed of 15.9 knots. Her armament consists of five 6.2 inch, five 5.5 inch and four 1.8 inch quick-firing guns, together with five muzzle-loading guns.

Trouble in Basutoland.

London, Jan. 10.—A special despatch from Cape Town says that Lorothodi, the paramount chief of Basutoland, has attacked Maougha with 15,000 men. Numbers are reported to have been killed and wounded on both sides. Several villages have been sacked. The whole country is in a ferment and all traders are leaving.

The Frontier of India.

Simla, Jan. 10.—Gen. Sir Bindon Blood has made a good beginning in punishing the Bunerwals for joining the Swatis in their attack on the Malakand Pass. Without serious resistance, he has captured the Tanga and Persai Passes. The Afridis have deserted the Khyber Pass.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glenco and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not unique. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

Worms cannot exist either in children or adults when Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is used. 25c. All dealers.

WEIGHTS---MEASURES.

The Inspectors to Meet and Straighten Out Kinks.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE YUKON

The Canadian Customs Regulations as Adopted for the Klondike Country --The Exemption Wiped Out— Same Rule to Govern as in the Case of Canadians Entering the States.

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Some of the principal inspectors of weights and measures employed by the Department of Inland Revenue are to meet here in a few days for the purpose of considering the regulations governing this particular branch. The inspectors will discuss the question of increasing the toleration of error in weights and measures, in order to bring it more to a commercial basis, instead of letting it rest on the purely scientific basis on which it is based to-day. For instance, the toleration of error in the short ton at present is one pound. It is felt that in regard to some weights and measures the toleration is too sharply defined. The object of the department is to protect the public within commercial bounds, but not to require that every trader's scales should be scientifically accurate to one two-thousandth part.

Baggage for the Yukon.

A decision has been reached by the Minister of Customs in reference to travelers' baggage which will cover the supplies of miners destined for the Yukon in a manner satisfactory to British Columbians. Although not promulgated in specific terms, the 100-lb. exemption of last season has been wiped out, and there will be applied to Americans entering Canada exactly the same rule that pertains to Canadian travelers entering the States. The circular, issued Saturday, says:

"Wearing apparel, articles of personal adornment, toilet articles and similar personal effects of persons arriving in Canada may be passed free of duty as travelers' baggage under the provisions of the customs tariff, but this provision shall only include such articles as are actually accompanying the parties, or are necessary and appropriate for wearing or the use of such persons for immediate purposes of the journey and for present comfort and convenience, and shall not be held to apply to merchandise or articles intended for other purposes, or for sale."

It will be seen from the foregoing that no person can bring in a stock of clothing or provisions intending to last any length of time. Broken packages of food for immediate consumption by the parties carrying them will be admitted, or, in other words, such provisions as may be brought in by a picnic party spending the day in Canada, but it will not be possible to secure exemption on any supplies brought from the States, and the moral is: "Outfit for Yukon in Canada."

Under the item in the tariff governing settlers' effects it is possible to bring in a large number of articles, but they must have been in actual use and the property of the person bringing them in, for six months previous. Miners' tools will not, therefore, come within this category, as no miner destined for the Klondike is going to bring in second hand articles. On the whole, the new instructions seem to be satisfactory from the Canadian standpoint.

The Customs Department has been taken to task for having issued recently a circular charging duty upon small commercial parcels passing through the mails. While the circular referred to this class of importation, yet it does not indicate any new policy on the part of the department, the practice having been in vogue for several years past.

FORTUNES MADE IN A DAY.

A Record-Breaking Clean-Up on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—Saturday was the heaviest day on the Montreal Stock Exchange for five years or more, no less than 12,600 shares having changed hands within an hour and a half. The wonderful rise in Montreal Street Railway from 236 to 244 has made a difference of $400,000 in the capital stock, and the increased value of holdings represents little fortunes to many of the operators. James Ross stands to make $20,000 in a single day, and the Forgets the same amount. Mr. A. Turcotte is also $16,000 better off than on Friday, while Mr. A. D. Porcheron, one of the leading operators of the Street, made $7,000 during that bright Saturday morning. Others, of more or less note, have also made their little pile.

Troy is in a Bad Way.

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 10.—Troy, the respited Napanee murderer, will be brought to Kingston Penitentiary and placed in the criminal asylum. His conduct in Napanee Jail is very exciting. He raves and talks incoherently, but indignantly denies that he is the subject of hallucination. He says he does not expect to be here on Jan. 14; that before that day he will, in some unexplainable way, be removed. The medical men say that it is one of the strangest cases that ever came under their notice.

THE CASE OF MRS. MAYBRICK.

Her Friends Abandon One Position to Take Another.

London, Jan. 10.—Recent advices show that the supporters there of Mrs. Florence Maybrick have finally decided to abandon the attempts which they have so long persisted in, to secure the release of the American woman from prison on technical grounds. Their future efforts will be based entirely upon the arguments that the punishment which she is suffering is excessive and disproportionate to the sentence customarily imposed for the crime of attempted poisoning, which, they assert, is all that was attempted to be proven against her, and upon appeals for clemency on account of Mrs. Maybrick's physical condition. The possibility that clemency will be extended to Mrs. Edith May Carew, who was convicted of poisoning her husband, by the British Consular Court in Japan, and who was recently brought to the English prison wherein Mrs. Maybrick is confined, has rekindled the hopes of Mrs. Maybrick's friends.

British Force in Egypt.

London, Jan. 10.—The Anglo-Egyptian force now operating on the Nile consists of 18,000 Egyptians, three battalions of British troops, and the Nile gunboats, all commanded by the Sirdar, Sir Herbert Kitchener. The latter refuses to allow the war correspondents to go beyond the rail head.

The Parnellites.

London, Jan. 10.—The Parnellites will introduce their customary amnesty amendment to the Queen's speech at the opening of Parliament.

Gen. Booth Sails.

Southampton, Jan. 10.—A great crowd assembled here Saturday to bid farewell to "General" William Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, who sailed for New York on the American Line steamship St. Paul.

The Extravagant Czar.

London, Jan. 10.—The Czar and Czarina will receive their friends at the Paris Exposition of 1900 in their own pavilion, which will cost £90,000.

The Jewin Street Fire.

London, Jan. 10.—It has been ascertained that the loss resulting from the recent so-called Jewin street fire (also known as the Cripplegate fire) amounts to £750,000. The inquiry is dragging, the evidence obtained being directed towards proving the fire of incendiary origin, and in the direction of demonstrating that the fire brigade is inefficient.

$3,000 Blaze in Trenton.

Trenton, Ont., Jan. 10.—Saturday night about 9 o'clock fire was discovered in the rear of A. W. Hawley's drug store, Front street. The stock was badly damaged by smoke and water. Loss about $3,000, covered by insurance. Cause of fire unknown.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WE HAVE IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simple Chickering facts.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

are a pleasant and natural remedy, clearing away all effete and poisonous matter from the system, without any griping or weakening effects.

MARGARET BRENNAN, 5 Granville Street, Halifax, N.S., says: "I have used Lana Liver Pills for Constipation and Sick Headache, and found them excellent.

A GRAVE MISTAKE.

When the body of Henderson Hesslerigg was found dangling from a cellar beam, his neck encircled by a self adjusted noose, his eyes turned ceilingward and his life extinct, those whom he had numbered among his acquaintances were amazed exceedingly. And when Mrs. Henderson Hesslerigg, who had always paused to look in a mirror when she remembered for how many years she had been the faithful wife of the deceased, listened to their words of consolation with undiminished cheerfulness and gave no indication of approaching hysteria or a desire to faint away, they stood aghast. In all the long time Mr. Hesslerigg had dwelt among them he had never said or done anything to lead them to believe that he would endure, even for a few brief moments, the physical discomfort which taking one's life entails. By profession an inventor, he had slumbered on through the multiplying years with a minimum of exertion, contentedly eating the three meals a day which were the result of Mrs. Hesslerigg's fruitful toil, and philosophical enough to yearn for none of the things which were beyond his reach.

As for Mrs. Hesslerigg, the very fact that she carned and cooked three meals a day for her amiably indolent husband was an indication, so thought her neighbors, of a character the reverse of firm. They knew she had always been unresenting, if not uncomplaining, and were disappointed and disposed to gossip when their proffered sympathy made no impression on her as a widow. She appeared to them marvelously changed, but it was apparent that grief had nothing to do with the transformation, for she seemed as unconcerned as though the suicide of a husband was a very trivial matter. Conjecture, of course, was rife, but the suicide had almost been forgotten when the true story became known.

One day, while his mind was as yet untainted by a suicidal thought, Mr. Hesslerigg might have been seen in a recumbent attitude on a much worn sofa which ornamented the sunniest room in the house, smoking and thinking. It was while he was thus engaged that Mrs. Hesslerigg entered the room, sank wearily into a chair, covered her face with her apron and announced almost tearfully:

"I just haven't the heart to work any more."

"Ha!" exclaimed Mr. Hesslerigg thoughtfully, taking the pipe from between his teeth. "You have no heart for work." He pondered more deeply than usually for a moment and then said, "My dear, that remark of yours has given me the germ of a great idea."

"Oh, you and your ideas will drive me crazy," declared poor Mrs. Hesslerigg, bursting into tears. "If you had fewer ideas and would do enough work to support your children, I could keep them out of the streets and teach them something and not be forever bending over the tubs and other people's washings," and Mrs. Hesslerigg sobbed in a manner that was really heartbreaking.

For it was a fact pretty well known among the neighbors that Mrs. Hesslerigg took in washing, the proceeds whereof she devoted to the liquidation of her weekly grocery bill, and in view of the circumstances of Mr. Hesslerigg's not having contributed anything material to the family board for a space of several years it was small wonder that she should enter an occasional protest.

"But, my dear," insisted Mr. Hesslerigg, becoming so animated that he actually arose to a sitting posture on the sofa, "this is really a wonderful idea. You say your heart will not let you work," he continued. "I will make a new heart for you, my dear—a mechanical heart, which, possessing all the properties of the natural organ, will not in its sentimental action interfere with your physical labors. It is a glorious idea. It will be the greatest discovery in modern science." And Mr. Hesslerigg, worked up to a perfect frenzy of enthusiasm, concluded by saying, "I will set about it at once."

Mrs. Hesslerigg kept her head on the table while her husband was talking, and then she arose and went back to her tubs. Mr. Hesslerigg's remarks failed to interest her. She had heard him say exactly the same things about 50 dozen different ideas which had never resulted in anything but the accumulation of a vast deal of old junk about the house. So she did not even look at him as he jumped up in an unwonted state of excitement and proceeded to the little shed in the back yard, which he called his laboratory, entering and locking the door after him.

For four days, while Mrs. Hesslerigg sozzled sheets and pillow cases around in the suds, Mr. Hesslerigg toiled unceasingly at his invention. The tinkle of his hammer made music for the neighborhood and the smell of molten metals and noxious chemicals hung over the shop. His lounge was deserted, he did not smoke, and when he appeared at his meals he was preoccupied and deep in thought. Mrs. Hesslerigg became more despondent than ever, and was firmly convinced that her husband had gone crazy. But when he made his appearance at supper time on the fourth day there was an unusual dignity in his manner, a flush of conscious triumph on his face. He stretched himself again on the old sofa and lighted his pipe once more, and his laugh was happy and joyous.

"My dear," he said, "I have finished. I have succeeded beyond my wildest dreams. I have completed the mechanical heart, the greatest invention ever given to the world. It is destined to perform every physical function of the natural organ in a perfectly automatic manner. Deaths from heart failure will in the future be unheard of. Life may be prolonged almost indefinitely. Invested with this mechanical heart, my dear, you may pursue the avocations which secure to your small family the means of a continued existence without any of those distressing feelings which now pervade your bosom. And you, my dear, shall be the first to be endowed with this marvelous result of my inventive genius. Your breast shall be the one beneath which the first mechanical heart shall beat."

Now, Mrs. Hesslerigg was on this auspicious evening in an unusual state of mind. In the first place, her grocer had refused that very morning to enlarge her account with him to the extent of a bar of soap. Then her bluing was too strong and instead of making her clothes look clear and white it dyed them an uncertain and irregular green. These things had so vexed her uncomplaining soul that she was really revolving in her mind what means she had at hand for terminating an existence so entirely unsatisfactory.

Perceiving in Mr. Hesslerigg's suggestion something which might relieve her of the decidedly unpleasant task of swallowing a dose of liquid microbe exterminator, her only available poison, and yet accomplish the same result, she acquiesced, explaining, however, the spirit with which she entered into the scheme. But Mr. Hesslerigg repelled the idea with great vehemence.

"That feeling arises from your present heart, my dear," he assured her. "My wonderful contrivance will render a recurrence of it impossible."

Accordingly the only two silver teaspoons in the house were disposed of and Mr. Hesslerigg purchased a bottle of ether. The tubs were cleared out of the way, the kitchen table pushed into the middle of the room, and after a brief inward prayer Mrs. Hesslerigg, fully convinced that she was about to be relieved forever from the cares of earth and devoutly thankful that the transition was to be so easy, absorbed as much of the fluid as she could and became oblivious to things around her.

Just what Mr. Hesslerigg did to her Mrs. Hesslerigg will never know, but several days afterward she was able to arise from her bed, perfectly sound and healthy. The operation, much to her surprise, had been successful. She was convinced, not so much by anything Mr. Hesslerigg told her, as by her own feelings, that she had been invested with the mechanical heart. A lightness and buoyancy pervaded her being, and there was none of the old despondency. Her attitude toward her husband, too, had undergone a complete change. She was no longer humble and subservient. Her slavish affection for him had disappeared with her old heart, and in the new organ he occupied no place. She regarded his sluggish, indolent habits with aversion rather than tolerance.

All those feminine characteristics which had contributed so much to his comfort had given place to a perfectly masculine selfishness. The idea of any longer earning and cooking three meals a day for him filled her with a scornful amusement. The old ties which years of association had entangled into gordian knots she severed with relentless strokes, cooking only for herself and allowing Mr. Hesslerigg to get along as best he could.

It was some time before Mr. Hesslerigg could realise fully the awfulness of his mistake. He had expected that the substitution of his invention for the natural heart of his wife would enable him to go on in the old way without any of the tearful outbursts which had occasionally marred his domestic quiet. But the entirely unlooked for result was overwhelming. He became restless, watched Mrs. Hesslerigg furtively and kept out of her way as much as possible. He hoped it would soon wear away. But his hope was vain. Matters became worse for him, and soon Mrs. Hesslerigg, evidently grown tired of seeing him around, suggested that he go out and do something.

"But, my dear," he ventured, in timid remonstrance, "I want to perfect my invention. Besides, what shall I do? There's nothing for an inventor to do outside of his home."

Mrs. Hesslerigg stood erect, and folding her arms towered over her husband. "Henderson Hesslerigg," she said, "if you think I am going to slop around in the washtub while you do nothing, you are mistaken. I have supported this family long enough, and it's your turn now. I want you to get right out of here this minute and stay out until you have found some work."

Completely crushed, Mr. Hesslerigg, without venturing a reply, went out into the street. He did not know how to look for work, and he wouldn't know how to do it if he found any. He thought and pondered, but could not get his mind off his own misery except to let it dwell for a moment on a bit of rope down in the cellar and the peaceful oblivion that lay in one end of it. He walked around until evening, disconsolate and dejected, and then, hoping that his wife had relented, he returned home. But Mrs. Hesslerigg hadn't softened a bit and was waiting for him.

"Have you got any money?" she demanded as soon as he entered the house.

"No, my dear," he faltered, "but"—

"Then get right out again," she said obdurately, cutting him short. "I don't want you loafing around here."

Once more Mr. Hesslerigg issued forth, and a great sob which arose in his throat and choked him reminded him again of the rope. He would—yes, he would put a period to his unhappy life as abruptly as possible. His last act would surely reach the heart which he himself had tempered.

But even that failed. The mechanical heart beat on as evenly as ever, and to this day, in the full enjoyment of a successful career, in which washtubs have no part, Mrs. Hesslerigg continues to be as free from the sentimentalities of her sex as though she had been born without that organ.—Joseph E. O'Brien in Washington Post.

Simplicity.

I do believe in simplicity. It is astonishing as well as sad how many trivial affairs even the wisest man thinks he must attend to every day, how singular an affair he thinks he must omit. When the mathematician would solve a difficult problem, he first frees the equation of all incumbrances and reduces it to its simplest terms. So simplify the problem of life, distinguish the necessary and the real. Probe the earth to see where your main roots run.—Thoreau.

Refined Repartee.

"My face," said the seasoned soubrette, "is my fortune."

"You don't say so!" retorted the funny comedian. "I thought it stood for what you owed."

"And why did you think it stood for what I owed?" asked the seasoned soubrette.

"Because," explained the funny comedian, "I see you have it chalked up."—Indianapolis Journal.

The council assembled in adjourned session last evening, with Mayor Davis presiding and the following members in their seats:—Councillors Best, W. H. White, Robertson, Deane, Hamilton, Dawson, Cobb, McWilliams, Langford, Meldrum and J. M. White.

The attendance of ratepayers was so large as to crowd the seats and necessitate many to stand.

From the Ontario Bank, stating that the town's balance on Dec. 31, 1897 was $12,750 at debit.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

THE STANDING COMMITTEES.

Councillor Meldrum presented the report of the committee appointed to strike the standing committees of the year as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

2. That the first named on each Committee be chairman.

3. That the usual grant of $200 be made to the Mayor to meet the contingent expenses of his office.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. MELDRUM, Chairman.

Seconded by Councillor Cobb, Councillor Meldrum moved the adoption of the report.

Before the motion was put Councillor McWilliams rose and stated that the report confirmed the rumour which had been afloat concerning an impending change in the chairmanships. Representatives of certain companies had buttonholed the councillors with the object of endeavouring to keep him out of the chairship of the Street and Bridge Committee. He had discharged his duties to the best of his ability during the past year and nine out of every ten of the taxpayers were satisfied with the result. The shelving had been a personal matter directed against himself. He was in the council to defend the interests of the taxpayers and if in so doing he had gained the illwill of these companies he would abide by it. The action of the committee in removing him from the chairmanship of the Street and Bridge Committee was a personal insult and before the year was out the ratepayers would understand the motive.

Councillor Meldrum stated that if what Councillor McWilliams said referred to him, it was untrue. It was well known that two slates had been prepared for the committees and he had, therefore, moved for the appointment of a small committee to do the work of selecting in order to avoid friction. Mr. Dawson was of the council and had never held this chairmanship. No man had a claim on it, and no man had a better right to it than Councillor Dawson. In the action of the committee nothing derogatory to Mr. McWilliams was intended, and no insult was meant to be conveyed. Councillors Langford and McWilliams had both been mentioned for the chairmanship, and the committee thought it better to appoint an outsider.

Councillor Cobb denied ever having been button-holed in reference to the matter.

Councillor McWilliams thought that no better proof was needed to show that a clique had been at work than the fact that the chairmen of the Committees on Manufacturing, Finance and Sewerage had been re-appointed.

Councillor Best contradfeted the assertion regarding the "button-holing" as concerning himself. He had not been a party to putting himself back into his chairmanship. He had not been buttonholed. If any man had a claim on the chairmanship it was Adam Dawson.

Councillor Langford stated that he had never asked a man for a vote of the Street and Bridge Committee, though if it had been offered he would have accepted. Mr. McWilliams had issued a circular concerning the expenditure on streets in 1896, which was false in every particular. He had said that $14,500 was expended on streets in 1896. The fact was that in 1897 more money had been spent on the streets than in any previous year. Outstanding accounts would bring up the total. A thousand dollars was owing Mr. Kelly for lumber, and $200 more was due Mr. McDonald. There were also many small accounts outstanding, whilst there had been no sidewalks built to cause a great expenditure. Old sidewalks had been repaired with new lumber when several miles of new sidewalk should have been laid down. In 1896 there was an expenditure of $6,000 over the ordinary. Debts had been previously contracted which were paid in 1896 and were charged against that year. This is what swelled the total to $14,500. The extraordinary expenditure included the erection of the George street bridge, the cost of repairing water works plant damaged by dynamite, flooring old bridges, building the McDonal street bridge and the Jackson ends.

FOR THE CHAIRMANSHIP

Councillor McWilliams in replying stated that in his figures. He had received them all from the town treasurer and was told by that official that they included everything, even Mr. Kelly's account of $1,000. If there were some some small accounts outstanding the treasurer had stated that like accounts had been paid in 1897 which had been contracted the year before. These accounts which were left standing generally balanced each other.

THERE WAS NO ERROR

Councillor Deane denied having put himself back in his chairmanship. No one had asked him to support Mr. Dawson.

Councillor Dawson was sorry such a discussion had arisen. He had never sought the position and did not care about it, as he had not the necessary time to give. In taking it he would have to depend largely on the assistance of the other members to carry out the work. No manufacturer had dared to buttonhole him.

The motion was then put and the report was adopted.

BYLAWS.

Councillor McWilliams and Meldrum introduced bylaws appointing High School Trustees and members of the Board of Health to vacancies occasioned by the expiration of the terms of Messrs. Peter Hamilton and Henry Deane on the Board of Education, and Dr. Burnham and Dr. McGrath on the Board of Health. The bylaws provided for the re-appointment of the same gentleman, and were passed.

RESOLUTIONS.

Councillors Best and W. H. White moved that the Finance Committee of 1898 at the first regular meeting of the Town Council shall report on the outstanding liabilities created in 1897 upon the streets and bridges, and other controllable expenditure, and not paid out of 1897 current income.

Councillor Best explained that this information was desirable in order that the Council might understand just how it stood. In reality there was no surplus. It was important that the members should know the position of the town exactly in order that they could govern themselves accordingly. If there was a deficit it should be assumed.

Councillor Deane contradicted the statement that there was no surplus. After all accounts had been paid there would still be a balance on the right side. There was no deficit. Everything had been provided for.

The motion was then carried.

Councillor Best and W.H. White moved, that the proceedings of all committee meetings shall be kept by the town clerk recorded in a minute book to be provided for that purpose by the town, upan which reports of committees shall be based for presentation to council—Carried.

Councillor Dawson asked if it was the wish of the council to have the stone on hand broken up at once. He would like to see the work start as soon as possible, as men were badly in need of work.

Councillor McWilliams urged that the stone be broken at once. It was a great deal better to give the ratepayers a chance to earn a livelihood than to have them asking for charity, and the men would sooner have it so.

Councillor Meldrum stated that the workingmen had very little money to spare at present and need the work. He suggested that the matter of selecting the men be left to Mr. Dawson.

Councillors Dawson and McWilliams then moved that the stone on hand be broken and that payment for the work be on the same basis as heretofore.

Councillor McWilliams in speaking in reference to the practice of allowing only ratepayers to do this work, urged that a departure be made from the rule in order to allow the sons of certain widows to break stone, as in some cases the sons were not on the assessment roll as yet.

This was agreed to and the council then adjourned.

Where Specialists Failed Dr. Chase Cured Catarrh.

James Spence, Clachan, Ont., writes:—"I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. It became chronic and I had given up hopes of ever being cured when advised by a friend to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I at once started and am pleased to state three boxes effected a complete cure, and I heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from Catarrh."

A LONG CIRCUIT.

Rossland, B.C., Electrically Connected With Peterborough.

A couple of years ago Rossland, British Columbia, the capital of the Kootenay, was nothing more than a straggling collection of miners' huts. To-day it is getting into touch with the new movement for using the waterfalls of the Dominon in the production of power instead of producing from steam. The Canadian General Electric Company, of Peterborough, are at present installing generators at Bonnington Falls, on the Kootenay River, 30½ miles from Rossland, for transmission of power to that city. The work is being done for a company of which Oliver Durant of the Centre Star mine is the President and Sir Charles Ross is a large stockholder. The machinery to be installed will generate 2,500 electrical horse-power, which will be sent over a three-wire line to Rossland at a pressure of 20,000 volts. The mines at Rossland will be operated largely by the power.

THE BARNARDO HOME.

A Letter in Reference to the Remission of the Taxes on This Institution.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—At the inaugural meeting of the town council yesterday morning, when remission of taxes was asked for the Barnardo Home, statements were made which are calculated to mislead people, and cannot be allowed to remain unchallenged and unrefuted. Objection to the remission was made on the ground that the Home people spent very little money in Peterborough. It would be interesting to know what the objector would consider as the proper amount of money which should be spent by the Home people in Peterborough before they were entitled to claim exemption from paying taxes! We learn that upon inquiry amongst the merchants it was ascertained that seven dollars had been spent upon repairs of boots; and only one merchant in George street stated that he had dealings with the Home. Is so small a sum spent for the repair of boots, any evidence of the very little money spent in Peterborough? And is it the correct thing to deal with more than one boot merchant? Further inquiries amongst the grocers were made, and the inquirer was told that no more than four or five hundred dollars were spent amongst them annually. This is not quite correct. Last year's account with the two grocers amounted to five hundred and seventy-six dollars, and even supposing the lesser sum were spent, the grocers would have no reason to complain; and the grocers themselves do not complain. But here again—like the bootmaker—the grocers do not absorb all the money spent by the Home people in Peterborough. The objectors must remember that there are the dry goods merchant, the meat merchant, the drug store, the wood and coal merchant, the baker, the dairyman, etc., etc. Like other people residing in Peterborough, we are dependent upon these people for supplies and like other people we have to pay for them. We learn that another "objector" whilst pursuing his inquiries amongst the merchants as to the trade which they received from the Barnardo Home had been told "that the profit was all wiped out by the presents which they were asked to give. This is a gross falsehood and perfectly ridiculous in itself. Is it to be supposed that any storekeeper gifted with the smallest modicum of common sense would still care to enjoy year after year a custom, the profits from which were to be wiped out by the giving away of presents? To make this assertion—most probably based on the remark of some storekeeper's assistant without going any further to verify the same, is, to say the least of it, most uncosiness like. We have never asked the merchants for any presents, and we never intend to do so. The merchants are, however, kind enough to give us presents at Christmas, without being asked for them—a few turkeys, boxes of candies, etc., etc., all of which, if realized, would fetch about twelve dollars. And this large sum presumably "wipes out all profits!" How infinitessimally small must be the margin of profit enjoyed by the Peterborough merchants! How do they exist? How much better, more manly and more business-like a proceeding it would have been to have gone to the Home and asked permission to see the books than to go about the stores and accept every statement made as gospel truth!

Time and space will not permit me to go into details. I will simply say that a sum of not less than $4,000 is spent by the home annually, nearly every cent of which is spent in Peterborough, and if any one doubts this assertion he is at perfect liberty to come to the Home and see the books for himself. In conclusion, I must state that the taxes have always previously been remitted to us, but now, it would appear, that a change of feeling had set in. To what is this change attributable?

I am, dear sir,
Yours faithfully,
W. C. METCALFE.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGONY.

Suffering Ended in a Few Weeks by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petrolea, Jan. 10.—From Ingersoll to Petrolea the way is marked at short intervals by houses which are pointed to as those in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured cases of Kidney Disease, Bright's Disease, Diabetes or other kidney or blood disorder.

John Russell, a farmer living near here, tells of his cure, after suffering fifteen years with Bright's Disease.

Three doctors treated him; may remedies were tried. All failed.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended. He tried them. The invariable result followed. A few boxes cured him.

This story, with variations as to the disease, is told by hundreds in Petrolea. Dodd's Kidney Pills have not been known to fail one yet. Every case has been a cure.

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.05 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 3 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Snap Prices.

SUNDRY DIVISIONS.

Conservative Members Put Themselves on Record.

THEY PLAYED TO THE GALLERY

Opposition to All Appropriations—Vote After Vote Taken—All Amendments Rejected by the House—Mr. Whitney in His New Role as Watchdog of the Treasury.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The Opposition, apparently in pursuance of a pre-arranged plan, lost no opportunity yesterday of dividing the House, with the result that little else was accomplished beyond the recording of votes, the outcome of which was never in doubt. They pursued the policy of challenging almost every appropriation that the House was asked to concur in. Instead of accepting one division as the record of their attitude toward the expenditures to which they objected, they insisted in exhausting time and patience by repeating over and over again the tedious proceeding of taking the vote. The party whips were kept busy rounding up the members, and the clerks of the House were fully occupied. The appropriations which were made the subject of attack represented different branches of the public service. The following reductions were proposed: Public Works salaries, $4,000; Registrar-General's branch, additional clerk, $900; Inspector Noxon's salary, $2,400; sessional clerks, $8,000; education, $17,950; London Asylum, $1,700; Kingston Asylum, $1,800; Penetanguishene Reformatory, $2,500; Parliament buildings, $4,000; miscellaneous expense, $10,000.

Hon. Mr. Gibson introduced and had read a first time a bill entitled "An Act to amend the Timber Slide Company's Act." It makes slight alterations in the tolls charged.

The following bills were read a third and final time:

To incorporate the Canadian Consolidated Copper and Nickel Company.

Respecting the consolidated debt of the town of Cobourg, and for other purposes.

Respecting the Kingston, Portsmouth and Cataraqui Railway Company.

To consolidate the Shebandowan Mining Company, and incorporating the Frue Shebandowan Gold Mining Company, Limited.

To confirm a certain agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, the St. Clair Tunnel Company and the town of Sarnia.

Respecting public libraries in police villages.

To amend the Act incorporating the Strathroy and Western Counties Railway Company.

Respecting the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway.

The House went into committee to concur in the estimates for 1898, and Hon. Mr. Harcourt moved that the item of $16,400 for Public Works Department salaries be concurred in.

Dr. Willoughby moved, in amendment, that the item be reduced by $4,000.

The Attorney-General said that when the Government tried to cut down expenses the Opposition only stirred up trouble for the Ministry and sent all the officials and their friends buzzing about their ears.

Messrs. Whitney and Stratton also spoke and a division was taken, resulting in a vote of 49 to 33 against Dr. Willoughby's amendment. The vote stood:

Yeas—Beatty (Leeds), Brower, Bush, Carnegie, Caven, Crawford, Dynes, Fallis, Gurd, Haggerty, Haycock, Hiscott, Kerns, Kidd, Langford, Little, McCallum, McDonald, McNeil, McNichol, Magwood, Marter, Matheson, Meacham, Miscampbell, Preston, Reid (Addington), Reid (Durham), St. John, Shore, Tucker, Whitney, Willoughby—33.

Nays—Auld, Barr, Baxter, Beatty (Parry Sound), Bennett, Blezard, Burt, Campbell, Carpenter, Chapple, Charlton, Cleland, Connee, Craig, Dana, Davis, Dickenson, Dryden, Farwell, Ferguson, Field, Flatt, German, Gibson (Hamilton), Harcourt, Hardy, Harty, Hobbs, Loughrin, Macnish, McKay (Oxford), McKay (Victoria), McLean, McPherson, Middleton, Moore, Mutrie, O'Keefe, Pardo, Paton, Pattullo, Richardson, Robertson, Robillard, Ross, Smith, Stratton, Taylor, Truax—49.

Pairs—Garrow and Currie; Gibson (Huron) and McLaren; Biggar and Ryerson.

The House rose at 6 o'clock.

After Recess.

After the dinner intermission the House went again into concurrence of the estimates, and Mr. Bush moved in amendment to the clause covering the Provincial Secretary's department that the item be reduced by $900. The motion was lost by a vote of 55 to 38.

Mr. Kidd then moved in amendment to the motion for concurrence in the estimate for the inspection of public buildings that from the item there be struck out the sum of $2,400, that being the salary of the third inspector of public institutions. This man (Mr. Kidd referred to Mr. Noxon) never seemed to have anything to do, and never made any report to the House.

Hon. Mr. Davis defended Mr. Noxon, and, while admitting that he was away during two months of '97, held he was a valuable official.

Hon. J. M. Gibson had charge of the Provincial Secretary's department when Mr. Noxon was appointed. He said the demands of the Opposition for details regarding even the food used at the public institutions, made Mr. Noxon's appointment necessary.

Mr. Bush's amendment was lost by a vote of 58 to 33, and the item was concurred in.

Mr. Brower moved for a reduction by $2,000 of the item of $127,100 paid to sessional clerks. The motion was lost on the same vote as on the last division.

Dr. Preston tried to secure a reduction of $2,500, being the salary and traveling expenses of the Director of Teachers' Institutes, and for a reduction of $15,000 in the salaries of examiners at departmental examinations. The motion was lost on a vote of 60 to 24.

Mr. Magwood moved the reduction of the estimate for feed and fodder at the London Insane Asylum farm by $1,700, and the motion failed to carry by a vote of 50 to 33.

Mr. Langford's motion that the estimate for the farming expenses and feed and fodder at the Kingston Asylum be reduced by $3,800 was lost without division.

Mr. Little's motion that $2,500 be struck off the allowances for Penetanguishene Reformatory, was lost on division.

Dr. Meacham's motion that $4,000 should be cut off the item of $8,000 for fuel at the Parliament Buildings, was lost.

Mr. Carnegie moved the reduction by $10,000 of the estimates regarding arbitrations, and Algonquin Park appearing under the head of miscellaneous expenditures. The amendment was declared lost on division. The House adjourned at 79.05 a.m.

The Lord's Day Act.

Premier Hardy yesterday received monster deputations from Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Kingston, London, and other provincial cities, besides representatives of special interests and trades, against the Lord's Day Act amendments, and also heard a deputation in favor of the changes. The Premier, in dismissing the opposing factions, intimated that the more swooping features of the amending bill would be abandoned.

FAILURES IN CANADA.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report a Large Decrease in Number of Failures and the Amount Involved.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—It is gratifying that Canadian failures have decreased materially in number and amount. The bank failures were five, against three in 1896, but with liabilities of only $154,000, against $212,000. The commercial failures were 1,809, against 2,118 in 1896, a decrease of 14.6 per cent., and the liabilities were $14,157,498, against $17,169,688, a decrease of 17.5 per cent. In manufacturing, the decrease in number was over 22 per cent., and in liabilities over $2,000,000, or 35.8 per cent. But in trading the decrease in number was 12.6 per cent., and in liabilities only 12.7 per cent. An increase appears in brokerage and other failures of 10 in number, or 40 per cent., and of $471,000 in liabilities, or almost 100 per cent. The statement of business shows increase over 1896 in iron manufacture, a large increase in woolen manufacture, and some increase in liquors and earthenware, with decrease in all other classes, especially in the miscellaneous class, and in lumber. Of trading classes, general stores show a considerable increase, and groceries, dry goods and jewelry less in proportion, but other classes show a decrease, which is relatively large in liquors, clothing, shoes, hardware and the miscellaneous class.

SAFE ARRIVAL AT DAWSON CITY.

Geo. Dawson and Party of St. Catharines Have Reached the Eldorado.

St. Catharines, Ont., Jan. 12.—Word was received here last night from George Dawson and party, dated at Dawson City, announcing their safe arrival in that city on Oct. 25 last. They left St. Catharines on Aug. 5, 1897, and, as this is the first news from them since their departure, it was received with great rejoicing. They describe their journey as rough and tedious, especially over the passes. They are all in good health and have sufficient provisions and medicines to last until July next. They were offered $1 per pound for flour and $2 per pound for their meats. They are now located 80 miles north of Dawson City, where they will remain prospecting. Their letter was 80 days in reaching here.

ONE CHILD LOST.

A Family's Terrible Struggle for Life in the St. Lawrence.

Cornwall, Jan. 12.—Joseph Leparle, with his wife and three children, left here last evening to cross the river to Hoganesburg, N.Y. When about half way between the St. Lawrence Park and Cornwall Island the ice suddenly gave way, and they were all left in the water. Leparle threw an eight-year-old boy on the solid ice, and after about ten minutes' life and death struggle managed to get out himself. An Indian who was some distance ahead came back and pulled out Mrs. Leparle. She was nearly exhausted, and the two-year-old child she was holding slipped from her nerveless grasp and was lost. The third child was left in another rig coming behind. The horse and rig were lost.

CANADA'S DEFENCES.

Report That the Imperial Government Will Establish New Depots for Troops on the Pacific.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—A Star special cable from London says: "Hon. Dr. Borden sails for home to-day. A statement is published that he has arranged with the War Office for an elaborate rearrangement of Canadian defences, including new depots for British troops at Vancouver and elsewhere on the Pacific coast, and much increased armaments. It is officially stated, however, that while Dr. Borden naturally discussed the latest necessities of Canada's defences no elaborate plans of this kind are in view. The fact of credence being given to the statement shows, however, Canada's growing importance from an Imperial standpoint, in view of the coming struggle between England, Russia, Japan and America for the supremacy of the Pacific."

Dr. McEachren, Chief Veterinary Inspector of the Dominion, is here. It is understood he has hopes of inducing the Board of Agriculture to remove the schedule from Canadian cattle. That, however, is most improbable. Not even Mr. Chamberlain, with all his Canadian sympathies, can act against the interests, supposed or real, of the British farmer.

IN PERIL OF WATER.

The Serious Fears Entertained of the Electric Works Dam in Chambly.

St. John's, Que., Jan. 12.—A serious accident is imminent at Chambly. The dam of the new Electric Power Works in Chambly has raised the water in the river to the height of 25 feet above the normal level at this season of the year. The water is now on a level with the Yuile general traffic bridge and the superstructure of the railway bridge, a short distance further up the stream. A strong south wind or a jam of ice will greatly imperil both these structures. The basin above the dam is frozen over and pedestrians cross it. This is unprecedented.

PURELY ACCIDENTAL.

The Jury in the Case of the London Disaster Came to the Above Decision.

London, Ont., Jan. 12.—The City Hall calamity inquest concluded yesterday morning, the jury retiring to deliberate about noon. The jury were out one hour. They returned a unanimous verdict that Edward Luxton had met death by suffocation, and concluded as follows: "That the beam which broke causing the floor to give way was placed there in October, 1889. Its construction and placing was done by John S. Dodd, builder, under the supervision of Col. Tracey, then city engineer; that more than ordinary care was used in its construction and selection of material. That no complaint was made by any of the city officials or any others. That the evidence touching the matter has been very carefully gone into, and the jury are unanimous in their opinion that the sad occurrence was purely accidental."

International Foreign Methodist Missions.

New York, Jan. 12.—The first session of the sixth conference of the Foreign Mission Boards of the United States and Canada was held in the Methodist Building at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The report shows that there are six Foreign Missionary Societies in Canada, whose work includes 60 principal stations, 227 out stations, 242 Canadian missionaries, 506 native laborers, 119 native churches, 9,141 communicants, 1,040 additions last year, native contributions last year of $32,339, and contributions in Canada last year of $282,706.

Thirty-Six Fishermen Lost.

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 12.—After hoping against hope that the passing days might bring some tidings of the overdue fishing schooners Hustler and John E. McKenzie, their owners have been forced reluctantly to the decision that the vessels have foundered and that their crews of 36 men have perished.

Principal Grant has accepted the challenge of Rev. Dr. Lucas to debate the liquor question, the latter to name the date, which must be before the end of the month. The wordy duel is to take place in Kingston.

Germans Defeat Hottentots.

London, Jan. 12.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Cape Town says the German troops, after a long forced march, have engaged and defeated a section of the rebellious Hottentots in Damaraland. Commander Von Erstorff was wounded.

Diplomatic Privilege Claimed.

London, Jan. 12.—At the Maidenhead County Court yesterday summonses against Mr. Spencer Eddy (secretary of the United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay) and Mr. J. E. White (son of Mr. Henry White, secretary of the United States Embassy) for bicycling on side walks, were adjourned in consequence of the Home Office telegraphing to the magistrates that Mr. Henry White claimed diplomatic privilege for his son.

Shortage in Land.

Sydney, N.S.W., Jan. 12.—Owing to the shortage in the land available for agriculture, the Government is withdrawing a million acres leased to pastorals, and is placing farmers upon this land.

THE WAY THINGS STAND.

The Opposition critics are fond of denouncing in general terms what they are pleased to call the "extravagance" of the Liberal Government of the Province, but they are extremely careful not to venture on the (to them) dangerous grounds of particulars. They assert that a surplus of $3,800,000 left in the treasury by Sandfield Macdonald has disappeared. So it has and millions besides in advancing the interests of the Province. As to the Macdonald surplus—it is not fair to call it a surplus, for nearly the whole amount was mortgaged to construct public buildings and other projects begun but not completed, before the present government came into power. Since the present government came into office the large sum of nearly 90 millions has been spent in promoting the interests of Ontario, six or seven millions on railways and the province has been equipped with splendid public buildings for whose cost no one will deny that first class value has been received. Since 1890, in addition to the Parliament buildings, all paid for out of current revenue, $1,680,000 dollars has been spent on public buildings, yet there is a surplus and reserve, a surplus of over five and a quarter millions, consisting essentially of $4,200,000 in the hands of the Dominion Government, $700,000 in the bank and $300,000 in drainage debentures. We stand thus: with a surplus of Ontario assets over Ontario liabilities of $5,991,000, and with at present little prospective expenditure on capital account, we have decreasing expenditure. For instance, the expenditure of Ontario has been decreasing the past eight years in a satisfactorily steady rate, as will be seen by the following table. The expenditure was:

1891	$4,158,159
1892	4,055,257
1893	3,907,145
1894	3,842,206
1895	3,758,495
1896	3,703,879
1897	3,500,654

This is a decrease in the annual expenditure in the past seven years of $1,658,505. Does this look like extravagance? When we had public institutions to build and extend, our expenditures were large and the government was justified in liberally providing for the wants of the Province. But when these extraordinary expenses ceased the expenditure shows a steady drop, showing that when circumstances permit the Government to lower the expenditure, it is decreased.

The Opposition, especially Mr. Whitney, has endeavoured to frighten the people with the threat of the danger of direct taxation. There is no danger of such a condition while the present Government is in power. Let us for a moment recapitulate our sources of income that rise like a high wall between our people and "direct taxation." We have as a source of income that can be depended upon for all time to come, $1,400,000 from the Dominion Government, of which $1,100,000 is in the form of subsidy. Then from the Crown Lands Department comes another large item of revenue, nearly another million—$950,000—per year. This is a pretty good source of revenue, whose permanence is likely to be unimpaired for a long time to come. An exchange in dealing with the question of "direct" taxation, puts the matter in relation to this revenue thus pithily:

"We find on careful examination that Mr. Whitney's fears are not justified, and that by good management we may not only avoid the imposition of direct taxation, but may retain the timber for many years to come. The possession of this wealth by the province is an inestimable boon in providing a large portion of the annual revenue and must be carefully guarded by the Administration. That the best interests of the province are now being subserved is made evident by a consideration of the timber policy since Confederation. The Sandfield Macdonald Government sold considerably more than one-half of all the timber that has been sold in the last thirty years, but calculating upon the total amount William Charlton, M.P.P., an expert lumberman, was able to state at Toronto the other day that at this rate the timber would last for seventy-nine years without making the slightest reckoning for reforesting and growth. Basing his calculations upon the record of the Liberal Ministry, the period would be extended to 153 years. At the present time he knew that there were 34,000,000,000 feet of timber in sight, two-thirds of which were unsold. Much, moreover, of it is unsaw, and when it is taken down, the Government receives further dues."

And we should bear in mind that the Government is adopting strong, practical measures for the better care of our timber and for its reproduction, so that by the time the supply mentioned above is exhausted, there will be a new supply available from natural growth as a producer of revenue. The other sources of revenue, added to the two items—Dominion grants and Crown revenues amounting to nearly two and a half millions, assure the province of a pretty permanent source of revenue. All these other sources of revenue are reliable and permanent, except perhaps the sum of $275,000, derived from licenses, which, in the event of the people adopting peohibition, will, of course, not be available. There is no more probability of direct taxation being necessary to carry on the necessary services of the province, than there was a score of years ago. If Mr. Whitney and his friends who set with him hope to attain power, they must contemplate some monstrous feature of extravagance if they think direct taxation a possibility.

There is no going back of the fact that the present Government has been economical and efficient in its management of the Provincial business, and it would be simply a tempting of Providence to place the prophets of direct taxation in power. In that event there is little doubt that their prophecies would be fulfilled. It is always safe to trust to the bridge that has carried one safe over the stream.

THE Yankee policy of seal skinnery is only one degree worse than the Opposition policy of piggery.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic, and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Williams' Favourite Prescription.

ORMERR.

From Our Own Correspondent.

There has not been better sleighing for many winters past, and farmers are busy hauling their wheat to the Peterborough markets, paying them well on each load.

The Carnegie meeting held last week here, addressed by Messrs. Miscambell and Magwood, did not arouse much enthusiasm. No fault much could be found only that the Government was long enough in power. Nothing was said about the piggery, being the wrong place here to dwell on that.

Mr. Austin, manufacturer, of Kinmount, is shortly expected around here amongst his friends, and with all the good qualities his rival, Mr. Carnegie, possesses, yet his majority is going to be reduced as much accordingly as any one could desire.

There was a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen attended the Dairy Association meeting in the Bradburn Hall last week, and more interest is being taken at each meeting. Creameries are to be the order of the day shortly.

A number of Miss Rehill's friends in this vicinity will attend her wedding Wednesday, including Lt. Rea, 45th Batt., Mrs. T. J. Parson and Miss Wilson.

Our township council, including Reeve W. Adams and Deputy Reeve W. S. Graham, had their first meeting to-day.

Our High School, under the new principal, Mr. Jardine, is progressing well this far.

Two of our young men who are at the Klondike, Thos. Sherwood and C. Cornell, report it no easy task to make that trip and requires an iron constitution to endure it.

YOU MIGHT AS WELL BE IN THE BEST.

PETERBOROUGH, 10th March, 1896.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—I thought I would drop you a note and let you know that the way Mr. McInnes, Inspector of the London Mutual, settled my loss was very satisfactory, and if I can send you any one to insure I will do so.

Yours truly, (Signed) PATRICK MURPHY.

PETERBOROUGH, 22nd Oct., 1896.

Messrs. Cox & Davis, Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—I am deeply indebted to you and your Company for the quick and good settlement of my loss on household furniture, etc., which happened night before last, and for the payment of same by cheque this day.

Yours truly, (Signed) MRS. ANNIE MARSHALL.

Mr. Richard Anglesy, of Smith, who had his barn and contents burned, says that Mr. McInnes, Inspector London Mutual, acted like a man that wanted to do the square thing between man and man, and settled his loss right.

Winning His Wager.

A tall, herculean Gascon, astride upon a wretched pony, encountered as he rode over a bridge a richly dressed cavalier mounted on a noble steed. Saluting the horseman, the Gascon said to him:

"I will bet you ten golden pieces that I can do with my horse what you can't with yours."

"Done," said the cavalier, whereupon the Gascon dismounted from his miserable hack, and, taking it up in his arms, threw it over the battlements into the river, thus winning his wager, to the great discomfiture of the owner of the noble steed. —Nuggets.

Things of Beauty.

"I am told that you have many dainty dishes at your boarding house," said Kilduff to Goldsborough.

"We have," replied Goldsborough. "The landlady's daughter is a very skillful china painter."—Detroit Free Press.

THE SURGEON FOILED.

Wanted to Perform an Operation.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS RENDERED IT UNNECESSARY.

Too many doctors are too ready to use the knife. Many a one is sacrificed on the altar of a surgeon's ambition to operate who could be saved by the use of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The case of MRS. W. B. AIKEN, of Zephyr, Ont., is one in point. Her husband says that she had been doctoring with several doctors for Inflammation of the Bladder for over a year.

"The last bottle I got from the doctor he said if that did her no good she would be compelled to have an operation performed. I luckily picked up a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills in Mr. Dafoe's store, and my wife took one pill that night and one in the morning, and she has never felt the least sign of pain since. I will always keep Dr. Chase's Pills in my house for all our family complaints."

MUNYON'S
GUIDE TO HEALTH

Your Druggist Will Hand It to You For the Asking.

IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

Tells you the Symptoms of all Common Diseases—Tells You Just What to do for Each—Shows You How to Be Your Own Doctor.

Thousands of dollars have been spent by Prof. Munyon in the preparation of a people's handy health manual. One that could be understood by anybody that could read—that would render doctor's visits and doctor's bills absolutely unnecessary, and to-day it is as near perfect as scientific research money and the most advanced medical knowledge can make it.

It is called "Munyon's Guide to Health," and it is yours for the asking. Not a penny of cost to you. Get it at your drug store. If your druggist hasn't it a postal card to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street, Toronto, will bring it.

The Munyon Remedies act instantly, giving relief after the first two or three doses, and effecting a rapid cure, even in the most obstinate cases. There is a separate Munyon Remedy for each disease and each specific has plain directions, so there can be no mistake.

Where you are in doubt, a personal letter to Professor Munyon will be answered, with free medical advice for any disease.

THE OBNOXIOUS SEALSKIN LAW.

A New York Firm Proposes to Fight it in the Courts.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The Treasury Department has been informed that Wiel & Company, fur importers, of New York, will protest against the operation of one feature of the new sealing law, with the intention of bringing the matter into the courts. The firm represents that it had in London at the time the sealing bill became a law a large number of sealskins in process of dressing and preparation for shipment, and that free entry should be allowed these skins at the port of New York.

The Dog Called Off.

When the attention of Assistant Secretary Howell was called to the difficulties experienced at Detroit and Suspension Bridge by tourists and others in the matter of the detention of their sealskin garments, he immediately sent the following telegram to the collectors of customs at those ports:

"Admit sealskin garments imported as personal effects if they are shown to have been in use by owners prior to 29th ultimo."

Mr. Howell said in explanation that it had been held by the Treasury that sealskins actually in transit to the United States prior to the passage of the Act of Dec. 29, 1897, were not subject to the provisions of that Act, and it would be manifestly unfair to hold that sealskin garments, purchased by tourists prior to Dec. 29, and used by them in their travel between the United States and Canada, were subject to the provisions of this Act on their arrival in the United States.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

A Post Card's Long Tour Around the World—Capital Topics.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Messrs. C. B. Wright & Co. of Hull received in their mail a post-card of the international postal union covered with the post marks and stamps of a journey around the world via the British possessions. A close examination was needed to make out any address on the face of the card, so crowded was it with writing and stamps. The back showed that the card had been travelling for eight months, yet it was not much the worse for wear. It was sent on.

The Customs Department has issued regulations in respect of goods imported and entered in transit and shipped by water from one port to another port in the Dominion. The design of the regulations is to enable ports where such goods are entered, and whence they are shipped, to be advised that they have been duly received and delivered into the custody of the customs at the port to which they are to be conveyed by water.

ABYSSINIAN TREATY.

The Advance on Khartoum Must Not Be Blocked.

BRITISH SOUDAN OPERATIONS

The Spaniards Are Indignant at the Sending of Yankee Supplies to the Starving Cuban Rebels—Denmark Wants Neutrality—Britain to Find China the Money.

London, Jan. 12.—The Birmingham Post, the organ of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, says: "The treaty which Mr. James Rennell Rodd, principal secretary of the British Agency and Consulate-General in Egypt, negotiated with King Menelik of Abyssinia, contains a clause binding King Menelik not to allow any obstacle to emanate from Abyssinian territory with the object of blocking the Egyptian advance upon Khartoum. As a quid pro quo King Menelik secures a certain rectification of the frontier when the Khalifa is subdued."

British Soudan Operations.

London, Jan. 12.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "It is the belief here that the British operations are due to the presence of the French at Fashoda rather than to the Dervish advance.

"The Dervish movement is hampered by lack of transport, but it is believed that 40,000 Dervishes are covering Omdurman, opposite Khartoum, and 20,000 more are at Metemmeh and Shendy, between 80 and 90 miles north of Omdurman. It is estimated that one-eighth are armed with rifles."

Third Hussars for Cairo.

Dover, Jan. 12.—The greatest enthusiasm and activity prevails at Shorncliffe, from which camp the Third Hussars have been ordered to proceed to Cairo. Large drafts from other British regiments are also preparing.

SPANIARDS ARE INDIGNANT.

The Scheme to Aid Indigent Cubans Regarded as an Excuse to Help Rebels.

Madrid, Jan. 12.—A despatch to Imparcial from Havana says the sending of supplies from the United States to aid the indigent population of Cuba has aroused deep animosity among the Spaniards, who, it is added, are "incensed at the pretext thus given to the American Consuls and the Yankee element to interfere in Cuban affairs."

It is alleged that the funds will be used to widen the breach between the Cuban peasantry and the Spaniards, and it is further stated that the American newspaper correspondents have been instructed to exaggerate the sufferings of the peasantry in order to again arouse public feeling in the United States, so as to provide Washington with an excuse to intervene.

Britain to Find the Money.

London, Jan. 12.—The Chinese loan negotiations are progressing. Great Britain has informed China that she is willing to find the money required, and the details are being discussed. The amount will probably be £20,000,000, Great Britain asking for certain changes in the administration of China, including the restoration of Li Hung Chang to power.

McLeavy Brown Offered a New Job.

London, Jan. 12.—A special despatch from Shanghai says it is reported there that Mr. McLeavy Brown, British Superintendent of Corean Customs, has been offered the British Consul-Generalship at Seoul, the Corean capital, and that the Russo-Japanese agreement as to Corea involves the recognition of Port Lazareff, on the east coast, north of Gensan, as within the sphere of Russian influence.

To Make Money for India.

London, Jan. 12.—On Friday next a bill will be introduced into the India Legislative Council to carry into effect the new Indian currency scheme. It will add greatly to the monetary circulation by the creation of new notes against gold.

Tribal War in the New Hebrides.

Sydney, N.S.W., Jan. 12.—Steamers which have just arrived here report a tribal war at Tanna, in the New Hebrides. There is said to have been considerable bloodshed and the natives were also causing the traders much trouble.

Denmark Wants Recognized Neutrality.

Copenhagen, Jan. 12.—During the budget debate in the Folkething (Lower House of Parliament) yesterday the Minister for Foreign Affairs informed the House that the Danish Ministers had been instructed to ascertain whether it were possible for Denmark to obtain a guarantee of her neutrality from the various powers. The replies, the Minister added, showed the powers fully recognized Denmark's readiness to take up a neutral position, but at the present moment there was no probability that she would be able to secure the desired guarantee.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGONY.

Suffering Ended in a Few Weeks by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petrolea, Jan. 10.—From Inggersoll to Petrolea the way is marked at short intervals by houses which are pointed to as those in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured cases of Kidney Disease, Bright's Disease, Diabetes or other kidney or blood disorder.

John Russell, a farmer living near here, tells of his cure, after suffering fifteen years with Bright's Disease.

Three doctors treated him; many remedies were tried. All failed.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended. He tried them. The invariable result followed. A few boxes cured him.

This story, with variations as to the disease, is told by hundreds in Petrolea. Dodd's Kidney Pills have not been known to fail one yet. Every case has been a cure.

ALL BECAUSE OF THE C.P.R.

Western United States Railroads Forced by the Canadian Road to Cut Their Through Passenger Rates.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 12.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission has issued an order dated January 1st, 1898, continuing in force until December 31st, 1898, the order of March 25th, 1897, authorising certain named railroad companies to charge less for the transportation of passengers both eastbound and westbound for the longer distance, by their several connecting lines, between points in the Kootenay district in British Columbia, near the northern boundary of the United States, between the Cascade and the Rocky Mountains, and points upon the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers and easterly thereof, in the Dominion of Canada, and in that portion of New England reached directly by the Grand Trunk Railway, than for the short distances to intermediate points on their respective lines. It is provided, however, that such lower rates for longer distances shall not at any time be less than those previously established or charged by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the transportation of passengers between the same points. It is further provided that this order may be revoked at any time without notice. The following are the names of the railroads who made applications for the continuance of the order and in whose interest it was issued:

The Great Northern Railway, the Northern Pacific, the Union Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Chicago and Alton, the Wabash, the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern, the Chicago and Northwestern, the Chicago and Grand Trunk, the Chicago, Burlington and Northern, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago Great Western, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, the Minneapolis and St. Louis, the Wisconsin Central, the Grand Trunk of Canada, the Spokane Falls and Northern, the Michigan Central and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo.

The ground for the application for the order relieving these carriers from the operation of the fourth section of the Act to regulate commerce as regards this traffic was that they might meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific road, a line wholly in Canada.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

FAIR SYSTEM OF TAXATION

AS APPLIED TO THE PERSONALTY OF RETAIL MERCHANTS.

A Meeting on the Subject in the Council Chamber—Addresses by Members of the Central Association—The Fair System of Taxation Explained—Departmental Stores Receive Attention.

Last night a few of the local merchants and others assembled in the council chamber for the purpose of hearing addresses on the subject of the fair taxation of the personalty of retail merchants.

The representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada present were Mr. E. M. Trowern, secretary; Mr. E. P. Holden, first vice-president, and Mr. C. E. Gibbard.

Mayor Davis occupied the chair, and regretted the small attendance, because the object of the meeting was one that deserved sympathy and the careful attention of those concerned.

Mr. E. M. Trowern, Toronto, after a few preliminary remarks referred to the departmental stores as establishments organized by a few individuals for their own selfish interest. He described how, by means of their immense capital, they were able to sell certain lines of goods below cost in order to sell others at a high price. This was characterized as a species of gambling. An instance was given to shew how the first step of departmental stores was to paralyse other merchants. They thus in goods, and this leads to a demand for the lessening of the wages of employees, and a demand for cheaper production, introducing the shoddy element in goods. One departmental store ordered from a manufacturer a certain line of chairs to be made at 90c, of which the legitimate price was $2.00. The manufacturer took the order and had to cut down the wages of his workingmen to fill it. Thus the workmen were robbed and the departmental store sold the chairs at a price that killed the profits of the legitimate furniture dealer. This practice led to the manufacture of inferior goods and the result was robbery of employees. The drugs sold in these stores were cunningly adulterated and in other goods cotton was mixed with wool and all sorts of material were deteriorated. The remedy for this state of affairs was co-operation on the part retail merchants. Through the influence of departmental stores Toronto was never in a worse condition than it was to-day, and every liability of the city had to be met and this in the face of the fact that the population is going up and the assessed value going down; land without business is valueless. The money grabbed by departmental stores did a city little good because most of it was sent out of town. The speaker denounced the system of paying taxes upon merchant's stocks, by which a merchant paid taxes on his goods if they were paid for and went free if they were not paid for. thus giving a premium on going into debt. An instance was given of a departmental store in Toronto which was assessed for $100,000 on a stock that made a turnover of four millions a year. They advertise that they pay cash for goods and sell for cash, but when their assessment was appealed against, the defence was made that only $80,000 of stock was paid for. In addition to swindling the public, the departmental store tried to swindle the city, but the Retail Merchants Association kept it till the assessment on a million dollar stock was raised to $200,000. The remedy for such conditions is to be found in the fact that retail merchants know what they want and they should form themselves into an association to protect themselves. The

DESTROY THE PROFITS

OBJECTS OF THE ASSOCIATION

were set forth as follows :

To safeguard the interests of Retail Merchants of the various departments of trade throughout the Dominion.

To endeavour to enlist the co-operation of all Manufacturers and Wholesale Jobbers in securing just and equitable prices on all classes of staple and standard merchandise.

To prevent misrepresentation in advertisements claiming to sell at less than cost price, as it brings no benefit to legitimate merchandising and destroys the value of labour.

To regulate the disposal of bankrupt stocks.

To promote legislation in the direction of securing an efficient Insolvent Act, improvements in municipal laws in peddling and other licenses.

Legislation in the direction of improved postal regulations.

Legislation in the direction of simplifying the collection of debts.

A more rigid enforcement of the provisions of the Adulteration Act, also for the amendment of the same wherein deficient.

To promote proper equalization of taxation and insurance rates.

To secure closer friendly relationship and good fellowship among retailers and with all trades and labour organizations and other similar associations having for their object the advancement of the mutual interests of retail merchants.

A year ago the Retail Merchants' Association started with two members. It has now a thousand in Toronto alone. The speaker recited what had been effected in the direction of removing the disabilities of retail merchants. The

for retail merchants is something on this plan :—To tax the retail merchant according to the amount of business done—up to the first $50,000, ¼th per cent., up to the second ½ per cent., up to the third ¾th per cent. The rate increases as the volume of trade increases. Thus, on a business of $50 000 the merchant would pay ¼th per cent., or $1.25 per thousand, or a tax of $62.50; on a business of $100,000 2-8th per cent., $2.50 per thousand would yield a tax of $187.50, and so on, the tax increasing according as the volume of business increases a fair way inasmuch as an increased volume of business means a larger profit and an increased capacity for paying. By this plan the merchant had fair play; if he had a bad year and did a poor business his taxes would be light and in proportion to his power to pay: if he did a big business his taxes would be larger and so would be his ability to pay. Every merchant would thus be placed on a fair level with his fellow. The speaker closed a logical and well received address with an appeal to merchants to organize for the protection of their own interests. Under the system of taxation proposed a departmental store that did a business of a million and formerly escaped with a taxation on an assessment of $80,000 or $100,000 of goods, would have to pay taxes on a million dollar business, which, according to the scale proposed, would be over $12,000. Thus the establishment that did the biggest business would

WOULD PAY THE BIGGEST TAX BILL.

Mr. C. E. Gibbard spoke briefly impressing the fact that Retail Merchants' Association was not a Toronto affair, but one that was spreading throughout the whole country and he urged retail merchants to unite for self-protection against the departmental stores, whose blight was denounced in the strongest term. He dwelt upon the necessity of organization among the retail merchants, which was the thing needed to "stay the plague" of the departmental stores. The postal regulations should be amended to prevent the departmental store from sending parcels of goods all over the country for a nominal postage, and from using the mails at book rates to flood the country with deluding advertising circulars. He urged organization in order to bring influence to bear upon parliamentary representatives in order to secure legislation to bring the remedy for evils to which the retail trade was subjected by the departmental store octopus.

PRELIMINARY ORGANIZATION.

Preliminary organization of an association for Peterborough was made by the appointment of officers pro tem.

On motion of Mr. W. Madill, seconded by Mr. McWilliams, Mr. Richard Hall was appointed president pro tem.

On motion of Mr. Geo. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. A. Allison, Mr. John Armstrong was appointed vice president pro tem.

On motion of Mayor Davis, seconded by Mr. A. Gibson, Mr. W. Madill was appointed treasurer, pro tem.

On motion of Mr. Madill, seconded by Mr. Gibson, Mr. A. H. Stratton was appointed secretary, pro tem.

Mayor Davis remarked that the subject of the meeting was of vital importance to Peterborough. He had good reason to believe persons who patronized the Toronto Departmental stores had very unsatisfactory experience. He thought if the subject of the meeting were submitted to the Board of Trade, which was composed largely of live retail men, who he believed would undertake the matter with energy. We had the fortune to be represented in the Local House by a good man who he believed would do all he could to advance the interests of the retail stores in towns like Peterborough and would, he felt sure, aid legislation to that end.

Messrs. Yokome and McKay, of the EXAMINER and Review in moving a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening, pointed out how the evening papers of Peterborough had refused offers of advertisements of Toronto Departmental stores.

Messrs. Holden, Gibbard and Trowern briefly acknowledged the compliment, the latter speaking in terms of commendation of the evening papers of Peterborough whose action was so strongly in contrast with Toronto papers, which, with a single exception, were bought up and subsidized by the departmental stores.

RUN OFF AT MANVERS.

A Freight Train Breaks in Two and Delays Traffic.

The midnight train was several hours late last night in arriving in Peterborough through the fact that during the evening an east bound freight broke in two at Manvers. As the train was governed by air brakes as soon as the break occurred the separate portions were brought to a dead stop by the action of the brakes, and two cars jumped the track, blocking traffic for three or four hours.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOURERS.

St. Andrew's Society Holds a Meeting—The New Book of Praise.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.C.E. held a delightful praise service Monday evening last. Our special topic, alluding to the new Book of Praise, was read by Mrs. Potter, and was so full of interest that those who heard it will be able to sing with a deeper enthusiasm than ever before. The Book of Praise has two parts: (1) The Psalm selections being 123 in number and comprising the parts generally chosen for public worship; (2) the Hymns are 621 in number and has seven main parts:—

I.—God—His Attributes, Works and Word.
II.—The Christian Life.
III.—The Church.
IV.—Special Occasions.
V.—Hymns for the Young.
VI.—Dismission Hymns.
VII.—Doxologies.

We ought to be justly proud of our new Hymnal. For a great many years many of our people, together with a number of ministers, felt that the Psalms were being entirely overlooked in the worshipping of God. Now we have a book of which we might well be proud and rejoice in its character. We feel that it's spiritual tone is very high; that its hymns are very pure and healthy; that there is not a department of church life for which the hymns will not be suitable. In the book of Psalms we have there a large number compiled by David that were used in the worship of God before his departure. The 90th Psalm refers to the wanderings of the children of Israel. We cannot forget the song of triumph that Miriam led the people in the singing of after crossing the Red Sea. Also at the birth of our Saviour there was a heavenly host praising God, showing how important it is for us to praise God in Psalms and Hymns and spiritual songs, making melody in our hearts to the Lord. During the evening two very suitable solos were sung entitled, "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Light of Life so Softly Shining." After several committees had reported of the work done during the past month. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

THE ASSESSORS.

Councillors Craig and Johnston moved the appointment of Messrs. Mowry and Thompson as assessors, at a salary of $40 each.

In amendment Councillors Rutherford and Morgan moved the appointment of Henry Thompson and W. Manisee at the same figure—The amendment was carried.

STREET INSPECTOR AND CONSTABLE.

The two applications for the position of constable and street inspector, were then taken up and considered, with the claim of Mr. A. Fitzgerald to reappointment, and a warm discussion took place as to the merits of the three men. Councillors Morgan and Rutherford finally moved the appointment of A. Fitzgerald as constable, street inspector, health and truant officer, at the same salary as he was given last year, viz., $310.

The motion was carried.

Councillors Rutherford and Morgan moved that Mr. John Wright be appointed collector for 1898, and that he furnish the required security—Carried.

The reeve and clerk were appointed a committee to draft a resolution of condolence to the family of the late John Burnham, on motion of Councillor Morgan and Rutherford.

Councillors Johnston and Morgan moved that no new work be done on the streets of the village without the sanction of the majority of the council, passed at a regular meeting, except repairing sidewalks and crossings; the council to authorize the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee to give orders to the street inspector to see that all work is done in a proper manner.—Carried.

Councillors Morgan and Rutherford moved that the whole council be the Street and Bridge Committee, and that the reeve appoint the chairman.—Carried.

Mr. Joseph Whiteman complained to the council that the changing of the course of the creek had damaged his property. It was suggested that if Mr. Whiteman would withdraw the notice served on the council by his solicitor, regarding legal steps being taken in the matter, that the council would experiment to see what relief would be afforded. As Mr. Whiteman refused to withdraw the notice no action was taken in the matter.

Mr. A. McCarthy was re-appointed a member of the Board of Health, on motion of Councillors Morgan and Johnston.

Council then adjourned.

Relief From Pain.

The agony one suffers while waiting for something to relieve the pain of an accidental scald, burn, sprain or wound, should convince any one of the necessity of always having "Quickcure" at hand. It gives instant relief, and cures quickly, as no microbes can retard healing or cause inflammation where "Quickcure" is used.

A Great Contrast.

There is a wonderful contrast between the general worth of the goods we sell and the exceedingly low prices we sell them at. Every purchase at the Peterborough Bookstore is in favour of the customer, because the discounts are from 10 to 75 per cent. These discounts will continue all month. The greatest reductions are in cloth bound books, and afford an unusual chance for Sunday schools and libraries to renew their selections. Also, in purses, pocket books, diaries, albums, fancy novelties, dolls, games, etc. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Sheriff Hall Read an Interesting Essay on 'King Lear,' Last Evening.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun presided at the meeting of the Fortnightly Club last evening, owing to the absence in Toronto of the President, Rev. Mr. Symonds.

Mrs. Geo. A. Smith opened the musical portion of the programme with the rendition of a medley of Scotch airs composed by herself and played in compliment to the nationality of the essayist of the evening—Sheriff Hall.

Mr. Harold Nelles rendered in splendid voice two songs which met with well merited applause. Mr. Nelles has a cultivated voice and uses it with splendid effect.

Sheriff Hall followed with the essay of the evening, "King Lear." This powerful play of Shakespere was thoroughly discussed by the Sheriff, whose humor enlivened the whole essay, which was very instructive and centered the interest of the entire audience on King Lear with his terrible sorrows and madness, the wickedness of two of his daughters, in strong contrast to the love and affection of his daughter Cordelia Gloster, Kent and all the other characters were sketched in a masterly manner.

Miss Code followed with a beautiful description of the character of Cordelia, taking up the subject from the standpoint of a woman. The Club hopes that this will not be the last time Miss Code takes part in its proceedings.

Mr. Dennistoun announced that the next meeting, on Feb. 1st, would be "An Evening with Thackeray," and it being entirely in the hands of the ladies, would be exceedingly interesting, especially as refreshments would be served on that occasion. A full attendance is expected at the next meeting.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Hockey and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

HOCKEY.

That the Peterborough Juniors are a fast lot was amply demonstrated at the rink last night when they won from Norwood by the score of seventeen goals to five. In the first half the score was 10—1 in favour of Peterborough, and as this assured victory the local forwards did not come back with the puck in the second half, and it was through this fact that Norwood scored an additional four goals, Peterborough scoring seven more.

The two teams were composed as follows:

Norwood.		Peterborough.
Clancy	goal	E Wasson
McGregor	point	R Glover
Pearce	cover point	R Thorne
Hendren	forwards	H King
Cameron		C Graham
Stewart		W Crossley
Pengally		B Bellaghem
Rutherford	umpires	L LeBar

Referee—Mr. Myles Hamilton.

The return match will be played in Norwood on Monday evening next.

Norwood missed Ashe, Code and Edgar of their last year's team.

A big crowd will be down to the rink on the occasion of the next junior match, as the local team made such a good showing last night. For fast clean hockey they are almost the match of the Seniors.

As Watt was not in shape he was unable to take his place on the forward line last night, but he is coming up fast and will be ready for Norwood on Monday.

In all probability Thorne will be found playing coverpoint for the Seniors.

An effort is being made to get "Dinny" Dobbin, the crack lacrosse club goal keeper, to try his hand at guarding the flags on the ice. The Juniors will need a goal keeper, as Wasson will play with the Seniors.

Lefevre is out of the game this year, as much of his time will be spent in Lakefield. If the village team secures his services they will have a man who has no superior in the way of shooting hard when he gets the opportunity.

The Globe says: Lionel King is gaining quite a "rep" as a referee. He officiated in two games last week, and to-morrow night will look after the Waubaushene-Coldwater game in the former place.

A ladies hockey club has been organized at Owen Sound.

Lionel King has been asked to play on the all-Toronto team which is to make an American tour.

BELLASIS VS. YOUNG.

This action was tried in the county court at the December sittings and created a good deal of interest in the neighbourhood of Young's Point, as it was a contest beween Major Bellasis and Mr. P. P. Young to establish the northern part of the concession line between the third and fourth concessions in the township of Douro. A number of the old residents were present as witnesses to identify the original posts planted by Surveyor Birdsall in 1822.

The judgment finds that the line contended for by Major Bellasis is the correct line, and in his favour for nominal damages with full costs of suit. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for the plaintiff; the late John Burnham, Q. C., for defendant.

A woman does not have to be placed under an X-ray to show to all beholders that she is suffering from ill-health. Ill-health marks a woman much more quickly than it does a man. It destroys the sparkle in her eye, the bloom of health on her cheek, her vivacity of manner, her sprightliness of carriage and makes her nervous, petulant and despondent.

Generally ill-health in a woman is due to disorders or derangements of the delicate and important feminine organs which are the cradle of the race. No woman who suffers in this way can retain her good looks or her attractiveness. The daily burden of torturing, dragging pains that she carries, will soon make her a physical wreck, and eventually either kill her or drive her to insanity. Any woman may restore and retain her health and strength in a womanly way by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures absolutely and completely the weakness and diseases peculiar to her sex. It does away with the necessity for the obnoxious "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by nearly all physicians, and enables her to treat herself in the privacy of her home. It is the invention of Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Any woman may consult him by letter free of charge. All correspondence sacredly confidential.

"I was sickly for sixteen years with prolapsus, weakness, disagreeable drain, pain in the small of my back and costiveness," writes Mrs. Mary Ashlin, of Barronett, Barron Co., Wis. "When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I could not sit up. After taking it for one week I got up and did my housework. I have taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' one bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines have cured me. I feel as well as I ever did. Seven of the best doctors in the land treated my case, but gave me no relief."

THE DISASTER IN LONDON.

Further Evidence Taken as to Its Cause—Witnesses Were Somewhat Contradictory in Their Views.

London, Ont., Jan. 11.—The inquest in connection with the City Hall disaster of last Monday was resumed before Coroner Fluck yesterday afternoon. The expert testimony with reference to the construction of the building was very conflicting, and hardly tended to enlighten the jury on the engineering aspect of the case.

Joseph Broadbent, a builder of 35 years' experience, said he had examined the beam that broke. It was 22 feet long, then ends resting on brick walls. The thickness of the beam was 12 by 14 inches, composed of four pieces of ordinary pine 3 by 14 inches, spiked together. In each of the center pieces was a large knot, at one of which was the point of breakage. This knot would tend to lessen the strength of the timber. One of the timbers was affected with dry rot to the depth of about an inch and a half. He calculated that the beam if sound would carry safely 14,900 pounds, but the defects in the timber reduced its strength one-third. If two hundred people had stood on the floor space that collapsed, the pressure on the beam would have been 22,300 pounds, whereas the beam, considering its defects, would in witness' judgment, only safely bear 10,000 pounds.

County Engineer Talbot, the next witness, said he had examined the timber and found the material good, excepting two knots, one of which, in the center of the beam, was in a bad place. He did not consider the timber affected with dry rot. The knots he estimated would reduce its strength by only one-tenth. He calculated that 16,800 pounds was the safe carrying weight of the beam, and 100,800 pounds the breaking weight. If the beam was sound it would carry a weight of fifty tons. The area of the flooring supported by the beam was 600 square feet, and at the utmost the pressure would be 100 pounds to the square foot.

"Why did the beam break, then?" queried the Crown prosecutor.

Witness said that when people were jumping around there was no way of calculating the exact weight on a floor. It was always wise to build supports six times stronger than the weight they would safely bear.

W. Brophy, barber, who worked under the City Hall some years ago, said that the shaving cups rattled whenever there was a dance overhead, but he did not consider the floor unsafe.

Herbert Weir, a drug clerk, testified that during the past two years he had noticed the vibration of the floor at the north end of the hall while dancing there. He avoided it in consequence. Others had remarked the same thing.

W. Ashbridge, R. Ironside and R. Kirkpatrick, members of the City Engineer's staff, deposed that they had never doubted the safety of the floor above their office, where the collapse occurred. Mr. Ironside was working in the office until a few minutes before the crash.

Other unimportant testimony was given.

The inquest adjourned until 10 a.m. to-day, when the remainder of the evidence will be heard.

ARE THEY ALL LOST?

The Derelict Schooner Vinton Drifts Into the Bay of Fundy.

Digby, N.S., Jan. 11.—Bottom upwards, there last night drifted into the Bay of Fundy shore twelve miles from Digby a derelict, which was recognized as the ill-fated schooner Vinton, which left Belliveau's Cove Dec. 24, loaded with spiles for Boston. Seamen in the vicinity of the place where the wreck came ashore believe, from the appearance of the rigging, that she was caught by a squall and went over immediately and all hands were lost. The Vinton was owned by Captain William Messenger; commanded by Captain Arthur Morton; mate, James Allen, who was married but a week before sailing; crew, James Blynn, Waggoner, Brooks and two others, all Digby men.

A Wellandport Boy Drowned.

Wellandport, Ont., Jan. 11.—About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Oliver, the little 5-year-old son of Charles Holmes, merchant of this place, was drowned. He and a little companion, named Neal Heaslip, ventured out on the ice of the Welland River, just in the rear of the wheat storehouse. Coming to a weak spot in the ice, Oliver fell through and drifted under the ice. His companion also fell in, but, clinging to the ice and shouting for help, was rescued by Henry Durham. After searching for an hour and a half the body of little Oliver Holmes was found.

Dogs for the Klondike.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—Mr. G. Bell Davies, accompanied by Mr. Hoggins and others from England, has arrived in the city from the East with a palace horse car containing 74 dogs. He has brought them from Antwerp and Holland to transport the provisions for the party to the Klondike. The party will leave the coast on Feb. 15, and expect to reach Dawson by the end of March. Each dog train of four will be expected to carry a train of from five to six hundred pound of goods, and one man will be engaged for every two trains.

INGERSOLL'S CLAIM.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Hundreds of People There.

Ingersoll, Jan. 3—London, Glencoe and St. Thomas cannot claim all the remarkable cures wrought in this district by that wonderful remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ingersoll is bubbling over with excitement over the cures in this town.

Farmer G. J. Cook, of West Oxford township, is the latest to tell of his rescue. He suffered the agonies of Kidney Disease in spite of doctors and their remedies, till he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. A short treatment cured him completely.

Mr. Cook's case is startling, but not uncommon. Whenever a person speaks of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Ingersoll, he or she can tell of a cure by them of Bright's Disease, Lumbago, Lame Back, Female Trouble or some other kidney or bladder disorder.

Milburn's sterling headache powders are easily to take, harmless in action and sure to cure any headache in from 5 to 20 minutes.

JAMES BAY RAILWAY.

The Premier Says the Local Government is Alive to the Situation.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—It is hardly likely that the delegation which waited upon the Government at the Parliament Buildings last night accomplished much towards securing aid for the proposed James Bay Railway. Though gigantic in numbers and representative of the city and part of the north country, the deputation lost strength because of the cliques into which it seemed to be divided.

Premier Hardy, who was supported by Hon. Messrs. Ross, Gibson, Dryden and Davis, said that he thought that in time to come vast trade would come out of that great body of water to the north—a second Atlantic. Although now a wilderness, the shores of "that ocean" would yet become a busy coast. The two most favored schemes seemed to be the Missanabie and the Parry Sound projects. He thought, however, that present lines could carry all the traffic of the Georgian Bay. The Government's revenue was not very great and hardly adequate to do everything asked. The Government certainly could not subsidize two lines, and he hardly thought they could subsidize any this session. The Government was, however, alive to the situation.

Raised Ones to Tens.

Brantford, Jan. 11.—A lad named Michael Steve has been arrested here on the charge of raising one dollar bills to tens. He passed one in a grocery in the North Ward and one in a grocery in the East Ward, and was captured. At the Police Court yesterday he pleaded guilty to passing, but not to raising the bills, claiming that he received the money from another party whom he first met in Stratford, but did not know the party's name. Case adjourned.

"Lo" Elects His Chiefs.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 11.—The seven bands of Iroquois at Caughnawaga have returned to their ancient custom of electing chiefs instead of municipal councillors. They have been agitating to this end for three years, but the Government has done nothing in the matter, and so the Indians took things in their own hands. Each band elected a chief and sub-chief, and these will elect a head chief in a few days. It remains to be seen what the Government has to say in the matter.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WE BUY IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simpl Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

RIDING FOR CUSTER.

BY CHARLES B. LEWIS.

The "reports from the field," made a few months previous to the death of the lamented Custer, contain a brief announcement of my capture by and escape from the Sioux Indians, but the story of that escape is now to be written for the first time.

We had been in the field for three weeks, following a moving village of Sioux by day and by night as they made for the fastnesses of the hills, when it became necessary for General Custer to communicate with Fort Wallace, 190 miles distant. At that time he had six civilian scouts with him, but two were wounded, two had been sent off to Camp Supply, and it was necessary to keep California Joe and his partner with the command. It was decided to send a trooper with the dispatch, and I was selected for two reasons, neither of which gave me any particular credit. In the first place, I had been long in the Indian country, and next, I had by all odds the best horse in the whole command outside of the officers. He was an ungainly animal in looks and so vicious that no one else could handle him, but he had speed and bottom to a wonderful degree. An hour before dark on a gloomy, rainy day I was ordered to report at Custer's headquarters. As I stood before him he quietly said:

"You will set out as soon as night comes and make your way to Fort Wallace with dispatches."

"Yes, sir."

"On your return you will find us about 50 miles above this, on this side of the creek. Here is a pocket compass. Fort Wallace is due northeast and about 190 miles distant. You had better see California Joe before you start."

That was all. I took the envelope from his hand, saluted and retired. The chief of scouts was in his tent not far away, and when I reported to him he looked me over and said:

"In a case of this kind thar's nuthin to worry about. You either git through or the Injuns git yer scalp. Take 50 rounds of ammunition fur yer carbine and double doses fur two revolvers, but depend mostly on yer hoss. You may pull through, but durn my hide if I won't bet my life ag'in a dollar that yer ha'r will be lifted afore noo n tomorrer!"

That wasn't encouraging, but I went about my preparations and was all ready to start when evening shut down. Being a light man and having a strong horse, I could take a few oats for him, rations for myself and the extra ammunition without loading him down. Joe came down to see me off, and as he walked beside me for a few rods he said:

"Depend on your hoss till he's down. Then lay down beside him and kill as many as you kin afore they kills you. Off you goes, and goodby to you."

While we had been trailing the village a small war party had been trailing us. We had caught sight of mounted warriors in rear of us a dozen times that day, and it was certain that when night came they would close in on the camp. I must take the chances, however, and with the night growing black and a steady rain falling I put my horse at a gallop and headed away over the plains. If I did not run upon some of the Indians in the first ten miles, then I should have nothing to fear until daylight came. For the first half hour I was nervous and apprehensive, but the feeling gradually went away as the horse settled down to his work, and by and by I felt sure that I had passed all the immediate danger. Detached bands were roaming all over the country through which I must make my way. But once clear of those trailing the command there was little chance of encountering others that night. At the end of two hours I struck a light to look at my watch and compass. I had been riding just two hours and had held fairly true to the course. It had all been left to the horse, and he had seemed to reason that in riding to the northeast we could be bound to no other place than Fort Wallace. About once in two hours, from the first until daylight began to break, I halted to note the time and the direction, and in the 11 hours I traversed a distance of about 60 miles. The pace had been moderate, but steady, and when day broke and I rode into a dry gully between two ridges for a brief rest my horse was almost as fresh as when he started.

The plains of the west are by no means a level expanse, as you may have conceived. The earth is broken into ridges, like waves of the sea, and the monotony is varied only that the distance between the ridges is greater or less. The soil may be alkali, or the ground may be hidden beneath the outcrop of rock. As you mount the slope of a ridge you hope to sweep the country with your eye at the crest, but on reaching it you find a similar ridge half a mile beyond. Between all those ridges are gullies, which carry off the rainfall. Into one of these gullies, six or eight feet deep in spots, I led my horse and was fortunate enough to find a pool of water sufficient for both. While he munched his oats I ate my hard tack and pork and had a smoke. At the end of an hour I crept out and took a careful look about me, but saw nothing to create uneasiness. When I went back, I found the horse lying down, and so I took another smoke and gave him a full hour to rest. I meant to ride the 60 miles to the fort at a steady gait. I had to hold him hard as we started off and had just got him settled down when he suddenly stopped, threw up his head and gave me to know that there were Indians about. It needed only one glance to find them. Curiously enough, a party of ten warriors had been hiding in the same gully, about half a mile to the south of me, and had left it about the same time. Four of them had scurried over the ridge to ride along and head me off, while the rest followed on behind and made no alarm. The four Indians were coming through a break in the ridge and were only a quarter of a mile away as I got sight of them.

I turned and saw those behind, and the only way open was to put my horse square for the ridge, which at that point was as steep as a house roof. He made a gallant dash, but just as he reached the crest a wolf which was lying up in a bunch of dried grass at the roots of a sagebrush sprang up and bit him on the nose. In his sudden fright the horse fell back, lost his equilibrium, and we went rolling over and over down the hillside. I could not kick my feet clear of the stirrups in time and am sure the horse rolled over me three or four times. I stood ten chances to one of being killed, but I was not even badly hurt, while the horse escaped without a scratch.

We had lost time by the mishap, however, and while we lay in a tangle after the roll the whole force of Indians came up and I was made a prisoner before I could fire a shot. Sixty seconds after flinging themselves off their ponies I was disarmed and securely bound, and then followed a regular Fourth of July exultation. They had captured a trooper without any one being hurt, and they were full of rejoicing. An Indian appreciates the ludicrous as well as the white man, and the mishap brought about by the wolf was a thing to laugh over. Taken all around, they were good natured, and though they knew I belonged to a command which was hunting them down without mercy they did not display the vengeful spirit I looked for.

Having been captured by a detached party, it was their duty to hand me over to a chief. After half an hour of gloating and rejoicing I was mounted on my own horse, my legs tied fast under his belly, my elbows tied behind me, and when we set off to the north one of the warriors had his horse made fast to mine. I could speak the Sioux fairly well, but this fact I repressed. They got it straight that I was on my way to Fort Wallace from Custer in the field, and indulged in the hope that my capture would result in his going no farther west. All were agreed that they had accomplished a big thing in capturing me, and that I was sure to die at the stake and furnish plenty of amusement. After a ride of about 20 miles we came upon a party of 60 warriors under command of Black Fox, a subchief of distinction, who had been trying to get the Cheyennes to join with him in an attack on Fort Wallace. As the party was ready to move I was sent 15 miles to the northwest to a village of about 50 lodges, hidden away in the hills. There were a dozen old men and a score of half grown boys to guard the village, and as soon as I was turned over to them for safe keeping my troubles began. I was bound to a tree in the center of the village, feet and hands tied, and for two days and nights was the victim of every indignity and insult that the squaws and boys could invent. They dared not to take my life nor seriously wound me, but they kicked and cuffed and struck me with clubs; tore out my hair, blinded me with mud and gave me no rest. The old men had no part in it, though they rather encouraged the others.

On the morning of the third day five warriors arrived with an army wagon which had been captured. The vehicle was full of forage and provisions and among its contents were six kegs of powder. All the stuff was unloaded, and the six kegs were rolled together in a separate spot. Black Fox sent a message that he might not return for a week and that I was to be vigilantly guarded, and this caused a change in the performance. I was removed to a lodge, two old men set to guard me, and as the warriors who had brought in the wagon rode off my hands were untied that I might eat my first meal. When I had finished, the bonds were not replaced. A portion of the covering of the lodge was folded back, so that the sentinels and all others had a good view of me, and any thought of escape was simply absurd. The squaws and children let me alone until afternoon, being busy inspecting the contents of the wagon and full of curiosity, but about 3 o'clock a squaw made ready to enter the lodge with a stout stick in her hand to give me a beating. She had lost her warrior husband and a brother only a few days before and wanted to take vengeance on me as far as she dared. The two old men waved her off, saying that Black Fox would have me burned at the stake as soon as he arrived, but she insisted and grew furious, and at length struck one of the sentinels. This resulted in a row, which brought out every soul in camp, and they were crowded into the space between the kegs of powder and my lodge when a tragic event happened.

I think some of the boys took advantage of the row going on to break open a powder keg, or perhaps in the scramble one of the kegs was rolled into the fire. Be that as it may, there was a sudden and tremendous explosion or series of explosions. The noise was heard 20 miles away, and the destruction wrought was something fearful. I felt myself blown away with the lodge, and it was several minutes after when I stood on my feet on the far bank of the creek, a good hundred feet away. Not a lodge was left standing. All around me were maimed and dying men, women and children, with a dozen dogs rushing to and fro and howling dismally, and over the village hung a black cloud, into which the eye could not penetrate. I was bruised and sore and dumb with surprise, but finding my feet free I started off to the south and was soon out of sight. Two days later I was picked up on the plains by a detachment from Custer's command, hungry and footsore and my ears still ringing from the explosion, but not much the worse from my adventure. As to the village, we were told later on that out of 220 people only 30 escaped death or injury. Scores of people were blown to fragments, while other scores were horribly burned and suffered broken bones. I saw Black Fox at Fort Wallace a year or so after the event, and he not only knew me at first sight, but hastened to say:

"Had I ordered you tomahawked when you were brought to me that day all my people would now be alive and well. Black Fox made a mistake and has suffered for it."

ECZEMA TEN YEARS

Suffered Untold Agonies. Limbs Swollen so Could Not Get About.

Ablest Physicians Signally Failed. Was Absolutely Disheartened. Had Lost All Hope.

Gave CUTICURA a Trial Which Resulted in Absolute and Perfect Cure.

For ten years I suffered untold agonies from that dread disease Eczema, my lower limbs most of the time being so swollen and broken out that I could hardly go about. I had to wear slippers so that I could move about at all. My brother, a physician of thirty years' practice and extensive experience, had tried in vain to effect a cure and signally failed. I tried other physicians of splendid ability with like results, and had reached that point where I became absolutely disheartened, and in fact had lost all hope, when a friend (after long and continued persuasion) succeeded in inducing me to at least give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. I shall never regret that I did so, and until my dying day I shall sing the praises of them. I used two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and two boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), and it resulted in an absolute and permanent cure. I feel that I owe suffering humanity the debt of at least, in my feeble way, calling their attention to my case and absolute cure. I am now, I feel, perfectly cured, sound as a dollar, and the sweets of life are still mine, thank God, and to CUTICURA REMEDIES I attribute my almost miraculous cure. I refer all interested to the Postmaster of this place, any of the ministers, the prominent business men, and all of the citizens of our vicinity indiscriminately, and especially to my friend, John A. B. Shippey, attorney at law, who succeeded in persuading me to give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. With profound gratitude, I remain your most enthusiastic admirer, DAVID M. SAPP, Plymouth, Ill.

THE MEETING IN LINDSAY OF EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION OF CHEESE AND BUTTER.

President Derbyshire's Address—Improved Conditions—Great Expansion of the Business—Prof. Robertson and Prof. Dean Address the Convention.

The 21st annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Butter and Cheese Association opened Tuesday evening in Lindsay, when he following address was given by the President, Mr. D. Derbyshire, of Brockville :

It is a great pleasure to meet with the citizens of Lindsay and the dairymen of this important section, and I desire on behalf of our board to thank the leading men of this vicinity for the energetic way you have assisted our secretary, Mr. Murphy, and committee in making final arrangements for holding this convention. We have a good staff of speakers with us and everything points to a very successful meeting. This is our first convention held since we amalgamated as a Butter and Cheese Association, and I am delighted that the uniting of our dairy forces in this province should have taken place in the Diamond Jubilee year of the reign of the greatest sovereign that has ever sat on the British throne. I am sure I can speak for the dairymen of this province, and say that we all join most heartily in wishing Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, many years yet of health and happiness to sway the sceptre and guide the destinies of the world's greatest empire.

Our central advisory board has worked harmoniously, holding several meetings, devising the best means of carrying on our work uniformly throughout the province, and I am pleased that our efforts have been so successful. Our instructor, Mr. Sprague, has certainly done excellent work, and all we asked from our governments has been cheerfully granted.

The year 1897, just ended, has been for our dairymen. We have made and exported more butter and cheese than in any single year before; given more instructions to our creameries and cheese factories, and made a finer quality of both than in any former season. Our export from Montreal from the first of May to the 20th of November, 1897, were 220,200 packages of butter, against 157,321 packages in 1896, or a gain of nearly 63,000 packages, or $900,000 more money for butter than in 1896. During the same period we exported 2,100,000 boxes of cheese or an increase of 370,000 over 1896, or a gain in money of $2,570,000, and for butter and cheese $3,470,000 more than during the same period in 1896. I think this a splendid showing and I have carefully estimated our make of butter and cheese for all 1897 and am sure our dairymen in this country will realize $20,000,000 or $4,000,000 more than last year.

We sincerely believe that the greatest question before us to-day is cheaper production, and our board recognizing this have done all in their power to keep this one subject before all our friends. Our dairy schools are improving each year and the Kingston school has been greatly enlarged and I am glad to say that all our dairy schools have a larger number of bright young men in attendance now than ever before. So we are sure to have finer quality. We held meetings at each of our dairy schools for makers who were unable to attend the whole term and I am glad to say they were largely attended, with good results, and I believe we should continue this, and all our educational work with greater zeal the coming year. We have everything to encourage us. Our Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Dryden, has given us every encouragement, attending our conventions, enlarging our dairy schools, adding to them the very latest and best machinery and giving us a liberal grant to we could carry on our work of education and instruction with greater efficiency. The Hon. Mr. Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, has carried out his promise and given us refrigerator cars on our railways and apartments specially fitted up on our steamships, for carrying our dairy products safely to the British market. We feel thankful to the Hon. Mr. Fisher for attending our annual conventions, giving practical advice and assisting us through [illegible] year.

[illegible] there is one more point I should [illegible] on and that is

HANDLING REGULARLY,

[illegible] and cheese. If we produce [illegible] and uniform quality, and get it to a factory that is up-to-date, well equipped for receiving same, with a better qualified men to handle it, and a finer quality is turned out, will the salesmen hold this improved product until it begins to deteriorate in quality before selling? I sincerely hope not, but that he will sell every week, and keep our goods in the consumers' hands all the time, when they are fresh and in their best condition. I do sincerely hope you will. We are here in convention to-day for the very purpose of examining our past record and devising means for better work in the future, and I candidly believe the greatest mistake in 1897 was holding our product off the market, expecting to force prices up, instead of keeping every one of our customers supplied weekly. We have too large a make going on everywhere to treat our English friends in this way. When we finally did get ready to sell, our product had deteriorated greatly in quality and did not give the satisfaction our weekly shipments earlier in the season did. I believe our friends will remedy this the coming season.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was attended by about four hundred dairymen.

Mr. W. J. Palmer of Toronto was the first speaker. He urged more care, economy and cleanliness in dairying. He held that kind treatment was a wonderful aid to wise feeding. A good deal also depended upon how butter was placed upon the market, and he advocated the use of attractive packages. As a handler of butter, he found that the color as well as the flavor of milk had much to do with the price obtained.

Mr. John Gould of Aurora Station, Ohio, was enthusiastically received. He spoke upon the question of corn-growing for the silo. There was more money in raising corn for feeding cows in Ontario than in hunting seals in Alaska. He compared the relative values of an acre of hay and an acre of corn for feeding purposes, and showed that the latter contained four or five times as much starchy food as the former, and an acre of corn could be raised at a cost of only $10. He described the corn plant as a lot of sunshine stuck into a fish-pole, and said that sixty pounds of ensilage and three or four pounds of bran was an ideal ration for cattle. At the conclusion of his very practical address, which was sparkling with humor, Mr. Gould was resiged with questions, which he answered in an able and satisfactory style. He could not be shaken in his advocacy of ensilage corn as the chief factor in the food of milch cows. In reply to the question as to what was the best variety of corn to grow for the silo, Mr. Gould replied: "That variety that will fully mature and yield the largest quantity of stalk and heads."

The meeting then adjourned until the evening.

The Evening Session.

The evening session was held in the Academy of Music and was largely attended, many ladies being present. Mr. W. J. Palmer gave a brief address upon the advantages and need of a business education for farmers. He urged young men to attend the agricultural college and the dairy schools.

Prof. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, was given a hearty reception. He expressed regret that the Hon. Sydney Fisher was unable to attend the convention, as promised, owing to press of public business. He then spoke on "Some food products." He said that 45 per cent. of the population of Canada were following agriculture and raising food for man and beast. It was expected that $50,000,000 would be realized in one year from the Klondike, while Canadian agriculture annually realized $500,000,000, or ten times as much, and had a likelihood of further increase. The farmer got his wealth not only from the soil, but he was also partner with the sun and air and the rain. The object of drainage and cultivation was to enable the soil to make use of rain and sunshine and plant life. The corn plant got more from the sun that from the soil. He then described the various substances gathered out of the soil and air by different crops.

Britain's Food Supply.

It is important that the centre of the British Empire should have the best and most nourishing foods, and no place can supply these foods like Canada, which has a surplus. Britain's weakness is a lack of food, and Canada has an abundance. We can therefore help Great Britain and she can help us. Canada produces the best of beef. Our animals are vigorous in body and are healthy. We also make the best cheese and butter, and our fruits are among the best in the world.

Prof. Dean followed in an address, in which he advocated the co-operation of the practical man with the scientist.

The meeting adjourned until this morning.

COMMITTEES.

The president named the following committees :

Nominations—James Whitton, J. R. Dargavel and Wm. Eager.

Finance—T. B. Carlow, E. J. Madden. John McTavish.

END OF THE CENTURY BARGAINS.

The century just closing never saw anything like the earthquaking bargains which Gough Bros. will give from Wednesday out, in High Class Clothing. The Tireless Goughs have bought $16,430 worth of superb high class Clothing of Oak Hall, corner George and Hunter streets. This splendid stock must be cleared out at Gough Bros.' prices—a big cut in the cost of making. You'll never find, if you live to be ninety another such sweep of cyclonic bargains. CANADA'S GREATEST HUSTLERS.

"NORTHWARD the Sweep of Conquest Takes its Way!"

We come before the public again with an announcement so important—so sensational in its effect—that it leaves no room for doubt that the battle of business means THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

We announce with pleasure the purchase of the Stock of the Millionare Santord's Clothing Company in Peterborough, known as "OAK HALL," Corner of George and Hunter Streets, by which we come into possession of

$16,430 Worth of Clothing

OF UNMATCHABLE EXCELLENCE Purchased at a Rate on the Dollar of

62½ CENTS

On the Manufacturer's Cost.

The offer of the Sanford Company to buy out Oak Hall has been open to us for some time. It has been known that this wealthy firm have been anxious to close up their Peterborough Branch rather than continue the fight against competition such as GOUGH BROS. have always put up. With a constituency extending over Ontario, and forming the largest syndicate of Clothing dealers in Canada, it was a mistake to plant an "Oak Hall" acorn alongside the Dauntless Goughs. And so, another rich scalp has been added to GOUGH BROS.' belt. And so, "The Corner" has been cornered again by the Wonderful Cheap Men.

To Wake Up the Town

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12th, we inaugurate a Clean Sweep of the whole of Oak Hall's stock—from the roof through every floor to the basement—from the door strip in front to the wall at the back. It begins and stops at the end.

Everything goes! Necessity has no law. Manufacturer's Prices dashed down without mercy! Not a garment left if we can prevent it.

A TRIUMPHANT SALE!

—A Sale to wake up the Town—a Sale that will be without precedent and hopelessly out of reach of competition—beyond the possibility of an equal in this or any other portion of Canada.

A Clothing Blizzard—Sweeping Oak Hall Counters and Shelves at Prices a QUARTER and a THIRD below original values.

THE QUALITY of this High Class Stock of Clothing will speak—you can be absolutely sure of that. It all bears the label of the Sanford Manufacturing Company. You might be able to get as good Clothing in one or two other stores in Canada, but you can never equal the Clothing and our Prices both together. While it was a notorious fact that Oak Hall never could match or undersell GOUGH BROS., it was acknowledged that their Clothing always took high rank among the Highest Class Goods of America.

THIS SALE, therefore, appeals to the best class of people, who desire to put the stamp of their approval on HIGH QUALIY.

We want a Great Sale—a Great Crowd—a Great Celebration of our latest Famous Victory! The Millionare Merchant Clothier's Sacrifice to GOUGH BROS. will put many a coin in the pockets of those who buy during this Triumphant Sale. Don't forget to follow the Mile Posts to

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them? for 80c? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Cheap Prices.

THE TIMBER POLICY.

Second Reading of the Government Bill.

A WARM DISCUSSION THEREON.

Opposition Criticism Effectively Answered—Mr. Whitney Complains That Ministers Stole His Policy—An Able Speech by the Premier in Reply—The Routine Proceedings.

Toronto, Jan. 13.—The Government bill imposing the manufacturing condition on the holders of all future licenses to cut sawlogs on provincial limits was the subject of a debate in the House yesterday which developed some interesting features. The Commissioner of Crown Lands, who has charge of the measure, moved the second reading, and he took advantage of the opportunity to effectively answer the principal criticisms which have been levelled at it by Opposition speakers and writers. Mr. Marter defined the point of cleavage between the two parties to be a difference of opinion as to whether the restriction should apply to current or future licenses. Mr. Whitney complained, with a suggestion of bitterness in the tone, that the Government had stolen his policy. This charge the Premier easily refuted by showing that the policy had been initiated by the Canadian lumbermen. Mr. Hardy presented an able and complete justification of the course of the Government in dealing with this difficult and delicate question. The Opposition did not divide the House, though it was intimated that a vote would be insisted on at a later stage.

Hon. G. W. Ross introduced and had read a first time: "An Act to amend the High School Act." Some of the court judges have held that a county council, in laying out a high school district, must make it consist of a whole municipality. The bill renders it impossible to include with a town the adjoining municipalities as part of a high school district.

Mr. Taylor introduced an Act respecting disputes in the purchase and sale of cheese. It provides for the application of the Board of Trade arbitration regulations to such disputes, the arbitrators to be appointed by the butter and cheese associations.

These bills were given their third and final readings:

To Establish Forest Reserves.

Respecting the City of London.

To amend the Act respecting the Public Service of Ontario.

To amend the Surrogate Court's Act.

Respecting the sale of patent and other medicines and alcohol for the purposes of arts and manufactures.

To amend the Act respecting the federation of University of Toronto and University College with other universities and colleges.

Respecting the County of Simcoe.

Two Government measures passed the committee stage, one to facilitate the purchase of toll roads by municipalities, and the other respecting the investment of court funds. The latter was so amended as to allow of the investment of court funds in county as well as in municipal drainage debentures.

Another Debate on Timber.

Hon. J. M. Gibson then asked a second reading for his bill respecting the manufacture of pine cut on the Crown domain.

The Minister stated that the chief fault found with the bill, both in and out of the House, was that it did not go far enough. It was impossible to make it go further unless the Government made it act from the present time. But, as he had stated in a previous debate, the Government could not break its contract with those who had already purchased limits. It seemed to be feared that a very large cut would be made and an enormous number of logs would be taken out of the county this winter and spring, owing to the pending enforcement of the Government's new restrictive measure to apply after April 1 next. It was always possible to ascertain the probable cut of a season by the quantity of supplies taken into the woods in the early winter by the lumbermen.

Continuing, Mr. Gibson asserted that this year's cut would be about 156,750,000 feet of pine. This would be 62,276,000 feet less than the cut of 1897.

Mr. Marter, in reply, stated that the matter seemed to have simmered down to a question as to whether the exportation of logs from Canada should cease now or months hereafter. Limit owners, American and Canadian, could not object if the Government insisted that all logs must from this time forth be manufactured in Canada. The licenses gave the limit holders no vested rights in the limits, and the Government should take measures to protect Ontario from the present time forth. He quoted Mr. Bertram, a friend of the gentlemen opposite, in support of his contention. It was high time, he thought, that Ontario struck out for herself and manufactured her own logs.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

After Recess.

The debate on the timber question being resumed, Mr. Stratton favored the Government's policy of not disturbing existing contracts, and of inserting the restrictive clause in the spring.

The Opposition Leader.

Mr. Whitney spoke forcibly for some time. He asserted with all force that the restrictive clauses should be imposed at once. This had always been the Opposition policy, and the whole country thought in line with the Opposition. The Conservative policy was not a retaliatory one, but simply a Canadian one. He was informed by the most reliable of lumbermen as late as to-day that the cut of logs this winter for export would be nearer to 500,000,000 feet than to any smaller number.

Mr. Whitney accused the Government of stealing the policy of the Opposition. He intimated that he would divide the House on the question.

The Premier was vociferously applauded when he arose to make reply to the Opposition leader. He said, in part: My hon. friend has spoken with unusual vigor, like a man who is disappointed, like a man who is in despair, and the only resource left to him is to grow violent. He says the Ministry have been guilty of stealing the policy of the Opposition. No Ministry and no human being will ever be indicted for felony for stealing the policy of the Opposition. (Applause.) If Mr. Whitney were appointed to stand watch and ward over the policy of the Opposition, he would have the smuggest sinecure on the continent of America. They claimed that this was their policy. It was really, after all, the lumbermen who immediately initiated and forced the question upon the attention of the country; it was not done by us, and certainly not by the Opposition. If there is any credit due to anybody, let us place it where it is due. The men who took this matter up first were not the members of the Opposition, not necessarily the members of the Government; they were the lumbermen, who, at a general meeting here, and at general minor meetings, formulated a policy and submitted it to the Government and the country. Don't let hon. gentlemen attempt, while stealing a policy of this kind, to say others are stealing their policy, and that the policy belongs to them. In what way can they call it their policy? Because Mr. Miscampbell moved a resolution in 1893? I hold in my hand the advertisement of the Government sale of 1890—the first sale made after I had the honor to become Commissioner of Crown Lands—in which it is provided that the sale shall be subject to the condition that all pine timber cut from the limits offered should be manufactured in this province. (Applause.) This was three years earlier than the resolution of Mr. Miscampbell.

Mr. St. John accused the Premier of being of a low class of statesman. The degraded plane to which he (Mr. Hardy) had descended in attacking his opponents would disgust the country.

Messrs. German, Miscampbell, Conmee, Kerns and Willoughby spoke.

The bill was read a second time, and at 12.03 a.m. the House adjourned till 11 a.m.

SUBSIDIES FOR RAILWAYS.

The Money the Government of Ontario Proposes to Grant for Railway Purposes This Session.

Yesterday afternoon in the Legislature the Government announced its policy as to the subsidizing of railways by placing on the order paper of the House a notice of certain proposed bonuses.

The list of subsidies so far proposed by the Government is outlined as follows:

To the Ontario & Rainy River Railway, from a point at the westerly end of the 165 miles heretofore aided to a point at or near Fort Francis, a distance not exceeding 40 miles, a cash subsidy of $3,000 a mile—$120,000.

To the Pembroke Southern Railway, between Pembroke and Golden Lake, from a point in the northeast part of the Township of Alice to the northeastern boundary of the said township a dissance of 3¼ miles, a cash subsidy of $3,000 a mile—$10,000.

To the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway, from a point 45 miles from Irondale at the end of the portion of the railway to which aid was granted in 1896, and thence due east for a distance of 10 miles, a cash subsidy of $3,000 a mile—$30,000.

To the Bay of Quinte Railway, for such extension or branches of its projected and authorized line of railway north of the village of Tweed as will not exceed thirty miles in all, and will enable the said company to connect its existing line of railway with the iron ore deposits lying northward of the said village of Tweed, in renewal of the amount granted to the Kingston, Napanee & Western Railway in the year 1893, a cash subsidy of $3,000 a mile—$90,000.

To the James Bay Railway, to aid in the construction of ninety miles of the said railway from Parry Sound to a point at or near Sudbury, $3,000 a mile for a distance not exceeding 40 miles ($120,000), and the unearned subsidy of $3,000 a mile for a distance not exceeding 50 miles, which was granted to the Nipissing & James Bay Railway in 1889, which said unearned subsidy is hereby transferred to the James Bay Railway. (Now vote, $120,00; transferred from other road, $150,000)—$270,000.

Young Steves Got Three Years.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

Second Day of the Butter and Cheese Convention.

SEVERAL VERY PRACTICAL TALKS

Dr. Connell Describes Dairy Bacteria—Mr. Ruddick's Paper on the Curing of Cheese—Conditions of a Model Factory—The British Market—The Banquet.

Lindsay, Jan. 13.—The second day's meeting of the Butter and Cheese Association of Eastern Ontario began with a large attendance of farmers in the Town Hall, notwithstanding the rainy weather prevailing.

Dairy Bacteria.

Dr. Connell, professor of bacteriology in Queen's University and the Kingston Dairy School, read a paper upon dairy bacteria. These organisms were so small that a billion could be placed on a five-cent piece. There are many species of bacteria, and they are to be found everywhere. They differ in form, in color and in effects. Bacteria grow by a process of division, and multiply rapidly. In twenty-four hours one bacterium will develop into millions. Bacteria, like higher plant life, require food, moisture and heat. Most varieties of bacteria grow best between 70 and 95 degrees. At freezing point there is no growth, but the bacteria are not thus killed, but only paralyzed. As the temperature rises to 120 degrees or higher nearly all bacteria are killed, and hence the process of pasteurization of cream, which means getting it to a temperature of 160 degrees and then cooling it off again. Damp, dark cellars encourage the development of bacteria, while sunlight kills them off rapidly. For this reason the wise dairyman will expose his utensils to the sunshine and dispose of many injurious bacteria. The souring of milk is brought about by a group of bacteria feeding upon what is known as lactic acid, caused by a fermentation of the sugar in milk. If milk could be kept sweet it would keep indefinitely, but in milking it is impossible to keep the milk entirely free from bacteria. Some desirable forms of bacteria have been developed of late, but many undesirable forms have also been produced, chiefly from dirty gutters and drains and foul whey tanks, and these injurious bacteria are seeding the factory for all time. The teaching of all the foregoing is absolute cleanliness in the dairy; keep out all injurious bacteria.

Curing of Cheese.

Mr. J. A. Ruddick, director of the Kingston Dairy School, read an instructive paper on "The Curing of Cheese." He said that the popular theory regarding the ripening of cheese was that rennet was the chief agent, although some scientific men claim that it is caused by the action of certain bacteria. Prof. Ruddick then went on to advocate a lower temperature in curing-rooms and slower maturing. This meant a saving in weight and an improvement in flavor.

Prof. Robertson was then called upon, and gave some valuable hints regarding the building of curing-rooms.

Prof. Dean then gave a few hints on cheesemaking. Milk should be aerated before being made into cheese. He preferred the plan of forcing air into the milk to that of aerating by pouring. Aeration should always take place in a pure atmosphere.

Afternoon Session.

The Town Hall was packed at the afternoon meeting. Prof. Ruddick led off with a valuable address upon buttermaking. He counselled the putting up of butter in neat shape, and in attractive parcels. A small cardboard box with the name of the dairy printed on it was used at Kingston with advantage. The boxes cost about half a cent apiece, and they command an extra cent on the market. A box for the British market should be about a cubit foot square, and hold about 56 pounds. The inside of the box should be lined with paraffine wax.

Mr. Mark Sprague, butter instructor, followed on somewhat similar lines.

Model Factories.

Prof. Dean then addressed the meeting, describing the model creamery and cheese factory. Among other characteristics of such establishments were the following: Near good roads; tidy and honorable patrons, who were also good feeders of their stock; they should be paid according to the skill and labor put into the milk as well as by the weight of the milk; the milk should be carefully strained just after milking; the factory should be well drained; the maker should be one who had attended a dairy school; he also should be clean; only the best rennet and other supplies should be used.

Trade With Britain.

Mr. Crandall, a Government agricultural and produce agent, just returned from Great Britain, was introduced, and spoke hopefully of the bright prospects ahead of Canada in developing trade in cheese, butter, eggs, bacon and fruits.

Prof. Robertson then gave a talk on cold storage, and spoke of the wonderful increase in the trade with Great Britain in butter, leaping from 82,000 packages in 1894 to 230,000 packages in 1897. He explained the system of cold storage in an interesting and clear way.

Mr. John Gould of Ohio closed the afternoon session by a talk on corn growing.

A banquet was tendered the members of the association in the Benson House, which was largely attended.

—Fruits, fish and oysters. "Spot Cash."

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the heart without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have her letter before me at the present time and it reads as follows: 'My dear child, it grieves me to learn that you suffer so with your stomach. Do get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and let me know the result, for I am confident

It Saved My Life.'

I am glad to state that I abided by my mother's advice and I am now healthy and strong. I never think of being without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is a great help to mothers while nursing. I have given it to my baby with satisfactory results. I cannot state all I would like of the many benefits I have known Hood's Sarsaparilla to give to other sufferers. I gladly recommend it." MRS. A SUGGESTIVE CONTRAST.

In this world, where human weakness prevails, there is no absolute perfection. Therefore the best way to estimate the value of achievements is by comparison. And when we compare the way of conducting public enterprises practised by the Ontario Government, and other governments, we get an idea of the eminently thrifty, practical, economical and business-like way of doing things that characterizes the Ontario Government. Take for instance the Ontario Parliament Buildings, which were erected at a cost of $1,256,985, with less than $1,200 contractors extras and with not a single dollar of improper or wasteful expenditure. This is nothing surprising, for it is only a sample of the manner in which the Government conducts all the affairs of the Province. Take, as a contrast, the job, and it is indeed a "job," of the construction of the state Capitol of New York at Albany. This building has been in course of erection for fifteen years has cost $20,000,000, the waste and extravagance have been financially appalling, and they are not completed yet. The Toronto city buildings are another gigantic job. They have been for years under way and have cost an immense sum, estimated to be about three millions, though the exact cost so far is not known, for the building have, by blundering administration, passed out of the hands of the city government, and are in the grip of an architect who will not deign to furnish any information, or even allow an alderman to set foot on the premises in the way of getting information. With these examples to contrast with the construction of the Parliament buildings of Ontario, the thrift and economy and business-like methods of the Ontario Government are brought out in the strongest possible light, and as remarked before, this is but a sample of the straightforward way in which the Ontario Government has managed the affairs of the province. This is just the kind of Government we want—a Government that has served us well and whose every years' experience qualifies for giving better service. We have nothing in sight that will justify for a moment the idea of dispensing with a Government which has given such faithful and effective service. When jobbery, extravagance, corrupt administration and disregard for the public interests prevail in other places, the existence of the Ontario Government, with its careful, straightforward honest and economical methods is a very oasis in the desert.

THE IMPORTANCE OF PROTECTION FROM FIRE.

Government Forest Reserves—The Benefits of Reforesting—Demand for Canadian Hardwood in England—Possibilities of Pulp and Furniture Trade.

The commissioners chosen to inquire into the forest resources of Ontario have made an interesting report and several recommendations that deserve the most thoughtful consideration. Much attention is given to protection from fire, and it would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of that subject. The policy of compelling the sawing within Ontario of logs cut under Provincial licenses, while intended to meet American legislation to a certain extent, may also be justified upon another ground—the advantage of encouraging manufactures having wood for their raw material, and of conserving the forest wealth as part of the Provincial capital. It is obvious that, looking at the latter motive, the policy is incomplete without adequate protection from fire. There may be difference of opinion as to the relative advantage of exporting or preserving timber, but it would be absurd to check exportation and then allow the timber to be burned. It has been said that fire destroys more fires than the woodman's axe, but, whether this be true or not, the one is a process of manufacture, while the other is destruction indeed, and may also be attended with calamitious loss of life and home. A single great fire might easily destroy property the value of which would be equivalent to the cost of protection for several years. The commissioners say that the saving to the Province effected by the adopted some years ago has been very great. They have had brought to their notice many instances in which incipient fires, that, unchecked, would have been disastrous in their consequences, were suppressed by the rangers. Wherever the system has been employed by the various limit-holders the results have been very marked. But as the employment of fire-rangers is optional with limit-holders, some of them have failed to take advantage of the system, at the risk not only of their own limits but of those of their neighbours in addition. They recommend therefore, that the system be extended so as to be compulsory on all the holders of timber berths, and that all unlicensed timber land contiguous thereto be also protected by rangers employed by the Government. We believe that the people of Ontario would heartily approve of any additional expenditure that may be required for this purpose. It is found that north of the height of land fires are often started by Indians, who are careless simply because they are ignorant of the value of the forests. Hudson Bay officials say that the Indians could be trained into greater carefulness, and these officials are willing to co-operate with the Government in any effort that might be made to educate the Indians as to the importance of looking after their camp-fires and extinguishing any incipient forest fires that might be started. It is recommended that this co-operation be invited.

SYSTEM OF FIRE-RANGING

We are glad to learn that the loss already occasioned may be to a certain extent

REPAIRED BY REFORESTY.

The commissioners give the result of their investigation of the conditions under which a tract of land in Burleigh Township, burned over twenty years, has undergone the process of natural regeneration. The conclusion arrived at is that within five years—that it, 25 years from the burning—lumbering operations in this locality could be profitably resumed, the larger pine trees taken out, producing timber of merchantable quality and giving the young trees a better chance to grow. Reasonably good forest conditions could, under proper regulations for cutting, be induced and a continuous supply kept up. It is declared that the condition in the township of Burleigh may be taken as fairly typical of the course of natural forest regeneration in nearly all the fire swept lands which came under examination — the only exception being made where forest fires have been too frequent to allow the young vegetation to make headway. Throughout many of these tracts, popularly supposed to be of no value, the second growth is springing up in profusion.

Another important branch of the subject is the holding of forest reserves by the Government. The commissioners recommended that for all unworked limits for which the ground rent shall be two years in default on the termination of the present license year the license shall not be renewed, but that the berths be held by the Crown as forest reserves, and that the Government take power to withdraw from sale or location and set aside, to be kept in permanent Crown forest reserves, such areas of territory as are generally unsuitable for settlement and yet valuable for growing timber.

Under the condition which most Canadians would like to see realized the forest wealth of the country would of a great series of industries, including the manufacture of building material of all kinds, furniture, pulp and paper. It was stated at a meeting of furniture manufacturers the other day that the English demand for Canadian furniture was growing rapidly. One manufacturer received an order for 1,200 tables from the old country, to fill which would necessitate his neglecting his Canadian trade for a month. With business enterprise and thorough workmanship this growth is likely to continue. There is also room for expansion in our exports of woodenware and building material to Great Britain. An English dealer in paper is now in Canada in connection with the export of Canadian pulp. Considerable quantities of pulp are now exported, and it is contended that if it were manufactured into paper first there would be a saving in freight, while the papermaking industry would be benefitted. There are indications that a large and profitable market for our forest products is being opened up.

BECOME THE BASIS

Weak Nerves.

Nerve weakness accompanies heart trouble — both are curable by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, the successful invigorator. Those who use them praise them. Here is one. "My nerves were completely unstrung,' says Mrs. H. Church, Caledonia, Ont.; "and palpitation, loss of memory and shortness of breath troubled me greatly. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were beneficial from the first, and removed these troubles in a remarkably short time. They made me feel better in every way."

MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Our new council was sworn in on Monday and the people are anxiously awaiting to see what reforms will be carried into effect. Mr. Pickup has for the third time been placed at the head of the council, having defeated Mr. S. Bateson for the reeveship by eighteen votes. Mr R. W. Clarke is the only member of last year's council now a member of that body, Messrs. John Clarke and Thomas Gillott having retired. The three new councillors are Messrs. R. Reddy, Wm. Thexton and Isaac Needham. Mr. Reddy certainly deserves to be proud of the grand run he made, having secured the largest number of votes ever polled by and one candidate in Millbrook. Mr. Thexton, who represents the station section of the village, will no doubt make a good representative, while Mr. Needham will look after the affairs of the east end.

Owing to the unfortunate position the local hockey boys are placed in, through not having the use of the Millbrook skating rink, they will be compelled to play all their matches away from home. The first O. H. A. game will likely take place in Lakefield on Friday night. An open rink is being put into shape for the boys to practise on, but as yet they are in poor shape to play any matches. Rather than have their games go by default, however, they are going to go on the ice severely handicapped by little or no practice.

Mr. Jukes of Winnipeg, who has been visiting friends in Millbrook for some time, left on Tuesday for Ottawa. Mrs. Jukes is a daughter of Mr. Archibald McBean, formerly of this place.

Miss Edith Macdonald of Lindsay, is visiting Mrs. Geo. Leach.

Mr. Thos. Eakins of Toronto, was in town this week.

A week ago Sunday when Mr. Edgar Barnham was driving around town, the horse became unmanageable, upset the cutter and ran away. The cutter came in contact with Mr. S. Bateson's window and smashed one of the large panes. One of the shafts of the cutter broke and ran into the horse's side. At first no serious fears were entertained, but on Sunday last the animal died from the effects of the injuries which it received one week previously.

A SIMPLE DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Simple in Action, Sure in Effect.

It's just as easy to make a bonfire of an iceberg as it is for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness or any kind of stomach trouble to resist the action of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

This is a big assertion. But it's a big fact. The experience of thousands has proved it, and all men can't be liars. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets can't help curing Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc. They do it very simply and easily too. They digest the food. The stomach does not help. It rests, and the tablets give it strength and vigour—make it over—new in fact. That's all there is about it.

One or two Tablets will prove their worth. Are you tortured with a dead weight on the stomach after eating? Take a couple of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after your meals, and see if they don't relieve you. They digest the food that your weak, exhausted stomach can't digest.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc., so quickly, easily and pleasantly, that you forget you ever were troubled with it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets purify the blood, restore the shattered nerves, give new vigour to stomach and bowels and makes the complexion pure and clear. These effects follow the proper digestion of food, as surely as day follows night.

Who would walk, open-eye, into a furnace at white heat? Who would deliberately tread, barefoot, on a rattlesnake? Who would suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, or any of their kindred ills, when for fifty cents, a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, a positive, unfailing and speedy cure for these diseases, can be got?

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2 50, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

A MOTHER SPEAKS.

Tells how Dr. Chase Saved her Boy.

His Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a Precious Boon.

MRS. A. T. STEWART, Folgar, Ont., says: "From the 7th of January to the 30th, we were up night and day with our two little boys, employing doctors and trying every kind of patent medicine we ever heard of. At this time we did not know of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine until after the 30th, when our youngest darling died in spite of all we could do. Sometime in February the doctor told us our other boy couldn't live till spring. We were about discouraged, when I got my eye on an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Syrup.

"I tried at once to get some, but none of the dealers here had it. A neighbor who was in Kingston managed to purchase two bottles which he brought straight to us, and I believe it was the means of saving our only boy.

"One teaspoonful of the Syrup stopped the cough so he could sleep till morning. Our boy is perfectly well now, and I would not be without Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house."

FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGONY.

Suffering Ended in a Few Weeks by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petrolea, Jan. 10.—From Ingersoll to Petrolea the way is marked at short intervals by houses which are pointed to as those in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured cases of Kidney Disease, Bright's Disease, Diabetes or other kidney or blood disorder.

John Russell, a farmer living near here, tells of his cure, after suffering fifteen years with Bright's Disease.

Three doctors treated him; may remedies were tried. All failed.

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended. He tried them. The invariable result followed. A few boxes cured him.

This story, with variations as to the disease, is told by hundreds in Petrolea. Dodd's Kidney Pills have not been known to fail one yet. Every case has been a cure.

ARE YOU WEAK?

There's a remedy that will make you strong; will give you new vitality and energy; invigorate the heart; enrich the blood; make the pale cheek rosy.

It's Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Here's SOME PROOF that you can readily verify.

Mrs. John O'Brien, 360 Downie street, Peterborough, says:—"I had a very severe attack of La Grippe, which left my head and heart both in a very bad state. So intense were the pains that I often could not work. My nervous system was shattered, and I felt completely run down. My blood was impoverished so much that I became very weak and debilitated.

"Although I tried many remedies, I received no relief from them, and despaired of a cure, until I got Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They put new life in me. From the very first their splendid renovating powers were manifested. My nerves became steady, the distressing symptoms disappeared; and to put the matter shortly, I was completely restored to first-rate health in a short time by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

The chief increases are: Wheat, £782,000; cheese, 7£60,000; butter, £105,000; eggs, £15,000; timber, £1,808,000; cattle, £487,000; fish, £91,000. ORDERED TO EGYPT.

British Grenadiers Have Been Sent to the Land of the Pharaohs.

London, Jan. 18.—The morning papers announce that the first battalion of Grenadiers, the premier regiment of Great Britain, now at Gibraltar, has been ordered to get in readiness for service in Egypt. Two other battalions are under similar orders.

This is evidence of preparations for an important campaign. The commander of the regiment is Lieut.-Col. Hatton, and the officers include many members of the aristocracy, among them Lieut. Lord Edward Herbert Cecil, fourth son of Lord Salisbury, and Lieut. Lord John Pankenham Joyce Cecil, a brother of the Marquis of Exeter.

A despatch to the Daily Chronicle from Cairo says that Osman Digna (Principal General of the Khalifa) is on the eastern bank of the Nile: the western bank is being mainly occupied by the sweepings of tribes.

The Dervishes, says the despatch, are descending slowly. Serious doubts are entertained as to whether the Khalifa intends to attack Berber (the extreme southern British post).

A New Outbreak in India.

Calcutta, Jan. 18.—News has been received from Mekran, the largest province of Beluchistan, of a serious outbreak against the British survey party there. Capt. Burn and Lieut. Turner of the Royal Engineers and Messrs. Hickie and Pronty, the assistants, with 200 carriers and signallers, were attacked. A number of the native guards were killed or wounded.

Capt. Burn escaped on a camel, travelling 180 miles in 36 hours, to Ormara, on the Arabian Sea, where he received a letter from Lieut. Turner, advising him that he (Turner) would join him.

The extent of the outbreak is not known here. It appears to be led by a brother of Gitchi Sardar.

Capt. Burn reports that the whole Kej Valley is in turmoil, and that the troops of the Khan of Khelat are holding Nasirabad, a military post of India, southeast of Ajmere. Fort Pasni has been looted, and Ormara itself is threatened.

Three companies of infantry, with two guns, will start immediately from Quetta (Beluchistan, near the Afghan frontier) for Gwadur, where the telegraph lines are being cut.

Collision in the Channel.

London, Jan. 18.—The British steamer Robert Adamson, Captain Woodruff, which sailed from Philadelphia Dec. 25 for Rotterdam, narrowly escaped going to the bottom of the English channel. Captain Woodruff reports that while slowly making his way up the channel the Adamson was run into by a vessel, which hit her fairly amidships. A large hole was made in the ship, and she began to make water rapidly. Luckily, the English coast was close by. Captain Woodruff turned the Adamson's nose toward the shore, and, under full speed, ran the steamer aground on the beach near Deal. The vessel had a close shave and was rapidly sinking when her prow ran up the beach.

An Earthquake Kills 50 Persons.

The Hague, Jan. 18.—An official despatch from Batavia announces that the capital of Amboyna, one of the Moluccas islands, has been completely demolished by an earthquake. Fifty persons were killed and 200 were injured. The Moluccas, or Spice Islands, is a name applied to the Islands of the Malay Archipelago, between Celebes and Papua. They are volcanic and fertile.

A Radical Reverse.

London, Jan. 18.—A parliamentary bye-election was held in Plymouth yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the death on Dec. 24 of Mr. Charles Harrison, the Radical member. It resulted in the election of the Conservative and Liberal-Unionist candidate, Hon. Ivor Churchill Guest, who defeated the Liberal and Radical candidate, Mr. S. F. Mendl, by 1,836 votes. The voting was as follows: Ivor Churchill Guest, Unionist, 5,802; S. F. Mendl, Liberal and Radical, 3,966; Unionist majority, 1836.

HIS EXTRAVAGANT WIFE.

Ran Up Heavy Bills on Sir Tatton Sykes and He Was Loth to Pay Them.

London, Jan. 18.—The case of Jay v. Sykes was opened before the Lord Chief Justice, Baron Russell of Killowen, of the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice yesterday. Mr. Lawson Watson, Q. C., who appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. Daniel Jay, a money lender, said the action was brought to recover the sum of £15,870 lent to Lady Sykes in 1896, on the security of notes purporting to be signed by her husband, Sir Tatton Sykes (who is a well-known Yorkshire baronet, owning about 34,000 acres of land). The actual amount of cash lent, counsel continued, was about £10,000, the balance being interest.

Lady Sykes admitted the liability, but Sir Tatton denied the signatures were his, and alleged they were forged by Lady Sykes. The latter would testify that her husband signed the notes.

Counsel then proceeded to describe the relations between husband and wife, the former encouraging his wife's extravagance, yet loth to pay the bills. The wife, consequently, became involved in debt and borrowed money at 60 per cent. interest. At the same time, with her husband's knowledge, she speculated heavily on the Stock Exchange. When the "Kaffir circus" was "smashed" her husband had to pay £31,000 to her brokers.

Lady Sykes' Version.

Lady Sykes then testified. She corroborated the foregoing statement of Mr. Walton, and said her husband's income was £70,000. The notes, she added, were signed in her presence by Sir Tatton, and the letter referred to, Lady Sykes asserted, was also written by him. During her cross-examination, Lady Sykes admitted she bet heavily with her husband's consent. Altogether, she added, her winnings on the Stock Exchange exceeded her losings. Her Ladyship also admitted she owed "Sam" Lewis and other money-lenders.

At the close of the day's proceedings the case was adjourned.

Lady Tatton Sykes is a daughter of the Right Hon. George Augustus Cavendish-Bentinck, deceased, and she is a relative of the Duke of Portland. Her husband is a prominent Yorkshire Baronet, the fifth of his name.

Where Specialists Failed Dr. Chase Cured Catarrh.

James Spence, Clachan, Ont., writes:—"I had been a sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years. It became chronic and I had given up hopes of ever being cured when advised by a friend to try Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. I at once started and am pleased to state three boxes effected a complete cure, and I heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from Catarrh."

Poison Ivy.

Just what it is that induces poison ivy to play its injurious pranks on some people at some times and not at others is still a profound mystery. One thing is certain—the number of people susceptible to the poisoning influence must be extremely few, from the fact that in the vicinity of Philadelphia the highways and byways are overrun with the plant to an enormous extent. It is frequently impossible for people to go by without brushing against it, and if it is the vapor or some exudation from the plant which causes the trouble thousands of persons must be under the influence to every one who suffers from it. The writer of this paragraph knows of a tract of land on which the plant grows profusely and on which many scores of laborers are employed. These laborers are frequently set to weeding and pulling out the plant by the naked hand, and, so far as the writer knows, none of these men was ever poisoned by it. The cattle eat it greedily whenever they get an opportunity. It seems to have no injurious influence on them.—Meehan's Monthly.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Makes an Important Speech at the Banquet to the Mayor of Montreal—A Great Gathering.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Mayor Smith was tendered a banquet by the citizens last evening and it was one of the best ever given in the Windsor. The President of the Board of Trade presided, and amongst the four hundred present were: Lord Aberdeen, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Adolphe Chapleau, Mgr. Bruchesi, Hon. J. I. Tarte and leading citizens. The speeches were brief and eloquent, and all testified to his Worship's great personal worth and ability in the civic chair.

Sir Wilfrid's Speech.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was received with great applause, the entire audience rising and cheering. He said that, though not a citizen of Montreal, he felt it a duty and a pleasure to contribute his quota in honor of a man who had filled the Mayor's chair with so much credit to himself and acceptance to the public. He was saddened by so many references to death in the previous speeches (laughter) but he assured the Governor-General that he had touched on a subject of which Canadians did not care to think, and that it was satisfactory to know that he would go back to a sphere of action where he had already achieved distinction. As to the Mayor, Sir Wilfrid said, amidst great laughter, that if Mr. Wilson Smith continued to keep on the right side he would have his reward. As to his old friend, his dear friend, the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, he felt that if Sir Adolphe Chapleau died it would be like Phoenix to rise from his ashes. He believed that a man of Sir Adolphe's literary character liked the quiet of Spencerwood, but he also believed that Sir Adolphe was more at home, more happy, on the stormy seas of Canadian politics. (Applause.) Canadians love Canada for its faults as well as its merits. When Kipling spoke of Canada as "Our Lady of the Snows" some found fault, but not he. He loved Canada for its winter, its crowning glory; not the winter of these degenerate days of rain, but the winter of the good old days. But if Canada is to become a country it will not be on account of its soil or its climate, but on account of its people. They are sprung from the strongest races in the world. Alluding to Archbishop Bruchesi's comparison of Canadian citizenship and the pride of St. Paul, "I am a Roman citizen," Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "I am sure you will agree with me, and that his Grace the Archbishop will be the first to do so, that in this nineteenth century on the soil of Canada a Roman Catholic Bishop can say with greater pride still, 'I am a British subject; I claim the rights and privileges of a British subject; I claim above all things the right of conscience which is guaranteed by the British constitution.' Our friend the Archbishop told us a moment ago that we must have peace in this land. We can only have peace by the rights of conscience being carefully guarded by everyone. The rights of conscience must be preserved. We are all willing they should be preserved. We have all common rights of conscience, but the rights of one are limited by the rights of another. We can have peace only on one condition, and that is that all of us must make a sacrifice on the altar of our common country, that we should surrender something to the common good of all. This is the only manner in which we can have peace, and for my part it is one of the most glorious movements of my life as a British subject of French origin, as a British subject of Catholic faith, to find here a Roman Catholic Bishop re-echoing the words of his Holiness the Pope in his encyclical which, after all, was nothing but a message of peace to the Canadian people. This shall be my final word to you all, that in this Canada of ours, in this Dominion, the laws of justice, of substantial justice, shall prevail for ever and ever." (Great applause.)

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Lottie Rohill and Mr. James Hill, Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon an interesting event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. Rohill, No. 149 George street, when their only daughter, Miss Lottie, was united in marriage to Mr. James Hill.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the George street Methodist church, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride was very prettily attired in a cream hepternette gown with garniture of chiffon and pearls, and carried a handsome bouquet of carnations and cream roses. She was assisted by Miss Emily Noble, who was gowned in pale blue henrietta, trimmed with pink chiffon and silk.

The groomsman was Mr. Fred Cocks, of Toronto.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a tempting repast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hill left on the afternoon train for a trip to points west, including Toronto, Hamilton and Chicago.

Amongst the beautiful array of wedding presents, was a handsome set of sables from the groom to the bride. The bridesmaid received a gold bracelet from the groom.

WEDDED YESTERDAY.

A Marriage in Which the Participants Are Well Known in Town.

A large number of persons assembled at the Roman Catholic church yesterday in Campbellford to witness the marriage of Miss Eliza Boland, fourth daughter of Mrs. Boland, of Campbellford, and Mr. John Regan, of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCloskey at nine o'clock. Miss Jennie M. Boland, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Burke, of Peterborough, attended the groom. An excellent wedding breakfast was prepared at 11 o'clock, and a large company of guests were present to partake of it. The wedded couple left on the two o'clock train for Toronto, followed by the best wishes of numerous friends.

THE BIRD AND BENCH SHOW.

Final Details Arranged Last Evening—A Big List of Entries.

A general business meeting of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association and Bench Show was held last evening to arrange final details for the big show next week,

That it is to be a big show there is no doubt. The entry list for dogs is now closed and the secretary announces that over a hundred will be shown. The list for poultry is still open and there are already between four and five hundred entries received.

Arrangements were made to advertise a lecture on "Profitable Poultry Keeping," on Tuesday evening, the opening night, by A. G. Gilbert, of the Ottawa Experimental Farm.

It was decided that a third prize of V. H. C. be awarded in the poultry and pet stock classes.

All members interested in the success of the show are requested to be at the Market Hall Saturday at 2 p.m. to assist in arranging the benches, etc.

Dogs are coming all the way from New York and entries have been even received from Montreal, Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, and other places. On account of entries being received of bull dogs a new class has been created for them. Some fine bloodhounds will also be shown and the unbeaten fox terrier Radiance. The entries in Collies and St. Bernards is very large.

LEGARE'S TRIAL

Resulted in His Being Allowed to go on Suspended Sentence.

Delphis Legare, the commercial traveller, who was sent up for trial last week by Magistrate Dumble on the charge of stealing a fur coat and pair of gauntlets from Mr. Geo. Graham, was before Judge Weller yesterday.

The evidence taken was practically that adduced at the preliminary hearing, but on a strong representation being made of the good character formerly borne by the prisoner and the helpless condition in which his family would be left in the event of his being sentenced to a term in gaol, he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. D. O'Connell for the defence.

Thunder in the Winter.

Thunder and lightning in January is a very rare occurrence and a decidedly new "frill" on a January thaw. It is regarded as a sign of cold and this was verified, for sharp frost followed the lively thunderstorm of last night, when the lightning flashed, the thunder rolled and the rain came down in brisk showers as merrily as on a night in May.

ANNUAL MEETING OF HORTICULTURISTS.

THE SAME OFFICERS WERE RE-ELECTED WITH A VOTE OF THANKS.

There will be no Chrysanthemum Show this Year—Prizes to be Offered for the Best Kept Lawns—Annual Reports Received.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was held last evening in the Council Chamber with a large attendance of members, amongst whom were noticed Messrs. Dr. Geo. Burnham, D. W. Dumble, W. H. Hill, H. Nesbitt, J. H. Foord, H. C. Rogers, Jas. Head, J. H. Cobb, John McClelland, J. S. Knapman, T. A. S. Hay, Jas. Stevenson, J. H. Roper and F. Brownscombe.

The first business of the evening was the presentation of the annual reports.

THE DIRECTORS' REPORT

was read as follows by the secretary, Mr. Felix Brownscombe:

To the Members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society:

GENTLEMEN,—We, your directors, beg to report as follows:

The annual exhibition of the Society for 1897 was held on the 26th of August, and compared favourably with former years, inasmuch as the number of exhibits was concerned, but the attendance was not as large as in previous years, whilst the receipts were far short of what they should have been for an exhibition such as was then held. After giving the matter careful consideration, your directors believe that the present plan of admitting a whole family on one ticket is giving the members more than the Society can afford to do. We therefore suggest that in future all tickets be limited so as to admit only a specified number.

The committee appointed to wait on the councils of the town and Ashburnham were well received and obtained from the former an additional $100, which sum was expended in necessary permanent improvements, such as reconsidering the walks, repairing the fountain, connecting the same with the sewer, etc.

Your directors have also had several trees, in places where they were too close together, removed, so as to enable those remaining to have more room for natural growth.

Early in the year we advertised for tenders for taking care of the park for the past season and awarded the contract to Mr. Jos. H. Cobb, who was the caretaker for the preceeding year, and we are sure you will all agree with us that he has done his work well, and that the park has been a credit, not only to the Society but also to the town.

As suggested at the annual meeting, a chrysanthemum show was held on the 4th and 5th of November, for which 20 entries were received for which we awarded prizes amounting to over $20. The displays of flowers, etc., was quite satisfactory to the Directors considering it to be the first show of the kind we have held and while the attendance was small on account of other attractions, yet those present who did visit the show were amply repaid for so doing and should you decide to hold another, we believe the display and also the attendance will be much larger.

Submitted on behalf of the Directors,

GEO. BURNHAM, President. F. BROWNSCOMBE, Secretary.

The report was received and adopted.

On motion of Col. Rogers and Mr. H. Nesbitt, the treasurer's report was referred to Messrs. J. H. Roper and T. A. S. Hay, as auditors.

After examining the vouchers, etc., the auditors certified the report to be correct and it was adopted.

The same auditors were appointed to act next year.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

The election of officers and directors resulted as follows:

President—George Burnham.

1st Vice-President—D. W. Dumble.

2nd Vice-President—J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

Sec.-Treas.—F. Brownscombe.

Directors—R. D. Hamilton, J. H. Roper, H. C. Rogers, T. E. Bradburn, Macfarlane Wilson, Rev. H. Symonds, T. A. S. Hay, Adam Hall, H. Nesbitt, W. H. Foord and John Irwin.

On motion of Messrs. W. H. Hill and D. W. Dumble the salary of the secretary was raised from $25 to $40.

The offices of secretary and treasurer were combined.

COMMITTEES.

On motion of Col. Rogers and Mr. James Head the following committee was appointed to take charge of Victoria Park: Messrs. Adam Hall, W. H. Foord, and H. Nesbitt.

The following committee was delegated to wait on the councils to ask for the annual grant to the Society: Messrs. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., T. E. Bradburn, J. H. Roper, W. H. Hill and D. W. Dumble.

Messrs. J. H. Cobb and James Head moved that Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. H. Foord, H. Nesbitt and T. A. S. Hay be a committee to revise the prize list—Carried.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

The president asked for the opinion of the members regarding the advisability of holding another Chrysanthemum show.

Mr. D. W. Dumble opposed the idea on the ground that too large a monetary loss had attended the first exhibition. The flower was a beautiful and interesting one, but there was not enough of the citizens who went in for its cultivation to make the affair a success.

Mr. W. H. Foord agreed with Mr. Dumble. He thought the town too small too hold a successful exhibition.

These were also Mr. Cobb's sentiments.

Mr. John McClelland did not think it was altogether a question of pay. It was rather a question of taste. Last year's failure was largely due to the poor season. Many were caught by the early frost. A rose exhibit might be combined with it. Success might attend the next show. The exhibit though small last year, was a credit to Peterborough.

Mr. Cobb asked where the society would have been if there had not been a large surplus from the regular exhibition. A great deal of money was lost on the chrysanthemum show.

Mr. Dumble and Col. Rogers moved that "It is inexpedient to hold a chrysanthemum show this year."—Carried.

It was moved by Messrs. D. W. Dumble and Col. Rogers, "That this Society do offer prizes for the four most tasteful lawns or grounds of members of this Society, competitors to give notice of competition by 1st of June, the examination to be in the week prior to the Horticultural Exhibition, the prizes to be 1st, $5; 2nd, $4; 3rd and 4th $2. Test to be taste, skill and quality displayed."

On motion of Messrs. D. W. Dumble and W. H. Hill, a cordial vote of thanks was moved to the officers who had acted during the past year.

The meeting then adjourned.

Almost with reverence does the grocer's boy regard

Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand Coffee.

Often has he been admonished to bring only Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand, he now realizes that it stands in a class by itself.

The best people to whose houses he is sent demand this brand.

No matter what he may forget, no matter what he may bring wrong, he never makes a mistake in bringing another kind of coffee when Seal Brand is ordered.

All grocers sell it, in pound and two-pound tin cans.

How they are to be Entertained on Tuesday Evening Next.

Arrangements are almost completed for the reception of the Winnipeg Hockey Team on Tuesday.

The visitors will arrive on the 4.10 C. P. R. train from Montreal, and will be met at the station by Mayor Davis, G. W. Hatton, Patron of the club; W. G. Ferguson, Hon. President; R. J. Fife, President, and the other officers. A drive around the town will be the first item on the programme, after which the Winnipeg team will be taken to their hotel.

In the evening Mayor Davis will place the puck on the ice and blow the whistle for the first game. At the conclusion of the game the visitors will be banquetted.

THE TIMBER POLICY.

The following is a summary of the contribution of Mr. Stratton to the debate on the second reading of Hon. Mr. Gibson's bill imposing manufacturing conditions on all sawlogs cut on Crown Lands after April 30th:

The debate was continued after recess by Mr. Stratton, who dwelt upon the importance of the question requiring the most careful and grave consideration. He congratulated the people of the Province and the House upon the fact that the fullest possible return had been obtained by the Province from the timber resources and the Crown Lands of the Province under the administration of the Government. He was also glad to hear the statement of the Commissioner that the cut this year has not been nearly so large as they would be led to suppose by the editorial columns of the Opposition newspapers, and, notwithstanding the unwillingness of the hon. member from North Toronto to accept that statement, he would, he said, prefer to accept the figures of the Commissioner, who was receiving reliable weekly reports. He regretted that the Opposition was discussing this question entirely from a low plane and from the standpoint of retaliation. The Government approached the consideration of the timber regulations from the standpoint of what was the best method of obtaining the greatest returns from the forest wealth of the Province and the development of the important industries which are connected with and circle around the lumber industry. The Government's policy was above the spirit of retaliation, and was framed in the desire to promote the best interests of the province. Had the Government taken action at the time the Opposition had suggested it, it would have been an injury to the business interests of the Province and unfair to both the Canadian and American purchasers of our timber, and the Government would have broken faith with those who had taken out licenses on the 1st of May last. The conditions of the Dingley law had made it impossible for our lumbermen to do business with the United States on a fair basis, but he supported the course of the Government because he believed that the industrial interests of the Province demanded it.

THE BARNARDO HOME.

Respecting its Relation With Business Men.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—Referring to the statements made that the local expenditure for supplies by the Barnardo Home here is of a trifling character, permit me to say that such statements are wholly wrong, and calculated to have a wrong impression. I am sure that the amount expended is very large, and that the sum named by the Superintendent ($4 000) is not any too large an amount. As one of the merchants interested, and knowing the facts, I am pleased to say that I have been favoured with orders for a part of the grocery account, amounting from year to year to not less than $300. I know that in other lines the expenditure is very large, and am sure that the management of the Barnardo Home are particularly careful that everything that can be purchased in town is secured here, not from outside sources.

Yours respectfully,
W. H. HAMILTON.

ALL SAINTS' SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Annual Entertainment Last Night—Distribution of Prizes.

Last night All Saints' annual Sunday school entertainment took place in the school room. There was a large attendance of the scholars and their parents and friends and the affair was in every way a great success.

The programme consisted of readings, recitations, solos and choruses, dialogues and tableaux, all by the children, who presented a most enjoyable entertainment.

The more interesting part to the children was the distribution of prizes, given and classified as follows:

For attendance and general proficiency: Girls' classes—No. 1, May Bullen and Lily Brewer, (equal); No. 2, Mary Sawers and Elizabeth Taylor, (equal); No. 3, Lucy Wood: No. 4, Edna Earl and Eva Bullen (equal); No. 5, Beatrice Harris and Emma Bullen, (equal); No. 6, Mona Barton; No. 7, Aggie Sabine: No 8, Ethel Close.

Infant class—Rose Mulholland.

Boys' classes—Nos. 1 and 2, Willie Bullen; No. 3, Percy Gilbert; No. 4, Clarence Buller, No. 5, Archie Hillier; No. 6, Ernest Hillier; No. 7, Ralph Hillier; No. 8, Harry Latimer.

Infant class—Alfie Gilbert.

Refreshments were served to the children from half past five to six, and the hard work of the teachers had its reward in the perfect satisfaction the children experienced during the evening. The Sunday School of All Saints since its establishment in its permanent and adequate quarters has largely increased in attendance, and the offertories have nearly doubled.

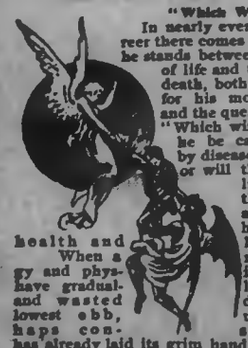
IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER



"Which Wins?"

In nearly every man's career there comes a time when he stands between the angel of life and the angel of death, both contending for his mortal frame, and the question arises: "Which wins?" Will he be carried away by disease and death or will the angel of life prove the stronger and bring him back to health and happiness? When a man's energy and physical force have gradually weakened down to the lowest ebb, until perhaps consumption has already laid its grim hand upon him, and doctor after doctor and medicine after medicine have been tried in vain—now, perhaps, comes some kind friend who says, "Dr. Pierce can cure you, write to him: His "Golden Medical Discovery" has rescued thousands who were further gone than you."

"He is chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y.; he has been at the head of this great Sanitarium for thirty years; he has probably had more experience in treating severe chronic diseases than any other physician living. Write to him anyway; that will cost you nothing. He will gladly and freely answer your letters with friendly, fatherly advice which will be of value beyond all price!"

Now is the critical instant. Will the patient give up in despair and let the angel of disease drag him away from wife and family and children, or will he grasp the hand of the angel of life in one more supreme effort for restoration? Are you standing between the contending angels? Which wins?

Mrs. Emily Howe, of 7 Park Avenue, Chicago, Ills., writes: "About two years ago my son was afflicted with what seemed to be symptoms of consumption. I purchased three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it cured him completely."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated volume by R. V. Pierce, M. D., will be sent free for cost of customs and mailing only,—31 one-cent stamps. Address Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Or send 50 stamps for a cloth-bound copy.

KISSED HER ON A BET.

She Was a Salvation Lassie; He, Her Husband—Traveling Men Didn't Know That.

A clever trick was worked by Walter Redmond and his wife at Union station by which several traveling men were duped out of their money. At the end of a long seat in the waiting room was a pretty and modest looking young woman attired in a Salvation Army uniform. She was very intent upon a paper which she was reading and paid little attention to the crowd of traveling men standing near her.

Aside from the crowd was a well dressed young man, who was walking back and forth by the newsstand puffing away at a fragrant cigar. Finally a member of the crowd of traveling men remarked upon the beauty of the little Salvation Army worker. All eyes were fixed on the little woman, and she received many compliments. The prosperous looking young man who had been walking near the group of drummers drew near to the crowd. He, too, was struck with the appearance of the woman.

"I'll give any one of you fellows $15 if you kiss that girl," said he.

Those in the crowd took the dare. One spoke up, however, and said to the stranger who had offered the money, "I'll bet you $20 that you can't kiss her."

The stranger hesitated for several seconds and then said:

"I'll just take that bet."

The money was put up, and the stranger, who had given his name as Walter Redmond, walked over toward the little woman in uniform, and, after bowing profoundly, took a seat by her side.

At first the woman seemed to be very indignant, and the traveling man thought he had the $20 won. A minute later, however, Redmond's arm stole around the woman's waist. The spectators then began to open their eyes wide. One of them said: "That fellow has a whole lot of influence over that girl. It may be that he is a hypnotist." Redmond talked for probably two minutes and then kissed the woman.

Redmond walked over to the stakeholder and received his money. He then started from the depot. The little woman quickly arose from her seat, and, taking his arm, walked to Ninth and Broadway, where the couple took an East Broadway car. Redmond is tall and handsome. His wife is a blond and is exceptionally pretty.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A HINT TO ARTISTS.

One Way of Putting Rejected Exhibits to Good Use.

They were riding on the Fourteenth street cars and their conversation was edifying. The man with the long hair was evidently a sculptor, and his companion, a large, jolly looking fellow, was trying to persuade him to present a work of art to some society woman who had a mania for collecting bric-a-brac and articles of vertu.

"I told her that you would, I thought, in time present her with some memento, a statuette illustrating your peculiar style. Was I wrong in saying so?"

The sculptor answered indignantly: "I know her value of art, and I tell you she cannot distinguish between manufactured trinkets and works of art. In fact, she thinks all artists are manufacturers and can turn out statuettes as easily as the rich stove ornament man who gave her a nickel plated mule. Then, too, a brass fixture artist gave her something from the brass foundry, and she thought it great. Never, in my judgment, could she appreciate a true work of art."

"Then you refuse to give her a sample of your work? Remember, she has great influence."

"I do not refuse. I'll give her that model in plaster of paris which was refused by the committee last month. She will think it great, whether or not the committee did."

"Good! She will think it magnificent and get you an order."—New York Commercial.

Almost Unbearable.

"I suffered from kidney trouble so much that the pain in my back was almost unbearable and I felt tired and worn out all the time, my tongue was coated and until I took Doan's Kidney Pills I had been unable to do my housework for over a month. These pills have made a complete cure, all the same malignant light in its eyes that I remembered from the night before.

In the open orchard I felt sure I could catch it.

But my ghost had no intention of allowing me any such an opportunity. To my disgust it darted backward and into the house, slamming the door in my face.

In a frenzy of fear and chagrin I threw myself against the oaken door with such force that its rusty old hinges yielded and I landed in the big front room of the inn just in time to see the white skirts of the ghost flit up the stairs.

Up stairs I fled after it and into an old chamber. There, huddled in a corner, I saw it. In the minute's delay it had secured a lighted candle, and as I entered it advanced to daunt me with bony arm upraised to great height.

"Caught!" I cried, throwing my arms around the figure. And I had made the acquaintance of a real live ghost.

The white robes fell and I saw revealed my hostess of Bucktown inn.

Next morning when I threatened to call the police she confessed to me that she masqueraded as a ghost to draw visitors to the out of the way old place and that she found its tales of being haunted highly profitable to her.—Baltimore Herald.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE FOR INDIGESTION.

This is to certify that I, James Ross, Tollgate Keeper, of the town of Woodstock, Ont., have been a sufferer from Indigestion and a very weak stomach for a number of years, and have tried a great many medicines of different kinds, but could only obtain temporary relief for a short time, but after using one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic I could perceive a great difference. My indigestion was better and my stomach was much stronger than before, and I found I had gained several pounds in flesh, where I was weak and thin in flesh before. I think I used nine or ten bottles in all, and I am now a healthy man, but still I do not want to be without the medicine in the house, and I procure one or two bottles every year, and I can truthfully recommend Sloan's Indian Tonic to others suffering from the same complaint.

How Long Will This Piano Last?

The above question is asked by almost every piano purchaser before making a decision.

If you are discussing a Chickering Piano there is an emphatic answer.

No matter what YOUR age rest assured the piano will outlive you.

There is no one living who has ever purchased a Chickering piano AND WO IT OUT.

Think of the number of children to-day practising upon Chickering pianos purchased by their grandparents.

There are thousands of Chickering pianos so purchased and so used.

Perhaps, they are not as good as they were 50 or 60 or 70 years ago, but the marvel is that they are in use at all.

The majority of pianos by other makers are worn out in a third the period.

These are simpl Chickering facts.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are antique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

A TAVERN GHOST.

Several travel worn drummers sat in the lobby exchanging yarns. It was Rodney Green's turn, and he looked wise and began his tale:

I don't claim by any means that the belief in ghosts is a general thing in Arkansas, but I do say that I had an experience out there a few years ago. It was late in the fall, and I happened to be in the village of Bucktown, which decorates a very limited portion of mother earth in the southern part of the state. The town is about as small and dirty a place as ever I saw, and the Bucktown inn is not much above the general character of the place. The region is inhabited by natives who still cling to all sorts of foolish superstitions. The inn in the antebellum days was kept by one who was said to be the meanest and most crabbed of mortals. The old demon was as miserly as he was mean, and all his narrow life he hoarded his filthy lucre with fiendish greed. Report had it also that he had even murdered his patrons in their beds for their money. What the facts actually were I don't know, but even to this day the old inn is held in suspicion. A lingering effect of former horrors still clouds its memory.

The present proprietor, Bunk Watson—his real name is Bunker, I believe—is an altogether different sort of chap—a southern type, in fact—one of those shiftless, helpless, happy go lucky mortals who love strong whisky and who chew an enormous quid of black tobacco and smoke a corncob pipe at the same time.

When the former keeper "shuffled off," his property fell to a distant relative, in the person of the present keeper, who with his family immediately moved in from a neighboring hamlet and took possession. It was well known that the old proprietor had accumulated considerable wealth during his sojourn among the living, but all efforts to discover any treasure upon the premises had failed, and now the idea of ever finding it was practically given up. As far as Bunk was concerned, the matter troubled him little. He had a hardworking wife, who ran things the best she could under the circumstances and saw that his meals were forthcoming at their respective intervals. What more could he wish? Why should he care if there was a treasure buried upon his place? Indeed it would have been a sore puzzle for him to know what to do with a fortune unless perhaps his wife came to his aid.

Among other stories that hovered in the history of the Buckstown inn was one which involved a ghost. In the room where the former keeper had died peculiar noises were heard at unearthly hours. Sighing, moaning and, in fact, all the other indications which point to the existence of ghosts were said to be present. On account of this the chamber had long since been abandoned.

I listened with keen interest to the wonderful tales about the haunted room and then suddenly resolved to investigate—to sleep in that chamber that very night and see for myself all that was to be seen. I told Bunk of my purpose. He shook his head, shrugged his shoulders, but instead of warning me and offering a flood of protests, as I expected, he merely took his pipe from his mouth and called out "Jane!" His wife appeared, and he intimated that I should settle the matter with the "old woman." The prospect of a fee persuaded the wife, and off she went to arrange for my bed in that ill fated room.

At 9 o'clock that evening I bade the family good night, took my candle, ascended the rickety stairs and entered the chamber of horrors. The atmosphere was heavy and had a peculiar odor that was not at all pleasing. However, I latched the door and was soon in bed. Having propped myself up with pillows, I was prepared to await the coming of the ghost.

Overhead the dusty rafters, which once had experienced the sensation of being whitewashed, but which were now a dirty yellowish color, were hung with a fantastic array of cobwebs. The flickering light of the candle reflected upon the walls and against the ceiling a myriad of grotesque shapes, and, this effect being continually disturbed by the swaying cobwebs, the whole caused the room to appear rather ghostly after all, and especially so to an imaginative mind.

I waited and waited for hours, it seemed, but still no ghost. Perhaps it was afraid of my candlelight; so I blew it out. No sooner had I done this and settled back in bed again than a white hand appeared through the door and then a whole figure. At last the ghost had come, a white and sheeted ghost!

It had come right through the door, although it was locked, and now it advanced toward the bed. Raising its long, white arm, it pointed a bony finger at me and then in a hollow voice commanded, "Come with me!" Thereupon it turned to the door, while instantly I jumped out of bed to follow. Some unseen power compelled me to obey. The door flew open, and the ghost led me down the stairs, through long halls, into the cellar, through mysterious underground corridors, up stairs again, in and out of rooms which I never dreamed were to be found in that old rambling inn. Finally through a small door in the rear we left the house. I was in my sleeping garments, but no matter. I had to follow.

The white form, with a slow and measured tread and as silent as death, led the way into the orchard. There under a tree at the farther end it pointed to the ground and in the same ghostly tones before used said:

"Here you will find a great treasure buried."

The ghost then disappeared, and I saw it no more. I stood dazed and trembling. Upon recovering my wits I started to dig, but the chill of the night air and the scantiness of my night robes made such labor impracticable. So I decided to leave some mark to identify the place and come again at daybreak. I reached up and broke off a limb. Overcome with my night exertions, I slept the next morning until a loud rapping on my door and a croaking voice warned me that it was noon.

I had intended to leave Bucktown inn that day, but prompted by curiosity and anxious to investigate I unpacked my gripsack for a comfortable stay.

You must understand that this was my first experience with a ghost, and I feared I might never see another.

At breakfast my landlady waited on me in silence, though once I detected her eyes following me with a peculiar expression. She wanted to ask me how I enjoyed the night, but I would not gratify her by volunteering a word.

My host was more outspoken.

"Reckon ye didn't get much sleep," said he, with a queer smile.

"Did you hear anything?" I asked.

"Well, I did, ye-es," he said, with a drawl. "But ye didn't disturb me any. I know ye'd hev trouble when ye went in thet room ter sleep."

That afternoon I slipped out to the tree, but to my amazement I found that the twig I had broken from the branches was gone. Finally I found under the lower trunk of an apple tree an open place from which a small branch had evidently been wrested, but on looking further I discovered that every apple tree in the orchard had been similarly disfigured.

"More mysterious than ever," I said, "but tonight shall decide."

That night I pleaded weariness, which no one seemed inclined to question, and sought my couch earlier.

"Goin ter try it ag'in?" asked my host.

"Yes, and I'll stay all winter but what I'll get even with that ghost," I said.

That night I kept the candle burning until midnight; then I blew it out.

Instantly the room was flooded with a soft light, and at the foot of the bed stood my ghost, the identical ghost of last night.

Again the bony finger beckoned, and a sepulchral voice whispered, "Follow me!" I sprang from the bed, but the figure darted ahead of me. It flew through the doorway and down the stairs and I after it. At the foot of the staircase an unseen hand reached forward and caught my foot, and I fell sprawling headlong.

But in a second I was on my feet and pursuing the ghost. It had gained on me a few yards, but I was quicker, and just as we reached the outside door I nearly touched its robes. They sent a chill through my frame, and I nearly gave up the pursuit.

As it passed through the doorway it turned and gave me one look, and I caught the same malignant light in its eyes that I remembered from the night before.

In the open orchard I felt sure I could catch it.

But my ghost had no intention of allowing me any such an opportunity. To my disgust it darted backward and into the house, slamming the door in my face.

In a frenzy of fear and chagrin I threw myself against the oaken door with such force that its rusty old hinges yielded and I landed in the big front room of the inn just in time to see the white skirts of the ghost flit up the stairs.

Up stairs I fled after it and into an old chamber. There, huddled in a corner, I saw it. In the minute's delay it had secured a lighted candle, and as I entered it advanced to daunt me with bony arm upraised to great height.

"Caught!" I cried, throwing my arms around the figure. And I had made the acquaintance of a real live ghost.

The white robes fell and I saw revealed my hostess of Bucktown inn.

Next morning when I threatened to call the police she confessed to me that she masqueraded as a ghost to draw visitors to the out of the way old place and that she found its tales of being haunted highly profitable to her.—Baltimore Herald.

WARREN'S ADDRESS.

Stand! The ground's your own, my braves!
Will ye give it up to slaves?
Will ye look for greener graves?
Hope ye mercy still?
What's the mercy despots feel?
Hear it in that battle peal!
Read it on yon bristling steel!
Ask it, ye who will!

Fear ye foes who kill for hire?
Will ye to your homes retire?
Look behind you!
They're afire! And, before you, see
Who have done it! From the vale
On they come! And will ye quail?
Leaden rain and iron hail
Let their welcome be!

In the God of battles trust!
Die we may, and die we must!
But, oh, where can dust to dust
Be consigned so well
As where heaven its dews shall shed
On the martyred patriot's bed
And the rocks shall raise their head
Of his deeds to tell?

The Liverpool Coach.

It is not generally known that a mail-coach leaves Manchester every night for Liverpool at 10 o'clock, and one from Liverpool at the same hour for Manchester, for the conveyance of parcels. Reports from India confirm the belief in the efficacy of the Lee-Enfield rifle to withstand much shooting, and the wisdom of the authorities in substituting the shallow rifling of the Enfield for the deep grooving of the Metford has been completely vindicated. Rifles after firing 9,000 rounds of cordite have been found just as accurate and with apparently just as good barrels as when first issued—all of which is good news for Canada, and shows that her investment in Lee-Enfields was a good one. How cheap we would now feel had Canada made the purchase of the 40,000 single-loading Martini-Metfords, with the inferior rifling so strongly recommended by certain parties some three or four years ago.

The mayor of Halifax, N.S., has been notified that extensive works are in contemplation by the imperial authorities to be carried on in the vicinity of the city during the ensuing year. The existing fortifications are to be considerably strengthened, and new barracks and other buildings erected, all of which will involve the spending of large sums of money in the favoured city.

Since the Government's decision to provide the militia with Lee-Enfields, no announcement that has been made as to the militia department's intentions or doings has created such satisfaction among all ranks as the recent statement in the semi-official press that the "Oliver" equipment had been adopted, and that tenders were to be called for the manufacture of 40,000 sets for the equipment of our total active militia force. The department has certainly done the right thing this time, and if it will only go a little further and provide a good, serviceable water bottle at the same time, to complete the equipment, the thanks of the militia will be unbounded. The new field equipment has been reported on most most favourably by all who have tried it, and is extremely light, weighing only some 36 ounces, without the kit bag, which of course is not worn upon the person.

PAPER BY REV. H. SYMONDS.

On "How to Encourage Theological Study Among the Clergy."

The theological graduates of Trinity University are now meeting in annual convention in Toronto, and in a report of the meeting the Globe makes the following reference to a paper read by Rev. H. Symonds:

Rev. H. Symonds, Peterborough, then read a paper on the subject, "How to Encourage Theological Study Among the Clergy." He spoke in earnest terms of the need for theological study, noting that all great leaders in religion have been students, and in earnest words pointed out that the needs of the day are such as to demand that the clergy must be familiar with the problems which their parishioners are grappling with; they must have faced and investigated these matters for themselves, or else they would have no influence. Again, study was necessary to true religious life. Passing on, Mr. Symonds stated that the position of the Church of England in relation to theological study was unsatisfactory. It was going behind. The Presbyterians were far ahead of them in this matter in Canada; and even in the old country, including Scotland, and taking into consideration the numerical proportions, he was not sure but that they were overhauling the Church of England. The Methodists, in spite of great difficulties, were making rapid progress. He hoped that this meeting would mark the beginning of better times.

After referring to the need which exists for encouraging the study of theology, Mr. Symonds went on to speak of the means where such encouragement could be afforded. They should improve the church press. At present it could scarcely be said to be of any use in encouraging or directing reading among the clergy, and its treatment of such a subject as the higher criticism was simply ridiculous. Of course the church press was not meant for the reading clergy, but he thought there should be enough of these and of the reading laity to make it worth the while of the church press to devote, say, one-tenth of its space to the treatment of these subjects. Or could they not imitate the Methodists and Presbyterians, and get out a monthly or quarterly journal devoted to the discussion of these subjects, or else get some journal to get out a quarterly supplement of book reviews or original articles upon these subjects? The summer school of theology was also a means, and Mr. Symonds told of the projected school of this sort at Lakefield. Finally, he suggested that the committee in charge of the programme for the meetings should draw up lists of subjects for discussion, if possible, a year before the meeting, and that they should append to each subject, or to each part of a subject, a list of two or three books as authorities on that subject; these programmes not to be confined to Trinity alumni.

OAK HALL

SURRENDERS TO

OAK HALL — Gough Bros. — OAK HALL

CANADA'S GREATEST HUSTLERS.

"NORTHWARD the Sweep of Conquest Takes its Way!"

We come before the public again with an announcement so important—so sensational in its effect—that it leaves no room for doubt that the battle of business means THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

We announce with pleasure the purchase of the Stock of the Millionare Sanford's Clothing Company in Peterborough, known as "OAK HALL," Corner of George and Hunter Streets, by which we come into possession $16,430 Worth of Clothing OF UNMATCHABLE EXCELLENCE Purchased at a Rate on the Dollar of 62½ CENTS On the Manufacturer's Cost.

The offer of the Sanford Company to buy out Oak Hall has been open to us for some time. It has been known that this wealthy firm have been anxious to close up their Peterborough Branch rather than continue the fight against competition such as GOUGH BROS. have always put up. With a constituency extending over Ontario, and forming the largest syndicate of Clothing dealers in Canada, it was a mistake to plant an "Oak Hall" acorn alongside the Dauntless Goughs. And so, another rich scalp has been added to GOUGH BROS.' belt. And so, "The Corner" has been cornered again by the Wonderful Cheap Men.

To Wake Up the Town

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12th, we inaugurate a Clean Sweep of the whole of Oak Hall's stock—from the roof through every floor to the basement—from the door strip in front to the wall at the back. It begins and stops at the end.

Everything goes! Necessity has no law. Manufacturer's Prices dashed down without mercy! Not a garment left if we can prevent it.

A TRIUMPHANT SALE!

—A Sale to wake up the Town—a Sale that will be without precedent and hopelessly out of reach of competition—beyond the possibility of an equal in this or any other portion of Canada.

A Clothing Blizzard—Sweeping Oak Hall Counters and Shelves at Prices a QUARTER and a THIRD below original values.

THE QUALITY of this High Class Stock of Clothing will speak—you can be absolutely sure of that. It all bears the label of the Sanford Manufacturing Company. You might be able to get as good Clothing in one or two other stores in Canada, but you can never equal the Clothing and our Prices both together. While it was a notorious fact that Oak Hall never could match or undersell GOUGH BROS, it was acknowledged that their Clothing always took high rank among the Highest Class Goods of America.

THIS SALE, therefore, appeals to the best class of people, who desire to put the stamp of their approval on HIGH QUALITY.

We want a Great Sale—a Great Crowd—a Great Celebration of our latest Famous Victory! The Millionare Merchant Clothier's Sacrifice to GOUGH BROS. will put many a coin in the pockets of those who buy during this Triumphant Sale. Don't forget to follow the Mile Posts to

Well Done People's Grocery!

You deserve the thanks of the people for the grand bill of fare you presented to the public at the Christmas Season, and for the nicely dressed window you have; the display of Turkeys, geese and other fowl was simply grand and I am not surprised that you did such a good trade and sold a lot of goods. I saw a load of Hogs at your door the other day, fat, and nicely dressed, what do you intend to do with them? Well, we pickle them, and then smoke them, then sell the Hams and Bacon; and let me whisper a secret to you, the people that buy them year after year, say there is nothing to equal them sold in this town.

Well what about Canned Goods? I see they are quoted $1.00 a doz. in Toronto. Can you supply them 2 for 25c.? Yes, and we promise to supply the people at that price as long as they last, for we have a large stock of this season's goods, which we bought at Cheap Prices.

END OF THE SESSION.

To-day Will Conclude Legislature's Business.

THE PIGGERY ENQUIRY CLOSED

Asylum and Reformatory Rearrangement—Outline of the Changes—Increased Accommodation With Small Expenditure—The Manhood Suffrage Registration Act—The London Normal.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—It was intimated by the Premier before the House rose that the business of the session would perhaps be disposed of this afternoon and that prorogation would take place on Saturday if the bills are printed; if not, on Monday. Replying to a suggestive inquiry by Mr. Whitney, Mr. Hardy said that dissolution would come in good time.

These bills were read a third and final time:

Respecting bylaw 205 of the town of Rat Portage.

Respecting jails.

To amend the Act respecting the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors.

Respecting the Cataract Power Co. of Hamilton.

Respecting the estate of the late Richard Stubbs.

To further facilitate the purchase of toll roads by municipalities.

Respecting the investment of court funds.

Respecting the Synod of the Diocese of Niagara.

To incorporate the Presbyterian Ladies' College, Ottawa.

Respecting the railway debenture debt of the Township of Amabel.

To incorporate the Smith's Falls, Rideau & Southern Railway Co.

To provide for the garnishment of salaries of civil servants.

Asylums and Other Institutions.

In concurrence on the supplementary estimates the Provincial Secretary brought down the following estimates:

Site for Boys' Reformatory in County of Oxford, present Reformatory to be used as an asylum for the chronic and harmless insane, $7,500.

On account of purchase of Victoria College, $5,000.

Re-arranging and fitting part of buildings, $5,000.

In explanation of these items Hon. Mr. Davis said that it had been found impossible to get land at Penetanguishene on which to teach the boys farming. It had been decided, therefore, to remove the boys to an institution to be established near Woodstock. It was proposed to make other changes. The old Victoria College building at Cobourg was to be fitted up and used for one of two objects—either to accommodate the young girls who should be separated from the hardened criminals at the Mercer, or to receive the overflow from the Orillia Asylum, for entrance to which there to-day existed 161 applications that could not be recognized for want of room.

To fill the Mercer, negotiations were being carried on with the Dominion Government for the removal of certain classes of female prisoners from the Kingston Penitentiary to the Toronto institution.

In case this were carried out the younger and less wicked inmates of the Mercer would be taken to the Orillia Asylum, the residents at the latter institution being removed to Cobourg.

Lastly, the harmless insane from the several asylums were to be taken to the old Penetanguishene building and there maintained. The details of the whole scheme had yet to be fixed upon, but the Government hoped to manage without erecting any new expensive buildings in the province.

The item was then passed.

Normal School at London.

The item of $25,000 for a new Normal School at London was also passed.

The House then passed the items of $28,000 for public works, $15,050 for colonization roads, fire ranging, mining roads, etc., as charges on Crown Lands, $12,700.

San Jose Scale.

The item of $7,500 for the expenses of dealing with the San Jose scale was passed.

To Correct Mistakes.

While the House was in committee on the bill extending the provisions of the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act to towns the Premier moved the addition of a clause applying them to three townships, because of extraordinary circumstances existing in these districts. In South Algoma Township Judge Deacon of Renfrew had illegally removed from the list the names of 52 persons entitled to the franchise, which had been irregularly put on by the Court of Revision. The Court of Appeals subsequently held the Judge's law to be bad. In the Townships of Hagarty and Sherwood the responsible officer failed before the revision to post up the voters' lists in the post-offices, and the result was that many names were inadvertently left off the lists. To correct these mistakes of law and fact the Premier proposed that the voters should be allowed to register. Mr. Whitney strenuously opposed the proposition on the ground that it was contrary to sound principle and precedent, but especially because, he said, 51 out of the 52 voters in South Algoma were supporters of the Government. Mr. Hardy mentioned the fact as it had been communicated to him, that seven names had been left on the list by the Judge who were in the same position as the 52. The explanation suggested was that the seven were Conservatives, but the Premier was not willing to believe that this was the real explanation.

The House went into Committee of the Whole and reported the railway subsidies referred to in those columns, amounting in all to $520,000.

It being 6 o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

After Dinner.

Those bills were read a third time:

To confirm bylaw 479 of the town of Ingersoll.

Respecting the town of Trenton.

$35,000 for the Bridge.

The House in committee concurred in the following Government resolution: "That there shall be granted out of the consolidated revenue fund the sum of $35,000 towards the construction of an International railway bridge across the River St. Lawrence at or near Cornwall, on the line of the Ottawa and New York Railway; provided that aid be granted also by the Government of Canada. And the said grant shall be subject to any conditions that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may appoint or approve, and shall be paid on completion of the bridge."

Questions by Members.

Under the head of questions by members, Hon. Mr. Harcourt told Mr. Magwood that in the year ending Sept. 1, 1897, the liquor license fines in North Perth amounted to $150, in South Perth to $75, and in North Ontario to $48.

Hon. Mr. Gibson told Mr. St. John that 95 companies have registered under the Loan Companies Act; that the fees received were $10,383. The total expense incurred by the department was $1,146. The surplus was applied to the casual revenue. No companies had failed to register.

Niagara Falls Power.

Mr. German asked: Has the Government or the Commissioners of the Victoria Niagara Falls Park undertaken any survey of the several rapids below the Suspension Bridge on the Niagara River, with a view to ascertaining what hydraulic power exists there which can be utilized for the purpose of generating electricity, and, if so, what has been done?

The Attorney-General, in reply, stated that surveys had been undertaken of two rapids below the falls, under the direction of the Park Commissioner, and the experts' opinions were that several locations could be sold to develop electricity. The Government had ordered an inspection of the river by electrical engineers and hydraulic experts to see what electrical power was available there.

Temiscamingue Dredging.

Hon. Mr. Gibson told Dr. Meacham the Government had come to no decision regarding a grant for the dredging at the mouth of the river in the Temiscamingue district.

Mr. Whitney asked: Has Byron Lott, Reform candidate for North Hastings, been appointed superintendent of colonization roads in that riding, or has he been given any control of or duty to perform in connection with moneys granted for colonization roads?

Hon. Mr. Gibson replied with two negatives.

The House adjourned at 9 p.m.

Piggery Investigation Closed.

At the Public Accounts Committee yesterday morning the piggery investigation was closed for the session, and the committee agreed to meet this morning to draw up its report.

Suffocated in an Oil Tank.

Florence, Ont., Jan. 14.—Last evening about 6 o'clock Mr. Henry S. Mawlam of Dawn Oil Field, was found dead in one of his own oil tanks. The recent rains have caused the oil tanks to float, and it seems Mr. Mawlam got an augur and proceeded to bore a hole in the bottom of the tank. He was found shortly after by one of his men, asphyxiated and beyond all medical aid. Deceased was born about 40 years ago on the farm where he had lived. Only recently his land was found to be very rich in crude oil, and operations were only just begun. A widow, two sons and three daughters survive him.

Ottawa River Sawdust.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 14.—The exemption from the law forbidding the deposit of mill refuse in the Ottawa river expires on the 1st of May. After that date the Chaudiere mills will have to make some other disposition of their sawdust.

A Singer's Cold.

A striking example of Charles Dickens' chivalrous regard for an absent friend is recalled by Dean Farrar. Mr. Sims Reeves had been announced to sing at a small public dinner at which Dickens presided, and, as happened not infrequently, Mr. Sims Reeves had something the matter with his throat and was unable to attend. Dickens announced this, and the announcement was received with a general laugh of incredulity. This made Dickens very angry, and he rose manfully to the defense of the delinquent. "My friend, Mr. Sims Reeves," he said quietly, "regrets his inability to fulfill his engagement owing," he added, with caustic severity, "to an unfortunately amusing and highly facetious cold."—Bookman.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN.

Mr. John Gould's Address on the Dairy Cow.

ELECTION OF THE OFFICERS.

Mr. D. Derbyshire Re-Elected President—Reports of the Instructors and Inspectors—Selection of a Dairy Herd—Prof. Saunders on Fodder Crops—Other Addresses—Successful Convention Closed.

Lindsay, Jan. 14.—The attendance at the opening session of the third day of the convention was large, and the extraordinary interest which had all along been manifested appeared to be unabated. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, D. Derbyshire, Brockville; Vice-Presidents—E. J. Madden, Newburg; John McIlwain, Vancamp; Alpin Campbell, Ormond. Directors—Division No. 1, Wm. Eager, Morrisburg; Division No. 2, E. Kidd, North Gower; Division No. 3, J. R. Dargavel, Elgin; Division No. 4, James Whitton, Wellman's Corners; Division No. 5, T. B. Caslow, Warkworth; Division No. 6, Henry Wade, Toronto. Auditors—Morden Bird, Stirling; F. Brenton, Belleville.

Reports of Instructors.

The reports of the seven instructors and inspectors were then read. These reports brought out the unpleasant fact that a good deal of watering and skimming of milk was yet practised in connection with cheese-making, but convictions were easy to procure, and heavy fines had been imposed on most of the transgressors. The seven inspectors were one in recommending the use of the Babcock tester, and paying for milk in proportion of butter fat as well as by weight.

Mr. Joseph Gould of Uxbridge gave an account of his brief but very successful career as a dairyman, and exhibited a model of his circular silo, which he explained fully to many questioners. He also showed how, by selection and feeding, he had brought the average yield of butter of each cow of his herd up to 301 pounds of butter. One animal gave him 413 pounds of butter in one year.

Selection of a Dairy Herd.

Mr. John Gould of Aurora, Ohio, who has captured the heads and hearts of the dairymen of Ontario by his wisdom, wit and practical suggestions, then came forward, and for nearly an hour talked upon the selection and treatment of the dairy cow. The cow increased our herds, gave us a necessary and wholesome food, enriched our soil by sending back to the land 85 per cent. of her feed, and, dying at last from the knife, gave the family beef, for almost a year. Every farmer should study "cowology"—the science of the bovine motherhood. The average cow was like the average man—not of much account. She produced only about 3,000 pounds of milk per year, while his namesake of Uxbridge had cows giving 7,000 to 8,000 pounds of milk. Men know that a draught horse was not good for racing; the Canadian boy did not go hunting birds with a brindle dog; but the Canadian farmer often tried to get a milk-producer in a cow that had all the cow possibilities shaken up and put under one hide. Mr. Gould made a strong impression on his audience as he counseled them to realize the motherhood of a cow and to respect it. The good dairyman was one who felt that he had been adopted as a calf by his cows. Real affection should be bestowed on the dairy cow. The poor milker should be got rid of. Careful selection of calves and cows would soon lift the average yield of milk per animal by fully 2,000 pounds per annum, and there would be a good market for it all. The great competitor of the Canadian dairyman was not his own township neighbor, but the man at the other side of the globe.

Fodder Crops.

Prof. Saunders of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, gave a long and instructive address in the afternoon on fodder plants. He spoke of oat straw as being the most nutritions of the cereals, while for green feeding a mixture of oats and peas was very desirable. He said that Brome grass was taking the place of timothy and clover in the Northwest, where three tons an acre could be raised. Indian corn was one of the best plants for the dairyman to grow. He gave much interesting information as to varieties and habits. He also strongly recommended the Soja bean. As to the millets, he could hardly recommend them compared with cheaper and better fodders already named. The professor warned his hearers against trying to grow saccaline, which was a harsh, stringy substance and not at all like what the seedmen's catalogues led one to believe. Many questions were asked the speaker.

After brief addresses from others the convention adjourned.

This gathering has been one of the best dairy conventions ever held in Canada, both in point of attendance and quality of the addresses delivered.
